Press Association

The following from an exchange is about the sentiment expressed by all the papers in the state, and it is a question that should be agitated until such an association is formed. "We need a Press Association in Oregon. Compared with other States the amount of public printing given to the Oregon press amounts to nothing. In many other places the new laws passed by the legislatures are printed in two papers, of different politics in each county; unredeemed pledges are published by pawnbrokers before sold; application for the pardon of criminals, for license to sell liquor, and many other things of importance to the community are all advertised at least four times, the public being benefited and the press, which does so much gratuitous hard work for the good of the State, receiving a slight encouragement. If the Oregon publishers had the good sense of their confreres elsewhere, they would organize a Press Association, and aside from the good that would come from intercourse socially and in business, they would be in a position to go to the legislature and demand their rights and obtain favors." The Oregon press labors under another serious disadvantage. The number of papers here is much greater in proportion to the population and business than in any of the older States. They must charge correspondingly higher for subscription and advertising, but in trying to get what little business there is, they have in some instances reduced prices below what would pay in much more populous communities, and admit free of charge notices of various kinds that are paid for in nearly every other country.

The Mother Hubbard Must Go.

The Mother Hubbard must go. If Mother Hubbard does not step in and redeem her old clothes and place them on the retired list, there is going to be trouble. Turn the Mother Hubbard out? As a balloon it is right and en regle, but as a dress, it is a lock-stiched, gathered, puffed and ruffled failure, and a withering reproach to the boasted culture of the nineteenth century. The Mother Hubbard dress is all skirt and no waist—a sort of calico rag bag, gathered at the neck, and drifting away off into nowhere, and floating along after the wearer like a spanker sail in a dead calm. If the Mother Hubbard dress is an old fashion rejuvenated, we can only say, in the posthumous language of the departed poet, "Shoot it." From the ashes of the dead past rises the Mother Hubbard dress, like a phœnix, and not so much like a phœnix, either, as like a coffee sack, held in place at the swan-like throat by a silver arrow, and trimmed with point lace and other frills. There is nothing like it on the face of the globe, unless it be another dress of the same awful pattern.—Texas Siftings.

Necessity the Mother of Invention.

The latest from the columns of an exchange says: Julius Moshburger, of Molalla, Clackamas county, has found a new use for hops. He having a lot on hand he could not sell, thought he would feed them to his cow. On the first milking, he found the milk tasted very much like lager beer, and being very fond of that article, he concluded not to feed his cow with anything else but hops, and to his great surprise and joy he found pure and unadulterated beer.

M. L. Trapp, of Little Elk, this county, made us a pleasant call one day this week. From him we learn that the roads in that section of the county are in a very bad condition, and dangerous to travelers. Brink & Wright, the mail contractors, had a very valuable horse so badly injured on this road one day last week that he will in all probability die from the effects of the injury. Before people condemn the contractors for the irregular mails between this place and the Bay, they had best know something about the condition of the roads.

THE MASK BALL.

The masquerade ball as given by the Corvallis Hook and Ladder Company last Friday evening was a decided success, socially, financially, and otherwise. The first appearance of the Great Consolidated Anglo-American Circus contributed much to the amusement of the occasion. The receipts of the evening were, we are informed, something near $100, over and above all expenses. The music as furnished by Cressy & Middleham's orchestra, of Independence, was excellent and received many compliments from the merry dancers. A large number of visitors were present, among whom we noticed, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spangler, Will. H. Parry, and Joe Hirshburg, of Independence; Mack Monteith and others from Albany, and many others. The prizes for the finest costumes were awarded to Miss Gusta Zelle and Sol Stock. The following is a list of maskers with the characters represented.

Cash versus Credit.

Knowing it to be for my best interests, and believing it to be for the best interests of my customers, I shall continue to sell for cash only. The following are a few of my reasons: First—Taking no risks I can afford to sell at a lower rate of profit. Second—I will not be at the expense of keeping a book-keeper (seventy-five dollars a month.) Third—I will not have to spend a week out of every month trying to make collections. Fourth—I will have time to give more attention to my business and consequently give better satisfaction to my customers, and finally I solicit only cash trade.

Several new builgings are almost completed this early in the season, in our thriving city. Many more will be built during the summer. Mr. Thos. Graham has begun the erection of a building to be used as a drug store. Evidently Corvallis will enjoy a building boom the coming summer.

A number of the circus performers at the masquerade last Friday evening are somewhat the worse for their performance: Ed. Johnson, an ameteur, in attempting a professional feat sustained a fall which for a time was thought would result seriously. We are pleased to state that it was not so serious as anticipated, and that he will be all right in a few days.

Wells Waftings.

WELLS, Or., February 24th, 1885.

EDITOR GAZETTE:

I copy the following from the Leader of last issue:

"A kind hearted young lady, knowing full well that poor editors are often half fed sent us one day this week a liberal slice of most delicious cake. The best of it was that the cake was made with her own fair hands and not by a servant. Knowing this fact gave it an additional flavor that it would not otherwise have possessed."

Yum Yum. I happened to know all about that piece of cake. It was some that was left over from the dance at this place on the 13th inst., and the person that made it did not happen to have any servants.

The next dance here I have the promise from a kind hearted young lady of a piece of stale cake for you Mr. Editor.

The girls here since the Leader's last issue have come to the conclusion not to send any more stale cake to Editors as it has a tendency to soften the brain.

ALEXANDER.—At the family residence in Kings Valley, Benton county, Oregon, on the 22d inst., of typhoid fever, Winnie, only daughter of T. F. and Frankie Alexander, aged 9 years, 10 months and 4 days.

Little Winnie was a bright, intelligent and affectionate child; and was dearly beloved by a large circle of relatives and acquaintances. An invalid from infancy, her afflictions had but strengthened the ties which bound her to the home circle, and rendered the separation more painful; but He who doeth all things well has taken her to Himself in her innocency and purity; and certainly she is far happier now than if left on earth. The bereaved parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all who knew little Winnie. COM.

WHITEHEAD.—At Fossil, Wasco county, Oregon, February 13, 1885, Mrs. E. W. Whitehead, aged about 25 years.

Her death was caused by the removal of an ovarian tumor, weighing 25lbs., form which she had been suffering for several years. OBSERVER.

Monroe Musings.

MONROE, Oregon, February 23, 1885.

There has another of Oregon's pioneers left us for other climes, in the person of Jessie Starr, who died February 20th, at the residence of R. Belknap, at the good old age of 90. Mr. Starr was amongst the early settlers of Benton county.

Dr. J. I. Taylor has been very low but is gaining strength again slowly.

For the proverbial healthfulness of Oregon there is considerable sickness in the country, but then it is principally amongst the aged.

DATA.

MARRIED.

WELLS—MAYS. At the Summit, this county, February 21, 1885, Mr. Vineyard Wells and Miss Ida Mays.

The State Census.

The laws of the state of Oregon require a census be taken every ten years. This law was enacted in pursuance of the mandate of the constitution declaring that "the legislative assembly shall, in the year 1885, and every tenth year thereafter, cause an enumeration to be made of the population of the state." Under this provision the state census falls midway between the censuses taken by the United States, which gives us an enumeration every five years. Hitherto, however, the state censuses have been very imperfectly taken. We ought this year to strive for a better result.

The law places the work in the hands of the assessors of the several counties. They are required, at the time of assessing their respective counties, "to take an enumeration of the inhabitants and the industrial products of the same." But the schedule of "industrial products" which the law requires to be filled out includes only the products of agriculture, No special compensation is provided for doing this census work though of course the amount which the assessors will receive through per diem compensation will be increased.

We have had two of these censuses heretofore, but neither of them has been thorough enough to be of real value. The census is not a specialty, but only an incident, of the assessment. It is not, therefore, kept in view by the assessors as a leading object. Yet it should be; and assessors may properly be reminded of the duty.

The older and greater states are gradually increasing the scope of their census work from the mere enumeration of the inhabitants required by their constitutions to the procurement of minute statistical information similar in variety and character to that covered by the national census. The ground of this is the perception that such information is of invaluable assistance to home interests. Perception of the same fact here ought to lead to a careful and complete "enumeration of the inhabitants and industrial pursuits" of our state.—Oregonian.

AN IMPORTANT LAW.

House bill No. 66, introduced by Speaker Keady, of this county, and which passed both branches of the legislature and approved by the Governor. The full text of the bill as finally passed will be read with interest by all. It is as follows:

An Act to Regulate the Sale of Spirituous, Malt and Vinous Liquors.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

SECTION 1. That no person shall be permitted to sell, spiritous, malt or vinous liquors in this state in quantities less than one gallon without having first obtained a license from the county court of the proper county for that purpose.

SEC. 2. Every person obtaining a license to sell spirituous, malt and vinous liquors shall pay into the treasury of the county granting such license the sum of three hundred dollars per annum, and in the same proportion for a less period; or two hundred dollars per annum, and in the same proportion for a less period for a license to sell malt liquors only; provided, that no license shall be granted for a less period than six months.

SEC. 3. Every person applying for a license to sell spiritous, malt and vinous liquors, before receiving the same, shall execute to such county a bond in the penal sum of one thousand dollars, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by such court, conditioned that he will keep an orderly house, and that he will not permit any unlawful gaming or riotous conduct in or about his house, and that he will not open or permit to be opened, his place of business for the purpose of traffic on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday; that he will not give, sell or supply spirituous, malt or vinous liquors to minors or habitual drunkards, nor to any person at the time in a drunken or intoxicated condition; and in case of a violation of the foregoing conditions, by any person giving such bond, he shall be liable to pay a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars for any such violation, to be recovered in a civil action as hereinafter prescribed, and the bond so given as aforesaid by such person shall also be liable to be prosecuted as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. That any person wishing to sell spirituous, malt or vinous liquors, before obtaining a license, as hereinafter provided, shall at his own trouble and expense obtain the signatures of an actual majority of the whole number of legal voters of the precinct in which he may wish to sell such spirituous, malt or vinous liquors, to a petition to said county court praying that said license be granted; and no applicant shall be deemed to have a majority of the legal voters of such precinct whose petition does not contain the names of a number of legal voters of such precinct equal to a majority of all the votes in such precinct at the last preceding general election and greater than the whole number of names of legal voters of such precinct which may be signed to any remonstrance against the granting of any such license.

SEC. 5. That when the signatures of an actual majority of the whole number of legal voters have been obtained, to be determined as provided in the preceeding section, the applicant shall at his own expense cause the said petition to be published for four consecutive weeks in any daily or weekly newspaper published in said county, together with notice of the day upon which he will apply to the county court for such license to sell spirituous, malt or vinous liquors; provided, that if there be no daily or weekly newspaper published in said county, then the petition and notice herein specified shall be plainly written and posted in three of the most public places in such precinct, and proof of such posting shall be made by the affidavit of one of the petitioners and two resident householders of the precinct.

SEC. 6. On the applicant producing to the county court the receipt of the county treasurer for the payment of the sum hereinbefore prescribed, and proof of compliance of all the preceding provisions of this act, the county court shall give him a license of the character and for the term his receipt may call for.

SEC. 7. It is hereby made the duty of the prosecuting attorney, sheriffs, constables and justices of the peace, knowing of any violation of the provisions of this act, to make complaint thereof to the grand jury at the next term of the circuit court of the county in which the offense may have been committed, after said violation; and the moneys collected on such judgment, except taxable costs, shall be paid to the treasurer of the proper county, for the use of the common schools therein. It shall also be duty of the county clerk to prosecute the bond given by such applicant, under the provisions of this act, for any violations of its conditions.

SEC. 8. Every county clerk, shall on the first day of the term of each circuit court, deliver to the grand jury an accurate list of all persons holding licenses under the provisions of this act, within the county, which list shall show the date and time of expiration of each license.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the grand jury, at each and every term of the circuit court in any county of this state, to make a strict inquiry, and return bills of indictment against every person violating any of the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 10, That title 1 of chapter 31 of the miscellaneous laws of Oregon, and all other acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.
