M. S. WOODCOCK, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

OFFICIAL PAPER FOR BENTON COUNTY.

BENTON COUNTY.

Our State ticket so far as can be ascertained has gone slightly Republican.

Mr. McFadden, Democrat candidate for Circuit Judge, is probably beaten in Benton county from one to two hundred with a large majority against him in Douglas and Lan-

Mr. Bean is without much question elected. Prosecuting Attorneys in this county seem to have run along pretty closely with their party vote.

Since writing the above further returns from precincts in this county not heard from then make certain of the election by the Republicans. W. P. Keady, and Tolbert Carter, Representatives, James Edwards Commissioner, Sol King Sheriff, B. W. Wilson Clerk, T. J. Buford Treasurer, on a majority of three, and Perry Eddy Assessor. The Democrats elect Thomas Cauthorn State Senator, Allen Parker Representative, John Bryson County Judge, and Caleb Davis Commissioner, E. H. Milner School Superintendent. The Republicans in the Second Judicial District have certainly elected R. S. Bean District Judge by a very large majority with fair assurance that they have also elected E. G. Hursh for Prosecuting Attorney.

STATE TICKET.

It seems to be generally conceded that the State has gone Republican by a large majority. That George will probably get a larger majority than two years ago. In Multnomah county eleven precincts heard from in Portland give George a majority of 1826 and the remainder of the State ticket about 1000. The remainder of precincts in Multnomah to hear from will probably increase Republican majorities largely. No information of importance has been received from east of the mountains.

NEXT LEGISLATURE.

The election is now over and when the result is fully and definitely ascertained the next most interesting and important matter to the people at large will be to know what will be done at the coming session of the Legislature. The question as to who shall be the next United States Senator is a very important matter to the people of the Valley and Eastern Oregon. Nearly and perhaps quite all of the nominees on both Republican and Democratic tickets for the Legislature in the several valley counties are pledged to support those measures which the valley counties and Eastern and Southern Oregon are directly interested in, and which has been heretofore opposed by the Portland influence to the detriment of the remainder of the State. The people of other parts of the State will then no doubt be anxious to know whether the persons whom they have elected to the Legislature will when that body is assembled go forth and with the energy and perseverance which the cause really demands put forth their efforts energetically and effectually to accomplish those matters so much needed by the interior portion of the State. Or will they by their indifference and lack of that aggressive energy by which so much is usually accomplished in such matters permit Portland's opposition to override and defeat the will of the people and thereby force the producing part of the State to continue to pay tribute to Portland.

The Legislators from the latter place elected to the coming Legislature may be of a more liberal turn of mind than those at the last session and may therefore pursue a different course toward other localities. It is to be hoped that such will be the case.

A REST.

It is certainly a rest to everyone that the election is over so that quietude may again prevail. This can probably be regained with more satisfaction by the newspaper man than anyone else, unless it be the several candidates for office. It is certainly a bore for the press to go on week after week commenting upon about the same line of thought and a great relief when they can again return to the discussion of those matters of general interest to everyone and leave the office seekers and politicians to ponder over those things which arise in political campaigns. An intermission of two years will follow before the political pulse will again arise. We do not mean to disparage the discussion of those matters, because it is important that they should be fairly and thoroughly canvassed upon all sides but "there is a time for all things."

JOHN IN THE EAST.

Chinamen are arriving in New York and Boston by the hundreds, and the hope of the ladies there to fill their homes with Chinese servants, and that of a certain class of manufacturers to obtain cheap labor, is likely to be realized. It is interesting to follow the reporters there in their chase after the novelty. These gentlemen would do better than making pencil sketches of John's case, his bunk of his almoned-eyes, if they would tell the public that the Chinamen more filially pious than the Aeneas of Virgil, is cruel to his off-spring; that he sells his daughters to prostitution; that he pledges or sells his daughters, wife and children if pressed by necessity, and will do this even for a passage to this country, or back to China and that he would, in contradistinction to this sentiment, shudder with horror at the idea that, in the event of his death here, his bones should not be returned to China to rest. These reporters have not found out, perhaps, that all this "gentleness and docility" on John's part is the result of cowardice, and that once the restraints of fear are removed, he becomes a demon. They have yet to learn that after doing duty in "mi lary" rooms, mingling with the children, he bulks with the vilest and foulest of his race, and from there goes back to the children of the household, carrying on him filth and disease. They have yet to learn that a Chinaman prefers falsehood when truth would answer the same purpose. Of the truth John was born insouciant. So far as honesty is concerned, John is a blank endeavor. We pity the ladies of the East who have adopted John. Our ladies here did a vast amount of Americanizing, but to little purpose. John was not a success. -E.

St. Louis, June 6.—( Globe-Democrat's Washington.) A republican member of congress from one of the middle states whose relations with the president are intimate and friendly, says he asked him recently as to his purpose at this time with reference to the nomination for a second term, to which the president replied smilingly: "If I get safely through with the load of responsibilities and arrangements of the three years remaining of my term, I think I shall be weary enough of the burden to be content to see it transferred to another's shoulders rather than bear it longer myself." An old republican politician to-day said he was of opinion that Arthur if he ever entertained a purpose of seeking the nomination for a second term, had abandoned it altogether, and that he was henceforth to administer the presidential office without reference to a second term, keeping in view always two things, the patriotic and faithful discharge of his high duties and responsibilities, and that his political friends are rewarded as far as possible for their fidelity to him personally and the republican party.

TELEGRAMS.

Lamberton, S. C., June 4.—St. Paul's township was yesterday a scene of a deadly hand to hand conflict between two women, Jane McKellar and Frances McNair. The victorious one sent a dirk into her rival's back. For a long time there had been bad feeling between the two women, although they had lately, as much as possible, avoided each other. There was a young gallant in the case and it is said Frances McNair had won his affection, although at first it seemed to have perished the other. During the last three days hostile messages had passed between the two women, the exact tenor of which has not been ascertained, although important sensational developments are looked for before officers get through with the affair. At any rate, whether by appointment or not the two women met last evening in a quiet spot not far from the main road, and there to settle the trouble between themselves. Jane McKellar was larger and more muscular, though her antagonist, while spare, was lithe and quick of motion. They fought each other like tigers and finally Jane McKellar succeeded in throwing her small but plucky opponent, and with her knee on the stomach of the prostrate woman, grasping her by the throat with the fury of a lion, well she choked the life from her, when finally, by a great effort, Frances McNair gave a sudden twist of her body, forcing her antagonist to loose her hold, and she sprang up, and with a cry of hate and revenge, drew a bowie knife and plunged it in the heart of Jane McKellar, who died with one gasp. Then, at the sight of the gasping woman, the victor in the fight fell in a swoon across the dead body, where she was found. A party had followed them, but arrived too late to prevent the terrible tragedy.

New York, June 3.—The progress of the great strike in the west is eagerly watched by the trader, the student and working people here, and the question of rendering pecuniary assistance to the men that are out, should such be needed, is already under discussion. There are many who are in quarters that railroad employes are in sympathy with the movement, and may participate in it, but at the companies' here these were discredited.

Chicago, June 4.—Everything remains quiet among the falling railroads at Grandville. Talks with them indicate that they expect a speedy settlement of the difficulties at Pittsburg, and instructions from the courts to begin to move, which they would be glad to obey. Rumors are current that negotiations are being carried on with a view to settlement between employers and employed on a basis of five per cent advance.

St. Louis, June 2.—From a source deemed entirely reliable, it is learned here to-night the reported sale of the Chicago, Texas and Mexican road to the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe is confirmed. The price to be paid is $16,000,000 mile instead of $19,000,000.

Decatur, Ill., June 3.—A keystone oil can exploded at the residence of Alex. Adams, at 3 o'clock last night and set fire to three children, burning them all to death.

Petersburg, June 4.—A storm this afternoon extending from Halifax to Garrettsburg, North Carolina, leveled houses, trees and fences in a common wreck. At one house two children were killed. Hailstone as large as a man's fist, fell in quantities, and it is feared falling trees will delay trains.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 3.—Nearly a hundred thousand head of cattle and twenty thousand horses have been driven through so far this spring, points north and east. Great numbers are yet to come.

Baxter Springs, June 4.—A report was circulated yesterday that some men digging a well for J. H. Naylor, in the town, had struck a flowing vein of petroleum at a depth of 41 feet. Several leading business men at once went out and found several barrels of crude material had already been raised to the surface. Coal oil experts from the oil regions of Pennsylvania pronounce it a genuine and a valuable find. It is easily ignited by the flame of a match and is very combustible. Great excitement prevails, and $10,000 has been offered for a fifteen acre tract on which the well is situated. There is a rumor that several barrels of crude oil of a company to purchase the ground and put in machinery at once.

Washington, June 4.—There is a great deal of gossip among lawyers here about the jury chosen to try the star robbery cases. Government seems to be concerned about the jury, and it is asserted the jury is not at all objectionable to members of the ring. How much bias there is for the report that the jury has been fixed for an hour purpose, so late as to prevent issuing the next day's paper and when railroad hands stop at a fixed time along the line of road, leaving cars, passengers and freight wherever they happen to be at the moment.

Chicago, June 4.—Special from Apache, Arizona. A party of men, Capt. Armar's camp at Forest Dale brings intelligence of Indian depredations. One man was killed and some stock driven off.

New York, June 4.—Trades unions today arranged for a monster meeting to protest against penal codes. More and tip-sinis are organizing to demand 16 per cent increase of wages.

Cleveland, June 5.—Excitement among iron strikers is intense to-night. Non-union men held a meeting at Newburg this afternoon, about 500 being present.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 5.—An iron strike meeting at Covington was held to-night. Rumor, disagree as to what the proceedings were. The feeling today seems good, and rather favorable to an early adjustment of difficulties.
