FOR CONGRESS: LAFAYETTE F. LANE, Of Douglas County.

BOTH SIDES.

The Portland Bulletin in its disquisitions on the currency question should remember "that those who live in glass houses should not throw stones." We take the following from its issue of the 18th:

The Ohio Inflation Platform.

"The main contention in Ohio is over the eighth resolution of the Democratic platform, and as that is likely to become the policy of the National Democratic party next year, every one will be interested in knowing its precise phraseology. It is as follows:

"That the contraction of the currency heretofore made by the Republican party, and the further contraction proposed by it, with a view to the forced resumption of specie payments, have already brought disaster to the business interests of the country, and threaten it with general bankruptcy and ruin. We demand that this policy be abandoned, and that the volume of currency be made and kept equal to the wants of trade, leaving the restoration of legal tenders to a par with gold to be brought about by promoting the industries of the people, and not by destroying them."

"It is not easy to see how Senator Thurman could construe this resolution to mean anything else than unlimited inflation. The Ohio Democracy also demand the abolition of the National Banks and the acceptance of greenbacks for custom dues; that all the National Bank circulation be promptly and permanently retired and legal tenders issued in their place, which would raise the volume of currency to $70,000,000. This would conflict with the pledges of the Government made in 1864 that the volume of legal tenders should never exceed $40,000,000, which would impair the purchasing power of the greenback and lead directly to a general depreciation of the currency."

From reading the above a person would naturally think that the Ohio Republicans were all hard money folks, and that the Bulletin knew it. The following extract from the New York Sun, shows the other side of the question:

The Issue in Ohio.

"From the noisy zeal with which the Republican hard money journals of this part of the country are advocating the election of Hayes as Governor of Ohio, one might imagine that they suppose him to be running on a hard money platform. Indeed, we rather think that a good many of them through sheer ignorance or failure of memory, are sincere in their statements. At all events, they have produced on the minds of their readers a profound impression that the Republicans of Ohio are sound on the currency question, and that the success of Hayes would be an unmistakable victory of hard money over paper."

"A reference to the record will dispel this delusion. The financial resolution of the State Convention which put Hayes in nomination, reads thus:

"Resolved, That the policy of finance should be steadily pursued, which, without unnecessary shock to business or trade will ultimately equalize the purchasing capacity of the gold and paper dollar."

"Carping critics may be found who will deny that this resolution is a model of clearness, merely because it can be read just as well backward as forward. But who does not perceive at a glance that it must have emanated from a body of politicians warmed up to red heat in favor of a gold and silver currency, and in opposition to the whole tattered demagogic progeny born of the legit tender act?"

"Seriously, though, was there ever a bolder humbug than to call this evasive resolution a declaration against emitting more rag money and in favor of speedy returning to specie payment? A brief answer will answer this question. The Ohio Republicans advocate a policy that will 'ultimately' make the purchasing capacity of a coin and a paper dollar equal. Now, the equivalents of ultimately, are finally, or at last, or in the end. And this brings us to the very point in dispute. How long before the Ohio Republicans desire or expect to arrive at their ultimatum? On this subject they furnish no light whatever. But they do tell us that until the far off goal is reached, there must be no shock given to business or trade; and this simply means, that while the country is wending its way toward the Ohio ultimatum, if business or trade should be shocked unless they can have more greenbacks, then more greenbacks they must have, and just as many of them, too, as those enterprising and venturesome fellows, business and trade, may demand!"

"Viewed in the light of the Republican platform of Ohio, was there ever a more audacious piece of humbug than to call the contest in that State an open, square fight between hard money and rag money?"

HURRAH FOR LANE!

The nomination of Hon. L. F. Lane is a doubt one of the strongest that could have been made. From every portion of the State we learn that the greatest satisfaction prevails in Democratic ranks, and that he will receive a cordial support. Many of those Democrats led astray by the Independent movement are returning to their first love, while in this section even some Republicans signify their intention of voting for Mr. Lane; and why should not this feeling prevail in other portions of the State? He is gaining strength each day, and we confidently expect that his majority will run up into the thousands.—Jacksonville Times.

INJURED.—Edwin Booth was probably fatally injured August 15th while driving in his phaeton near his residence at Cos. Cob, Conn. His horse, becoming frightened, ran away. His injuries consist of a fracture of the left elbow bones and one rib. He is quite comfortable, and will be as good as new in a few weeks.

THE NEWSPAPER.

The Boise Statesman says, the most sensible article that we have seen in a long time is in the Idaho World of the 17th inst., under the head of the "Local Newspaper," which we take pleasure in publishing. We have noticed for several weeks a marked improvement in the columns of the World and we are pleased to know and announce that the World has honorably foreshadowed its course and fully comprehends the invaluable duties of a local newspaper. There is no business in which men ought to agree and work in unison more than in this. If any man is ambitious, there is no higher calling than the editorial chair. But he must arrive at the top round of the ladder of eminence by building up, guarding and protecting the interests of his fellow man. He cannot get ahead or do much good for his country by pulling his professional brother down. If such is his course he will soon be compelled to "step down and out." We can always gain strength by a unity of action. While our fields may be local in one sense our interests are common and embrace the whole Territory.—Every county of any considerable importance needs her local newspaper. Her own paper can do more directly for her interests than any outside paper. Whatever the Statesman has gained in reputation as a State paper, has been the result of untiring work and a favorable location.—We envy no other paper's reputation.—Whatever the World can do to advance the interests of Boise county or the Avalanche can do in advancing the interests of Owyhee county help us. The newspaper men have great responsibilities, and when they work for the general good, do do invaluable service for the people. The man who fails to look with favor or hope upon his county newspaper, has no public interest and scarcely a private interest in the welfare of his neighbors, his family or his country. The World truthfully says that the interests of Boise county have languished for want of a better local paper. They might almost as well cut their ditches and cover over their quartz mines as to think of going ahead without a live and reliable local newspaper, it is the best investment he ever makes. Go where you will in any new country, if the people will secure and support a live reliable newspaper, that country will grow and prosper beyond the most sanguine expectations, and her people will become intelligent and happy.

WHITNEY'S MANIFESTO.—The Portland Bulletin says, Mr. Whitney has published a long and circumstantial statement of his affairs, but does not set forth anything new. The main facts have all been published before, and we do not see that their recapitulation places him in any more favorable situation. In one particular he is in the situation of Mr. Beecher; he complains of having been induced to sign a statement which he did not write entire, and which he afterwards found displeasing. He says "the deputy wrote, modified, interlined and rewrote, and I subscribed my name to the following" (his telegram to Jason Owens). From this it appears that the preparation of the telegram was a work of great care and deliberation; and as it consisted of only twelve lines, it does not seem reasonable that Mr. Whitney signed it without fully understanding and approving its purport.

The California Campaign.

The Oakland Transcript of August 17th says: "There was but one expression from all with whom we conversed, and that was, the Independent party is entirely out of the field—the Independents themselves even acknowledge this. They all agree upon the proposition that the fight is between Phelps and Irwin, between Democracy and Republicanism; and they all agree still further, that the fight is a close one, and neither have any votes to spare."

A Question Answered.

LADY TOURIST IN MAINE—"Can you tell us the name of this river, sir?" HONEST COUNTRYMAN—"Yes, M. This is the 'Chockawockolagomgrammich-wauganapenobkenobelobscot.'" (And yet those ladies thought the rustic was chaffing them!)

ERONEOUS.—The telegraphic report of the nomination of Henry Warren for Congressman by the Temperance Convention was erroneous. That convention did not "sacrifice its organization." The nominee is Mr. G. W. Dimick.

Could not Agree.

The Jury in the case of John D. Lee, on trial in the U. S. District Court at Salt Lake City for his connection with the Mountain Meadow Massacre, could not agree, have been discharged and the trial continued for the term. The evidence adduced shows the commission of a brutal and terrible massacre, one of the darkest on record. The testimony of some witnesses implicates Brigham Young, while that of others attempts to shield him.—The jury stood from beginning nine for acquittal, two for conviction, and one ready to go either way. All the Mormons and one Gentile were wavering, and two Gentiles for conviction. Justice should be fully meted to all the participants in the massacre, let the expense be what it may.

An old bachelor said, "there's a darned sight more jewelry worn now-a-days than when I was young. But there's one piece that I always admired that I don't see now." "What is that?" asked a young lady. "A thimble," was the reply. He was regarded with contempt and scorn by many young ladies in the room the rest of the evening.

The further exploration of the Black Hills country by the miners has been ended by the proclamation of General Cooke, and as they have intimated their willingness to retire for the present from claims that have thus far proved valueless, it is not expected that there will be any conflict of authority. Professor Jeny will continue his survey and determine whether there are any gold-fields that repay the labor of mining.

"Ma," said a small boy, approaching his mother and exhibiting unmistakable symptoms of a severe pain in the bowels, "do green apples grow in heaven?"

OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

It is with feelings of pride and satisfaction that we place at the head of our columns the name of the Hon. L. F. Lane as the Democratic Standard-bearer in the ensuing campaign. No candidate could suit the Democracy of this section better, and we have the satisfaction of knowing that the party throughout the State is equally as well pleased as we are here. The fact that his being nominated over such men as the Honorable John Whiteaker, J. H. Reed, Ben Hayden and others, amidst the best of humor, the acquiescence of the Convention, is sufficient evidence that the Democracy of Oregon have unlimited faith in his availability as a candidate. And they will not be disappointed when the election returns in October next roll in.—Democratic Times.

Mr. Lane's friends on this side of the Willamette may rest assured that their standard bearer will make an able and thorough canvass of the entire State, and that his speeches will be sensible, clear and pointed, such as they will desire to hear from one destined to represent them in Congress.—Lafayette Courier.

Lafayette Lane, the Democratic candidate, to represent Oregon in Congress, although quite a young man, has a record of which he may be proud.—W. W. Statesman.

A UNITED SUPPORT.

The Salem Mercury says: We have never known of a political campaign where the Democratic press were more united and harmonious than the present. Every Democratic journal in the State from Baker City to Jacksonville are working with a will for the "uniting their strength." This union on the part of the press speaks volumes for the popularity of a candidate and will tell on election day by his triumphant election to the Halls of Congress.

THE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE.

The Salem Mercury says: Since the adjournment of the Independent State Convention, the air has been full of rumors of the withdrawal of Mr. Whitney, and as the Radicals have been trying to push him off the track, they have been very busy in giving circulation to the story he has withdrawn from the contest. But he has not retired from the field. Mr. Whitney was in our city last Friday, and told his friends that he did not propose to withdraw, but intended to work the canvass of the State, the statements of Simpson, Malloy & Co. to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE HALLOCK ENGINE.—The Portland Bulletin says: Work of repair on the Smith hand engine, under the supervision of Chief Engineer Hallock, is being pushed rapidly forward toward completion. By the middle of the coming week it will be in readiness to be transferred to the steamer and started on its homeward run. But two sections of hose will be sent from this city, the necessary amount being purchased in San Francisco. The bright work on the engine has been burnished and wrapped to protect it, while the painter is busily engaged in retouching and beautifying the woodwork.

REMEMBER IT.

The States Rights Democrat says; the people of Oregon should not forget that the Republican State Convention that nominated Henry Warren for Congress, unequivocally indorsed the Administration of President Grant, without any reservation. The people should remember that by this indorsement the Republican party and its candidate for Congress are committed to the approval of the act increasing the President's salary one hundred per cent., and the salary of Members of Congress fifty per cent. with back pay. They should remember that Boss Shepherd and his satellites composed the most corrupt ring that ever disgraced a City Government, and that all were the special favorites and pets of President Grant. The people of Oregon should remember that President Grant descended from the Executive Chair and assumed the role of the lobbyist, to secure the passage of the infamous Force Bill that did pass the Republican House of Representatives, and only failed to pass the Senate for want of time to reach it. And had this Force Bill become a law it would have given the President power to control the election in any named State in the Union, thereby securing his re-election for a third term and for perpetual rule if he desired it.—The people should remember that every Republican member of Congress, whom the people have retired that voted for the Force Bill, President Grant has remembered by promotion, so far as there were appointments to bestow, and they should further remember that not a single member of Congress, who voted against the Force Bill has been thus favored by President Grant. The people should remember that President Grant usurped the power to interfere with the Administration of justice in Oregon, and caused criminals whose murderous hands were stained with the gore of innocent citizens, to be removed beyond the jurisdiction of our courts, and supported in idleness at public expense. The people should remember that the Republican party of Oregon, with Henry Warren as the expounder of its principles and policy, stands committed to the support of each and every one of the foregoing infamies, and dare not denounce one of them; and if these things are remembered, we feel sure the people will remember to retire Mr. Warren to private life, and elect Lafayette Lane to Congress on the 25th of October, in the year of Grace, 1875.

WHY HON. L. F. LANE SHOULD BE ELECTED.

The Salem Mercury says: It is the duty of the people of Oregon for their own interests as well as for the interests of the country at large to elect Mr. Lane to Congress. He will have more power in the House of Representatives than either of the other candidates, because the House is largely Democratic and a Democrat will have influence and help from his fellow Democrats that Mr. Warren or the other candidates can not have. Should the Republicans elect Mr. Warren, or the Independents Mr. Whitney, he will be like a good while Mr. Lane being with the party in the Majority, can, and will accomplish much good for Oregon. Let us elect Mr. Lane.

They were seated at a late dinner when the door-bell rang, and the servant handed a card to Lavender's wife. "Why, good gracious, it's our minister, and I've been eating onions!" she exclaimed. "Never mind," said Lavender, "you needn't kiss him today."

MR. LANE ON FREE SCHOOLS.

The Salem Mercury says: The Republican papers in the present campaign seem to raise up men of straw and then knock them down. They have charged Mr. Lane as being opposed to free schools and general education before he has made any declaration that he was. But all his former life and speeches are directly the reverse of the charges made by these Radical papers. He has given the lie to them. Mr. Lane at the ratification meeting the other evening said that he was in favor of and supported free schools. That he paid his taxes for their support and that his children were receiving instruction in a free school, or a school supported by taxation and interest from the common school. These uncalculated attacks on Mr. Lane before he gives cause for them will work for his advantage and will before the campaign is ended, turn to plague the inventors.

Three years ago Frank Norton resigned a clerkship in the Interior Department and joined a professional baseball nine in which he achieved considerable reputation as a better and catcher. Since Mr. Norton's transformation from a government clerk to the arena of base ball, he has married and settled in Brooklyn, and by the death of an ancient maiden aunt of his wife's, which occurred in the City of Churches a few weeks ago, came into possession of a fortune of half a million.

MAX ADELER has just married a beautiful girl weighing 174 pounds and worth $80,000,000. He didn't know she had a cent when he married her, and it was a pleasant surprise to find that she was rich as well as robust.

State elections occur this year in the following order: California, September 1; Arkansas, September 13; Iowa, October 12; Ohio, October 12; Oregon, October 25; Virginia, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, Minnesota, New York and Pennsylvania, November 2; Texas, December 2.

The biggest private land claim of modern times is that of the heirs of late Don Joseph Valliere, who was captain of a regiment of Spanish infantry in Louisiana in 1693. In that year the Baron de Carondelet, in the name of the Kings of Spain, granted to Capt. Valliere a tract of land ten Spanish leagues in length from North Fork (Rio Norte Grande) to the source of the Whitt river. This tract was surveyed and found to contain nearly ten thousand square miles. It extends into Missouri, covering what now constitutes six counties in the southwestern part of that State. When Louisiana reverted to France, the Spanish land records were retained by the Captain-General of Cuba. Capt. Valliere died intestate, and forty years after his decease an entry of the grant was accidentally found among the records of Louisiana. This led to a search of the archives of Cuba, where, it is alleged, the original grant, signed by the Baron de Carondelet, was finally found. And now the heirs of the Spanish captain, about forty in number, seek to obtain land warrants for an equivalent of this enormous grant, with the privilege of locating them on any vacant public land of the United States.

INCURABLE RESTORED. Do not despair because your physician shakes his head. Professional opinions are not infallible; and they are never wider of the mark than when they pronounce Chronic Dispepsia an incurable malady. To mitigate its pangs the faculty usually prescribe air, exercise, and brandy; the first two are God's medicines; the last is Satan's poison. The only medicine needed in Dyspepsia and its concomitants is Dr. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, the great vegetable tonic of the age.

NEW TINSHOP.—Mr. G. L. Manning & Brother have opened their Tinshop on Front Street, two doors above Pap LeVins' Wholesale Liquor store, where they are prepared to do all kinds of work in their line on short notice and at reasonable prices. They have a neat shop and appear to be at home in their business.

F., meets every Saturday evening, at half past six o'clock, at Old Fellows Hall, in the new Bank Block, corner of Front street and Court Avenue. Members of the Order are invited to attend. By order of N. G. Chas. St. Louis has located permanently in Baker; and is now prepared to manufacture and repair all kinds of jewelry and watches. After twenty-eight years experience in the business, he feels competent to give entire satisfaction. Mr. St. Louis is also agent for the best Sewing Machine in use, the New Wilson, price, $55.00.

USEFUL PRESENT.—Every family ought to have a good Sewing Machine. We have a beautiful new Silver Plated Wilcox & Gibbs Machine, that would be a beautiful, valuable and useful present to any man's wife, mother, sister or sweetheart, which we will sell on easy terms. We will instruct the person buying how to operate the machine. It is one of the nicest machines in our city.

FAST TROTTER.—The fastest four mile heats ever trotted came off yesterday at Richlers, N. Y., between Golden Smith Maid and Lulu, the new queen of the trotting turf. The Maid won the first heat in 2:15 1/4; Lulu won the next three heats and the race, making the time of 2:16 1/4; 2:15 1/4 and 2:17. The Maid's day of ascendancy is over, and Lulu is the idol of the hour. The past belongs to Golden Smith Maid, the future to the new favorite. If the vanquished trotter possessed the miraculous gift of Balaam's ass she would neigh, Morituri salutate.

Gen. Schenk, United States Minister to England, has been using an old American anecdote to good advantage. To the wife of a British cabinet officer, who assured him that England made America all she is, he said: Pardon me madam, you remind me of an answer of the Ohio lad in his teens, who attending Sunday School for the first time, was asked by his teacher, "Who made you?" He replied, "Why God made me about so long (holding his hands about ten inches apart) but I grewed the rest."

I've seen her out a walking, Dressed in a suit of blue; And it ain't no use a talking, She's a stepper—just a few! And modest in her beauty As a frog stuck in the mud; Oh! good-bye, Mollie, darling, You precious little bud.

WHAT HE COULD DO.—A young man just from the east, who evidently has not been reared a Granger, went out in the country last week to hire out as a harvest hand, and on being asked by the farmer what he could do, said "he guessed he could dig and shovel wheat, but couldn't put the clothes on the horses."

MARRIED.—At the residence of J. J. Campbell, August 11th, 1875, by J. M. Shepherd, City Recorder, Mr. T. M. Britten to Miss Ellen Frenenburg.

Through an oversight the above notice has been neglected up to the present time.
