"THE OPICM HABIT."

Sermen by Rev. John A. Gray on the Subject Some Asconisning Revelations.

The pastor of the Baptist church ast night preachel a sermon to a crowded house on "The Opium Habt." says the Portland Telegram. The following is but a brief outline of the address.

After some general statements in egard to the growth of opium, the speaker dwelt on the prevalence of the habit. Some of the best minds of Christendom were almost totally wrecked by it in the beginning of this century. The history of Coleridge and DeQuincy are familiar. Wm. Blair, one of the ripest scholars of the church, Richard Baxter, author of "The Saint's Rest," Robt. Hall, the eloquent divine, Wm. Wil berfocre, and John Randolph, of Rosnoke, were all victims.

Smoking is a habit but recently in roduced. The first white smoker is America is said to have been a sportmoking and eating irg man by the name of Clendenyn. This was in California in 1868. It was three years before he induced another to try it. Then the practice spread quietly and rapidly among gamblers and prostitutes. It first came to the notice the police authorities of San Francisco in 1875. An ordinance was passed against it; but in spite of this the practice grew steadily, and although the large smoking houses were closed the small dens in Chinatown were well patronized. It soon began to spread to other towns, In 1876 smoking dens were established in Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans and a few months later in New York city. To day in that city plished. there are many dens and over 300 CONE WITH A HANSOMER MAY. habitual smokers. The residents of Hot Springs, Arkansas, have taken measures to suppress it. Persons ddicted to the habit say that no "layouts" can be found in almost all the smaller towns on the lines of travel in the United States. Police officer James Mahoney of San Francisco save that the habit in past years, so far as the whites are concerned, was confined to boodinms and prostitutes, but now there are scores of places where the habit can be contracted in clean rooms and respectable portions of the city. The extended up practice will gradually the social scale. School boys and clerks are already finding out the respectable places and learning the habit. If the practice is rapidly spreading there would be a corresponding increase in importation. This is easy determined, as the smok ing opium is subject to a heavy duty of $6 per pound, while ordinary opium is taxed only one dollar. The statistics of the treasury department show that in 1880 there was an advance over 1879 in the amount imported of 17,000 pounds. The whole amount imported in 1880 was some thing over 75,000 pounds. It is es timated that there are over 6000 white habitual smokers in the United States. That is doubtless not a full estimate. Our people have little idea of the rapid spread of this habit, and are not awake to the peril it mvolves. During the crusade temper ance excitement here, our citizens were thrilled with horror to know that there were 65 public drinking places in th city of Portland.

sides the opium is smoked in many private houses, We may learn some lessons from the spread of the habit in China Since 1820, when the English government compelled the Chinese to legalize the traffic, the habit has pread so rapidly that it is estimated hat there are fifteen million smokers who consume 700 tons annually, The Chinese do not take readily to stimulants and have great self control. If the habit spread so rapidly among that race, what may we not fear in our land with our excitable and nervous temperments and tendenev to stimulants?

To-day there are 140 opium dens in this city. One hundred public places

TEXNESSEE REPUBLICANS.

Philadelphia American, It is now fair to observe that the Republicans of Tennessee have placed themselves on what appears at this distance to be absolutely safe and permanent ground, with reference to the debt of that State. The decision of the Supreme Court against the constitutionality of the act passed by the Legislature funding the debt in one hundred-year bonds, at 3 per cent, has thrown the whole question open once more, and while the Democrats are divided into two parties, who may concisely be classed as payers and repudiators, the Republicans are united in support of the State's credit, and demand the holding of a constitutional convention, which will be able to deal with the subject in such a manner as to avoid the legal difficulties raised by the Supreme Court, The question of a convention will be voted on in August nexi, and the Republicans are sanguine in the hope that enough of the State credit Democrats Will Join them in supporting it to give a majority. It is gratifying to see the Republican South, at least, with no stain of repu-

A certain lady in this country set a hen upon thirteen eggs, A few days afterward, looking into the nest she was surprised to find the hen missing and the eggs gone, and in their stead a huge rattlesnake comfortably coiled up. Noticing the swelled condition of his snakeship, she procured a spade and pinned his head to the ground. Then, with a rake the tail was drawn out and fastened down to prevent wiggling, A penknife soon split the reptile from head to tail, and ing to her William to speak to her, 'o the eggs were taken out, Being careforgive, to only look at her, Wil- fully washed, they were placed under liam lay motionless, however, and the same hen and eventually every the neighborhood, aroused by the shot one hatched out, and the chickens grew and thrived. A Burlington man recently wedded a young wife. The lady betale of the elopement of a handsome young woman with a "hansomer man," and determined to try the same thing herself. She wrote a neat little note, stating that she had left home with a gentlemen whom she had dearly loved before she had met her husband, and that he reed not trouble himself to look for them. Then she called in her younger brother and went calling with him, arranging to return and hide where she could witness her liege lord's dismay when he came to read of her flight.
