WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent)
Washington, D. C., June 3, 1882. The turbulent scenes of last week in Congress have been continued through the present week, and the end is not yet, nor will be until a Republican is placed in every contested seat. The rules of the House have been amended so as to prevent fillibustering, to a certain extent, but, even with the amended rules, it will be necessary for the Republicans to keep a quorum constantly on hand in order to dispose of contested cases, and of all questions of a political character. It is the intention of the Democrats to use every possible means to retain Wheeler and Shelly, the two remaining members whose places are contested. If during the progress of the debate, the Democrats at any time find the Republicans without a quorum, they can, in spite of the new rule, resume dilatory

The trial of the Star Route cases began in the criminal court to-day, and it is watched with great interest by the bar, as well as by the many riends of the defendants. All the counsel and a large crowd of spectators were in attendance. Col. Bob Ingersoll opened with a motion to quash the indictment, as far as ex-Senator Dorsey and his brother were concerned, because as he urged, the grand jury had not been drawn in accordance with the provisions of law. Judge Wylie overruled the motion of Mr. Ingersoll. Very eminent counsel, including McSweeny and Shellabarger of Ohio, Chandler of St. Louis, Wilson of Iowa, and trial of the case will continue far into at least a month.

Lieutenant Danenhower arrived at his home in Washington yesterday, and was received at the railroad station by his brothers, sisters, relatives, friends and about three thousand citizens with great demonstration of love and esteem. He was escorted from the depot to Willard's hotel where about five hundred of his friends had assembled to give him a cordial welcome home. Mr. John F. Given, chairman of the reception committee, introduced Lieut. Danenhower to Commissioner Deut, who welcomed him in a brief address and presented him with a floral model of the best exploring steamer as a token of regard and esteem. Lieut. Danenhower, in response, thanked Commissioner Dent and his triends for the cordial welcome given him, and said that he had been so overwhelmed by the stream of congratulation and friendly affection which met him at New York, that he found himself utterly unable to express his grateful appreciation. at the conclusion of the speeches Commissioner Dent presented to Lieut. Danenhower, separately, all those present whom he did not personally know, and he was again and good-will. After the welcome his home in West Washington. Secretary Folger has issued an order, to take effect from the first instant, prohibiting smoking in the Treasury building during office hours. It is understood that a number of called upon the Secretary and requested to be transferred to other Wheat and other Grain Stored on the best of Terms by rooms, as their male associates were almost continually smoking, thus rendering it very disagreeable to them. About three-fourths of the male employes of the various departments can be seen at any time dur-

Victim of the Prineville Shooting Dead. A private letter from Prineville brings information that the man Mike Morgan, who was shot by "Mersey" Barnes, in the last Prineville shooting serape, after lingering along tor a week in intense suffering, died at that place on the 7th inst. The feeling against his assailant, especially among the dead man's friends, is intense, and may amount to another demonstration that will not reflect creditably on Prineville. The quarrel grew out of a game of cards. After the passions were inflamed with liquor, the murder was only a matter of meeting and drawing the

∞ -1 2 2 2 5 5 5 5 10 10 2 13 to | T. M. Carter,

The crop prospects of the world so far as we can glean from exchanges, letters and private reports seem to be good. The weather in general has been geniel, and where there has been any drawback it has been from want of moisture. In the southern hemisphere, where the seasons are the reverse of ours-in Australia, the overwhelmed with congratulations crops as a whole, have been a failure, and expressions of friendly regard and the colonies are obliged to import from the Pacific Coast in order he was escorted by the committee to to supply their pressing needs. They will have to import a good deal. more before the close of the year, This seems to be the great exception to the rule of good crops; but it will not affect the world's grand total crop much, as Australia produces only ladies, employed in the department. about 28,000,000 bushels at best, a small portion of which it has only for export. And when we reflect that the total wheat crop of the world is not less than two thousand million bushele, we can easily see what an insignificant proportion this bears to the whole.

In Europe as a rule the weather till we will work up to it. ing office hours with either a cigar has been genial with everything The working up of good iron on and one valuable horse is badly cut. or a pipe in their mouths, notwith- favorable to good crops. The crop prospects of the United States are even better; some predict and manufacturing of 160,000 tons a crop thirty per cent in excess of of iron, which manufactured would that of last year. It will probably, average $160 per ton or a total of however, be something like that of $25,600,000, would double the in-1880, and reach into the neighbor- dustrial energy of the coast in every hood of five hundred million bushels. | department. The crop prospect of the world are then decidedly good, so far as appears now, and there is no reason why its populations should not rejoice at the prospect of abundant bread .- San Francisco Journal of Commerce.

It would be a oad thing for California if these reports should prove true as wheat is now her sheet anchor. Happily the enor of the latest is confirmatory of the hopes of those who believed that California would have a good the crop of 1880.

That crop reached 56,000,000 bushels. With the same area and half the yield, we should have this year 28,000,000 bushels; with the same But the area under crop has been inscription, "Plus Ultra," The device half of 1880's yield in this we would have from the new lands 5,-000,000 bushels; with the yield of 1880 we would have 7,500,000 bush-

This is in accord with the various reports sifted down. The result give a crop of 49,500,000 bushels, say 50,000,000 n round numbers. We should not be surprised to find that it is much larger, as the cool weather has worked wonders in many districts. But 50,000,000 bushels is 30,000,000 centals, which at $1 60 as an average would give $48,000,000 for the value of the wheat crop of the present

THE IRON TRADE.

It is estimated that about 50,000 ons of iron are us. d annually on this coast, most of it in a manufacured state, says the San Francisco Journal of Commerce. The lowest value of this is in the state of nails. the average price of which is 4c per pound. The average of the whole is probably 8c per pound or $160 per ton, so that the total value of the imports that we use is not less than $8,000,000 annually. It is manifested that this must continue to increase as our population increases, and in a still greater ratio too. The extension of railroad enterprise and the increase in the building of vessels at this and other ports, particularly iron ones, which tend to increase it heavily out of proportion to what it otherwise would be. Of the total make of 4,500,000 tons last year in the United States, the coast should a spin, dumped the old gentleman off take 150,000 tons a year according to population. The fact that we use not over one-third of this is a testimony to our backwardness in this respect. But we shall pull up rapid- tation of the precinct and did it.

THE AMERICAN DOLLAR MARK.

Origin of "$." There are a number of theories for the Origin of the American dollar, one is that it is a combination of U. A CROSS-EYED FOREMAN.

An exchange says: There is a young editor wandering on the face of the earth who formerly published a paper at Storm Lake, Iowa, He left there the day after the issue of the last paper, and is supposed to be crossing the State on foot to get away from an infuriated female popplace. It seems there was a concert given by the young ladies of that city, and the gallant young editor wrote it up in good style. The same day he had visited a herd of short horn cattle owned by a farmer in that vicinity, and he wrote up thocattle also. The cross-eyed foreman of the office got the two articlesmixed as follows: "The concert given last evening by sixteen of Storm Lake's most beautiful and interesting young ladies was highly appreciated. They were elegantly dressed and sang in a most charming manner, winning the plaudits of the entire audience, who pronounced them the finest breed of short-horns in the country. A few of them are a rich brown color, but the majority are a spotted brown and white. Several of the heifers were fine bodied, tight-limed animals, and promise to prove good property."

A Chapter of Runaways.

Orleans beats the world for runaway teams and Republican majorities. says the Albany Democrat. Last. Tuesday Dave Jenkins had a runaway, but neither himself nor his team sustained much damage. On Wednesday Squire Coon's team took and burt him badly, broke the wagon all to smash, and seriously injured both horses. Yesterday C. S. Smith's. team undertook to keep up the repuly and not many years will clapse effectually. Very little of the wagon is left whole except the kingbolt,
