JILLIONS FOR PREMIUM ON STEEL RAILS.
The President of the Central Pacific Railroad Company is represented here only a short time ago, I must describe. Mrs. Maxwell came to Salt Lake City with her husband in 1869. Two years afterward her husband took another wife, and one year subsequent he was sealed to a third. Mrs. Maxwell objected, and in order to prevail over her sons she told them the secrets of the Endowment House. The penalty for revealing these secrets is dismemberment of the body, cutting of the throat, and tearing out of the tongue. Mr. Maxwell overheard his wife, being in an adjoining room, and forthwith he informed the Elders, who sent for the unfortunate woman and her two sons. They were taken into what is called the "Dark pit," a blood-staining room under Brigham Young's house. The woman was then stripped of all her clothes and then tied on the back to a large table. Six members of the priesthood then performed their damnable crime; they first cut their victim's tongue, and then cut her throat, after which her legs and arms were served. The sons were compelled to stand by and witness the dreadful slaughter of their mother. They were then released and given twenty-four hours to get out of the Territory, which was then an impossibility. The sons went then to the house of a friend, to whom they related the butchery of their mother, and then getting a package of provisions started, but on the following morning were both dead—they had met the Danites. One other case similar to the above occurred about five years ago in the City Hall. These are truths, and the lady to whom the sons told their story is willing to make affidavit to the facts if she can be guaranteed immunity from Mormon vengeance.

HORRIBLE HORNOY CRIME.
(Salt Lake Letter to the St. Louis Republican.)
One crime, which was committed here only a short time ago, I must describe. Mrs. Maxwell came to Salt Lake City with her husband in 1869. Two years afterward her husband took another wife, and one year subsequent he was sealed to a third. Mrs. Maxwell objected, and in order to prevail over her sons she told them the secrets of the Endowment House. The penalty for revealing these secrets is dismemberment of the body, cutting of the throat, and tearing out of the tongue. One other case similar to the above occurred about five years ago in the City Hall. These are truths, and the lady to whom the sons told their story is willing to make affidavit to the facts if she can be guaranteed immunity from Mormon vengeance.

HOME EDUCATION.
The following rules are worthy of being printed in letters of gold and placed in a conspicuous place in every household:
1. From our childhood's earliest infancy inculcate the necessity of instant obedience.
2. Unite firmness with gentleness. Let your children always understand that you mean what you say.
3. Never promise them anything, unless you are quite sure you can give them what you say.
4. If you tell a child to do something, show him how to do it and see that it is done.
5. Always punish your child for willfully disobeying you, but never punish him in anger.
6. Never let them know that they vex you, or make you lose your self-command.
7. If they give way to petulance or ill-temper wait till they are calm, then gently reason with them on the impropriety of their conduct.
8. Remember that a little present punishment, when the occasion requires, is much more effectual than the threatening of a greater punishment should the fault be renewed.
9. Never give your children anything because they cry for it.
10. On no account allow them to do at one time what you have forbidden, under the same circumstances, at another.
11. Teach them that the only sure and easy way to appear good is to be good.
12. Accustom them to make their little recitals with perfect truth.
13. Never allow tale-bearing.
14. Teach them self-denial, not self-indulgence.—Ex.

London.
London has a population of four millions and a half, says the Meadville, Pa., Crawford Democrat. Of this multitude only 60,000 are church members, and only 200,000 are regular attendants at religious services. Of the working population it is stated, on as good authority as the Bishop of Litchfield, that only two percent are found in church.

London.
The outlook for the manufacture of pig iron in the South, during 1882, is most promising, particularly in Central Alabama. The predictions are 400,000 tons or about 33 percent increase over last year. Several of the largest furnaces in the South have lately been compelled to stop work in consequence of being out of ore.
