A GALA DAY IN CORVALLIS.

ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL CELEBRATIONS EVER HELD IN THIS CITY.

The Fourth of July celebration that was held here last Saturday, was, without doubt, one of the most successful ever held in this county. The visiting populace were estimated at between five and six thousand, which is a very low estimate, and the fact that Newport and Eugene celebrated cut but little figure in the proceedings at this place, for there were as many here as could find accommodation, but none were obliged to go hungry for want of being able to obtain food, as was the case in many other places in the state. The day was ushered in by the usual salute of guns, which echoed and re-echoed far and near, awaking the slumberers to the fact that a day of jollification and celebrating was at hand.

As early as 9 a. m. the streets were filled with wagons and carriages from the country, and every hotel was filled with people as were all the stables with horses, who had come from all parts of the county to help celebrate with as much interest and patriotism as if for the first time, the one hundred and fifteenth anniversary of the declaration of independence. But this day, though old, is always new, and brings with it new and interesting features every year, and it will continue for generation after generation to be celebrated as it has been in the past; the only difference being that its coming shall be greeted with more elaborate and grand preparations with the advancement of time. Parents teach their children to commemorate this day that was established by sacrificing the lives of thousands of brave men, and never before was there such a universal determination on the part of those present to pass an enjoyable day as there was Saturday. Flags were to be seen in nearly every block that had been unfurled to the breezes, and the business houses on Main street were profusely decorated with red, white and blue.

The parade formed at 10 a. m., and though not as lengthy as it has been on former occasions, was pronounced by many to be as handsome as ever passed through the streets of this city. The procession was headed by the Monmouth cornet band, which furnished excellent music and plenty of it. Following them came the two cars, each were drawn by four horses; the first containing four young ladies, representing the goddess of liberty, the District of Columbia, peace and plenty, and two little boys in uniform who represented the army and navy. The second car contained fifty-two little girls, each representing a state or territory, all dressed in white and resembling each other to such an extent that it was difficult for mothers to recognize their children. Such a congregated body of innocents is seldom, if ever seen, except on such occasions as this. Then came forty little boys in uniform flag drill, which impressed many with the thought of the coming power represented in those boys, with their future yet before them. The veteran and exempt firemen had the Young America fire engine beautifully decorated and drawn by a number of boys. The hook and ladder boys and the hose teams followed these and formed a very conspicuous part in the procession, which, after marching over the route as had been previously mapped out, proceeded to the public square, where, in the cool shade of the maple trees, the people were royally entertained for two hours or more with orations, reading, singing, etc., after which two or three thousand gathered at the ball ground to witness the game of ball between the Bentons and a club which had been selected for the occasion and was composed of young men of this city. The game was for a purse of $20 and was won by the Bentons. The afternoon was spent in racing of various kinds which created much excitement and amusement until evening, when the beautiful display of fire-works occupied the attention of the people until a late hour, when the crowd began to disperse—some going home and some to the ball, which was a very pleasant affair and kept going till Sunday morning. The fire-works were not as good as have been here on previous occasions, as some of the best pieces failed to light; but they were very good as it were.

In all, the celebration was a decided success, and many expressed a desire to have the committee make arrangements for the celebration here next year.

NOTES.

General good order prevailed. The Monmouth band is a "daisy." The officers of the day did excellent duty. It was just cool enough to be comfortable. Many wondered where the people all came from. The ball in the evening was a success in every way.

The business houses were closed a short time about noon.

Mr. Weatherford, of Albany, was erator of the day and did nobly.

The window in Stock's dry goods store was beautifully decorated.

Many were here from Albany and Independence and a few from Salem.

In the boys foot race Chas. Bohannan won first prize which was a suit of clothes given by S. L. Kline. The second prize, five pounds of candy, given by Small & Son of the Corvallis Candy Factory, was won by Preston Wood.

During the ball game a man lead his little boy up behind the catcher and stood there watching the game. He was warned several times of the risk he was taking but would not move. Finally a ball passed the catcher and hit the boy on the leg, almost breaking the little fellows leg.

HON. THOS. E. CAUTHORN.

Thos. E. Cauthorn was born in Mexico, Missouri, August 31, 1849, and died at the residence of his brother, W. L. Cauthorn, five miles west of Philomath, Sabbath afternoon, July 5, 1891, aged 41 years, 10 months and 4 days.

Mr. Cauthorn belonged to one of the noble pioneer families of Oregon. With his honored father and family he came to Oregon in 1865, was married to Miss Sarah Jefferys in 1870; formed a co-partnership in the mercantile business with his father in 1876, which continued with but little interruption with the exception of two years spent in what was then Washington Territory, until a few months ago.

The eminent fitness of Mr. Cauthorn to hold positions of trust and high responsibility was soon recognized by his fellow citizens and he was honored by the repeated election to the highest offices of city and county.

As a business man he enjoyed the confidence of those associated with him. As a citizen he always held the respect of the entire community.

He served eight years as senator from this county. In this capacity he was ever distinguished for his honesty of purpose, his firmness to his convictions and his loyalty to his constituents. In the legislature there were few senators who were held in higher esteem, or exerted a wider influence than Senator Cauthorn. He was repeatedly placed upon the most important committees, especially that of the committee on education. Here he was able to do the grand work in the legislature for the Agricultural College, which secured to Corvallis and Benton county its permanent location, and afterwards to place it on a sure foundation. This death causes a vacancy in the Board of Regents of the Agricultural college which it will not be easy for the governor to fill. Mr. Cauthorn has been an active member of this board from the beginning of the new college and most intimately connected with every detail of the institution.

His personal respect and influence in the senate enabled him to further the best interests of this county and the state and thereby rendered him one of the most useful and influential legislators. His public character and service invites the closest scrutiny for he ever guarded with zealous watchfulness and careful judgment every question of public interest. The private life of Mr. Cauthorn was no less marked in its integrity and honor as well followed by the tenderness, affection and fidelity of a dutiful son, a loving husband and a faithful father. Such a life as his was useful wherever he was, in private or public, at home or abroad.

But his earthly record is closed and he has gone to his blessed reward. He battled bravely and long with painful and dreaded disease and until he was compelled to yield did he give up the fight for life. But when he saw that it was God's will to call him home to the mansions above, he said: "Not my will but Thine be done;" and his last triumphant words were "I'm all right."

The bitterly bereaved family have universal sympathy in their deep sorrow.

There is one word that pronounces his simple but sublime and that is the word "Faithful." Faithful in all the surest and endearing relations of home, faithful in all the daily duties of a man and a citizen, faithful in the stern and stirring obligations of a servant and representative of the people, faithful in the law and loyalty and sacrifice he bore for our cherished college faithful everywhere and at all times. Let this be his epitaph. "Well done good and faithful servant enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Mr. Cauthorn was a member of Corvallis Lodge, A. F. A. M. and his funeral was conducted by the Masons. The services were held in the city hall which was very appropriately draped with symbols of mourning and festooned with flowers for the sad occasion. From one o'clock until three in the afternoon all the business houses in the city were closed and hundreds of the citizens of Benton county assembled to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of one whom they so highly esteemed. Quite a number of visiting Masons, from Albany, Eugene, and Roseburg were also present. The religious exercises at the hall were conducted by Dr. Thompson assisted by Rev. Dr. Bell, Atkins and Mr. Nash on the part of the Board of Regents. Throughout, the deepest sorrow was manifested by all and the warmest sympathy expressed for the bereaved family.

At the close of these impressive services the long procession headed by the Masons, followed by the college cadets, firemen, citizens and carriages repaired to the Crystal Lake cemetery where the solemn burial service of the Masons was read by Past Grand Master D. G. Clark, of Albany, and the mortal remains of the honored dead were left in their last resting place to sleep the dreamless sleep of death.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by Corvallis Lodge, No. 14, A. F. & A. M.:

To the W. M. wardens and members of Corvallis Lodge, No. 14, A. F. & A. M.: Brethren, again it becomes our sad duty to chronicle the death of one of our esteemed members. On July 5th the dread messenger Death, with ruthless tread entered our ranks and plucked from among us our beloved brother, Thos. E. Cauthorn, and left his place as a citizen, as a brother, as a father, as a husband, draped with sad emblems of human grief. Our hearts' desires, our most fond remembrance, our fraternal love for those we love, are unavailing when the gavel sounds the solemn notes of requiem, calling us to our celestial home in the city of our God.

As we meditate over our fraternal dead, our hearts are made sad, yet in this bereavement we remember that death is the invitation to a higher and grander life, and that it is decreed that all must die, and we must bow in humble submission to the decree of the Grand Master of heaven and earth, who through His divine providence does all things well; who has said, "And I will bring the blind by a way that they know not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known; I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them and not forsake them." In our sore afflictions and in the midst of our greatest sorrow, when the heart is throbbing with its greatest grief, we are not left without consolation. While death brings sadness, yet it is not all darkness, there are bright rays of light darting across the clouded skies of human life, blending into its rainbow of hope and promise during the rain of human sorrow. We fondly cherish the memory of our departed brother, ever remembering the deeds of love and errands of mercy. We offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Cauthorn this lodge has sustained a loss of an honorable Mason, the craft a true and faithful brother, the state and public a great benefactor whose public services will always be gratefully remembered, his family a loving and devoted father and husband.

Resolved, That we most affectionately sympathize with the bereaved family and relatives in this sad affliction, and offer up our most fervent prayers that He who cares for the sorrowing will sustain them in this, their heart stricken grief.

Resolved, That the craft wear the usual badge of sorrow, and that our hall be draped with its emblems of mourning.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy furnished to the family of the deceased, and one to each of the city papers for publication. Fraternal submission.

W. C. CRAWFORD,
E. HOLGATE,
THOMAS GRAHAM.

A DOCTOR'S REBUKE.

Immensely More Mischievous than is Generally Suspected.

Dr. King, the eminent medical writer, in a learned disquisition on our national complaint, constipation, says—

The great quantity of cathartic pills, etc., which are annually swallowed by the people of this country has been productive of immensely more mischief than is generally suspected. True, the physic unloads the bowels, but in so doing its action tends to diminish the tone of the intestines; so that, instead of removing the poisons, it aggravates it, leaving the bowels in a more torpid condition.

Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla was designed to all just such a contingency as the doctor's arrangement anticipates, viz: instead of being a powerful mineral purgative, it is a mild vegetable laxative, that, owing to its solvent and gentle stimulating properties, is so certain a relief in constipation that it has been given away to hundreds, not to be paid for unless it was of positive benefit. It replaces constipation almost immediately with a natural easy habit, and is so mild that, unlike drastic purgatives, it can be taken indefinitely with perfect freedom and safety.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the following statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs, she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued to use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this great Discovery at Thos. Graham's drugstore, large bottles 50 cts. and $1.00.

THE OREGON STATE FAIR.

The prospects for a good State Fair were never so flattering as they are this year. The premium list has been revised, and it many important points the prizes have been increased. The entries in the speed department are the largest and best in the history of the fair. The state fair is under the management of the State Board of Agriculture, and over $15,000 in cash is offered in premiums for exhibits of stock, poultry, agricultural products, fruit, etc., works of art and fancy work, and for trials of speed. The board is making every preparation for a great meeting. Many valuable improvements have been made, and the grounds have been cleared up and greatly beautified. Electric and horse-car lines now run from Salem to the grounds. All persons wishing a premium list for the fair of 1891, can obtain it by addressing J. T. Gregg, the secretary, at Portland, Oregon, or Geo. W. Watt, assistant secretary, at Salem. The fair begins on the 14th of September, and will last one week. CHANGES OF CLIMATE

Kill more people than is generally known. Particularly in this case in instances where the constitution is delicate, and among our immigrant population seeking new homes in those portions of the West, and where malarial and typhoid fevers prevail at certain seasons of the year. The best preparative for a change of climate, or of diet and water which that change necessitates, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only fortifies the system against malaria, a variable temperature, damp, and the debilitating effects of tropical heat, but is also the leading remedy for constipation, dyspepsia, liver complaint, bodily troubles specially apt to attack immigrants and visitors to regions near the equator, mariners and tourists. Whether used as a safeguard by sea voyagers, travelers by land, miners, or of agriculturists in newly populated districts, this fine specific has elicited the most favorable testimony.

A. F. Hershner will leave Saturday to attend the Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., which meets on the fifteenth of this month at Victoria, B. C. He is a delegate from Friendship Lodge, No. 14, this city.
