

BRIEF LOCALS.

A. O. Eckelson was in Corvallis last Friday on business.

Egan & Achison are selling monuments at Portland prices.

W. A. Wells and wife have been spending the week in Portland.

If you want a monument see Egan & Achison, of Albany, before purchasing.

M. M. Davis and wife, of Yaquina, were in Corvallis on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. A. Smith entertained a number of her friends at her residence Saturday evening.

Mr. John Mackay, of Washington, is in the city on a visit to his brother, Wm. Mackay.

For bargains in monuments, headstones, etc., go to Egan & Achison, Albany, Oregon.

WALL PAPER.—I have 50 rolls of wall paper that I will sell at 9 rolls for $1. E. Bond.

A. F. Peterson has secured the contract for the construction of Mrs. A. Smith's new residence.

Just received, the noblest line of one-half or low shoes to be found in the market. J. H. Harris.

French cream candies in all the popular forms and flavorings, nuts, fruits, cigars, etc., at Small & Son's.

Miss Leon Louis entertained a number of her friends at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Lee on Tuesday evening.

An exclusive agent for all of C. H. Fargo's shoes and also for Hamilton Brown Shoe Co.'s own make goods. J. H. Harris.

Orders have been received from the postmaster general that no postoffice shall be open on Sunday after 10 o'clock a. m.

Almost all the members of the Corvallis bar were in Salem this week attending cases before the supreme tribunal of the state.

Young men wanting suits can have them made to order with a guarantee fit. An endless variety of samples to select from at J. H. Harris.

J. A. Cauthorn has accepted the position of cashier in the White House. This house is adopting the system of first-class metropolitan establishments.

Small & Son manufacture their candies by the new process, the advantages of which enable them to make very low prices at retail as well as at wholesale.

The sale of Umatilla reservation lands began on April 1st. Very much of the land appears to be bringing a fair price. The sale will last at least forty days.

Egan & Achison handle the celebrated Portland cement walls for cemetery lots. These walls can be furnished at half the cost of any other and are far superior.

Rev. M. J. Ballantyne, of this city, is in attendance upon the eighth annual session of the Oregon Evangelical conference which convened in that city on Wednesday.

Coon & Underwood, of Albany, have purchased the photograph gallery of Pernot Bros., in this city. The new firm assumes the management of the business on April 10th.

O. R. Addison was in Corvallis on Sunday and Monday. He is enthusiastic relative to the growth of Portland, where he invested in considerable real estate some time ago.

Judge Pipes is sojourning at his home in this city during the interval which extends from the adjournment of court at Roseburg to the 13th when court convenes in this city.

Prof. Yates was in Albany Tuesday and Wednesday attending the Linn county teachers' institute. The professor was on the programme for the response to the address of welcome.

On Saturday last there were 357 inmates of the Oregon penitentiary, and if R. Robinson, the bogus newspaper agent, were where he ought to be the number of convicts would be 358.

E. Bond has just received a new line of paperies, (some very pretty designs) calling cards of all the new cuts, tablets, etc., etc., and will guarantee prices lower than any place in the city.

An alarm of fire was given Tuesday forenoon occasioned by a blaze issuing from the roof of a small building near the Exchange hotel. The fire department responded but their services were not required, the blaze having been extinguished at the time of their arrival.

Wheat tips the beam at 72 cents. That figure is this season's high-water mark of the local wheat market.

It is not always there is a nice young man calls upon a fine looking widow and finds to his utter dismay that he is "fooled." But that will happen to one April fool day in spite of all a body can do.

Some varieties of fruit trees are blossoming and the only fear is that the early bloom may share the fate of the late worm except that it may be caught by the late frost instead of the early bird.

Wednesday was the first of April and we were all day in hope that a few long deferred payments of subscription would come in and fool us, but the delinquents didn't think of observing the day in that way.

Weber & Son wish to inform the public that they are still in the business and are selling boots and shoes cheaper than ever. Special bargains in ladies' and misses' shoes. They mean business. Give them a call.

Wm. Hiatt, an employe of the Green Basin Lumbering Co., on Saturday, while removing the bark from a saw log accidentally struck his wrist with his ax and inflicted a severe wound, extending almost through the limb.

Services at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning and evening at 11 and 7:30. Dr. Thompson will exchange pulpits with Rev. E. R. Pritchard of Albany. It is hoped that Mr. Pritchard will sing a solo in the evening.

J. M. Forsythe, carriage manufacturer of Salem, was in Corvallis this week with a view of establishing an agency in this city. A number of carriages and buggies of his manufacture are in use in this county, and have given good satisfaction.

The ladies of the Firemen's Coffee Club have decided to observe the anniversary of the organization, as is their custom. An excellent committee has been appointed to arrange for a fitting observance of the day—May 28th.

August Schloeman has placed in position over the door of his restaurant a large lamp-globe of variously colored glass, which is intended to answer the purpose of a sign. Mr. Schloeman is also decorating the interior of his place of business.

J. F. Freeman, a wealthy gentleman of New York, and wife and daughter, were guests of our townsman, Kit Abbey, during the past week. Wm. M. Hoag accompanied this gentleman and a number of others on a visit to the bay, on Sunday, by special train.

Cam. Hemphill desires us to charge the public to look out for astonishing attractions at Job's Theatre about May 1st. Cam. did not inform the reporter what would occur, but surely something is going to happen at or about that time. Don't forget the date.

Z. Job, Dr. Davis, of Yaquina and M. H. Kreibel were out to the O. P. front the first of the week to look after their lumbering interest in that locality and to arrange to start the mills. These gentlemen report considerable snow in the vicinity of the end of the track.

A. M. Reeves, principal of the Philomath public school, called on Monday and treated this office to a quantity of fresh grapes which had retained all the qualities they possessed when taken from the vines last fall. They were in every way as desirable as the new fruit.

John Powell's team undertook to run away with a wagon in this city on Monday, but one of the horses plunged into a mudhole and he was unable to rise before the velocity of the vehicle overtook him. He was thrown upon his side, and the team was caught before they could resume their wild career.

The Young Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church gave a conversational social at Job's Theatre on Wednesday evening. It was largely attended, and a splendid literary and musical programme was presented. The refreshments could not be surpassed, and the event was a grand success both socially and financially.

Caroline Gage and Keene's dramatic company appeared at Job's Theatre Friday and Saturday evenings, in "The Galley Slave," and "Damon and Pythias." If the players were disappointed in their audience the latter were rather enthusiastic in their appreciation of the players. The company is one which may be commended to the public.

EASTER SERVICES.

Easter songs were sung and Easter festivities were observed in all or nearly all our churches last Sabbath. The Episcopal, Congregational and Presbyterian churches held special services and decorated their churches with vines and plants, and flowers in a most tasteful and attractive manner. The music was appropriate and most excellent in all the churches, and large congregations joined in observing this most important event and day in the world's history.

In addition to the beautiful decorations at the Presbyterian church were the birds, whose cages were suspended from the electric wires. During the service these sweet songsters gave the most charming music, without the least mistake or discord and at times their shrill voices thrilled the ears and hearts of all present.

The decorations at the Congregational church were very tastefully arranged and the service which was rendered by the Sabbath school was very interesting.

The congregations at the Presbyterian church were exceedingly large during the whole day and in the evening there was not even standing room for many who came a little late and could not get seats.

The morning music was very carefully selected and prepared by Mrs. F. M. Johnson, who, with a most excellent choir rendered it admirably. The Arion Orchestra were assisted in the evening by Mr. Needham, the musical director of the Gage-Keen Co. This gentleman played an organ prelude which was both charming and classical.

Dr. J. B. Wells, the leader of the evening choir was on time with some grand selections of anthems and hymns which the large audience greatly enjoyed and joined with the choir in singing. The pieces played by the orchestra were charmingly rendered and "Hurry's" horn seemed to know that it was Easter and was in perfect tune. At the close of the service Mrs. Dr. Wells gave an organ postlude which was one of the choicest performances of the whole service.

Dr. Thompson's sermons were in keeping with the great theme of the "Resurrection" and were most thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by all.

It is safe to say that in no place in the valley was Easter more generally and appropriately observed than in Corvallis.

A few months ago B. R. Pendleton, of Rontou, Ill., sent for a sample copy of the GAZETTE. Upon receipt of the paper he subscribed for six months, and by the time his subscription expired he had decided to come to Oregon and make his home in this state, and he arrived in Corvallis a few days ago. He made this office a pleasant call on Wednesday and informed us that he intended to purchase a farm in this locality. He is at present the guest of Judge Bryson.

Mrs. Spaulding and three sons started for Prescott, Arizona, on Monday. This move is taken in the belief that Arthur's health will be benefited, a hope in which this community earnestly joins the family. Arthur Spaulding served this city well as recorder, and has done much acceptable work in the printing offices of Corvallis, and we heartily commend him and his family to any community in which they may cast their lot.

At a gathering in King's valley a young man, partially intoxicated, named F. Simpson, kicked the church door open during prayers and he was subsequently fined $20 and costs. Although this is the first instance on record in which alcohol has incited a person to force a door in order to gain admission to the sanctuary of prayer, it may be looked upon as a strong point for the anti-prohis.

Although it is rather early for the seaward exodus to begin, a few of our people are drifting in that direction. Among those who recently went to the bay was a charming young lady of the valley, and the friends of El. Crystal observed that he abruptly came to the conclusion that he required the invigorating influence of the sea breeze. There is no doubt that something ails Mr. Crystal.

M. A. Beach, who farms across the river, brought to this city on Wednesday the first Oregon radishes of the season. Were the prices to justify an extra amount of attention, a large variety of vegetables could be raised here and placed upon the market much earlier than is usual.

WHY THESE SHIPMENTS?—Yesterday there arrived in this city per rail and steamer from San Francisco an immense amount of garden produce, principally cabbage and celery. This ought to be an unusual occurrence but it is not. No state is better adapted to the growth of many varieties of the vegetables brought from California, than Oregon. Then why these shipments? Perhaps the best reason is that not many of us are skilled in the growth of vegetables, and a large proportion of those who are, and have had the painstaking industry necessary to success in this business, have accumulated sufficient means to permit them to engage in a more inviting pursuit. The old story of the ease with which, until late years, the Oregonian obtained a comfortable living, is at the bottom of the non-production of a variety of vegetables to supply the local market the year around. Here is a fruitful field of industry for the eastern or California gardener who has a good knowledge of his business, is industrious and, of course, frugal.

Having assumed the burden of building me a little house in Corvallis, I have incurred necessary expenses that must be met and I have made special reductions for the next 20 days in order to meet the expenses. Now what you see in other columns is not mere chaff, but facts that will be verified when you come to inspect the stock and get prices. E. BOND.

FOR SALE.—One hundred and sixty acres of land three and one-half miles west of Albany, near the Oregon Pacific railroad, 100 acres in cultivation. Average yield of crop last year was 42 bushels to the acre. Enquire at this office.
