LOWER ALSEA ITEMS-The wind and high water upset several lengths of Prof. Hawthorne's fence. There is no sickness among the citizens who are busy making improvements. Wm. Peek is overhauling the saw mill at Tidewater, putting in a new wheel and other machinery, in order to meet the re quirements of the busy time coming.

The Lower Alsea has received a large im migration during the past year, and all settlers are well pleased with the country. There is still room for more.

The late storm unroofed Mrs. Toby's barn and blew the Tidewater school house from its foundation. There was no other damage in that section, except blowing trees into the roadway.

The Alsea bay would be a splendid loca tion for a cannery-salmon of the choices varieties being abundant in their season. There is also a fine location for a store. A good man, with a small stock of general merchandise, would undoubtedly do a paying business from the start, and of course his trade would develop with the country.

The completion of the long-talked of wagon road from Upper Alsea to Tidewater, a distance of twenty-one miles, would inangurate a new era of presperity in both sections. The large number of new settlers would, doubtless, contribute liberally either in money or labor, and we believe that if the people will now make a combined and energetic effort, the road can be built in time to commemorate its completion with a grand 4th of July celebration at Tidewater.

Thomas Paul has been arrested and lodged in the Portland jail on the charge of robbery on a requsition from the Governor of California. energetic effort, the road can be built in After the gardens and crops are in the ground, and between that time and harvest. will be the proper time to work the road, as farmers will thus be deprived of no portion of their products, and can well afford to devote the interval to so worthy an object.

MAILS FOR THE WEST SIDE .- The Oregonian of last Monday says: Service will vallis in about ten days. The present arrangement of morning mails via the Eastside to Albany and thence by stage, will, however, be continued. All matter mailed in this city between 6 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. for Corvallis and way points will be sent by the afternoon train. Matter mailed at Corlowest ever offered in this city, at sent on the Westside morning train, and will reach this city five hours earlier than under the present arrangement. An office will be established at Wells' station, and others as the needs of the country require.

Fires. - At 71 o'clock last evening the fire alarm was sounded and the fire depart. ment, with its accustomed promptness immediately responded. The scene of the fire was Mrs. J. S. Palmer's dwelling, which had caught from a defective flue in the kitchen. The fire was soon extinguished or was supposed to have been, but at 12 o'clock Wednesday night the department was again called out and found the same house on fire, flames bursting through the roof; a shower of water from the engine very soon put out the fire The damage is not large, and will be promptly paid as the ilding is covered by a policy in the Phoenix.

THIRD TERMISM DEAD.

The ghost of third termism that has haunted so many politicians for the year past, seems to be a harmless affair after all. No doubt many of Princess Louise landed at Halifax the place-hunters in the Republican party and a great many wire pullers in the Democratic party have labored assiduously to work up the nomination of General Grant, hoping no doubt to advance the personal interests of the former and augment the political capital of the latter; but their manipulations of the body politic has not been as successful as they have anticipated, judging by the fol-

Chicago, Jan. 27,-Murat Halsted telegraphs to his paper from Washington as follows respecting the presi-dential prospects: There is every prospect that the Grant presidential boom will not last more than two weeks longer. It promises to end peremptorily and finally at the Pennvlvania state convention next week. It is reliably learned here that some of Grant's most intimate friends in Philadelphia have authority from him Commissioner Hayt, of the Indian to act in the premises, and that they will withdraw his name from consideration as a candidate at the Pennsylvania convention, where there will bill to increase the facilities of the be delagates from several counties instructed for Grant, which will give his friends an opportunity to speak out on the subject. His friends decline to enter into a contest for the position, and of late it has become very apparent to them that it would be impossible for him to get the nomination without a contest. Halsted also quotes James R. Young, a Grant man, as saying that cents.
