Pride of Ancestry.

My boy, if you want to be somebody in this world, you must begin by being somebody. You must have and assert an individuality. If you have a family tree that reaches to the stars, draw your pen through every name on the record until you come to your own, and stand squarely on that. A grand old ancestry is a splendid thing to have, and a grandfather is something for any man to be proud of. But your ancestors won't make you, my boy. Because they are dead and the world of to-day wants live men. Nobody gropes in graveyards except the medical students. Queen Victoria traces her blood back to William the Conqueror. Well she can't help it. She isn't to blame for it, nor does she deserve any particular credit for it. Such a woman as Victoria, my boy reflects honor upon her ancestors; her pure womanhood would honor them though she never were a monarch, but I can't see that her ancestors do her any very great honor. Why, suppose you can only trace your ancestry back to your father; why, your father was a better man, better Christian, he wears better clothes, lives in a better house, has more luxuries and conveniences in life than was or did or had William the Conqueror, and so you are that much ahead of the Queen. Look me in the eye, Telemachus; would you feel proud if you could prove that you were a lineal descendant of the four Georges? Certainly you would not. If you should have said yes, I should have advised you to stuff yourself and sell yourself for a cigar store sign. If you assert your self, my boy, that is all the world asks of you. If the world has work for you to do, if it wants you and needs you, it isn't going to bark up your family tree. Who asked about Lincoln's ancestors? Who stopped in 1868 to ascertain if Grant came over in the "Mayflower"? What "old family" did the American people elect President in 1880? What great-great-grandfather, investigated the telephone? Who knows Brigham Young's mother-in-law? God bless your grandfather, my boy. Love his memory, honor his name, revere his teachings, but don't try to wear his boots to-day. You can't run, and you can't climb in them. I tell you, your neighbor will question more closely the pedigree of the blooded horse or the milk cow you want to sell him, than he will your own.

When I hear a man talking too about his ancestors, I begin to think he needs them very much. I always feel sorry for a man who died before he was born, and live only in the deeds and words of his great-grandfathers. Don't die out two or three generations before you begin, my boy. Live your own life if it kills you. I have known some men who were very proud of their ancestors, those ancestors would have been most d smally ashamed of them.

Pride of ancestry! It is just under your feet compared with pride of posterity. You never in your life felt that pride in your great-grandfather, who fought at Bunker Hill and shivered at Valley Forge, that you feel in your first boy, even when he is three days old and has nothing to show for himself but flannel and wrinkles. When a man, on his way to the drug store for ten cent's worth of paregoric, meets the younger man on his way to the furniture store to buy a thirty-dollar cab for his first, he cannot express the pleasant pity that curls the older pair of lips. But, bless you it doesn't hurt the young man a particle. He can stop right there in the street, and give the older man points on the treatment and culture of children. Don't waste your pride on your ancestors my boy. Save it for your posterity. They will be in better circumstances and live in better times. While your ancestors came over in the "Mayflower" a leaky old tub of a sailing vessel, that landed the pilgrims and then went straight away for a cargo of slaves to land in the West Indies, your children will go across in a Canarder, first cabin, faring sumptuously, and only out ten days. It is enough for you, my boy to know that your ancestors were good, brave, honest, hard-working Christian men and women. For the rest of it do you live your own life and live it so as to honor them and add new lustres to their good names, but don't my boy, I beg of you don't try to "boost" yourself up in the world on what they did long before you were born. Do something for yourself.

Juvenile Temperance Work.

In this temperance work we would like to have all parties thoroughly understand that "we have come to remain." And we do not know that we can give any better evidence of the sincerity of our intentions, than by deliberately setting about, the systematic instruction of the young in the first principles of Temperance. While we would embrace every opportunity to reclaim the fallen, we find it far cheaper, far easier, and we believe far more acceptable in the sight of God to prevent men from falling. Certainly intemperance can not be cleaned out of our land until drunkenness is prevented. While we would gladly take away the temptation from the young as well as from those whose appetites have become uncontrollable, we recognize the fact that the moral strength for resisting temptation, as well as the legal influence necessary to take it away, can best be obtained by careful, religious, temperance education.

The time is past for supposing that the best work to be done for the young is to save them as individuals from becoming drunkards. In every department of Temperance work, the cry is for workers! more workers!! better workers!!! At the polls we want men who shall vote for Temperance intelligently and effectively. In legislative halls we want men who can frame laws that will hold water, and not whisky. As executive officers, we want men who will carry out such laws honestly, and to good purpose. And it is better in every way to educate these men while boys, than it is after they have been elected to place and power by whisky votes. We also want ministers whose temperance utterances shall have no uncertain sound; men who can understand and explain the difference between fermented and unfermented wines, and who will refuse to place the latter upon the Lord's table; men who shall not only welcome Temperance work, but the workers, and manage to enlist their congregations on the Lord's side in this matter. We want doctors who, instead of giving a prestige to alcoholic drinks by recommending them as medicines, shall make it their business to help the Temperance work by doing their best to discredit and discard alcoholic drinks in every shape, and especially by exposing their deceitfulness, and warning the people of their disastrous effects. We want women everywhere for matrons of our homes who shall dispense with the social use of wine; girls who shall demand in their suitors the same high moral standard to which they themselves subscribe; boys who care more for a clear head, a calm eye, a steady hand, a pure life, an a clean record, than they do for wild oats, low-bred snickers, and drinking customs.

News Notes.
Sonoma County is going to the front in its dried fruit interest. Michigan claims to have gained 50,000 new settlers in her northern counties this year. The New York and Texas-Mexican Railway Company has purchased 4,000,000 acres of land in Pecosa Tom Greene and El Paso countries for colonies. John W. Fleming, the cattle king of Silver City, New Mexico, has sold his White House Ranch to an English company for $100,000. The cattle range is forty miles square. The raisin crop of Southern California is estimated at 80,000 boxes of twenty pounds each.

TO THE SICK AND AFFLICTED!

AND ESPECIALLY—Those Suffering from Debility, Nervous Prostration, Loss of Vitality, Sexual Infirmities, Etc., Etc.

THE GREAT NEED THOSE WHO ARE suffering from DEBILITY AND NERVOUS COMPLAINTS is a physician who can comprehend their ailments and successfully treat them. The general practitioner is not sufficiently skilled in these classes of troubles to do so and it must be left to the SPECIALIST, who by education, long practice, thorough knowledge and comprehensive mind, is prepared to cure them.

DR. J. E. YOUNG Opened his new celebrated Institute in 1850 for the purpose of affording the afflicted the certainty of honorable and skillful treatment and a perfect and permanent restoration, and for over 30 years he has sustained the first rank not only upon this Coast but throughout the civilized world. I am aware that by dwelling upon so unenviable a subject as the DEBILITY OF SEXUAL VIGOR, the guarant will asperse my motive, but the desire to inform those who are suffering through ignorance, or who by carelessness or want of knowledge that a cure can be had, are not only hurrying them selves to an untimely grave, but giving sexual weakness as an inheritance to future generations, is too great an incentive to permit me to be silent.
