Mrs. G. W. Kisor, of Philomath, returned from a tour month'strip to her old home in but the crop seems to be unusual small this Kansas, last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Kisor crossed the plains 30 years ago and have ever since resided in Oregon, and while her visit to the land of storms and tornadoes was quite pleasant, it only increased her apprieciation of webfoot, mud and rain notwithstanding.

The heaviest snow fall of the season wa the one on last Tuesday, but the moist condition of the earth and the drizzeling rain that accompanied the chrystallized vapor melted it nearly as fast as it fell. A Counterate Thief.

An exchange says, "A burglar broke into the house of an Oregon editor, and after prowling around from room to room in opinion, his heart was deeply touched, and stole softly away."

Store Burglarized

One night last week the store of Mr. Hen y Smith on Wolf Creek was burglarized and something like $400 taken. It seems that the thieves removed a window pah from the rear window through which they made their entrance and, although ther was a clerk sleeping in an adjoining room the thief took out the drawer, and going to front door unlocked it and went out.

Permature Explosion Causing Death. Says the Roseburg Plaindealer: The sad news reached us this week that another serious accident took place on the 1st of this month in tunnel No 8, at the front, on the O. & C. R. R. extension, resulting in the death of two menfuamed Sibley and Whitten The men had sprung a blast twice and had placed powder in the hole the third time, robably before the bottom part of the hole and been cooled, that caused the permature explosion of the powder, which proved so isastrous to those at work. One man who was struck in the head by a number of rocks inflicting paintul though not dangerous rounds, was lifted up four or five feet, and thers barely escaped with their lives. Mr. Whitten's brother, who is quite an influennal citizen of San Francisco, came up this week to take the remains of his unfortunate prother for final interment to the Golden

Carp Cultivation. James Carswell, an attache of the United States fish commission, arrived here on the Queen of the Pacific, having in charge some 1500 young carp for distribution in thus state and Washington territory, says the Oregonian. He left Washington January 24th, with 19,000 carp, from five to six nonths old, for distribution in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon and Washington. The fish made the journey in common tin buckets, holding about a gallon in each of which was placed twenty carp. They were sent out by Prof Baird, of the U. S. fish commission. There are fortyeight applicants for the carp from the state and twenty-two from Washington territory. The fish will be forwarded from here by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, to all such points as can be reached. The fish were ing and poster type of all kinds and sizes of the sizes office. They are nearly three inches in length, and were lively and hearty-looking after their long trip. They are descendants of eight carp brought to America in 1876 by Dr. Hessell, and may consequently be onsidered to have a pedigree, but they will never be able to rank with the salmon and trout of this section

lowing account of the dedication of the new Presbyterian church at that place: Thursday evening the new Presbyteria church was crowded full, even the sisles be ing occupied, many being turned away on account of a lack of room. The services were opened with a song by a quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wyatt, Mr. Kinross and Miss Annie Griffin, all o Portland. This as well as their singing throughout the entire services was excellently rendered. It is rarely the case that we hear better vocal music. Prayer was offered by Rev. Lindsley, of the Portland Presbyterian church, a hymn was read by Rev. D. W. Cameron and heartily joined in by the whole congregation, Rev. S G. Irvine gave a scripture reading, which was followed by another song by the quartette. The dedication sermon was preache by Rev. E. R. Geary, of Eugene, and was impressive and attentively listened to. He chose for his text John XVII-17, "Sanctify them through thy truth; thy word is truth." Another song was rendered by the quartette, and then Rev. I. H. Condit offered the dedication prayer consecrating the church to the services of God. A sole by Mr. Kinross evoked considerable praise. He has a powerful bass voice, which is com pletely at his command. Rev. Lindsley, of Portland, spoke in a fervent, eloquent strain, and was listened to with the closest attention. Another song was followed by short address by Rev. Berry, of Salem, who has made many friends in Albany by his earnest manner and logical style. Interapersed with music were some pointed re marks by Rev. S. G. Irvine and a historical review of the church since it was first proposed to build it by Rev. I. H. Condit. It has cost a little over $3900, is entirely out of debt and only owes for the lights and one stove, the payments on which do not become due till the 1st of April. Other things will need to be added but within a year it is hoped by the members of the church to have everything complete. The exercises were closed with the doxology and benediction by Rev. J. W. Hollen-baughs.
