THE EPISCOPAL SOCIAL.

The entertainment given by the congregation of the Episcopal Church of this city, last Friday evening, at the City Hall, was a very pleasant affair, and clearly demonstrates that our English cousins, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Nash, know how to make a sociable a success financially, and otherwise. The net receipts of the entertainment amounted, we understand, to about $160. Pretty good for unpleasant weather. The attendance was large, and the best class of society represented. Nearly all the ministers, professional and leading business men of the city were present. The evening was so entirely given up to social conversation and a "good time" generally, including an excellent supper, that but a small portion of the literary exercises were rendered, except a most entertaining and amusing reading by Mr. C. J. Hervey Gray.

Mr. Wallis Nash presided at the organ, while Mr. Carrick, Mrs. Johnson, and others favored the audience with some very excellent vocal selections. During the evening the Second Brigade Band, under the able leadership of Prof. Miller, discoursed their choicest pieces. The fine display of photographs, paintings, sketches, etc., formed a marked feature of the entertainment. The literary and musical portion of the entertainment, unavoidably omitted on that occasion, will be rendered at the City Hall this evening, FREE. Everybody invited. Mr. Nash's description of travels in Norway, illustrated by water-color paintings, will be very interesting. Mr. Hamilton has kindly tendered the use of the Hall free.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

For the past two meeting nights Excelsior Lodge, No. 9, I. O. G. T., has given way, in consequence of church sociables. There never has been, and we trust never will be, a conflict between the Good Templars of Corvallis and the Churches. Many pillars in various churches have taken their first step thitherward through some temperance organization. Paul preached "temperance" as well as righteousness. For nearly fifteen years Excelsior Lodge has kept her banners to the breeze in Corvallis, and most of that time has held regular weekly meetings. To accomplish this grand work has cost much labor and sacrifice of time and money on the part of a few faithful, zealous workers. No mortal can tell the good that has been accomplished. The reward of these "laborers of love" is only expected in the hereafter, but it is a satisfaction to feel that we have done our duty to our fellow men, and endeavored to aid in their reformation. The great aim of temperance workers should be to educate the young and save them from yielding to temptation. In order to do this we should make our lodge rooms attractive and pleasant. Excelsior Lodge has a neat hall, and a fine organ, and presents a fine opportunity to the young and old for a pleasant social evening, each week. But we need more workers—more church members—more ministers—more of the parents of Corvallis. Regular meeting at 7:30 this evening. Nomination of officers for the ensuing term. Let us have a full attendance, and several propositions for membership. Miss Nettie Spencer is W. C. T.

JOINT POLICIES.—When persons pay their money for insurance, they want the best security, that in event of fire, their losses will be promptly and fully met. No better guarantee in this matter can be given than by the Phoenix of Hartford and the Home of New York, which now issue joint policies in the Pacific Department. The former company represents cash assets, $2,733,341.27, and the latter $6,410,988.11. Hon. F. A. Chenoweth is resident agent for both companies, and will take pleasure in writing you a policy at the best rates.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION paid no attention to Hon. Jas. Chambers' letter in our last issue.—Blade.

Of course not. A Republican convention would never go to that source for information relative to the status of Republicans. And, upon sober second thought, we are confident Mr. Chambers will discover his error and regret that he allowed personal feeling to get the better of his judgment in the matter of letter writing.

THE ALSEA ROAD.—Since the big storm in January, the road over the Alsea mountain has been almost impassable, in consequence of fallen timber. The County Court has made an appropriation for opening the road and we understand the Spencer Bros., living on the South Fork of Mary's river, have the contract for the same. A few weeks of good weather will insure a good road over to Alsea.

VOCAL AND INSTRUMENTAL CONCERT.—The Second Brigade Band, assisted by amateur talent, will give an evening's entertainment, at an early date; the concert will consist of selections by the Band, instrumental quartets, cornet solos and duets, four and six hand pieces on pianos, choruses, duets and solos. The time will be announced by posters. The Band has always been pleased to assist our religious denominations, firemen and citizens in their entertainments, hence we predict for the boys a crowded house.

Dr. F. A. Johnson has removed his residence to Mrs. W. F. Dixon's, one door south of Judge McFallen's.

Ike Smith, at the lower saw mill, last Tuesday morning, allowed his left hand to come in contact with a saw while in motion, and it minus the end of a thumb.

Mrs. Charman, of Oregon City, returned home last Monday, after a few weeks' visit with her parents in this city. Her two sons are attending the State Agricultural College.

New and elegant stock of millinery goods just received at Mrs. E. A. Knight's, which will sell cheaper than can be bought anywhere else in the city.

S. V. Applegate and family, from Mansfield, Ohio, recently arrived in this city. They come to stay, and we are glad to welcome them.

Look out for uncle "Jake" Moti—and have your dollar, for poll-tax, ready. He commenced his usual round of assessing last Monday, in the lower portion of the county.

Marion Rable, of Alsea, was in the city last Tuesday. He reports a gang of men at work opening the road over the mountain between this city and Alsea valley.

Dr. G. A. Whitney, of Philomath, was called to McMinnville, last Tuesday, on professional business. His family accompanied him.

Hon. J. J. Walton, of Eugene, Democratic nominee for Judge in this district, gave us a friendly call, last Friday. The Judge was, doubtless, looking after his chances for election.

L. W. Felton, of Albany, the indefatigable newspaper correspondent and canvasser, gave us a pleasant call last Friday. He is doing good work for the Albany Herald, over in Oregon precinct.

Our readers will be rejoiced to learn that Mr. H. C. Buckingham, of the Belknap settlement, whom we mentioned, re-enters, as lying in an unconscious and hopeless condition, has rallied, and is now able to walk about his room, and strong hopes are entertained of his partial recovery, at least.

C. H. Whitney, formerly clerk and book-keeper for a firm in this city, but now partner in a store at McCoy, came up on the Saturday evening train and returned Monday morning. "Charley" has a "hanker-ing" after—Corvallis.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Alsea saw mills. Mr. Pittman has succeeded in removing and repairing his mills, under very adverse circumstances, but is now prepared to furnish a superior quality of lumber, at reduced prices.

CARD OF THANKS.

The congregation of the Episcopal Church desire to express their warm thanks, first of all to the kind friends who assisted in providing the refreshments for the company at the City Hall on Friday evening last and to those who gave so many articles for sale; to the Band, who so freely tendered their services; and to those who attended, and by their presence contributed to the great success which was attained—a sum of $160 was realized; and it is hoped that its expenditure in fencing and beautifying the lots on which the church stands will add to the attractiveness of the city.

As it was found impossible to finish the programme provided, it was arranged that a free entertainment should be given on this Friday evening, in the City Hall, consisting of music, in glee, duets and songs, and readings and recitations, with Mr. Nash's narrative of travels in Norway, illustrated by water color drawings.

GREENBACK CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

At a called meeting by the chairman of the Greenback County Central Committee for the purpose of filling vacancies occasioned by the resignation of A. G. Mulkey and Nathan Whelan for Senator, the following nominations were made, viz: Dr. J. R. Bayley for Senator, and C. B. Mays and J. H. Aldrich for Representatives.

By order of Greenback county central committee.

HANDSOME BOOK.—We acknowledge receipt of a book entitled "The San Francisco Chronicle and its History." It is a volume of sixty pages, printed on tinted paper and handsomely bound. It is the story of the foundation of the paper, its struggles of early life, success, description of office, machinery, etc., and comments of the press. Very readable indeed, and shows what enterprise and energy will do.

A CARD TO THE SINGERS.

We have been disappointed again. The necessary books for our proposed cantata, cannot now be obtained in time to have the concert before the closed of the schools. Sincerely thanking our many generous friends for their willingness to aid us, we ask them, and the interested public, to look forward to the early autumn, when, with increased facilities and ample time, we hope to furnish a rare treat than we could have presented this spring.

GROUND BROKEN AT SILVERTON.

Last Monday was an eventful day in the history of Silverton, Marion county, Oregon. It is a matter of general interest to know that active operations have commenced, and that the long-talked-of narrow gauge railroad projects of the Willamette valley, bid fair to be pushed to early completion. The following cheering intelligence is from the Salem Statesman of the 20th inst. It means new life for Salem, and Marion county.

Every mile of railroad projected in the Willamette valley is an additional plea for the improvement of Yaquina bay, and demonstrates the importance of another ocean outlet.

Yesterday was a gala day in the history of Silverton, it being the occasion of breaking ground for the narrow gauge railroad from there to the Willamette. At 10 A. M. Governor and Mrs. W. W. Thayer, Hon. J. E. Montgomery, Eliza Hughes, and a representative of the Oregonian, arrived at Silverton in a coach. The party was met on the road by a committee of brass band, and escorted to the Silverton Hotel where dinner was served. The party then proceeded to the stand at the head of Water street, where about twelve hundred ladies and gentlemen had assembled. After an address by the Hon. Ralph C. Geer, Mrs. Geer Thayer turned the first shovelful of ground, while the crowd gathered about her and cheered vociferously. Addresses were then made by J. B. Montgomery, Gov. Thayer, R. S. Ramsay and others.

SUCCESSFUL.—The first "blast" of the Corvallis foundry, last week, was a perfect success, and very satisfactory to the proprietors, Messrs. Kitton & Belknap Bros. They find that the sand procured across the river is of very superior quality for their business, and the castings were unusually smooth and clean. The Corvallis Flow and Agricultural Implement manufactory is now in successful operation. Advertisement next week.

OMITTED.—Our local's failed to mention the visit of Geo. Woodward, adjusting agent of the Phoenix insurance company, last week. We are always pleased to see the happy face and rosy form of Mr. Woodward, but before the calamities that bring him to our midst. The fire that destroyed the dwelling of Mrs. Locke was the occasion of his visit. The loss was adjusted and she and her son received $1,500 for the same.

THAT RACKET.—On Friday night last cannonading in the direction of Portland was plainly heard in this city, and suppositions as to the cause were wild, various and numerous, but it turned out to be only a little rejoicing by Captain Tom Mountain's battery at having $300 per month pay restored by the courts.—Vancouver Independent.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

ED. GAZETTE: Hoping my entreaty for some space in your valuable journal to meet a denial, I take the liberty to annoy you with a brief essay in behalf of our "better half." So much is said and written about woman's rights and vote, that it necessarily must become attractive, more or less, to all of us.

The opinion of most of the men is undoubtedly not in favor of yielding to them all the rights they are asking for. Women of the present day may not be exceedingly fit for the execution of all and every office in the country, and in some instances may not be acquainted well enough with the public mind and popular government, to qualify them as voters; yet I predict the time, not so far distant, when women will enjoy better rights; but, before this time will arrive, women must do a good deal of mending and purifying among themselves. Especially in higher life women ought to come to the understanding that accepting all the follies of modern fashion do not entitle them to be termed "good society"; neither will it bring them a single step nearer to the so much longed for "vote." A painted doll never will be anything else but a painted doll; just like a fellow who spits his hair in the middle of his cranium, always will be looked upon as a headless fellow.

The life of our present high society is nothing else but a false nature; and as long as women in high life keep on deranging themselves through pride, pads, tight lacing, etc., they never will gain the rights they are expecting. Our tender sex is much inclined to become the plaything of men; to avoid that, they have to become more self sustaining. Matrimony ought to be made the holiest of human relations; and after such a junction is made woman should form a part with the man.

One of the greatest women America ever produced, Margaret Fuller, said: "It is a vulgar error that love, a love, is to woman her whole existence. She is also born for truth and love in their universal energy." In regard to voting, I must repeat an answer a lady of this vicinity gave me, after I had expressed myself as if women were not well enough acquainted with politics: "They should read a few less novels, and use as a literary substitute, good newspapers." Women who have no desire for better rights, need not consider themselves, and should be excluded from my thoughts.
