FOR CONGRESS:
LAFAYETTE F. LANE,
Of Douglas County.

PROPER ACTION.

The Oregon City Enterprise says: "Our readers are aware that a short time since Mr. J. W. Virtue, banker at Baker City, suspended and made an assignment of his creditors, reserving nothing. Last week his creditors met and examined his accounts and business, and after due consideration turned over his entire property to him for the purpose of resuming business, expressing at the same time their unlimited confidence in his integrity, business capacity, and ability to pay his debts.—We are more than gratified at this action, for Eastern Oregon does not contain a man who has done more to advance and develop her interests and resources, than J. W. Virtue, and his loss to that community, as a business man, could hardly be replaced. We are satisfied that the confidence that has been expressed by his creditors will never be betrayed, and all will be settled to the entire satisfaction of those interested.

A Source of Congratulation.

Democrats may well consider it a subject of congratulation that the different aspirants for Congressional honors are stumping the State in a body. The superiority of Mr. Lane over all his competitors alone is sufficient to foretell the Democratic triumph. Those people who are undecided in their opinions, thinking, perhaps, each platform equally good, but who are determined to vote only for a man of whom they may be proud, for a man who will be alive to the best interests of Oregon and be at all times on the alert for her defense; those people, in a word, who "prefer the man to party principles," now that the candidates speak together, can form but one opinion, and can make none other than Mr. Lane their choice.

In this quadrilateral campaign, the voters are enabled to weigh and measure for themselves, and this, we repeat, to Democrats, should be a subject of general rejoicing. Mr. Warren, without wit or words; Mr. Whitney without a party, Mr. Dimick without hearers; is it to be wondered that Mr. Lane has made for himself so many friends? The contrast between the two standard-bearers of the two leading parties is too great. The one conversant with all the issues of the day, dignified in diction, and trenchant in attack; the other ignorant of the popular feeling concerning North and South, unacquainted with the great topics that create and agitate adverse parties; unable to express himself either understandingly or gramatically; we reiterate is it not a subject of congratulation to Democrats that the different candidates for Congress are stumping the State in a body?

KNOW NOTHINGISM.

Henry Warren Initiated May 23rd, 1855—Oaths and Obligations.

A correspondent of the Lafayette Courier, writing from Amity Yamhill County, under date of Sept. 13th, 1875, gives the following bit of interesting history of how and when the present Radical candidate for Congress became a Know-Nothing:

In my last communicatin I intimated that you would hear from me again. In my sauntering I came in possession of the following fact that Henry Warren was a member of the Know-Nothing order in town of McMinnville. How he got into the Wigwam I don't know, unless he perjured himself. For I see by article 2d, of membership, section 1—"No person shall be proposed as a member of this order, unless he be a free white male of good moral character, of the age of twenty-one years and a native of the United States, and an American born citizen."

I find the name of Henry Warren in the minutes of a meeting held the 23d, of May, 1855, that he was admitted and took the following oaths:

First Degree.

OBLIGATION.

1, Henry Warren, do solmenly swear upon this sacred volume, &c.

1st. What is your name?
2d. Your age?
3d. Your residence?
4th. Where were you born?
5th. Are you willing to use all the influence you possess in favor of native-born American citizens for all offices of honor, trust or profit in the gift of the people, and do you promise to vote for them to the exclusion of all aliens and foreigners, for all local, State and Government offices?

* * * * *

Third Degree.

OBLIGATION.

I Henry Warren, kneeling before God my Maker, my left hand upraised toward Heaven, to all these and those, I do most sincerely promise, declare, and swear, binding myself under no less a penalty than having my grave trampled on by foreigners and to have my memory cursed by my children and my children's children, &c.

For the truth of the above I challenge the editor of the Reporter for a contradiction.

If anybody doubts the truth of the above, the "documents" can be produced.

The Last Radical Battery Silenced.

The Radical party failing to find anything to fight Mr. Lane for but the school question, they have centered their whole power and energy to that one question and have endeavored to bring a question of a purly local character into National politics Mr. Lane has been falsely accused everywhere as being opposed to free schools and in favor of a division of the school fund for sectarian purposes, bnt the Corvallis Gazette, a Radical paper which would naturally incline to its own side of the question, gives the lie to all false assertions heretofore made against Mr. Lane since his nomination. In giving a synopsis of Mr. Lane's speech at that place on Wednesday last, it says:

Mr. Lane declared himself the champion of free schools, opposed to sectarian distribution of school funds, and claimed that the granting of the 16th and 36th sections of public lands for school purpose were Democratic measures, and closed stating, positivly, that he was certain to be elected to Congress.

At Albany we are informed that Mr. Lane made the same declarations and the great audience rose as one man and gave him long and vehement cheers. Our informant also states that the Radicals were crestfallen, recognizing that their last support had fallen, and their last battery silenced. During the remainder of the campaign. Mr. Lane will only have to walk over the track.

Warren is a know-Nothing in politics and a know-nothing by nature.

A POSITIVE POSITION.

The Radical press having misrepresented Mr. Lane's position on the school question, he has written the following letter, which we trust will be satisfactory to our opponents. It is to the point, and has no two meanings:

ROSEBURG, Sept. 14th, 1875.

HON. J. M. SIGLIN—Dear Sir: The Republican press misrepresent my position on the school question. In the first place, it is not a national issue, and should not enter into this canvass. However, I am quite willing that the public should know my views. All the school fund grants enjoyed by us were obtained by the Democratic party, and the present system was suggested by the party. I endorse it throughout, and will at all times oppose any sectarian interference with that system. Our school houses should invite all alike, Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic, without regard whatever to religion. Our school rooms should be for education, leaving religion for churches. I heartily favor the diffusion of education, as the means of securing the success of the Democracy, and preserving our Republic.

Your friend, L. F. LANE

AN IRON MAN.—The dispatches intimate that Delano's successor in the Secretaryship of the Interior will be Mr. Coleman, of Pennsylvania. They go further, in telling us "what manner of man he is," and somewhat ambiguously declare far back in the history of this country Coleman's ancestors settled in the territory now known as the Keystone State, on a tract of land which contained immense deposits of iron ore, and "that ore has made the present Coleman." Let us hope that enough of the mineral was used in the construction of his spinal column to enable him to withstand the horde of grabbers and swindling contractors who beset his predecessor. As another qualification for the responsible position, it is said Coleman is "rich beyond temptation." Now we might believe that his iron ore "made him" in a figurative sense, or that he raised a whole regiment of soldiers for the war at his own expense, and supported their wives and children while the husbands and fathers were absent, and that he is a man of good business and fine executive ability, but if his riches is the only shield against temptation, his iron backbone won't keep him straight for even the partial term which he is expected to be called upon to fill.

MURDERER ARRESTED.

A dispatch dated Winnemucca, Nevada, October 1st, says: A year ago last August, a man named Walker, who was traveling afoot in search of employment, stopped one evening at Rattlesnake station, on the Winnemucca and Idaho road. The proprietor of the station, named Bates, offered him employment mowing, which he accepted. Bates was proceeding to get supper for Walker when Robert Douglas, a man employed as hostler by the N. W. Stage Co., invited Walker to eat with him and save Bates the trouble of cooking. Walker accepted, and went with Douglas, but in a few moments returned and remarked that he was a strange man, to invite him to eat supper, and, without provocation, threaten to kill him the moment he began to eat. At this juncture Douglas appeared with a shot-gun and shot Walker dead.—Douglas mounted a stage horse and escaped to the next station, where he left the horse and effected his escape by public conveyance to Boise City, thence to Kelton, being assisted, he now says, by several prominent men in getting out of the country. An inquest was held on the murdered man. In his pocket letters were found by which it was ascertained that his name was Walker, and a wallet containing $160 in money. Platt Burr, then engaged in building the Nevada and Northern telegraph line, obtained possession of the money and still retains it.—This cold-blooded, unprovoked murder of a way-faring man created great excitement, and had the teamsters on the Winnemucca and Nevada road caught the murderer they would have saved Oregon, where the crime was committed, the expense of a trial. The governor of Oregon took great interest in the affair, and urged the authorities to spare no pains or expense in tracking the murderer and bringing him to justice. Sheriff Boyd, of Baker County, two weeks ago learned his whereabouts, and Douglas was arrested in the employ of the Salt Lake and Helena Stage Co., and brought to Winnemucca last night. Sheriff Nash started with him for Oregon this morning. Douglas does not deny the crime, but says it was done in self defense.

Since the above was in type, Sheriff Boyd has arrived with his man.

LANE AND FREE SCHOOLS.

The Salem Mercury says, for making capital out of nothing and sticking to it for the truth commend us to the Radical papers of this State. They have nothing to fight Mr. Lane with except falsehoods and when they are refuted these papers reiterate them. They have been trying to make the school question an issue in the campaign although National politics and elections have nothing to do with it. They have charged Mr. Lane as being opposed to free schools, yet in his opening campaign speech in this city he said that the charges were false, and that he was a supporter of free schools and was decidedly in favor of their continuance; that they were the corner stones of free government and the palladium of human liberties. We understand that in the campaign so far Mr. Lane has declared in favor of free schools, and against the division of the school fund for sectarian purposes, in every stamp, and yet the Radical papers pretending to represent truth and justice are continuing to charge that he is still against the common school system of America.

They began to early in the battle in manufacturing these falehoods against Mr. Lane. The people are finding out that there is no truth in them and the tide is beginning to run in favor of Lane which will sweep him into the Halls of Congress on the first Monday of Decmber next.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.—The political status of the next legislature will be about as follows: Senate, democrats, 23; republicans, 7; independents, 9; Assembly, democrats, 65; republicans, 11; independents 3. On joint ballot the democrats will have a majority of 46 over both the other parties.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL JEWELL has written to the political managers in Alabama, that he must have good men for appointments to responsible places, and prefers good Democrats to bad Republicans.

From Henry Woodward, who has just returned from Coose Bay, the Plaindealer learns that very rich quartz has been found on Johnson's creek, near the headwaters of the Coquille, and that numerous mining parties are going out in search of the precious metal.

Poor Warren is Going Backward.

Warren, by all parties at the time of his nomination, was considered a weak candidate, and since the campaign begun he has done nothing to place himself in any other light before the people than a weak candidate. He has been losing ground since his first speech at Jacksonville. The Dallas Itemizer, a neutral paper published at the Dallas, is supposed to represent things as they are and to the disadvantage of no one, says Warren's speech at that place on last Thursday "was a grand failure;" That his ignorance was beyond what any of his friends thought. In fact that his own party friends were completely disgusted with him, so much so that he would get but few votes in Old Polk. That paper also says that the contest has narrowed down between Lane and Whitney, and that Warren is out of the fight. This is the feeling that seems to prevail in every locality where the candidates have spoken. Let the Democrats stand firm and together. Let us give a strong pull and we will send Lane to Congress by a majority running into the thousands. Hurrah for Lane and free schools.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—R. K. Turner, whose arrest and conveyance to California, Missouri, charged with forging deeds to a large quantity of land, was reported in these dispatches a few days ago, publishes a card which state that his prosecution in this case is carried on by parties interested in a suit of ejectment, involving half a million dollars worth of property in Chicago and people of the state of Missouri, and that this prosecution is intended to influence the litgation in Chicago.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28.—Galveston advises from Brazoria, dated the 23d., confirm reports first received from Matagorda. The town was washed away, excepting only four houses, which remain standing. No lives lost The people were saved by clinging to cedar trees in the vicinity. At the town of Columbia twenty houses houses were blown down. No lives reported lost. One man was killed at Chenango by a falling tree. Many plantations have been greatly damaged, and some literally torn to pieces. Sugar-houses, gin-houses, fences and everything partially or wholly blown down. The great losses cannot be correctly reported. Later information from Matagorda say at a meeting of citizens there the following were appointed a committee to receive and distribute to the suffering people: Galen Hodges, W. S. Stewart and R. G. Chesman. The committee report to the country at large that the greater portion of the town of Matagorda is laid in ruins, and that not a single citizen of the town has escaped serious injury to his property.

Many of them are entirely houseless, without the necessities of life or means to build a shelter over their heads. Our court-house is somewhat damaged, but can be repaired without great expense.

The Odd Fellows' hall is a total loss, the Episcopal church nearly so. All the shipping at this point is stopped or seriously damaged. No lives lost in the town. In Kenney's prairie, as far as we are able to learn, twenty-one persons were lost, and their property all destroyed. On the upper peninsula twenty-one persons were swept into the gulf and drowned, and all their property an entire loss. We have as yet heard of no deaths on the lower peninsula, but almost the entire destruction of houses and other property.

"DeCrow's point has not yet been heard from, nor the town of Palacere. We have not heard anything definite from Trespalacios yet. We hear of great destruction of property on the east side of the Colorada river, but no lives lost. We have not yet heard from Carris above Captain Duncan's plantation, but are satisfied from here to the mouth there has been an entire loss of crops, houses, cabins, gin and sugar houses, etc, and five lives lost as far as heard from. We request the Galveston News, Houston, Austin, San Antonio and other Texas papers, also those of New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis to publih these proceedings, and such other papers as feel an interest in the cause of suffering humanity. Such as may feel able and disposed to help our suffering people will send forward their contributions of money or provisions to the committee above named."

NEW YORK DEMOCRACY.—The New York State Convention met in Syracuse on the 17th. A large attendance was present, and great enthusiasm manifested.

The platform is a good one, containing hard money, free trade and other resolutions worthy of the party adopting them.

Gov. Tilden's administration was endorsed. John Bigelow was nominated for Secretary of State; Lucius Robinson for Comptroller; Chas. S. Fairchild for Attorney-General; Chas. N. Ross for State Treasurer, and John D. Van Buren for State Engineer. The Democracy of the Empire State are sanguine of success, and with such a ticket and platform they ought to be.

BRASHEAR, Sept. 28—The steamer Harris, from Barzos, and Marry, from Rockport, arrived this morning. They report no damage by the storm at either port.

GALVESTON, Sept. 28—The following additional particulars are received from the south of Brazos river: The number of persons known to have lost their lives between the peninsula and Barnard are fifty-seven. Later information from Trinity river says three schooners are high and dry in fields near the fork of Double & White's bayous. In the Trinity the water had swept over cane 12 feet above the bank of the river. Near the mouth of Wallesville the land is low and swampy. The first house about the mouth was formely owned by Dr. Phoelan, occupied by negroes. The house was entirely carried away; not a vestige of it is to be seen. Ther were nine negro occupants, and eight of the number were drowned.

Do Principles Change.

The Eugene Guard says: Every Democrat by education is taught as one of the cardinal points of his faith that principles never change. Other parties change, but the Democratic party, being based upon the eternal principles of truth and justice, cannot perish. This has been the theory for nearly a century. But at this late day we find Democrats who have concluded that principles can be changed, and that they are using all their influence and efforts to do this. One of the doctrines embodied in the Democratic articles of faith was that Congress has no power to charter a national bank; that such an institution was one of deadly hostility to the best interests of the country; dangerous to our republican institutions and calculated to place the business of the country within the control of a concentrated money power. The Democratic National Convention which convened in Cincinnati in 1856 declared that the results of Democratic legislation on this and all other financial measures upon which issues have been made by the two political parties of the country have demonstrated to candid and practical men of all parties the soundness, and safty and utility in all business pursuits of the foregoing. This departure in Ohio is not a new one, except as it is moved by the Democrats, who have heretofore opposed it utterly and energetically. To advocate the disfranchisement of all foreigners and the repeal of all our naturalization laws would not be farther from the cherished principles of Democracy than to pronounce for a cheap currency, as has been done by the Democrats of Ohio and Pennsylvania. The history of the past century is complete argument against this new financial theory of our party. Jefferson in his State papers never failed to add his testimony in favor of hard money as a currency. The new deal demands that Government shall take it own promises to pay at par, and receive its money for all debts. This is all right; but the question is how can this be done by adding millions more of currency to the already large volume of that comparatively worthless article? It is not reasonable to suppose that such a course would increase the value of a paper dollar, or decrease the value of a coin dollar. The action of the Democratic party in New York, which has repudiated this false theory will go far toward settling this question. It is to be hoped that it will close out the inflationist and that our party can be united on a hard money platform in 1876.

The Portland Journal announces that it will support Hon. L. F. Lane for Congress.

A "BARREN" VICTORY.

The Orgonian attemps to detract from the glory of the late Democratic triumph California by asserting that it is a "barren victory," and that the successful candidates are in fact minority officials. The latest returns, which will be changed very little by the official count, however denote that Irwin has; 61,525 votes for Governor; Phelps, 30,922-Bidwell, 29,630 Irwin consequently is elected by almost a thousand majority over all, as heard from. There is something very envious about the Oregonian's remarks in this relation. Strenuous efforts were made by all parties to carry the State, and the result was anxiously looked for over the entire Union. The returns even the most sanguine Democrats, and everywhere they hailed the victory as a most a most glorious triumph. It has filled the opponents of the Democracy with dismay, and the Oregonian is the first sheet that refers to this event as a "barren victory." But what else can be expected of an organ that aspires to be chief fugleman of the Republican party in an election close at hand? It knows full well that those remarks are nothing else than buncombe to throw a damper on enthusiastic Democrats and check weak-kneed Republican and Independents from stampeding into Democratic ranks. Its efforts will be in vain, however, as the returns in October next will evince. A few more such "barren victories" and the Democracy will reign supreme throughout the land.

In Woonsocket, Rhode Island, they have "mosquitoes of the genuine Cemerara (West Indies) species, striped like a zebra, with ears the size of a mule's, and with a bill two and three quarters, or three and a quarter inches long—or thereabout."

The claims against the defunct Bulletin are over $8,000, all of which are in the courts for adjudication.

Sixth day of November, A. D.

1875, at 2 o'clock, P. M., I will sell all the right, title and interest of the said George Knisley, in and to the above described property, at the Court House Door, in Canyon City, Grant County, Oregon, at Public Auction, for cash in hand, to the highest and best bidder, to satisfy said Execution and all costs. Gold coin.

W. P. GRAY, Sheriff,
n22n26 By W. H. KELLEY, Deputy.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT. Trade Mark. Patented.

THE KING OF THE BODY IS THE Brain; the stomach its main support; the nerves its messengers; the bowels, the kidneys and the pore its safeguards. Indigestion creates a violent revolt among these attaches of the regal organ, and to bring them back to their duty there is nothing like the regulating, purifying, invigorating, cooling operation of

TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT,

It renovates the system and restores to health both the body and the mind.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

COUNTY SCRIPT.—County Script will be taken at 75 cents on the dollar, and Green backs at par, for the next thirty days, in payment of old debts due this office, and for advance payments for subscription.
