Home Finance.

While we continue to have an abundance of available capital in our monetary reservoirs, the demand for its employment is not as brisk as might be desired, and in consequence those loans that are the most acceptable obtain accommodations upon exceedingly reasonable terms, in order to keep the money employed at some rate of interest, although it may result at unusually low figures. The bond holdings of some of our institutions are very large in proportion to what they were formerly, this being apparently due to the decreased demands for loans on the part of property owners and others, who have a less desire to speculate than in former years, and consequently are less disposed to mortgage their property, while on the other hand the banks are more cautious in accepting property as security than heretofore, though they are becoming more and more lenient in this respect. Much of this idle capital is seeking investment elsewhere upon better terms than can now be obtained in this market. Business generally is quite good, and the expansion is gradually increasing, we having many facilities that are in a greater degree advantageous. The country has been growing at the expense of the city, which is beginning to manifest returns. Heretofore the metropolis was gaining too rapidly without obtaining that recuperative force which the country trade alone can supply, and as this becomes greater the more substantial and healthy will be the intercourse with the radiating centre of general traffic. Discounts in bank rate at 7@8 per cent., the best paper obtaining accommodations at less rates. Exceptional loans on collaterals range at 4@5 per cent.

The local security market continues dull, and prices are without material change. Sales of Spring Valley Water stock are reported at 118@118 1/2; S. F. Gas stock, 56 1/2; Capital Gas (Sacramento), 55, ex-dividend; Bank of California, 168; N. B. and M. R. R. stock, 102 1/2; Geary Street, 103 1/2@104; Presidio, 69.

The supply of bullion is light. Gold bars, 925 fine, par; refined silver bars, 12@13 per cent. discount; refined silver (London), 51 1/2 per cent; exchange on Atlantic cities, 25c premium; telegraphic transfers, 30c; sterling exchange, 49 1/2@49 3/4; commercial exchange, 50@50 1/2; Mexican dollars, 91 1/2@92c.—The San Francisco Commercial Herald.

Domestic Produce.

The wheat market continues to exhibit a good degree of strength under the influence of a steady export requirement. Millers are also free buyers to meet a continued export inquiry. The deliveries are free and liberal, with a disposition shown upon the part of farmers to realize at current rates. At the same time speculators stand aloof, with a very limited business at the Call Boards. Barley is without notable change in values. As yet very little business has been transacted in new crop. Brewing. A cargo of Chevalier has been cleared for New York. Feed grains continue firm in price. Corn is in fair supply, prices favoring the buyer. Oats arrive freely, with a good demand at steady prices. Rye is dull of sale. Bran rules high in price. Hay is firmly held. The late spring in Beans was of short duration, causing free arrivals and a corresponding depression in prices. The Wildwood, for New York, carries a large shipment of Mustard Seed. The City of New York, for Australia, carries liberal shipments of Broom Corn. Potatoes favor the buyer and market weak. Butter is on the down grade, under the influence of increased supplies and a heavy stock, much of which is held by speculators, and then the appearance of fresh daily supplies of Oleomargarine is a damper. Cheese is held with a good deal of firmness. Eggs favor the buyer, with free supplies from the territories. The fruit supply is wanting. Hops continue in active request at high figures, chiefly for ship ment overland, said to be on English orders. Hides are without change in value. Tallow is tending upwards under the influence of a good home and foreign demand, exceeding the supply. The ship Wildwood, for New York, carries 723,000 lbs Wool. The local demand is light, with few sales to record. Stocks chiefly low grades and defective, about 4,000,000 lbs. The arrivals of fruit and other house products are large and free, including liberal supplies of dried fruit.—San Francisco Com. Herald.

Who Pays the Duty?

The Texas Union Land Register has the following very appropriate comments on the tariff question:

There is much ado made by the free-traders that the amount of duty placed on an article is paid out of the pocket of the poor people, or the masses, and goes to enrich a few wealthy manufacturers. This is untrue, and even if so, would still be better than the destruction of our manufacturing establishments, which means not only the displacement of a large amount of labor, but the placing of our country at a great disadvantage in times of war. We think the south had lasting illustrations of this during the late rebellion. There was plenty of raw material in the south but no means of converting it into needed manufactured articles. But aside from this, the consumer does not pay the duty.

The proposition is a very simple one and requires but few words of explanation to make it apparent to any one. It is generally conceded that low prices of foreign labor enables the importer to undersell us in our own market in many manufactured articles as well as raw materials, and without the protection of a duty would soon succeed in breaking up many important industries in this country, by flooding the market at prices below the cost of production here, and, if necessary, would sell at actual cost for the time necessary to accomplish this object, perfectly willing to lose their profits for the time being, in anticipation of their future control of the entire market—a grand monopolizing scheme which could not fail. When they have succeeded in breaking up our manufactures, and have laid waste all the obstacles in their way they will then be able to command their price, and you may rest assured that it will be placed far above what it was with the added duty. Then the consumer will suffer, and thousands who have spent years of their most valuable time in learning their trades will find themselves without employment or means of support.

Now which is the most feasible, to allow foreign manufactures to control our market, or to protect the consumer from monopolies by a sufficient duty, and allow home competition to draw margins to a fair profit? We say, give us protection, and especially give the wool-growers protection. Under the fostering care of a judicious tariff, it will be but a short time before Texas will manufacture her own wool. The time is not very far away when Texas will be her own wool market, and the prices now paid for transportation will go into the wool-growers' pockets. Manufacturers in the eastern states are turning out goods equal to any imported, and hard edged tools, axes and boring implements, etc. are superior to the English manufacture, and the same may be said of files. The only thing needed is encouragement to capitalists, and the assurance that they will be protected in their enterprise. There are many bound by party lines not to speak what they think, and are free-traders for the sake of party.

Negotiability of Bills of Lading.

A decision has been made by the Supreme Court of the United States which pronounces a doctrine considered novel. It is that a bill of lading in the hands of a third person who may have taken it in good faith and advanced money on it is void if the goods had not been received by the carrier. This destroys the value of its alleged negotiability, and, on principle, a warehouse receipt may be held to a like decision. Indeed, the principle might be extended still further. The decision was in the case of Pollard vs. Valdon, and the opinion of the court was delivered by justice Miller. Conflicting with the general accepted opinion on the subject, we present the decision from the Federal Reporter as a matter of interest and probable importance to our readers:

"A bill of lading is at once a receipt and a contract; it is an acknowledgment of the receipt of property on board the vessel and a contract to carry safely and deliver. The receipt of the goods lies at the foundation of the contract to carry and deliver, and if no goods are actually received, there can be no valid contract to carry or deliver. The person to whom such a bill of lading is first delivered cannot hold the signer responsible for goods not received by the carrier, as neither the master of the vessel nor the shipping agent has authority to give a bill of lading for goods or cargo not received for shipment. Such a bill of lading is void in the hands of a third person who may afterwards in good faith taken it and advanced money on it."

Freights and Charters.

The S. F. Herald says: An improvement is to be noted in grain freights, the ruling rates being now 45@47s 6d for wood and iron. The demand for tonnage is not now as active as it was a week ago. The disengaged fleet in port aggregates 54,000 tons, against 26,000 tons register a year ago, and at Wilmington 7,500 tons. The fleet to arrive within five months, 245,000 tons; same date in 1881, 326,000 tons; in 1880, 201,000 tons register.

TO THE SICK AND AFFLICTED!

AND ESPECIALLY

Those Suffering from Debility, Nervous Prostration, Loss of Vitality, Sexual Infirmities, Etc., Etc.

THE GREAT NEED—THOSE WHO ARE suffering from SEXUAL AND NERVOUS COMPLAINTS is a physician who can comprehend their ailments and successfully treat them.

The general practitioner is not sufficiently skilled in these classes of troubles to do so, and it must be left to the SPECIALIST, who by education, long practice, thorough knowledge and comprehensive mind, is prepared to cure them.

DR. J. C. YOUNG

Opened his new celebrated Institute in 1850 for the purpose of affording the afflicted the certainty of honorable and skillful treatment and perfect permanent restoration, and for over 30 years it has sustained the first rank not only upon this Coast but throughout the civilized world.

I am aware that by dwelling upon so unwholesome a subject as sexual prostration, the ignorant may asperse my motive, but the desire to inform those who are suffering through ignorance, and who by carelessness or want of knowledge that a cure can be had, are not only hurrying themselves to an untimely grave, but giving sexual weakness as an inheritance to future generations, is too great an incentive to permit me to be silent.
