ELDER MOSE KITE.

His Hair Breath Escapes From Seen and Unseen Foes.

Troy Kansas Chief, Jan. 18 1883.

Most of our older citizens well remember Mose Kite (who lived in Petersburg Bottom), the hero of our state's early political history, who was of stalwart build and powerful physique; who in 1858 led a colony of our people to Pike's Peak; who fought the Indians on the plains and was shot through the body; who on his return here after the rebellion was converted and baptized by Elder Henshall, of the Christain church at Petersburg Bottom, and became a revival preacher of celebrity all through this section. They will also recall the fact that, attacked with consumption and reduced to a skeleton, he was obliged to remove to the rockies in the hope of saving his life None thought he would succeed. Last fall, however, the editor of this paper met him at the head of the republican river, bigger and more robust than ever. "Why, I thought you had the consumption long, long ago Elder?"

"Me? I never had the consumption man! though people thought that was what ailed me, and I thought so myself. But the doctors had sent me on a wild-goose chase after a dozen other diseases, just as fatal and this was the wildest one of all."

The good Elder then recounted to us, in a charming vein, his many adventures in the rough and ready life he had led, "but," he said, "remarkable as you may think my warlike life has been, I have a much more interesting story to tell you."

"You know what a rough, noisy fellow I used to be; and I could stand any hardship. Why, on a wager, I have knocked down an ox and a mule with my fist. I have fought ruffians, border outlaws and Indians; but I was

by a more dangerous unseen enemy that was ever getting me more completely in his clutches. I was shot by an Indian in a fight on the plains, but that wound healed readily and gave me but little trouble. After I returned to Kansas and commenced preaching, I first began to give way. I had a dull feeling, accompanied with a pain in the right side. Dr. Butler, our family physician, said my liver was out of order, caused by the malaria of the bottoms. I had always had an appetite like an ostrich, but my digestion became seriously impared. While on the circuit preaching, I consulted a doctor, who said I had the dyspepsia. After that distressing palpitation of the heart followed, and the physician said this was caused by my indigestion and diseased liver which would probably terminate fatally. Sometimes I had a ravenous appetite, at others none at all. I was feverish and then chilly My food seemed to do me no good. A specialist told me I had a tape worm! Then I was troubled with unusual quantities of water and a frequent desire to urinate, which was done with difficulty and great pain. The specialist said I had a touch of the gravel, caused by the use of the alkaline water on the plains. I then began to suffer severe pains in the loins and the small of my back, accompained with sudden attacks of dizziness, during which I had to sit or lie down, to avoid falling. I was forced to abandon because I could no longer ride on horseback, or trust myself out alone. I began to be seriously alarmed, and sought the advice of the most noted physicians within reach. He said that my frequent horseback riding had jolted and jarred me until the old Indian wound, which had injured my kidneys, had become inflamed. He treated me with medicines and electricity also, but gave me no permanent benefit. My painful symptoms all returned. I began to cough, got very thin and my legs were disagreeably numb. I began to despair. At each attempt to cure my ailments became worse, with new symtoms. I next consulted a celebrated physician from the East, who after thumping and examining me stated that I was in an advanced stage of consumption and treated me with diabetes and paralysis! He thought I might possibly prolong my life for a year or two by seeking a higher and drier climate This was my condition when the people in your part of the country last saw me.

Then I started for the Rockies but liked this country, and settled here. At first the change helped me, but about three years ago the benefit ceased. Then I failed so rapidly that I could be out of bed only part of each day. All my old symptoms returned. At this crisis, a party of Eastern gentlemen, made my house their headquarters. In the party was a Dr. Wakefield, who informed me that I had a bad case of incurable Bright's Disease, and gave me a preparation which might, he said, ease me for a few weeks or months, but that was the best could be done. Around the bottle was a newspaper. Now a newspaper was a rarity in our home, and as I sat in my chair looking over it when my eye providentially fell upon an article relating a most wonderful cure of Bright's disease—the very malady that was killing me—by the the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, (of Rochester N. Y.). Convinced that further delay would be fatal, and everything else failing, the next morning I dispatched one of my boys to the nearest railroad station, many miles distant, to obtain a bottle of the Safe Cure. The druggist said the demand for the Cure was so great he could not keep it in stock, and he had to send to Kansas City for more. It was more than a week before it arrived. And I was daily getting weaker. But it came at last, and I at once began to take it. When I told Dr. Wakefield what I was taking, he gave me a look, half of scorn, half of pity, as much as to say, he is putting his trust in a humbug. Nevertheless I persevered and for the past year and a half I have been as stout and rugged as I ever was in my life. After escaping the attacks of Indians and a half a dozen doctors, I was lying at the mercy of a still more dreadful foe that was about giving me the finishing blow, when that great remedy stepped in, slew my adversary, and placed me firmly on my feet once more. I have commenced preaching again; for I look upon the circumstances and manner of my cure as a direct interposition of Providence, and to Providence are my services due. That is my story. I think it as good as a romance—and much better for it is true."

ON A BUFFALO HUNT,

POOR FELLOW!

Such is the substance, and very near the language of Elder Kite's narrative. Those who read it, and are suffering, may be benefited by his experience, if they will follow his example.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

Edited by the Ladies of the W. C. T. U. of Corvallis.

W. C. T. U.

Regular business meetings first Saturdays in each month, at the Evangelical church, at 2:30 P. M. Prayer meeting every Saturday at same hour. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

MRS. NORA WILLIAMS, Pres.
MRS. T. GRAHAM, Sec.

Keep the ball rolling. It's getting at every revolution. Good loyal men are coming up to your help against the mighty power King Alchol. Men are getting their eyes open. Men who have a conscience are beginning to listen to what it dictates; and when conscience say, "No man can serve two masters," they understand that means that they cant serve God and the devil. And they further understand that no man can be a Christian and votes with a party that legalizes the liquor traffic. They see also that to pray to God to remove this cause from our land, and vote for it, is blasphemy against God.

They are begining to tremble when they think of what answer they shall give in that day when all nations shall appear before God. Be of good cheer, our cause is just, and must and will prevail; and e're long the victory will be won, and a shout of glory will make the very heavens ring, and the Goddess of Liberty will carry the good news to sister States, to other nations, and other climes.—Gospel Temperance Advocate.

INCONSISTENCIES OF TEMPERANCE MEN.

The first great inconsistency we want to point out is found in those professing great zeal for temperance, yet unwilling to work for its success. We have among professed temperance men a large number whose whole temperance principles may be summed up in a single word—profession. They are most excellent helpers if any loud vaunting or enthusiastic cheering is to be done; they are zealous, extremely so in telling just how the cause ought to be managed, consenting (free of charge) to criticise public men and parties, and assume the role of general fault finders, but when sacrifice or real work of any kind is to be done, these gentlemen experience a very sudden diminution of temperance zeal—to put it plainly, shirk! Profession is cheap and words cost little, hence no wonder that the temperance reform, like every other, should have its fair proportion of hypocrites among its ranks, and of demagogues and quacks among its leaders. The man who is always ready to speak, but never ready to take hold and work, may be set down in nine cases out of ten as a fraud. Another inconsistency that we have frequently pointed out is the putting of increased power for mischief into the hands of our opponents by patronage, in one way or another, of liquor men and their business, and the election of such to the position of trust and power. How a man can be ardently attached to temperance principles and to the cause of temperance, and yet invariably patronize, in a great mulitude of ways, liquor men in preference to temperance men, is not just easy to see. Men who make loud professions of temperance principles, and put their vote and influence into the hands of liquor men in place of temperance men—who give their patronage to taverns in preference to temperance houses, will generally be regarded as frauds, and the general judgement of them will be correct. Another inconsistency frequently charged against us by liquor advocates and opponents of prohibition is this: storming the whole country and our law makers, day and night, till we get advanced laws on our statue books, and then supinely folding our hands as if our great work was done. —Anvil.
