Thanksgiving Proclamation. STATE OF OREGON, EXECUTIVE OFFICE.

SALEM Nov 5 1883 In accordance with a long established custom, and in conformance with the rec ommendation of the president of the United States, I. Z. F. Moody, governor of the state of Oregon, would recommend that Thursday, the 29th day of November, 1883. be observed by all citizens of the state as a day of praise and thanksgiving to the supreme ruler of the universe for the many dessings vouchsafed to us during the past year; and would further recommend that all secular pursuits be suspended upon that day, and that our people resort to their usual and respective places of worship for the purpose herein set forth.

Witness my hand and the great seal the state hereto attached this 5th day of November, A D. 1883. Z. F. MOODY. SEAL. Attest : R. P. EARHART. Secretary of State.

At this writing the election returns from elections in the several states are not quite deffinite; enough is however fairly ascertained that New York and Massachusetts off with enjoyment and merriment on every have gone republican, and Governor Butler for governor of Massachusetts is badly with the results of their entertainment and snowed under; many of the democrats feel assured that their efforts will be whose party he was the standard-bearer crowned with success. could not stomach his low down political naneuvering. From the returns the reaonable indications are that Pennsylvania has gone republican. It is probable that Virginia has gone democratic. The negroes in and about Richmond and Danville failed to vote for fear that such as the Danville riot would be repeated as another hazard to carry the state democratic. Mississippi has no doubt gone democratic as the democrats have an easy walkover in that land of shot

Mormom Lobby.

Numerous supporters of polygamy have recently been arriving in Washington, D. C., from Utah. They are expecting an atularly in the newspaper, because he will tempt at legislation during the coming congress derogatory to their system of overriding, trampling under foot and disregarding the laws of the land. They fear laws will be passed to prevent their law break. ing and they are gathering around the National capitol ior the purpose of organizing a powerful body so that they can by personal influence and the free and unlimited use of money prevent any legislation contrary to their wishes.

A Painful Accident.

Mr. Jerome Sherwood who was working last Monday on the Pile Driver on the West Side Railroad works at Mary's river near this place, unthoughtedly steped on the end of a plank which easily gave way and let him fall to the ground a distance of about twenty feet. He was picked up insensible. At first it was thought bis neck was broken. As he lay on the ground his neck was so turned that his face turned nearly in the direction of his back. He soon ecame conscious however and in the evening after the fall it was thought that he would recover. His family resides at Independence, Polk county, so we are informed.

Cause of Virginia Riots.

The Richmond Commercial says: The Danville riots of Saturday was the carrying out of the bourbon shotgun policy, which has been threatened by the bourbons for two months. Realizing that they could not carry the state, Barbom, the Washington director of the party, issued his address Friday, which claimed that the state must be saved at all hazards, and the riot is one of the hazards.

Serious Accident.

Yesterday forenoon, says the Wasco Sun of the 2nd inst, while one of the engines was backing into the round-house of the railroad company, a man in their employ as fireman on engine 54 named Charles Barnell was caught in the space between the tender of the engine and the door, breaking three ribs and bruising him seriously. The space through which he attempted to pass was only eight inches when an engine was in the doorway.

A Por' Murder

On last Saturday morning Mr. J. J. Finlayson left his house four or five miles from borhood worthy of note we shall send this Albany, in Linn county, to go to Browns- week a brief description of the vicinity from ville expecting to return home on the fol- which we write. Alpine is situated in the lowing Monday about noon. He left at hills a short distance west of Monroe in the home his wife about 50 years of age and a southern end of Benton county and is one grand-son about 16 years of age; his wife of the pioneer settlements of Oregon. It is was a step-grandmother to the boy. On about six miles square and being almost last Saturday afternoon the boy came to surrounded by hills possesses natural Albany procured an overcoat and about five boundaries which give it a distictly separate o'clock left town, since which time he has appearance from the surrounding neighnot been heard from. On Monday Mr. borhood and the rest of the world. On the ties and weights, to wit: A large red beat Finlayson arrived home and found his wife south is a long evenly elevated ridge which 83 lbs, rutebaga 6 lbs, white flat turnips 61 dead in the house. Upon examination it extends from the Coast Range proper to was ascertained that she had been stabbed the Long Tom south of Monroe, and about some twenty-six times with a knife and midway along this high ridge rises from it her skull had been crushed in with an ax. Round Mt, a tall peak, from the topmost of different varieties measuring 4 inches in They could only find missing from the pinnacle of which one of the grandest views diameter. As Mr. West was informed by house some $25 or $30 in money and a of Oregon may be enjoyed. From here one horse belonging to Mr. Finlayson, and the can distinctly see Eugene City on the south stock that nothing could grow on the class boy could not be found. As soon as the and as far as Albany on the north, and all news reached Albany men were sent out in of the intermediate towns with a splendid all directions to hunt out and discover the scene of the Willamette Valley and over live and therefore took up some land and perpetrator of the foul deed. Mr. Duncan and clear beyond stand those majestic Monteith was here on last Tuesday looking mountains of eternal snow Mt. Hood and through the country to see if any trace Mt. Jefferson and the Three Sisters. To could be had. The boy is suspected but the west is the most broken part of the this seems curious because he is said to Coast Range which would certainly afford heretofore have been a good, well disposed a rare opportunity for the gifted painter boy and always got along nicely with the and this part of the range may be seen from deceased. His unaccounted for absence however looks suspicious.

On last Tuesday evening the sociable held by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Corvallis, Or., at the City Hall for the purpose of receiving such donations in the way of books, kitchen utensils, and dining room wares as the contributors saw proper to give, for the purpose of establishing a free reading room by this society in conjunction with a lunch room, where all parties can sit by a warm fire and read and can also partake of a nice cup of coffee or tea and any of the good things of this life to eat and pay in proportion for such eatables or drinkables as they consume. Almost everybody with all of their relations were in attendance, including big, little, old and young. The contributions were quite numerous and the variety great, consisting of nearly everything necessary for the convenience of kitchen or table from a salt cellar to a large sized cooking stove besides many nice books for the reading department. Every visitor present was treated to a nice lunch and the entire evening passed nand. The society is much encouraged almost any point in the neighborhood and from its western boundary. To the north are low hills forming a boundary between the Alpine and Bellountain neighborhoods and on one of these in a grove of splendid oaks is beautifully situated Simpson's chapel, where the two neighborhoods meet regularly for worship. On the east are also hills noted for their autumnal beauty The shrubs and trees which dot their side are always this time of the year covered with leaves of every beautiful tint true to nature and prettier than the coloring from any painters brush. Enter the valley from any direction you can and the first view must give the impression of an almost infinite variety and richness of landscape, level prairies treeless or covered with trees, bald hills or forest covered ones, ravines opening down from the mountains guiding the waters out into the valley, fields of grain or pastures of cattle and nooks and corners innumerable and all blended in rarely seen harmonious beauty. When settlement was first made here the whole face of the country was covered with a luxuriant growth of grass which used to carry the Indians fires in every direction to the destruction of all small trees and underbrush. But since the grass has been eaten and killed down till it is no longer sufficient to feed running fires, here as almost anywhere in the Willamette valley a growth of willow, ash, alder, &c., has sprung up along the water courses, and a surprisingly dense and rapid growth of firs has already in part covered the hills. It seems now as though it would not be long till the saw mills could move in from the mountains to saw our lumber nearer home. A large and commodious schoolhouse is very nearly the center of the neighborhood and has done good service for many years. School is now in session in charge of Miss

Native Outbreak in Alaska. CHICAGO, Nov. 5 .- A collector who has peen for a year and a half in Alaska, in the service of the Royal museum of Berlin, is en route home. He is a native of the very north of Norway, and has spent some years in Greenland and other Arctic countries. He understands the language of the Esquimaux thoroughly, and has therefore een able to travel among them in Alaska with excellent advantages for observation. He says the interior of the territory is wild and rugged, and the people more numerous than is likely to be agreeable to gold hunters. He declares that the temper of the natives is such that there is certain to be a disastrous outbreak before many months, which will result in a massacre of whites at the mining camps and stations. The power of the government he believes to be entirely inadequate to preserve order or control the natives, so long as only one vessel is kept on that coast. He takes a very gloomy view of our affairs in those regions, and does not believe we realize the
