COMMITTEE MEETING.

A meeting of the Benton County Republican Central Committee is hereby called, to meet at the court house in Corvallis on Saturday, May 1st, 1880, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for State Senator, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Hon. John Burnett. Let every precinct be represented.

A. M. WITTHAM, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

We take pleasure in placing the ticket nominated by the County Republican Convention, on the 10 inst. at the head of our paper. Most of the nominees are too well and favorably known throughout the county to require any special notice, or formal introduction, at our hands.

F. M. Wadsworth, of Soap Creek precinct, who stands first upon the Legislative ticket, is a staunch Republican, who stood by his country in the hour of danger, serving some four years in the Union army during the Rebellion; is a man of over average intellectual attainments, and of sterling integrity and honor. Mr. W. is a farmer, and will make a good representative.

Mr. George Wagner, is a merchant of Monroe, with whom we have little personal acquaintance, but who comes well recommended and endorsed by his neighbors, which is a good omen. He is represented as a solid, substantial man, of sound judgment and steady nerve, who will look well to the interests of the county and State, and never give his vote or influence to any "jobs" or political trickery. Just the kind of a man the people of Benton will delight to honor.

Dr. F. M. Carter, is a graduate of Willamette University, and too well known to need any eulogy from the GAZETTE, having grown up from boyhood in this county. The Doctor will, doubtless, speak for himself upon the stump, and make it warm for his opponent. Our representative ticket, as will be seen, has been selected not only with reference to ability and honesty, but so as to represent every portion of the county. Mr. Wadsworth from the extreme north, Mr. Wagner from the extreme south, and Dr. Carter will ably represent the central and western portion of the county. With such a ticket, the Republicans can count on success, next June, pretty confidently.

For county commissioners, Messrs. K. A. Hurlburt and J. L. Lilly will meet a most hearty response from the people, both being pioneers of the county, and among our most substantial and influential farmers. The judicious and successful manner in which they manage their own affairs is a guarantee of careful, prudent, and economical administration of county matters. They are too well and favorably known throughout the county to be affected by any personal sland and billingsgate, even though it should emanate from the personal organ of the "Boss."

For Sheriff, which is considered the most important office in the county, Sol King is nominated for the third time, and will be re-elected, as a reward of honesty and efficiency. The taxes were never more fully and promptly collected than by Mr. King, during his term of office, and all his official acts have been performed in such a quiet, yet firm and faithful manner, that he has made hosts of friends, in all parties, and will poll a larger vote, next June, than ever before. But, notwithstanding his increased popularity, as evidenced by his nomination, on first ballot, over such competitors as Messrs. Houck and Hawkins, we are authorized, by Mr. King, to state that he will not again allow his name to be presented for this office.

For County Clerk, Mr. B. W. Williams had no opposition, and was nominated by acclamation, without a dissenting voice. For eight successive terms Mr. W. has filled this office, and discharged its increasingly responsible duties with marked ability, honesty and efficiency; he is, emphatically, the farmer's friend, and has saved the farmers of Benton county thousands of dollars, in the way of gratuitous writing and attorneys' fees, hence the ill-disguised enmity of "Boss" McFadden, and his coterie of followers, as exhibited in his personal organ from time to time. The people of Benton county—the voters—the bone and sinew—know very well who has been their true friend all these years, and do not need any instructions from "Boss" McFadden's personal organ as to their duty in the coming election. Bush Wilson is a man "of the people," "for the people," and will receive a larger majority, next June, for the office of Clerk than ever before. Stick a pin there.

For School Superintendent, Prof. E. B. McElroy had no opposition in convention, and that office is left blank on the Democratic ticket. "Tis well, as Mr. McElroy's popularity throughout the county as an educator and indefatigable worker, places him head and shoulders above any competitor for this office. Our common schools were never so prosperous and harmonious, or our teachers so thoroughly imbued with the dignity and responsibility of their calling as now, and the Professor has contributed largely in this good work by his system of interesting and successful Teachers' Institutes, which have become established institutions, and a most potent auxiliary in our common school work. Our people want no change.

For Treasurer, J. W. Williams was nominated on first ballot. Mr. Williams (or "Johnny" as he is familiarly called) came to Corvallis in 1852 or 1853, we believe, and has been a resident of this county most of the time since. During that period he has suffered numerous reverses of fortune, from causes beyond his control, and for which he was in nowise responsible; but amidst them all he has preserved his honor and integrity, and has hosts of friends, all over the county, who are eager to show their appreciation of him at the polls in June. He is eminently qualified for the position, and, judging from the satisfaction expressed at his nomination, in various parts of the county, will receive a rousing vote, and be our next treasurer.

Mr. Silas Howell, of Alsea, received the nomination for Assessor. He is a practical farmer, well acquainted with the price of stock, lands, etc., and will make a good and efficient officer. Mr. H. comes highly recommended by his neighbors.

The office of county surveyor is one that absolutely requires a thorough practical knowledge of the business. Mr. Geo. Mercer, in addition to his thorough knowledge of surveying, brings a long personal experience to his aid, and is just the man for the position.

The office of Coroner, although last on the ticket, is, by no means, the least important. It is, in fact, next in importance to the Sheriff, as the Coroner is the only person competent to serve process upon the Sheriff. But, aside from this, the duties of the Coroner frequently require medical skill, and for this reason the Convention selected Dr. F. A. Johnston, a man of age and experience, who will certainly be elected, as his name appears upon the Greenback ticket also.

WORK has commenced on the Yaquina railroad. Whooop her lively. This nice weather makes us feel like a trip to the Bay would be "awful splendid."—Albany Register.

Several of our State exchanges have contained items like the above, recently, and we regret, more than anybody, that they are not literally true. We mentioned that the work of improvement had commenced on the Yaquina Bay wagon road, and our contemporaries got the roads mixed. Such a mistake is pardonable, owing to the growing interest in the Yaquina railroad project. We hope to be able to chronicle, before long, that active operations have begun on the railroad.

IMPROVING YAQUINA BAY.

The San Francisco Chronicle of the 14th has the following special from Washington:

The secretary of war, in response to the senate resolution of the 18th ultimo, calling for data respecting the entrance to Yaquina bay, Oregon, transmitted to the senate a letter from Gen. Wright, chief of engineers, submitting a copy of a letter from Lieut. Col. C. S. Stewart, a member of the board of engineers of the Pacific coast, and also a report of George W. Wood upon the survey of the bay, dated Nov. 28, 1879. From an examination of these it is found that a bar obstructs the entrance which is not fixed in position, but is rapidly movable within a rather wide limit. Col. Stewart states that the material of which it is composed shifts back and forth under varying forces which act upon it. Its outflow from the bay is not sufficient to keep the entrance free from sand, so as to enable a vessel to carry in it at low water more than nine feet. He concludes by adding that an artificial channel, excavated from deep water inside to deep water outside would not, in the opinion of the board of engineers, with the data before it, remove permanently the obstructions to the entrance.

The above extract we find in Tuesday's Oregonian, without note or comment. While we are willing to grant that the statements of Col. Stewart will have weight, and may, for the present, delay an appropriation for the improvement of Yaquina bay, yet it is consoling to know that Col. Stewart's statements do not coincide with the surveys of Lieut. Chase and Capt. Wood, and the actual "soundings" of hosts of practical seamen.

Col. Stewart could not, of his own personal observation, state that the obstructions to the entrance of Yaquina are "NOT FIXED" in position, but rapidly movable within a rather wide limit. Himself and party were landed at Cape Foulweather, four miles north of Yaquina Bay; took a carriage and was driven to Newport; went up the bay a few miles, and returned to Foulweather, same afternoon. This is all the opportunity Col. Stewart had for observing the obstructions to Yaquina Bay.

Soon after the official visit to Yaquina Mr. R. A. Hurlbush was ordered to make a survey of the Alsea bay and entrance, some 15 miles to the south of Yaquina. Here was found a "MOVABLE OBSTRUCTION," shifting sands; and Col. Stewart, without any intention of misstatement, has, undoubtedly, got the two places confused in his mind, and the statement he makes above, should apply to ALSEA, and not Yaquina.

As a POSITIVE and unanswerable proof that the "obstructions to Yaquina bay are NOT MOVABLE or shifting," it is only necessary to state, as a fact, that the ranges and beaches erected by Lieut. Chase, in 1868, were found by Capt. Wood, in 1879, to be correct, remain unchanged, and have been used by mariners all that time. We assert, upon the authority of both Chase and Wood, and without fear of successful contradiction, that the obstructions to Yaquina bay are soft, shelly rock, easily removed. It is a sunken reef or ledge of rock, one hundred and fifty yards across from deep water outside to deep water inside. The only sand that is, or could possibly remain, upon this obstruction is found in holes or "pockets" in the rock.

Of course, no statement of Col. Stewart, or any one else, will change the FACTS in the case, or make one inch more or less water on the reef. All we desire is fair play and official statements. If Yaquina Bay is not all we claim for it, we will give it up. But we have not been striking in the dark, or guessing at this matter for the past fifteen years. We know whereof we affirm, and Capt. Wood's survey, when published, will forever close the month of all croakers, and enemies to Yaquina Bay. Facts are stubborn things.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Going to press, as we do, on Thursday forenoon, we are unable, this week, to give a report of the doings of the Republican State Convention, which convened in Portland on Wednesday. The following dispatch was the only news we had up to the hour of going to press, sent to E. Allen, of this city, by T. C. Alexander: "M. C. George nominated for Congress. Delegates instructed for Blaine."

Full report of proceedings of convention will be given next week in the GAZETTE. The nomination of Mr. George will give perfect satisfaction throughout this portion of the State, and add strength to the entire Republican ticket.

THE RIGHT KING.—The Albany Register, of last week, published an extract from a private letter, written by Hon. M. C. George, which has the ring of pure metal. In speaking of the Yaquina railroad project, Mr. George says:

"This whole north-west will be long be honeycombed with railroads, and the upper valley counties seem to be equally favored in this respect, for by the papers I see that work is commencing on the Yaquina road. This is business, and I hope to see it pushed through to final success. I have over—and long before I moved from Lima county—regarded it as one of the great enterprises of the State, and it is of State importance that all of nature's outlets for our rapidly growing commerce should be opened for traffic. Entertaining such views, while occupying a seat in the State Senate I favored the measure all in my power. I believe that we scarcely realize the grand future that is in store for us as a State, and that active operations have begun on the railroad."

RUMORS OF OPPOSITION.

The Portland Telegram of the 10th inst., has a long article, headed in display lines as follows: "Sensation—A rumor floating about to the effect that the O. R. & N. Co. is to have an opposition. A groundless report. A story set adrift by a San Francisco man flatly contradicted. The new company prosperous."

A Telegram reporter had been detailed to work the matter up, and after considerable trouble, could find no authority for the rumor. It was reported that Mr. R. R. Thompson, now of California, but formerly one of the leading members of the old O. S. N. Co., was dissatisfied with the way the affairs of that company had been disposed of, and proposed, in connection with leading capitalists of San Francisco, to enter into active competition with the new company not only for the carrying trade of the Columbia and Willamette rivers, but also for the entire coast trade between San Francisco and Portland. It was also rumored that matters were not as harmonious as they might be in the new company. The Telegram reporter, however, could find out nothing definite in the premises, and pronounces the whole matter a "groundless report."

As to the foundation of these rumors, of course we know nothing. But that the new company will meet, sooner or later, a formidable rival in the carrying trade referred to, is scarcely to be doubted. The new company, to far greater extent than the old O. S. N. Co., now controls the entire carrying trade of Oregon, and a large portion of the trade of Washington and Idaho territories. Such a wide field, and so remunerative a traffic, cannot escape competition, especially when so much idle capital in San Francisco is seeking investment. In connection with the above rumors, it is intimated that the combination between the old O. S. N. Co., now O. R. & N. Co., owning the Oregon and Elder, in fact all the steamers plying between San Francisco and Portland except the State of California, and the P. M. S. Co. will cease on the 1st of May, 1880, and the new iron steamer Columbia, the finest vessel that ever came to this coast, will take the place of the State of California in the Portland trade. If this be so, Messrs. Goodall, Perkins & Co., of the P. C. S. S. Co., will be compelled to run the State of California in opposition to the O. R. & N. Co., or withdraw from the trade. This being the case, the talk of opposition may not be an entirely "groundless report," although not coming from the source referred to.

Honorable, fair competition in the carrying trade, as in other legitimate business transactions, is right and proper, and should be encouraged. But to revive the old style "opposition," as in the days of the ill-fated Republic, should be deprecated, and we trust will never come to pass. The people of this state can well afford, and are willing to pay reasonable and fair prices for freights and fares, and do not desire, nor is it to their interests, to have the prices go below living rates. There is a marked difference between honorable competition, and an "opposition" that means "rule or ruin." The former tends to enterprise and thrift; the latter to bankruptcy, hard-times, the crippling of all classes of industries, and filling our state with paupers, criminals, and the lowest dregs of San Francisco brothels. From all which may the good Lord deliver us.

THAT CAUSE OF DIVISION.

The Portland Sunday Mercury gives Judge Burnett, of this place, a very complimentary notice, but, at the same time, severely criticizes the action of the late Democratic State Convention. That paper is in "war path" so far as Judges Kelly, Prim and Bellinger are concerned, and will be seen by the following article which appeared as the leading editorial in the issue of the 11th inst.:

The Democratic State Convention met at Albany last Wednesday and nominated John Whiteaker for Congress, F. P. Prim, James K. Kelly and John Burnett for Supreme Judges, and C. B. Bellinger for Judge of the Fourth Judicial District. Whiteaker is too well known to need any mention at our hands. John Burnett is the only fit nomination for Supreme Judge made. He is a good lawyer, an honest gentleman, and if elected, will make a most excellent Judge. Kelly, Prim and Bellinger are recognized as being the most corrupt men in Oregon, and there are thousands of Democrats throughout the state who will not support them. We gave the convention due warning before the nominations were made, that a very large portion of the Democratic party would not support the Judicial candidates. If these men were placed on the ticket. We repeat the warning of disaster now; and when the votes are polled and counted next June, the result will justify the most direful forebodings of defeat with a decisiveness that will send the base corruptionists whose acts will have brought, wreck and ruin to the prospects of Democratic control of this state.

The Old Fellows of Albany will give an excursion to Independence on the 16th inst., and have secured the steamer City of Salem for the occasion.

MR. BOWLEY'S ADDRESS.

We are indebted to Bro. Ireland, of the Astorian, for a copy of the very able and interesting address and annual report of Hon. John Q. A. Bowley, President Astoria Chamber of Commerce, submitted to that body January 19, 1880. Mr. Bowley's review of the commerce, local and general, of our State for the past year, and his timely suggestions as to the best modes of improving our transportation facilities, are clear and concise, and evince research and thought. The document is worthy of perusal by all persons interested in the general prosperity of the northwest coast, and should receive careful consideration at the hands of our Senators and Representatives. It touches upon such a variety of topics so neatly, handsomely, and masterly, that it must be read to be appreciated.

After speaking of the various appropriations for, and improvement of the lower Willamette and Columbia rivers, Mr. B. thus refers to the improvement of the upper Willamette: "The appropriation for the upper Willamette was $12,000. That portion of the river is not yet open to easy navigation of river boats during the whole year. The work of removing shoals, rocks and snags should be continued rapidly."

We agree with Mr. Bowley that the upper Willamette improvements should be "continued rapidly." But under the present arrangements the work progresses very slowly, and the appropriations are expended with but little real benefit, as the river channel is continually changing. Would it not be well to have an experienced river man in charge of this work? We would call the attention of those in charge of these improvements to this matter. Some of the wing dams, heretofore put in, were a positive detriment to navigation last summer. Steamboatmen, experienced pilots, could render much valuable assistance in the improvement of the upper Willamette.

NEW ELECTIONEERING TACTICS.—The Blade, "Boss" McFadden's personal organ, of last week, in closing a bombastic notice of the Democratic ticket, says: "Aside from political considerations, there is not a candidate upon this ticket who is not superior to his opponent as a citizen, as to intelligence and honor, and preferable for the respective position to which they aspire."

Here is modesty for you! Nothing like squelching your opponents right on the start. After such an astounding announcement as the above, from the "Boss" himself, the Republican ticket can hardly expect support in the coming campaign. Our only hope is, that as the "Boss" is known to be a great "joker," the above will be taken as a capital "goak." We will not retaliate, by saying one word derogatory to the character of any candidate upon the Democratic ticket; but we are rather inclined to think that the honest yeomanry of Benton county are capable of judging of the qualifications of candidates, especially as most of them (the Republican candidates) have been citizens of the county for nearly a quarter of a century. Such invidious comparisons will not set the Democratic ticket ahead very much. Give 'em another dose, "Boss."

THE NEW BELLER.—It has long been the desire of the M. E. church on this coast, that a resident Bishop should be elected for the same, and Rev. T. H. Pearne was favorably mentioned in this connection. It will devolve upon the next general conference of that church to elect at least one new Bishop, and we are glad to see Dr. C. C. Stratton's name favorably mentioned, and heartily endorse the following from the Salem Statesman:

A recent number of the N. Y. Times, referring to the proposed work of the coming general conference of the M. E. church, speaks of the probability of the election of Rev. C. C. Stratton as a Bishop of that denomination. The Pacific coast claims recognition, and proposes to present him as its unanimous choice. The people of Salem among whom Dr. Stratton is so well and favorably known, will hail with pleasure any proposition looking toward this end. His ability and his untiring industry in the work of the church, both as a minister and as an educator, entitle him to the choicest rewards that it is in the power of his denomination to bestow.

PACIFIC COAST.

OREGON.
The contest over the county seat question in Polk is getting very warm. Eastern Star Lodge, of the Masonic order, is soon to be instituted at Jacksonville.

A great many railroad ties are being gotten out in the vicinity of Canby.

About fifty of Eugene City's voters have emigrated to Eastern Oregon since the last election.

Linn county will be in funds in a few days and will shortly commence the payment of outstanding warrants.

Independence River Side: There will be fewer acres of ground left to summer fallow in this section than has been for many years.

The Astorian is informed that men have arrived at Astoria within a few days from Tillamook, who report twenty-five feet of snow on the mountains.

Mr. Heman S. Buck, a highly-respected man, who lived near Oregon City for thirty years, died near Visalia, California, on March 11th.

Fort Harney, Ogn., is ordered to be abandoned as soon as the roads are in good condition for the troops now there to march elsewhere.

The mail carrier between North Yamhill and Tillamook reports that during the last storm eight feet of snow fell upon the mountain road between those two points.

CHINAMAN HUNG IN PORTLAND.

Ah Lee one of the Chinamen tried and found guilty of the murder of a Christian Chinaman in the joss House, in Portland, over a year ago, was hanged last Tuesday, 11:20 A. M. His accomplice in crime is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary, and until the day previous to his execution, Ah Lee hoped to escape the gallows. His attorneys worked hard to save his neck, even going so far as to try to cause a clash between the State and U. S. courts. Such a serious affair seemed for several days, judging from the tone of the Portland papers, quite likely to occur; but Judge Deady was too well versed in law, and has too much regard for right and honor to allow any personal or political consideration to come between him and the people in his decisions. All honor to Judge Deady. We will give next week, his decision in the case and Gov. Thayer's letter also.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

A heavy snow storm is reported at Salt Lake. Small-pox in San Francisco. City of Peking in quarantine.

The California legislature has adjourned after making presents and giving commitments to the officers.

Strong talk of impeaching Mayor Kollock, of San Francisco, for use of incendiary language.

Dennis Kearny, the sand lot agitator, is now in prison garb, doing duty for the State, and has failed to pay his $1,000 fine.

A terrific sand storm on the Colorado coast wrecked several cars, on the Southern Pacific road and turned the engine over.

The recent storm did great damage to shipping on the lakes. A Chicago dispatch, of the 17th says the storm has been widespread and done serious injury to many towns, north, east, south and west.

Marshallfield, Mo., was devastated by a hurricane on the 18th inst. Many persons buried in the debris and burned. Forty bodies recovered. The storm was general in southwestern Missouri, and the loss of life and property is great. The extent of the destruction is not fully known, as the telegraph wires were down.

Albany Democrat: Farmers with whom we have conversed during the past week, inform us that there is more grain already in throughout the country than there was the first of June last year. This in reality simply insures a good crop, as the rust last year did not affect to any great extent grain that was sown before the 15th of April.
