to injure him in some way. Denick sunk and never again came to the top. At the time of going to press the body had not been recovered. The team and back with young Abbey hanging to them went down the river quite a distance and finally came to the bank where it was too steep for them to get out easily. Young Abbey soon caught one of the horses by the tail and crawled out across his back to the shore. Some persons near by went to the scene and assisted in getting the team and hack out on dry land.

Commencement Exercises of Corvallis College.
The Preparatory Department came out with a large programme of new pieces. The large Hall was filled before the time for the beginning of the exercises.
First, Music by the Second Brigade Band; this enlivened the occasion. Then the Salutary by Otto Wells; "The Little Orator," Willie Kiger; "The Lotus Planter," Hattie Sawtelle; "Be a Man," Johnny Kiger; and "Shut the Door," Lyman Kelsoy; All of these knew their parts and performed them well. Their enunciation was clear and distinct and their pronunciation was unusually correct for little boys and girls. Right here, the band came in for its share of applause by playing an artistic piece.

GENERAL NEWS.
Several substantial buildings are being built in Pendleton.
The streets of The Dalles are crowded with wool-laden wagons.
Four thousand pounds of the spring wool clip from Willamette reached Baker City last Thursday.
One day last week the Tacoma mill sawed 170,750 feet of lumber in 11½ hours—the largest piece of work ever performed by it.

Mr. Tracer and Miss Susanna Rickard were joined together in matrimony at the residence of the bride's father, near Junction, on May 24th.
Geo. James, a son of G. W. James, of Mayview, Garfield county, W. T., had his thumb pulled off by a rope tied to a horse he was leading.
Maj. Trux, C. E., of Walla Walla, left on Monday morning for the purpose of attempting to find a railroad pass through the Blue mountains.

Pacific coast, who also have yearly contracts to ship exclusively by rail as against passenger agents in session there. They will recommend abolition of the system of through trains to the west, forcing passengers to transfer from sleepers to day cars.
Chicago, May 27.—The Junior distillers of the country are in session at the Grand Pacific, trying to agree upon a scheme for reviving the western export association or fix a remunerative price for high wines, and prevent the matter being carried to a committee appointed for the purpose, made a report yesterday, which was discussed at length, and pending a vote upon its adoption, the meeting adjourned for dinner.

Washington, May 27.—Republican members of the house are satisfied of the impracticability of continuing the present struggle without first securing an amendment to the rules which will prevent a dilatory motion and a new line of action has therefore been suggested upon former week. On Monday immediately after reading the motion to amend the rules, an amendment to measure reported by him from the committee on rules, which, if adopted, will virtually prevent the putting of a dilatory motion on the floor, was introduced by Mr. Tracer, and was adopted.

Public Speaking.
The Greenback Anti-Monopoly Party of Benton County will address the citizens at the following times and places, beginning with Soap Creek Precinct, at Wells Station, on Monday, May 28, at 10 A. Benefit of Advertising.
Some time since Mr. H. Comfort wished to sell his horse, and as a last resort inserted a notice to that effect in his county paper. In a short time he found a purchaser at a distance from town, who never would have heard of Mr. Comfort or his horse if he had not advertised.
For Lake County.
Jo Clough started last week for Lake County, says the Platender, with the prettiest band of cattle that has left this county for a number of years. He has three hundred head of fine steers, large fat stock, from two years old up, and is a fine sight to behold. He goes by way of Ashland.
A Favor Requested.
Parties having no special business with the printing department of our office can confer a favor upon us if they will not go into the composing room and interrupt the time of our workmen. Their time is valuable to us, and, when interrupted, the loss has to be borne by us. During business hours is not a proper time to interrupt our hands and work, and in all kinds as we hope parties will bear this in mind without any further notice.

Murder by Lynching.
Another incident is given by the Dalles papers wherein a young man who was in the hands of the sheriff, arrested for stealing horses, who was taken from the Sheriff by twenty armed and masked men and hung while begging for his life. This lawless affair took place at Rockford on Saturday, May 27. The lynching at Seaside and at Prineville, and the favorable accounts upon it by a portion of the press seems to have been construed by lawless desperadoes as license.
A Surgical Operation.
Mr. A. J. Henkle, in a case commonly known as Jackson Henkle, who resides near Philomath, has been suffering for some time with a fatty tumor of a cancerous nature which had formed on the right leg on the inside just above and below the knee, extending about ten inches in length, and about six inches in width. Drs. F. A. Johnson and F. A. Vincent on last Friday were called to see the patient, who cut out the tumor. Mr. Henkle's case was one of the influence of chloroform nicely and soon the operation well. At last accounts he was getting along as well as could be expected.

Explanation.
Fellow citizens and friends: I understand that it has been circulated to some extent through the county that I am an Independent candidate for the office of Assessor, and while it is true that I have been solicited by quite a number of friends to announce myself an Independent candidate for Assessor, I have refused to do so, believing that this is not the proper time, and while I feel thankful to my friends for this kindness offered I would say excuse me for the present and it may be that a more favorable opportunity may present itself when I can comply with your wishes, and when it is more beneficial than at present.

TELEGRAMS.
New York, May 27.—The Tribune says: James H. Heise of New Jersey has been favored by authorities of Washington to superintend the hanging of Guiteau; and $200 has been offered him for his services. Van Heise has written that if he undertakes the work he requires that a gallows similar to that used by him in New Jersey shall be used, and that he be allowed one assistant. He also asks that the amount of compensation be increased. Van Heise has conducted thirteen hangings in New Jersey, and he is an expert hangman and is not credited with a single blunder. The gallows used by him has been improved by him and is now in jail at Newark.
New York, May 26.—The Times says of recent appointments: If the President imagines that, to stand well with the country, it is necessary to appear as author of "my policy," or champion of "my party," he had better make a gallows blunder. If his policy is to consist in turning one set of men out of office and putting another in, merely to satisfy demands of his personal adherents, if his party is to consist solely of men who are distinguished from those who are Republicans, then he will show that blunder of his predecessors who reached the chief magistracy by the vice-presidential succession have yielded him neither.

Democrat Speech.
Not being present at the meeting a friend furnished us the points touched upon by the speaker named, as follows:
W. F. Owens, of Douglas county, spoke at the Court House on Friday evening of last week. He claims to be a Democrat, but judging from his speech we would think him a sort of Independent. He discussed the Chinese question and the tariff. On the whole he made a very light speech. Mr. Owens says that with free trade there would be more protection on wool than now, for the wool comes here on ballast and pays no freight with a tariff preference of five cents per pound and a freight of ten cents per pound there would be a protection on wool of fifteen cents per pound. The idea of 10 cents per pound freight is presuming a little too much on the ignorance of the people of Benton county. Ten cents per pound is very high freight; two hundred dollars per ton is a little too high even for these times of high freight. Mr. Owens tries to show the farmers that they will be protected on their wool by free trade. The freight on wool could not exceed one cent per pound so Mr. Owens' little scheme falls through.

Tunnel Work on the O. P. R. R.
EN. GAZETTE: Knowing the interest felt by your readers in all that pertains to the building of the Oregon Pacific Railroad, I thought a few items in regard to the work which is now being pushed forward by the contractor (Mr. Bugbee) on the tunnels would be of interest. Being on the line of the road during the past week, your correspondent in company with a few friends visited the works and witnessed the workings of those huge borers which are soon to penetrate the rock-rimmed mountains and open a road for the iron-horse to pass hundreds of feet beneath the forest-crowned summits of the hills.
Tunnel No. 1, 730 feet in length, and tunnel No. 2, about 400 feet long, are situated near the summit of the coast range and some little distance from the wagon road; consequently we did not examine them closely, but found the approaches very nearly completed and the workmen ready to enter the mountain this week. At tunnel No. 3 we spent some time and were shown over the works by the gentlemanly foreman, Mr. John Spencer, who appears to thoroughly understand his business, and who is pushing the work forward with vigor. Here also we formed the acquaintance of Mr. Bugbee, and were kindly given all the information possible to obtain in regard to works. The approaches to all these tunnels are complete, and the direct work of boring will commence this week. The work of drilling will be done by hand, the contract not being sufficiently large to justify the purchase of steam machinery, and will be crowded night and day—three shifts of men working eight hours each, it is estimated that they can proceed eight feet per day at each place of working. The rock so far penetrated proves to be a shaly sandstone, and is not easily thrown out by blasting. These tunnels are to be excavated 16 feet wide and 22 feet high, so that there is an immense amount of rock to be taken out. But if human skill and labor can complete the work within the time specified, Mr. Bugbee and his assistants are the men to do it, as they are certainly "the right men in the right place."

Drowned.
A sad affair of drowning took place just below the sawmill at this place, on yesterday morning, in which John Denick, a bright lad of about 16 years, lost his life. It appears that young Dick Abbey started down to the river with a team and hack for the purpose of washing the hack, accompanied by young Denick. When they got to the river bank they discovered as they thought that the water was too deep to venture in, when young Abbey suggested to the other that he jump out while he turned around the hack, which was done. After turning around young Denick attempted to get in the hack again when the horses from some cause became scared and jumped sideways going over the river bank into deep water and turning the hack upside down. Young Abbey says the buggy seat went out with Denick; and it is feared it struck him so as to injure him in some way. Denick sunk and never again came to the top. At the time of going to press the body had not been recovered. The team and back with young Abbey hanging to them went down the river quite a distance and finally came to the bank where it was too steep for them to get out easily.
