RUST IN WHEAT.

Ed. GAZETTE:
The following is, in substance, what has been taught to every class since my connection with the Agricultural College: I simply quote from the text-book which I use in school:
"It (rust) is now admitted by all scientists to be a microscopic fungus, to which the name Puccinia graminis has been given.

"One Stoma on a straw will produce from twenty to forty fungi, and each of them, it is believed, will produce at least one hundred spores or reproductive particles, so that the progeny of a single stoma will be enough to infect a whole plant."
"Farmers in England affirm that wheat sown in the neighborhood of the barberry bush, seldom escapes the blight, as it is supposed that the spores are generated and preserved on these bushes."
I have some reason to think that ash trees act in a similar way. The following remark is worthy of notice, and may be useful to farmers:
"It is believed that the spores may be perpetuated on undecomposed straw, carried out into the field as manure."
If this be true, farmers should be careful in this matter, as well as in destroying all grasses in fields producing rust.

I publish this because I have been requested to do so. B. L. ARNOLD.

SEA-BATHING

He had returned with his wife from a summer vacation at the seaside, and stood in front of the house giving a graphic account of the season's pleasures.
"Went in bathing every day," he exclaimed enthusiastically. "Ah!" responded the friend. "Wife goes in too?" "Oh, yes, every day," said the returned vacationist.
"Can she swim?" queried the friend, with some interest. "No, she can't," was the reply. "She tried and tried to learn, but somehow she couldn't get the hang of it. She said she didn't get the right kick, and I let her think that was the reason, but the fact was—and here he looked up at the house and smelt his nose to a hoarse aspiration—"the fact was she could not keep her mouth closed long enough to take four strokes before she'd have some silly remark to make, when her wash she'd swallow a whole wave and go plump to the bottom," and the husband winked rapidly as the scene was recalled to his mind, and went in to the house chuckling with pleasure. But he hadn't noticed a woman's face peering out of the curtains of a raised window. The acquaintance saw the front door open quickly, saw a hand reach out and grab the seaside boarder by the collar, saw the heels of that individual crack his back as he shot through the door which slammed behind his vanished form, heard a mild, stifled noise, as of a human body being hauled over a hat-rack and banged against the wall, and heard a muffled voice like unto that of an enraged woman, say: "Take that back and I'll let you up, you wall-eyed yahoo!" And the acquaintance, with a countenance of wonder and alarm, passed on.

STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.
The next session of this school will begin on Monday, September 1, 1879.
Free Tuition—The law provides for the free tuition of sixteen young men over 16 years of age. Young men anywhere in the state may secure appointments by applying to the senator for the District in which they reside, or to the president of the college. These students are admitted to all the departments of the college.
Course of Study—Physical Science, Composition and Analysis of Soils, Manure and Drainage, Mental Science, Mathematics, Languages, ancient and modern, Botany, Fruit Culture, Geology and Mineralogy, Stock-Breeding.
Students derive great benefits from being present the first day of the session.

D. D.—Frank Zeigler, a cabinet maker and upholsterer, was on a little jamboze last Tuesday, and gave a practical illustration of the old song, "going through the rye." Policeman Miller overhauled him at the Vincent House, and which invited to take a little stroll around to the calaboose, he became indignant and attempted to practice the handy work of his craft on the head of the officer; but failing to effect a release by harsh menaces, he quietly retired to rest for the night in the guest's chamber at the city jail. Next morning, by special request, he interviewed his honor, Recorder Bryson, and was requested by that gentleman to make a donation of $13 toward defraying the incidental expenses of the city, but being financially embarrassed, declined complying with this request, and now languishes in the city jail for six days.

FINE NURSERY.—While at Newport last week we visited the nursery of Ed. C. Phelps, near that place, and were surprised to find so fine a collection of fruit and ornamental trees; but when we visited the conservatory connected with it, our surprise gave way to admiration. We were not at all prepared to give the different varieties, or any part of them, but simply state that the collection embraces the most extensive variety we have seen for a long time. Mr. Phelps expects to make this a business in future, and the unusual good taste he has shown in the matter thus far insures for him success in the enterprise.

CURIOUSITY.—Henry Elliott has placed on our table a curiosity in fruit growing. It is a limb from a Siberian crab tree loaded with ripe fruit, and growing on the same limb is fresh blossoms.

Maunier Bros. and J. W. Hays will, in a few days, complete a ditch from Sam's creek to their diggings on Rogue river, which is 990 rods in length. They are quite sanguine that the enterprise thus inaugurated by them will prove a successful one.
A man by the name of Logan, who was recently pardoned out of the penitentiary, committed suicide at Joe Reed's logging camp on the North Umpqua, on Tuesday night about 3 o'clock, by shooting himself through the head with a pistol. Although he was rather wild he had many friends. He was raised near Seas, Lane county, and leaves a wife in Portland. No cause can be assigned for the deed.

A young brute named Johnson, who lives on South First street, Portland, in order to demonstrate his mastery over his wife, slapped her violently several times near No. 4's engine house Saturday afternoon, and ordered her home. She followed him up the street a few blocks until she arrived opposite their dwelling, when she stopped a moment, fearing to enter the house. Her delay angered the brute, and he turned around and dragged her across the street into the yard.
Now comes a letter from L. L. Williams, dated at Victoria, B. C., August 1st, and directed to E. G. Hirst, at Corvallis, denouncing in toto the malicious charges against his character. He states that he is acquainted with the woman with whom it has been stated that he slept; that he holds her and her folks goodly; and after traveling 700 miles arrived at Victoria, B. C., where he first learned of the reports concerning him. He further states that if she has eloped it must have transpired since his departure, and that she certainly did not elope with him.

New DESKS.—The north district of this city has refurnished the school house with new desks throughout. These desks are finely finished, polished like parlor furniture, and very substantial, and were manufactured at Portland. They are folding desks, iron frames, and the wood work made of the best Oregon ash. These desks have been needed for some time, and in procuring them the directors exercised the best judgment, not only in finish and durability, but also in convenience.
SAD ACCIDENT.—While Mr. Sherill, a farmer and his family were en route to church at Peoria last Sunday, his team became frightened while crossing a bridge, and sheering, fell with the wagon and its passengers down a high embankment. One of Mr. Sherill's daughters, aged 13 years, was instantly killed, two others were seriously and perhaps fatally injured, both he and his wife were painfully hurt, the wagon was completely wrecked and the team badly bruised and out.

TEMPERANCE LECTURES.—Mrs. P. Annetta Peckham, of San Francisco, lectured at the M. E. church, in this city, on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, on temperance, to large and interested audiences. Don't Forget It.
If you are troubled with nervousness or indigestion of life, fear death or feel out of sorts at the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint. The liver is very apt to become torpid this season of the year as it is a season of the year when the stomach and bowels are more numerous and are through inhalation taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active and furnish a supply of fresh and pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above mentioned symptoms surely follow, and if not heeded, end in more terrible diseases and death. White's Prairie Flower proves itself the Great Liver Purifier. Its action on the liver is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its action are truly wonderful. Try it. Price twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents.

Sad Hovee is Created
Among the tenants of the month by allowing impurities to collect upon their surface or in their intestines. SOZODONIT removes the dirt, cleanses the system, and renders their prenas decay impossible. It not only imparts to them whiteness and vigor, but communicates to them a certain amount of vitality. The breath acquires a most acceptable fragrance from its use; it is a purely botanic liquid, and it may be relied on to accomplish its beautiful effects without injuring the enamel like a gritty tooth paste.
