MAINE MEANNESS.

All of our readers who have access to the daily papers have kept themselves posted in regard to the situation of matters political in the Pine Tree State. However, many of our readers living remote from mail facil ities have not yet learned the extent to which the Fusionists carried matters in Maine. For such we propose to give a brief statement of which has up to this time been done. Of course all know that an election was held in Maine late in the fall of '79, for the purpose of electing a full set of State officers and Legislature. Three tickets were in the field, Republican headed by Davis for Governor; Fusionist with Smith for Governor; Democratic with Garcelon for Governor. A thorough canvass of the State was made, and when the result was made known, it was found that the Republicans had swept the entire State, by a larger majority than had been secured for years. It will be remembered that Garcelon was elected Governor in 1878 by the Fusionists, and judging him by the light of passing events during the last two months he aided by his council had been doing all in their power to recompense that party by attempting to deprive the State of the offices squarely elected by counting them all out on mere techpolled at the last election nearly three times as many votes as the Fusionists and notwithstanding that fact which no one disputes, not even the Fusionists themselves, we have seen the sorry spectacle of the entire State being turned over to those whom the people never elected and those whom the people did elect refused admittance to the Governor's council to examine the returns, or to make objections to that summary manner of depriving them of their election certificates. Thus Garcelon and his council in secret handled the election returns, and accomplished their foul then proceeded to elect Governor and other State efficers. Before re- do something at once in this matter. tiring from Gubernatorial duties, Governor Garcelon appointed Major Gen. The next important move made was the organization of the Republican Legislature aided by two or three Fusionist members, and a few Democrats, which gave both House and Senate a quorum. They proceeded to elect Davis Governor, and filled the other State offices and then prepared a list of questions covering every possible point and submitted them to the Supreme Court which were all decid ed in favor of that body and they were declared legally organized, and the State offices chosen by them, were legally elected. Governor Davis assumed control of the forces and relieved Gen. Chamberlain, and all the differnt State departments proceeded to business. The Secretary of State soon discovered that the Fusionists' Secretary of State had carried off the great seal of State. another was immediately ordered and the Fusionists' Legislature refused admittance to the State House, Since then that body of patriots have been holding sessions on the sidewalk near the Capital. They having been refused a place to hold their sessions by the Democratic Mayor of Augusta. Some of the Fusionists are desirous of returning home, some who were elected of taking seats with the Re onblican Legislature, so that their constituents shall not be without, repre sentation, others counsel war and still others tame submission to the inevitable. Thus ends one of the most diabolical plots ever conceived, countenanced or aided in depriving a civilized people of the officers they had elected to govern them. History It this chance is let pass how long furnishes no parallel. If it had not may it be till a fresh one arises? been for the constant councils of leading Republicans from all over the State, Maine's fair name and fame would have been disgraced and blood would have desecrated her free soil. The petition or memorial which appears in our columns this day is the result of an earnest appeal from Col. T. Egenton Hogg, who is now and has been for some weeks at Washington. He telegraphed on Friday, and again on Saturday last, to urge the immediate preparation, signature, and forwarding for presentation, of the memorial in question. The Senators and Representative from Oregon have been interesting themselves in obtaining National assistance for the harbor and river navigation of the State, but they need to be supported by the expression by the people them-

The great steal that For the benefit of such, and in answer took the land grant which had been generously donated by Congress to publish the following from the Code, aid in the construction of the Oregon Central railroad and diverted it to the East Side road wholly crippled our resources and left our people almost isolated from the marts of commerce. The construction of the narrow tion of the Westside to Corvallis have opened up to commerce the best enhancing the value of the property contiguous to their lines. While this railroad communication is a great statement to the nearest justice of the peace which nature has furnished, our prosperity will be assured beyond a per adventure. The resourses of thi portion of the valley are immense; our products find a ready market in the marts of the world and the importance of the question. How are we best to get them to market? is one that deserves the serious attention of our people. Shall we continue as now to send them by way of Port land and Astoria to the seaboard, or can we find a cheaper and safer way? It is a fact pater t to the most casual observer of the topography of the country that Yaquina Bay in Benten county presents all the desired advantages and is destined ere many years to become the grand entrepor of the valley trade. The line of railread now being constructed from Corvallis to the bay will ere long be the direct road from Central Oregon to San tion of the same, giving marks as above spec-ified, the name and residence of the finder, Francisco, and the capitalists, the artisan and the farmer, alike, seeing our availability, will settle in our midst. Of the practicability of this route there can be no question and all that is required to bring about the desired result is vigorous, active work on the part of the people of Benton and adjoining counties. The board of Harbor of Refuge Commissioners should be persistently urged to locate the Harbor at Yaquina Bay, as from ed to be the most suitable place of the North Pacific seaboard. Let the
