Leok Out for Him.

A Turner cor. writing to the Silverton Apreal says: "Look out for a tramp 35 or 40 years of age, dark brown hair, dark brown beard of 4 or 5 weeks growth; moustache is older (may be clean shaved now); about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs about 150 lbs., is a little gray. Had on brown ducking coat (lined), blue checked "Jumper," lead or dove-colored pants, calico ..... with large stripe; boots ripped in big scams and sewed with a string. Left A. Stanton's house, two miles south west of Sublimity on Tuesday morning, the 7th inst. He is said to be dangerous among unprotected women, and may be insane. Is supposed to be a "bird" who broke jail lately at Albany and for whom there is a reward of $20.

Lips vs. Steeltraps.

Not long ago we had a day of beautiful sunshine at which the people of our city, from grave men, lovely women and laugh ing school children, gave way to such parox ysm of joy, as to cause their mouthes to fly unanimously ajar like so many steeltraps. It is needless to add, however, that the inclement weather since has caused their lips to hang pendent from their facial fissures, a full ell Flemish, and that said labial appendages remained imperturable and unmoved, even on the arrival last Wednesday of Burthington's washday.

Suspicious Circunstances.

Messrs. Thos. Cauthorn and Jos. D. John son, in company with a rather suspicious looking individual, were seen perambulating the streets of our town the other day look ing after and valuing property. The curious observer may have supposed they were preparing to take a mortgage upon the whole town of a million and a half or two million, but the fact was they were only endeavoring to admeasure the dower of a widow lady.

Avsterlous Perambulations.

Our genial townsman, Mr. Alex. Campbell, is not a vain man, although the dignity with which he has perambulated the streets since last Monday, night, in the absence of the facts explanatory thereof, subject him to that imputation. His explanation of the enigma is, that "It was born on Monday, is a boy and the finest specimen of Campbell on the Pacific coast," All right Alex ; your solution of the problem is satisfactory.

Attention Mourmental Co. No. 2.

The regular monthly meeting of Monumental Co. No. 2. will be held at the Court House Monday the 27th day of February 1882. A full attendance is particularly do sired as nominations for Chief and Assistant will be made, and other business of importance transacted.

J. H. Lewis, President. F. H. SAWTELLE, Secretary.

Important Arrival.

Wm. M. Hoag, of San Francisco, arrived in our town last Tuesday direct from New York, in the interests of the Oregon Pacific Railroad. It is his intention now to imme diately proceed for the Company to organize the work for Spring operations on the road. We expect soon to see the route from here to the Bay lined with an army of busy workmen.

Discovery of Coal,

Capi. J. M. Ayles was lately in town from Yaquina bay, he exhibited to us a quantity of specimens of coal which he had recently discovered near the bay. It bore the appearance of a good quality of coal, When placed in the fire it burned well. The vein is large and quite extensive and will likely prove to be a valuable discovery.

Off for England.

Capt. Herbert Symmonds and wife left for England on Wednesday. They shipped via Panama to Southampton. They expect to return in a year or two. The Capt. took the wise precaution to arrange to have the Gazette sent regularly to him while absent. thus securing good reading matter until tieir return. Geo. Armstrong and Cecil Couts accompanied them as far as Portland.

A Duck Trap.

Henry Stone of Linn county caught in a trap lately in one night 20 Mallard ducks. A pretty fair hand. His trap is so constructed that it is always set. It has a stick door something after a rake fashion The duck pushes the door forward and walks in when the door closes so as to be ready for another. He is reported to have caught a great many in this way.

That Transportation Line.

Maj. A. J. Ray went, tast Tuesday, to Portland. We are informed that it is his purpose while there to perfect his equipments for his transportation line between this city and Cape Foulweather. We always liked the Major and believe, if any man in the county can make saidenterprise a success, he can. do it.

Philometh Notes.

Our old friend Mr. Jacob Henkle, of Philomath was in the city on Wednesday. He says educational interests, both at the college and the district school are progress ing satisfactorily. He also informs us that Mr. Geo. Henkle's wife, who has been sick for some time, is slowly recovering.

king's Valley Letter.

[Regular Correspondent to the Gazette.] EDITOR GAZETTE.-We have had son very cold weather for the last few days. Saturday and Sunday mornings at 6 o'clock the thermometer stood at 15 degrees. This is about 9 degrees colder than it has been before this winter. It is now considerably warmer. The snow is three inches deep and still coming down. The prospect is good for sleigh 1iding soon if the snow continues. Some sleighs have already started. There was a shooting match at the store Saturday. A few chickens were at first shot for, after which shots flew thick and fast for cash. This is certainly a very entertaining, intellectual and highly moral pastime. If it is too rainy or cold to plow, the noble tillers of the soil gather at the store and shoot and growl about the weather and talk politics.

Stoc': looks well, feed and grub are penty, so let the storms come and the winds blow and winter rage. This cold is having a serious effect upon ome of the young folks of the valley. The matrimonial fever has broken out and is liable to spread. Two cases proved fatal. Some other parties have been exposed. One is the case of a young man who has been lingering for two years, this is a sad case it is hoped he may yet recover.

At Mother Chambers Sunday, Judge Price officiating with more than usual ability. The victims were Mr. Tom Ramsdell, o Miss Melinda Eddleman, also Mr Lewis Ritner to Miss Clarina Eddleman. The brides were twin sisters. The boys performed their part in an able boddied manner. The fine wedding dinner was heartily enjoyed by a number of hungry guests, in a way that would astonish the natives. The tin pan, horn, shot gun band gave an entertainment and serenaled the happy families, late in the evening. May the rows and promises taken by these young eople never be broken, and may they enjoy many little pledges of domestic affection to cheer them through life and support them in old age. Feb. 20, 1882.

Letter from Oakville Linn Co. Oregor,

(Regular Correspondent to the Gazette.) Last night was the coldest of this winter ere. We had something here, don't know what to call it. I believe it was called an Anti Monopoly meeting.

Of course I was on hand to try and learn the mysteries of that meeting. I was somewhat disappointed on account of not seeing Mr. Elliot or Mr. Burnett there to tell all boot Ben Holliday and Villard. had a lengthy speech to read, which I suppose Mr. Elliott prepared for the occasion. It did not suit all because the object of the speech was to induce the people to pledge themselves to Mr. Elliot. For one I can say that I pledge myself to no man as he would like to have us do. We are free born and this a free country. Mr. Elliot clains to be the farmers friend. They all claim that when there is an ax to grind and it is alnost time for grinding to begin again. About every two years the cry of reform omes. One time greenback, at another

It is expected to have the boat running in a short time which will cross us for half what we pay

Alsea i e ter.

[Regular correspondent to the Gazette,] EDITOR GAZETTE.-Hoping that it may e some benefit to many of your readers, I send you a few notes respecting this place, and for the information of strangers, I will state that Alsea Valley is situated near the center east and west and near the south line, n Benton county. The valley is considered very healthy. Persons coming here with the ague are sure o regain their health. The population numbers near three hundred. The valley is noted for rich soil, pure water and pine timber. The valley differs from most valleys of the coast-range: instead of being covered with brush and timber, the greater part of the bottom lands are prairie. The Alsea river flows from the north untill it reaches the valley. From the valley, its course i vest to the ocean. This place is quite a resort for the sportng class. The streams are full of mountain trout; and game, such as deer, bear and elk are plenty in the mountains. The Alsea river has become quite thoroughfare for the produce of this valley. There have been twelve boats taken down this winter. With a little improveing the river can be navigated with safety. More in the future. CORRESPONDENT Alsea, Feb. 18, 1882.

Yaquina Bay.

[Regular Correspondent to the Gazette.] Entrop Gazerre. - The steamer Yaquina arrived yesterday, the 18th, Capt Denny, master, having a fair passenger list. She came in 14 hours before high tide finding 17 feet in the bar. She sailed to-day, 19th inst. at 2 P. M. for Portland, Deputy U. S. Marshal took one McDonald, Indian Joe, and Joe Howard with him charged with selling liquor to Indians. There were also the following passengers who sailed on the Yaquina, G. W. Lakin Sr., G. W. Lakin Jr., M. C. Hara and family, J. D. Cox and family, and several others the names of whom I could not get. The Yaquina will probably abandon this trade and henceforth run between Coos Bay and San Francisco carrying coal. It is very unfortunate a vessel so well built as the Yaquina can find it more profitable to run elsewhere. The steamer Kate and Anna, Lutiins master, came in at 12 to-day 29th inst cargo of general merchandise. The Government works are standing the storms splendidly, and shows better than any argument the entire fessibility of the Engineers plans.

Newport Feb. 29, 1882. Railroad Notes,

The Dalles Times is responsible for the following hits of railroad news: Track is laid within a mile and a half tunnel No. 1.

A large force of mechanics are at work on the haz brilge beyond the first tunnel. It is proposed to blast down about fifty or sixty feet of the bank above this side of tunnel No. 1, so as to form an incline instead of a perpendicular bluff.

A cave occur ed on the cut this side of tunnel No. 1. by which the track was coverby several tons of rock. A party went down Sunday to see the amount of damage. The Oregonian says the tracklayers on the Umatilla-Pendleton road are advancing at the rate of one mile per day. The work of grading the Northern Pa cific beyond Pen d'Oreille lake is being pushed by a large force of men under the irrepressible Hallett, in spite of nearly six feet of snow and more coming. The Portland Board of Trade have adopted a series of resolutions asking the Sens tors and Congressmen from Oregon to use their best efforts to prevent the abrogation of the N. P. railroad land grant.

Eleven Locomotives.

The steamer Umatilla arrived at Astoria yesterday from San Francisco having on board six powerful locomotives for the O. R. & N. Co. These locomotives were brought overland on their own wheels over the Union and Central Pacific Railroads and shipped on the Umatilla at San Francisco. There are eleven of these locomotives in this lot. As soon as these six are discharged here the Umatilla will return and bring up of wharf at the railroad terminus and this

The prospect for prompt and favorable action by the senate on the house bill is greatly strengthened by the fact well known to most senators, although not as yet brought very prominently into public view, that it gives little or no advantage to either of the great political parties. # OBITUARY.

James Wilbar Goltra was born at Corallis Oregon Jan. 10, 1858, and died Jan. 17, 1882. His father Nelson Goltra a carpenter by trade, had moved to Oregon from Ill., with his young wife and daughter 5 years before. When Wilbur was a year olp his father was killed by the explosion of the boiler of a steam saw-mill which he had just erected. The bereaved young widow soon after moved to Oakland Or., and thence to a farm near Eugene City, where Wilbur's boy-hood was spent. His short life is a story of honest toil, struggling no against its wants but for its necessities. He attended school in Engene 4 yrs., was engaged to be married to Miss Sarah Bushnell who resides here, and at the time of his death was in attendance at Eastman Business College, Poughkeepsie N. Y. He had only been there two weeks when he fell hopelessly ill. His many friends will be glad to learn that, through the kindness of Mrs. Eastman, the wife of the founder of the college, Mr. White, the present principal, and Mrs. Mosher, his hostess, he received the most careful attention. Though surrounded by new faces, hearts were there too faithful to desert him in his hour of need. And there with the names of loved ones on his dying lips he breathed his life quietly away. Short happy career ! bounded by the years that mark the passage from youth into manhood. Of lofty aspirations yet of rivalry and hatred for none. Of a heart made happy by the dawning of love and resigned to the will of its creator.

"Mortals weep, a man is dead:"
"Angels sing a child is born." Another soldier of our company has mustered out of service." He was only a private but he did good, onest service in the ranks, and fell with his face to the foe. He had enlisted for life, but worn out by over exertion and exposure he died on the march. His service was of short duration, but faithful, and the trumpet had never sounded retreat for him.

We saw him in his childish sports and chool boy days; we saw him at the of 19 stand at the ster and dedicate self to the service of the living God; we saw that deep undercurrent of feeling which prompted only loving kindness and obedince; we saw him adopt the se characteristics of promptness and attention to business that commands our respect, and toil on

Till, gaining manhood in the manly strife. He stood at last a master of I imself. And in that grace a master of his kind. We saw him depart full of life and hope nd we saw his mortal remains returned silent heart would beat no more. And here he rests, where his classma enderly laid him, in full view of the loved scenes of his boy-hood, the mountains, the rivers, the hills, the valleys, the fields of waving grain and the college walks dear to
