LETTER FROM YAQUINA BAY.

A Fitting Reply to General Joel Palmer.

YAQUINA BAY, Feb. 13, 1873.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:

After reading a lengthy communication in the Corvallis Gazette of Jan. 19th, signed Joel Palmer, as a citizen of Yaquina Bay, I deem it my duty to reply to a few points in that communication, not that I wish to enter into a newspaper fight with him, but merely to lay the plain simple facts before the public, that the white citizens may have a hearing as well as Mr. Palmer and the Indians. Mr.

Palmer says the question is: "what is the cause of this excitement? Has it any real foundation? Has there been anything done or said by the Indians or their Agent to warrant this excitement?"

He then goes on and tries to show that the late Indian scare was gotten up by designing persons, without cause or provocation, and claims that all is right on the part of poor Lo and himself.

About five months ago I was informed by an intelligent Indian, from the Siletz Reservation, that the Indians were all dancing, and expected by their dancing to bring back their dead warriors; then they would wipe out the whites, and take their land. This, and similar threats, have been made by intelligent Indians, and not by foolish old squaws, as Palmer would have you believe.

These threats, as simple and erroneous as they appeared to be, led us to believe, knowing as we did the superstitious belief of the Indians, and the power and influence it has over them, that at least no good could arise from it, and it might lead to harm if carried to extremes.

Following this was the burning of Mr.

Sawtell's house, which we are almost compelled to believe was done by the Indians, until we have proof to the contrary, there being already positive proof, from a reliable source, that the Indians threatened to burn it, and the threats, followed by the burning on the same night. In the face of all this Mr. Palmer has the hardihood to say there were no signs of hostile intentions among the Indians. Why don't Mr. Palmer ferret out this matter? Why don't he listen to the evidence of reliable white people, instead of taking the statement of the Indian as positive proof that he did not do it. He says Mr. Sawtell lost nothing by the burning of his house. Let that be as it may; but it is poor consolation for those of us that have property here that is not insured, if the Indians are allowed to make threats of like manner, and carry them into execution, almost in the face of the Agent, without scarcely a passing notice from him. In speaking of the pow-wow they had with the Indians on the Siletz, Palmer says: "I regret that a reporter was not present, to have taken down the speeches of the chiefs, upon that occasion." Now, suppose there had been a reporter present, to have, why does he not put a stop to it at once? In closing his communication,

Mr. Palmer thinks there need be no apprehension on the part of the whites of outbreaks, if they will extend to the Indians the rights to which they are entitled. Now the question arises, what are their rights? Have they a right to steal, burn houses, impose upon white settlers, and insult women? Or, is it right that they should be kept on their reservations, where Government has provided ample means for their sustenance, were it honestly and judiciously distributed among them? I think the latter is right and just towards the Indians, but the Indians and a few whites seem to have the idea that the former is their right.

Now, sir, as long as they hold this idea, and are allowed to carry it into effect unnoticed by the Agent, so long there will be trouble between them and the whites. I think the Government made a great mistake in opening up for white settlement a narrow strip of land, situated, as this is, between two reservations of thieving Indians, where it seems almost impossible to prevent difficulty between them and the whites. For this reason I have always advocated the peaceable removal of the Indians to a more suitable locality, but to effect this seems to be almost an impossibility, as long as the present party have power. Since their leaders are bitterly opposed to such a measure. Now, Mr. Editor, I will close this communication, having, no doubt, already intruded upon your space. I may say something on this subject again. A NORTH BENDER.
