Decoration Day.

Last Saturday at 11 o'clock a. m., the business houses of the city closed, and many of the citizens followed Ellsworth Post, No. 19, G. A. R., headed by the Corvallis Cornet Band, to Crystal Lake cemetery, where the Post decorated the graves of their departed comrades with bright flowers, and impressive ceremony. The day was fine and all felt well paid for their trouble. On returning to their hall the Post passed some resolutions and vote of thanks, and adjourned till evening, when an impromptu entertainment was given at the city hall. The exercises consisted of music by the glee club and band; reading that vicinity. the beautiful poem, "Cover them over with beautiful flowers," by W. E. Paul; by special request, Miss Bertha Neugass recited the poem "Absalom," and did remarkably well; reading, "The return of the Hillside Legion," by Miss Jessie Samuels; recitation by Miss Millie Merrill, "You put no flowers on my papa's grave," memorial address, by F. M. Johnson; remarks by Judge Burnett, and the closing address by J. R. Baldwin.

For an impromptu affair, it was the most entertaining ever given in Corvallis. At the close of the exercises comrade Samuels paid a high tribute to the very large audience, and the young boys in particular for the very excellent order during the evening, which is a source of satisfaction to record. Ellsworth Post, No. 19, is justly encouraged at the success of the day, and will endeavor to make each succeeding 30th day of May more interesting than the proceeding one, and the people to see the importance of such an organization.

IndianoWar Volunteers.

From Col Kelsay we learn that much interest is being taken in his efforts to effect an organization of the Indian fighters. Major Bruce has interested himself with Col. Kelsay and together, with the assistance of some others, they expect to be able to effect a permanent organization by the time of the meeting of the State Fair, or possibly sooner. The nature of the organization will be something similar to that of the G. A. R., but this will of course be determined after a few preliminary meetings have been had and the matter discussed among themselves. The results from such an organization would be more beneficial than one would at first suppose. Aside from the social gatherings, camp-fires, reminiscences, renewal of acquaintance among the old verterans, it is evident that an organized effort would be more successful in securing from the government the $2,500 .-000, or more yet due the volunteers in Oregon and Washington Territory. Their service has been of as much importance to this country as any other branch of the service, and after having furnished their own horses have been very reluctantly paid. No land grants or pensions have been awarded the Oregon volunteers in acknowledgement of their services in the war of 1855 and 6. Col. Kelsay and those interested with him are to be commended on their efforts, and it is to be hoped they may be successful in organizing the Indian War Volunteers.

Lost Horse and Mule.

One sorrel horse fifteen and one half hands high with saddle marks, shod in front, about eight or nine years old; and one brown herse mule shod in front, reach main seen near Sol King's residence at Corvallis, Oregon. Any person giving information of the whereabouts of either of the above animals to Thos. Eglin, Corvallis, Oregon, or to the the undersigned at Philomath, will be liberally rewarded.

A DAY OF PLEASURE.

The Pireman's Picnic and Calico Social a

No better day could have been chose than Thursday of last week for the picnic The heavy rains of the first of the week had rendered the streets so muddy that for a time it was thought best to postpone the picnic, but on Tuesday a rift in the clouds inspired the doubting firemen with new courage, and it was decided to go ahead and trust to providence for a favorable day. The warm sun on Wednesday and by rolling Main street with a heavy roller put the track for contesting in a very good condition. Thursday dawned bright and beautiful, and in a few hours our streets were thronged with people; the Lebanon Fire Company alone responded to the invitation and joined us in our festivities.

About 10 o'clock Marshal Neugass and ssistant Buford, mounted on the latters of Young America's engine hall, headed by the Corvallis Cornet Band, then followed the cadets of the Agricultural College, with fire arms and in full uniform, the various fire companies of this city, and the Lebanon firemen. After marching to the court house with prayer by Rev. Joseph Emery, chapthe fire companies, and also justly commendable remarks on the Corvallis Fireman's t'offee Club. The forenoon exercises closed with a grand picnic dinner, given by a number of the ladies of the Coffee Club.

Both teams coupling on a strange hose lost the race by and better state of things. several seconds. The race was to run 150 yards and unrell 100 feet of hose. The Lebanon team ran well and it is said by S. L. Henderson has lately associated many made the fines, coupling ever witnessed. Their time was 272 seconds.

The foot racing was very interesting, and the laurels; Ed. Raying winning both races. This will very likely give some of our exchanges who take pleasure in taunting us us a lick." Right here we wish to say that Corvallis has many other and noble attractions of which she can justly boast, prominent among which are her social citizens Important improvements were recently who know how to treat visiting firemen, strangers, and in fact all ladies and gentlemen while in our city.

Visiting fivemen returned home well pleased with their visit and jubilent over their success, carrying with then the best wishes of the Corvallis 'iremen.

At Albany.

Last Tuesday evening a pleasant party of twenty-two of the active and honorary nembers of the Y. W. C. T. U. of this place, took their departure, their destination being Albany, to fulfill the acceptance of a most kind invitation to be present at one of their sociables.

After a brief ride we reached Albany and soon our entire party were congregated in the parlors of the Revere House, and met here by a delegation from the Albany Union, who escorted us to the pleasant residence of Mr. Mansfield, where we were cordially greeted by other members, and after partaking of a most excellent lunch we were first of the season, it would have brought at entertained with songs, orations, readings, short speeches, etc., until eleven o'clock when our party took their departure for home. We speak for all when we say we never spent a more pleasant evening anywhere, all seemed determined to make us enjoy our visit and they indeed succeeded. The entire trip makes a picture which we will hang up in galleries of our memories to be long looked at with pleasure and Carroll Mary E. 2 criticism on what a female writer in the Oregon Oracle said of the use of tobacco. The Leader asks the question of the young ladies, "do you wish to be a wall flower during youth, and pass your days as cld maids?" To the last part we would ask why not? That is a good rule, "of two evils chose the least." And now when women have equal educational advantages with men, they need have no time to be "wall flowers," (if we understand what that neans) during youth, and to be an educated and refined "old maid," which places her in a position of independence, is a far more desirable prospect than to be the wife of a dissipated man. The Leader denounces the use of alcohol, (all honor to it for that) but defends the use of tobacco. Surely every one knows tobacco is the cause of fine horses, formed the procession in front many diseases and often leads to the use of alcohol. This generation is laboring and suffering under that fearful curse intemperance, through the ignorance of ancestors. Think you if our maternal ancesstors had known how surely the slight dissipation of their husbands and fathers would have been square, the exercises of the day were opened transmitted to their posterity, multiplied and hundred fold, that they too would not lain. All the assaulting parties had been drinking heavily, which no doubt was the foundation of the whole trouble. Parties from Independence had, on the day previous to the attack, visited Coffee's barn and broke a number of windows in one of his houses, and his visit to Independence was for the purpose of ferreiting out the guilty parties. The fact that he displayed considerable money led many to think that an attempt was made to rob him. The parties have been all arrested by Sheriff Minto, and already lodged in jail. Disastrous Hop Sale.

The hop growers around Lebanon, thinking that a better price could be obtained by shipping to New York, forwarded their hops to that market. After holding for some time, it was found necessary to sell, as the bales were beginning to spoil on account of not being properly dried. Out of 20,000 pounds Dr. Alexander realized $250 over the freight and commission, leaving him near $2000 out for picking and other expenses. E. Kubler received $225 for 10. 000 pounds, leaving him behind some $800. So with the others. All these hop raisers could have engaged their hops at 25 cents per pound before they were picked, but they neld for a higher price and got almost nothing. Had the hops been sold at the least $25,000 to that community. As it is, it will hardly bring $2000 all told.
