The Fortunes of Our Presidents. Washington left an estate of nearly

Jefferson died comparatively poor, If Congress had not purchased his library at a price far above its value ($20,000) he would with difficulty have kept out of bankruptcy at the clese of his life. Madison saved his money and was comparatively rich. The fortune of his rules for the observance of the county widow was increased by the purchase Boards of Equalization. A new form of his manuscript papers by Congress of assessment roll has been gotten up, for $30,000.

James Monroe, the sixth President, died so poor that he was buried at the expense of his relatives, in a cemetery between Second and Third streets, near the Bowery in New York City.

John Quincy Adams left about $50. 000, the result of industry, prudence, and a small inheritance. He was methodical and economical.

Martin Van Buren died rich. His estate was estimated at nearly $300,000. James K. Polk left about $150,000

James Tyler was a bankrupt when he became President. He husbanded his means while in office, and married a rich wife, and died wealthy in worldly Zachary Taylor left about $150,000. Millard Fillmore is a wealthy man. Franklin Pierce saved $50,000 durng his term of service as President.

Johnson is said to be worth about $50,000. President Grant was poor before the war. By a careful husbanding of his salary and through the generous gifts of friends before he became President, his fortune is a handsome compe tence.

[That last hit on Grant is very rich.]

AN INTELLIGENT PARROT.-The natural history editor of the Lexington, Ky., Press tells this:

"A lady residing in a city not a hundred miles from Lexington is the possessor of two pets-a monkey and a great advantage over all competitors. The Stage office is at this House; also the parrot-who are by no means congenial friends; in fact, Mrs. C. was in the habit of locking up the monkey whenever she left the house, for fear of his belligerent qualities. One evening, alas! she neglected to do so, and the monkey coming in found the parrot ready for a fight, and a very desperate one ensued. The monkey ruthlessly pulled out every feather of the unhappy parrot, and broke up the mantel ornaments, and smashed things generally. When Mrs. C. returned she found the monkey chattering on the mantelpiece, and out crept the parrot looking deeply injured, and greeted her with, 'We've had a hell of a time.' The appropriateness of the remark caused shouts of laughter."

> MISS NELLIE GRANT'S DEBUT .-The Baltimore Sun of December 27th

Miss Nellie Grant made her society debut at a "German," given at Mosini's Hall, Washington, on Tuesday evening of last week. She was chaperoned by Mrs. Frelinghuysen, and a correspondent says of her: "She was looking exceedingly well, and wore a lovely dress of pale blue silk, with an overdress of Valenciennes lace. Like her mother, Miss Grant has beautiful arms, neck and hands, and she appears to the greatest advantage in evening dress.

THE CAUSE.-We notice in the Congressional proceedings that the notorious Blanton Duncan has presented a claim against the Government for property seized during the war. This looks as though Blanton is going to get his reward now for the part he played in the late Presidential campaign. This will ing the re election of Grant. We shall watch and see whether this mountebank will be successful.

State Board of Equalization,

This body did not undertake to equal ize the taxes for the present year, as taxes were being colleted in the various counties at the time the Board met. The fact also that the assessment rolls of only three or four counties gave the different species of personal property, rendered such equalization out of the question. We understand that the Board have prepared rules relating to the duties of Assessors, and likewise which will be bound in uniform style and furnished to each county in triplicate. It is thought that the existing inequality of assessments will not occur hereafter to any great extent, should the the Assessors follow the suggestions and advice given them, and the county Boards act in accord with the State Board. The equalization between coun- Chinaman residing near Pekin. ties will be rendered much easier and less expensive, if the rules and arrangements of the Board are carried into about 1.000,000 ounces per month. effect. When all property is fairly assessed under its appropriate head and the proper offsets allowed to appear upon the assessment rolls, there will be such a showing of taxable property as to occasion a reduction in the ratio of State as well as county tax. We learn that the State Board made a report to the Governor of the results of their deliberations.

MR. MERRIAM has introduced in the House of Representatives a bill restricting the publication of the yearly advertisements for proposals to carry the mails to one or more newspapers printed in the Congressional district or Territory where the routes begin, pass through or terminate. If this bill becomes a law it will effect a much needed reform. At present columns and columns of proposals for mail service are published at great expense in partisan newspapers where there is no possibility of their meeting the eye of probable bidders. In this way a double purpose is effected. The owners of the partisan papers are rewarded for their subserviency by the patronage thus bestowed upon them, and the proposals for bids are concealed from the view of honest bidders, giving the favorites of the Post Office Ring

GLOOMY PROSPECT FOR INSURANCE. -The New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says: There is increasing evidence of concealed plan for the destruction of New York, and the authorities are exercising the utmost vigilance. Extra men have been engaged on the Fire Department, and additional engines are under contract. Many Communists, expelled from Paris after its last capture, are in New York, and their movements excite much suspicion. It is impossible to account for the origin of all the recent fires except on the theory that some of them were incendiary. It is known that half a dozen fires have been set within the past ten days, but fortunately they were extinguished.
