Democracy vs. New Party.

The Eugene Guard says the elections this season, past and in progress, are weaving an instructive lesson to all those persons who are continually prating about a "new party." Evidently those who are advocating the formation of a new party have never realized of what stuff Democracy is made. They know nothing of its fibre and texture, and seem to have forgotten its passions and its hatreds; its traditions and its ancestry. These apostles of a new faith have vainly endeavored to fasten upon Democracy a share of the odium attaching to the Republican party, arising from its many acts of usurpation and corruption, by decrying against the demoralizing effect of party rule, in the abstract. Notwithstanding the fact that the hue and cry thus raised has entrapped many unsuspecting Democrats, still each succeeding State election demonstrates the fact that the Democratic party is still alive and vigorous. Its tenacity of life and continual organization being upborne by its inflexible adherence to principle. It may be defeated for a time, it may for long years be held in subjection, by the corruption and misrule of all the many parties that have taken the against it. It may be cut off from all official patronage and profits, yet when the hour for action comes, old memories revive its pulse, the warm blood of enthusiasm rewakens the old battle cries, and the grand uprising of its dormant energies, astonish all who believed resistance dead, and the old battle flags, tattered and heavy with the dust of countless overthrows, are borne resistlessly forward to victory. New parties, born of the hour, nurtured by hatreds and their ceaseless yearnings for revenge, with no past record to maintain nor leaders to revere, no monuments to build, may stalk forth for a season, arrayed in stolen purple; but its life is short, and like a noisome plant will soon bear fruit meet for the repentance of its deluded followers. Away then with the idea that to defeat corruption and misrule and work needed reformation in the body politic, we must first crush out of existence the people's best and most desirable friend, the lion hearted and deathlesss Democracy of a free Republic. To Democrats everywhere we say: Be not misled or deluded by the specious pleadings of those who are advocating the formation of a new party. Your own has withstood the test of adversity. Its armor of principles are as bright and untarnished as when, for over forty years, it controlled and shaped the destinies of our then model Republic. If competent then to accomplish good, it is as capable now. If necessary then, as an organization in the arena of politics, it is as necessary now. In view of the approaching struggle, which is to determine the political complexion of the national administration in 1876, it behooves each and every Democrat to stand fast to his party organization. By so doing, we will each of us have the happy consolation of knowing that by our individual acts, we will have aided to disperse the murky clouds of mongrelism, through which the bright sun of Democracy is already shining; a harbinger of the glorious future, when the Democratic party will stand forth proudly recognized by a grateful people, as the Gibraltar of free government in America.

The Oakland Call understands that Mr. Sherman V. Rathburn, of Douglas county, has struck a good thing. An estate in Scotland, valued at £64 000, 000, equal to about $320,000,000, is looking for claimants and Rathburn is one of them. The heirs are scattered in different part of the United States. Most of them in Virginia—Rathburns native State The property is known as the Mar Estate, and his mother was a Mar. If he wants an advance agent we are ready to go.

THE P. D. & S. L. RAILROAD.

The Evening News and Col. Chapman's Address.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.—The News in the issue of Saturday, takes exceptions to portions of our address to the people of Oregon, respecting the Salt Lake Railroad. It assumes that we ask for the loan of the credit of the State, and this he opposes on the ground of the supposed unconstitutionality and in support cites sections 7 and 11 of the constitution, as follows:

"Section 7. The Legislative Assembly shall not loan the credit of the State, nor in any manner create any debt or liabilities which shall singly or in the aggregate with previous debts or liabilities, exceed the sum of $50,000, except in case of war or to repel invasion, or suppress insurrection; and every contract of indebtedness entered into or assumed by or on behalf of the State, when all its liabilities and debts amount to said sum, shall be void and of no effect."

Evidently the News had not fully considered that portion of our address relating to this subject and the act which it proposed to modify when he took the above objection.

The loan of the State credit has not been asked either in the act granting the Swamp Land Fund or in its proposed modification. Substantially, the act granting the swamp land was a contract for the construction of certain sections of the road, and so expressed in the title and body of the act, and as such to be accepted under the corporate seal of the company. The consideration to be paid to the State was the construction of the portage railroad, the road from the Columbia to Baker City and the branch to Weston. No part of this fund vests until the completion of the work.—In addition, the cost of freighting upon the Columbia was to be reduced 50 per cent.

No one will question that the consideration to the State is full almost beyond measure. The grievances of the people which the improvement was intended to remedy being well understood by the people. It was not the fund out of which the money was to be paid that robbed it of the character of a loan of credit, but the consideration to be paid to the State in advance. Neither is the State now asked for a loan of its credit. But as the State has an immediate interest in the completion of the sections of road referred to, as well as in the completion of the whole line, and as the swamp land fund is in such condition as not to be available for many years—ten at least—the State is asked to modify the act, and substitute something available as the work shall be completed.

To this proposition the News says: "If it is possible to so modify the act granting the proceeds of the sales of swamp lands, and the five per cent funds, as to make these means available at once, there certainly can be no objection to an act looking to that end."

Very well. But suppose, to make the modification suggested, it should require a modification of the act for the selection and sale of the swamp lands, what should be done in that case? The editor of the News is a lawyer, and has had experience in legislation, and is well aware of the condition of those funds. The people, we think, would thank him to suggest such modification. And we would thank him also, and knowing his earnestness for the road, he will doubtless do so.

We have already stated that these funds are in such a condition as not to be available within the period of many years. Everybody knows this to be so. It must be apparent that whatever sum they may amount to in the future, they cannot be made available with capitalists in the actual construction of these sections of road.

The News hesitates not to say that important as the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad may be "that a SUBSIDY drawn from the pockets of the people is out of the question."—It is susceptible of the clearest demonstration that double the amount asked of the State is annually drawn unjustly, from the hard earnings of the people of Eastern Oregon for the want of the work we propose to perform, besides crippling the agricultural and mining interests of that country far beyond that sum.

The State guaranteed three hundred and forty thousand dollars for the Willamette Locks; two hundred thousand dollars for the erection of a State House, besides many other appropriations in Western Oregon, at which Eastern Oregon makes no complaint. Is it unfair now that Western Oregon should render a corresponding benefit to Eastern Oregon, especially when that benefit will be reflected upon the whole State, and so directly and favorably impress Congress, capitalists and the country? We think not.

The News thinks the propriety of applying to the Legislature at this this time questionable. We have done what we thought to be our duty under all the circumstances, to the State, whose interest and welfare we have deemed paramount to all other considerations. Our opinion is unchanged. The result is with the people and their representatives.

COL. CHAPMAN'S CIRCULAR.—The Dalles Mountaineer says, "We publish this week Col. W. W. Chapman's circular to the people in relation to the building of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad. It is an able document and should be read by every person who has the interest of this country at heart. We earnestly hope that the Colonel will make a success of this enterprise, for upon its completion almost entirely depends the welfare of this portion of our country. The prospects for the bill passing at the next session of Congress is good.

On the 24th ult. Bogus Charley, one of the chiefs of the Modoc tribe was in St Louis with H. M. Jones, agent of the Pawpaw Reservation, where the remnant of the Modoc tribe is stationed. Charley held levees at the St. Clair Hotel, and was to return to the reservation with Jones. The tribe on the reservation number 153, and it is said by the agent that their conduct is very exemplary; that they show a disposition to work, and have abandoned the practice of gambling.

The Ogden (Utah) Junction of the 27th ult contains the following:

While Mr. I. N. Goodale was up at the mouth of the Bench canal turning off the water, he saw, during a big storm last week, what he supposed was a fall of hail about ten rods distant from him, covering the ground to the depth of two inches. On going to the spot he found the ground covered with millions of small white toads. Now "where did those toads come from?" is what the curious Ogdenites want to know.

Resolutions of Wasco Grange, No. 38.

FIFTEEN MILE, Aug 15, 1874.

At a meeting of Wasco Grange No 38, held this day, the followning resolutions were passed unanimously;

WHEREAS, the people, east of the Cascades mountains, have been greatly burdened, by exorbitant charges for freight and passage ,on the Columbia river, for many years past, and capital and emigration driven from this section of country by the unreasonableness of this great monopoly, the O. S. N. Co., who have held us with an unrelenting hand, by aiming to charge us all except an humble subsistence,

THEREFORE, Be it resolved by the members of Wasco Grange, No. 38:

1st. That we look upon the action of the Columbia River Transportation Company, in putting on a line of boats, and carrying freight and passengers from Portland to The Dalles, at greatly reduced prices, as a move in the right direction.

2nd. That we will by words and actions, encourage a healthy competition, and discourage monopoly in transportation on the Columbia river as also we are resolved to do elsewhere and ever, where our word and actions may reach.

3rd. That we believe it to be our duty to encourage the new company with our patronage, where we can consistently do so, and we reccomend and ask others, both in and out of the Grange to do likewise.

On motion, it was ordered that the above be sent to the Mountaineer, and Farmer for publication.

G. H. BARRETT, Sec.

A QUEER POLITICAL SITUATION.—There is a curious situation of affairs in the 1st Iowa District. A Republican Convention was held at Fairfield on Monday last and Geo. W. Mc Crary the present incumbent, of Cheap Transportation notoriety, was renominated. After the Convention it appeared that the nomination was a trick of one John H. Gear, who had been a candidate for the position. When he found he could not be chosen he nominated Mr. McCrary and as soon as he accepted, he went to him and told him he must decline or he would "beat him out of sight." Mr. McCrary accordingly declined and a new Convention has been called at Burlington, which Gear will do his best to pack. The whole disgraceful business is a pitiful satire upon the amount of influenc which the average citizen has in nominating conventions.

The Dalles Mountaineer says, a gentleman from the interior of our county informs us that a large immigration is coming in over the mountains from the Willamette valley. The country is undergoing a thorough search for grass, water and timber spots for location to settle on. Sheep raising appear to be the principle business that the new comers will engage in. Wasco county is gaining rapidly in population and wealth.

Chemeketa hotel at Salem, has been leased for a period of years to Mr. Thomas Smith, formerly of the Empire hotel, Dalles City. Mr Smith as the proprietor of the latter named hotel, has been very successful, and has made hosts of friends by his gentlemanly manner, and his uniform good treatment of his guests.

The contract for building The Dalles and Sandy Wagon Road between the Middle and Lower Landing at the Cascades, has been let to Mr. John Cartwright for the sum of $10,000 in bonds.

At the election held in Montana on the 3rd inst., Maginnis (Dem.) was elected delegate to Congress by over 300 majority. The vote was largely in favor of the approval of the law fixing the capital at Helena. The Legislative Assembly is Democratic by a small majority.

LATE NEWS.

NEW YORK, August 19.—The following letter has been addressed by Tilton's attorneys to Rev. Henry Ward Beecher:

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher—Sir; We have been retained by Theodore Tilton to commence a suit at law against you. Will you please indicate the attorney authorized to appear in your behalf, so that we may serve the papers upon him.

(Signed) MORRIS & PEARSALL.

The attorneys for Beecher made the following reply:

Messrs. Morris & Pearsall—Gentlemen: Understanding that you contemplate the commencement of a suit at law on behalf of Theodore Tilton against Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, we beg to inform you that we are authorized to appear for Mr. Beecher in all legal proceedings, and that we request, in his name immediate service upon us either at our office, or, if service can be made before 11 A. M., at Eighth and Hicks street, Brooklyn.

Your obedient servants,
SAEARMAN & STERLING.

The prospect of a report from the Investigating Committee on Friday is so good that the Trustees have directed the large church to be made ready for use in case the lecture room proves inadequate to accomodate the number who will doubtless desire to be presnt. Nothing but now unforseen circumstances will prevent the report from being made at that time.

The Brooklyn Argus today reports Moulton as speaking as follows: "All the world knows my honor has been impugned, and I shall publish my statement in full, exactly as it was written at first. It is already in the printer's hands." He said his printer had promised him that everything should be ready in time for his statement to appear in the morning and evening journals of Saturday next.

SIOUX CITY, August 19.—A report comes from Fort Sully this evening that Indians to the number of 4,000 made an attack upon Custar's expedition on the 15th, and were repulsed with heavy loss. Custar's loss is reported to be 50 killed and wounded.

In Dallas county, Alabama, the Grand Jury, composed of twelve colored men and six whites, have presented the Radical county officials as being guilty of outrageous abuses extending over a period of six or seven years whereby the State and county have been defrauded out of from $6,000 to $40,000 annually. They also say that lands have been sold as belonging to unknown owners when the owners were not only known to the Assessor and Tax Collector, but the taxes on them had been paid, while the same officials have made pretended sales for non payment of taxes of lands which had no existence. In other counties in Alabama grand juries, largely composed of colored men, have made equally strong denunciations of the rascalities of county officials belonging to the dominant party, and yet the Montgomery News says that so complete and effective is the organization among the blacks that every negro in these counties will on election day vote for the very men they censure, if they receive the party nomination, in order to keep the negro race in power. In most of the Southern States the question as to which race shall predominate in political power is becoming the main issue to be decided at the polls.

There has been another curious turn of affairs in the political situation in Louisiana, where Kellogg, after triumphing over all his enemies in the preliminary organization of the State Republican Convention, was subsequently routed by the faction which represents the views of Collector Casey. The Despatches from the the scene of hostilities announce that fists were freely used in the Convention, but no mention is made of Gatling guns. The result of this contest will probably convince Mr. Kellogg that it is Casey and not he who controls the destinies of Louisiana. He should have had better sense than to quarrel with the Collector, for he ought to have known that Grant used Federal bayonets to put him in office after he had been defeated at the polls, not out of friendship for him but in order to oblige a brother in law. We are told that the Convention passed resolutions to nominate and support for office none but men of known honor and capacity, and likewise that there were more votes cast by these high toned politicians than were delegates present.

---

Moses is decidedly a smarter man than Grant, and in the warfare going on between the two in South Carolina it is probadle the larcenous Governor will whip the salary grabbing President unless the latter uses the United States army to fight his political battles in that State, as he did on a former occasion within the limits of certain couties. It will be remembered that two or three weeks ago Grant visited the methodist camp meeting at Round Lake, and showed himself to the brethern, but he did not attempt a speech. On the contrary he looked and remained as dumb as an oyster. Now Moses has shown how much smarter he can be than Grant, all things being equal. On Sunday of last week he went on a special train to a camp meeting near Alston, and from the preachers stand address a black audience of 2,000 or thereabouts on the subject of religion. His remarks are said to have been fervent and edifying, and to have left the impression on his dusky hearers that he was not only a great statesman, but an eminently pions individual.
