INVENTIONS AND WAGES.

Some paper has started the silly question: "Do inventions decrease wages?" Certainly they do not. On the contrary, inventions increase wages, shorten the work day and decrease prices. In fact, inventions constitute the only possible way by which labor can be emancipated from drudgery, long hours and poor pay. Inventions are increasing every year, and wages are constantly advancing in all countries where they are utilized. Take calico as an example: There are persons now living who can remember when calico sold at 25 cents a yard. It now sells at 8 cents. This great reduction in price was effected by inventions. In the meantime, wages have in no case fallen, but have advanced very greatly. A day's wages will now buy as much calico as a week's wages would fifty years ago. Calico is selected as an example, but the same facts are true as regards other manufactures.

Any one, no matter whether a laborer, a loafer, or a capitalist, who talks against invention talks against one of the very greatest material blessings that has been vouchsafed to the world, and it is astounding that any person can be found who is so ignorant or so rash as to condemn them.—Scientific American.

THE STATISTICAL CRANK AGAIN.

A Frankfort mathematician, Dr. Bein, calculates that two men playing dominoes ten hours a day and making four moves a minute could continue 118,000,000 years without exhausting all the combinations of the game, the total number of which is 234,523,211,840.—London News.

POOR HUMANITY.

The common lot is one of sorrow— at least—the pessimists, they who look at the worst side. Certainly what would otherwise be a bright existence, is often shadowed by some ailment that overhangs it like a pall, obscuring perpetually the radiance that else would light the path. Such an ailment, and a very common one, is nervousness, or in other words, weakness of the nervous system, a condition only irremediable where sufficient or improper means are taken to relieve it. The concurrent experience of nervous people who have persistently used Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is, that it conquers entirely super-sensitiveness of the nerves, as well as disease—so called—which are invited and sustained by their chronic weakness. As the nerves gain stamina from the great tonic the trouble disappears. Use the Bitters for malaria, rheumatism, biliousness and kidney troubles.

THE LITTLE SOLDIER.

I. "When I'm big I'll be a soldier, That's what I will be; Eight for father, fight for mother, Over land and sea!" And before him on the table Stood in bright array All his little wooden soldiers, Ready for the fray. Then he charged his little canon, Singing out with glee, "When I'm big I'll be a soldier, That's what I will be!"

II. By the firelight sat the mother, Tears were in her heart, Thinking of the swift time coming When they two must part.

Soon the shadow fell between them, Soon the years flew by; He has left his little mother, Left her perhaps to die, All the laughter gone forever, All the sunshine fled; Only little mother praying By his empty bed.

III. Then there came a dreadful battle, And upon the plain Crept the little mother, seeking Some one 'mid the slain; But she never found her darling In the white moon gleam, For the little canon firing Woke her from her dream, All the while he stood beside her, Singing out with glee, "When I'm big I'll be a soldier, That's what I will be!"

R. L. Taylor, the barber, now shaves for 15 cents.

Scratched 28 Years.

Body covered with scales. Itching terrible. Suffering endless. No relief. Doctors and medicines fail. Speedily cured by Cuticura at a cost of $5.

Cured by Cuticura

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ringworm, psoriasis, etc. I took ... and ... Sarsaparilla over one year and a half, but no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them were three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. DENNIS DOWNING, Waterbury, Vt.

THEIR DECLARATION.

Below is given the "declaration of principles" of the Corvallis nationalist club lately organized:

"The principle of the brotherhood of humanity is one of the eternal truths that govern the world's progress, on lines which distinguish human nature from brute nature.

The principle of competition is simply the application of the animal law of the survival of the strongest and most cunning.

Therefore, so long as competition continues to be the ruling factor in our industrial system, the highest development of the individual cannot be reached, the loftiest aims of humanity cannot be realized.

No truth can avail unless practically applied. Therefore, those who seek the welfare of man must endeavor to suppress the system founded on the unreasonable principle of competition and put in its place another based on the nobler principle of association.

But in striving to apply this nobler and wiser principle to the complex conditions of modern life, we advocate no sudden or ill considered changes; we make no war upon individuals; we do not censure those who have accumulated immense fortunes simply by carrying to a logical end the false principles on which business is now based.

The combinations, trusts, and syndicates, of which the people at present complain, demonstrate the practicability of our basic principle of association. We merely seek to push this principle a little further and have all industries operated in the interest of all by the nation—the people organized—the organic unity of the whole people.

The present industrial system proves itself wrong by the immense wrongs it produces; it proves itself absurd by the immense waste of energy and material which is admitted to be its concomitant. Against this system we raise our protest; for the abolition of the slavery it has wrought and would perpetuate, we pledge our best efforts.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria, When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria, When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The G. A. R. encampment, which was to have been held in Eugene last Wednesday, has been postponed until March 12.

Children Cry for

CONCERNING A WOOLEN MILL.

Several weeks ago the board of trade of Corvallis received a letter from the proprietors of a woolen factory in Iowa, asking if any encouragement could be given to induce them to move their establishment to this city, also inquiring about the condition of things in general. This was answered in due time by the secretary wherein he stated, among other things, that, although Corvallis had no water power facilities just now, the question of bringing water into the city for such purposes was being discussed and might result in the construction of a canal. A second letter was received from them yesterday, and they wrote that they preferred to use steam as a power providing wood or coal was plenty, etc., and wanted to get where the water, that they would be compelled to use in cleaning the wool, was of the "soft" kind. An offer was made to send one of their men here to take in the situation providing his fare one way would be paid by the board. Very likely this will be done. It seems, though, that it is hardly necessary; for if such people could afford to view this state they could afford to go down into their own pockets to defray expenses in so doing. Albany's woolen factory is a "home" institution—just remember that.

To PORTLAND.—Parties desiring to get to Portland, can take the Oregon Pacific train to Albany, then take the U. P. boat which is now running daily to Fulcrum landing, and be transferred again to the narrow gauge and be taken to Portland. This news was received here Wednesday by telegram to W. A. Wells, the U. P. agent.

A NEW BRIDGE.—The county court has advertised to receive bids for the construction of a new bridge across Mary's river at this city. The bids are to be opened on March 5th, next.

WE'LL BE THERE.—At the Congregational church next Sunday the pastor will speak in the morning on, "The Bread of Life," and in the evening on "Newspapers and Christianity."

POSTPONED.—The district teachers' institute, which was to have convened in Albany on the 12th of March next, has been postponed to the 19th, 20th and 21st of March.

For fine poultry go to C. B. Wells, Philomath, Oregon.

BORN.

Near Philomath, on Friday, February 7th, 1890, to the wife of Wm. Bier, a son.

In Corvallis, on Sunday, February 9, 1890, at 7 a. m., to the wife of S. T. Jeffreys, a son.

In Corvallis, on Monday, February 10, 1890, at 7 a. m., to the wife of W. C. Corbett, a son.

Near Corvallis, on Tuesday, February 11, 1890, to the wife of Isaac Jackson, a son.

MARRIED.

In Corvallis, on Wednesday evening, February 12, 1890, at the residence of Wallace Baldwin; William Edwards and Miss Marie A. Baldwin, Rev. A. Rogers officiating.

The groom has been a resident of Corvallis for a few months past and is quite well known by her citizens. He is a first-class workman in the art of paper-hanging, and some of his skill is exhibited in the rooms of the newly-organized land company and also in the bank of Job brothers. It is his intention to soon go into business here for himself. His bride needs no introduction to the Corvallis people. The GAZETTE acknowledges the receipt of some very delicious wedding cake—the first in 1890. There were several nice presents given the happy couple, among which some were from the groom's mother now residing in the state of Kentucky.
