OBITUARY.—Lewis W. Gerard was born in Miami county, Ohio, March 16, 1823. He moved from Ohio to Indiana, and was there married in White county to Miss E. A. Penland. He served a term in the Union, and was wounded in the assault at Petersburg. From Indiana Mr. Gerard with his family removed to Michigan, where ten children were born to honor the home circle, nine of whom still survive. Eight of these (married) now reside in Michigan. On account of failing health Mr. Gerard, with his wife and one daughter came to Oregon last spring, and located for a time in Portland. They came to Corvallis about April 1st, where they have since resided. Mr. Gerard was an active member of the G. A. R., in which he took an earnest interest, and was also a member of the Methodist church. The bereaved wife and daughter have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

A UNIQUE MACHINERY HALL.—Another neat attraction at the great state fair at Salem this fall will be a machinery hall, which is no hall at all, but a large tent. The canvas is just like a circus tent, and is fully seventy feet in diameter. It is to be erected on the site of the old hall and will afford accommodation for a large and varied assortment of farm machinery. The agricultural society has not time before the fair—three weeks—to build such a machinery hall as it would like, and will make the tent do good service this fair. One of the proposed improvements for next year is the construction of a large building for the exhibition of machinery, etc. This year the dealers say they will make the tent display an attractive one.

THE WHEAT MARKET.—Wheat is strong at 86 cents per bushel to-day, with good prospects of an advance. The Albany Democrat stated that Saturday wheat was 80 cents in Corvallis and Salem, while at Albany it was 86 cents. This was a misrepresentation of the situation so far as Corvallis is concerned. The market opened here Saturday morning with 83 cents and before evening 85 cents was being offered. The conditions in the wheat market are flattering, but of course it is difficult to prognosticate the outcome. It is not wrong for the farmers to take advantage of the present prices, although one dollar may yet be obtained. Without a doubt better times are in store for the people of the Willamette valley.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.—There was a lively runaway on the streets yesterday afternoon. The four-horse team of John Smith's, driven by Charles Wheeler, became unmanageable near Ben Waldt's brewery, and two of the horses broke loose from the wagon, when the others dashed at a rapid speed down Main street. There was a rush and a flurry among the business men when they rushed to the scene, but the horses did no damage to speak of, for they were caught near Corvallis college, after circling several blocks. They were pretty well worn out with their exciting experience, however.

IN THE HOP FIELDS.—The Albany Herald has the following bit of news which may be of interest to the hop growing community: In the vicinity of Salem several hop growers have commenced picking, and by the first of next week hop picking will be in full blast. In spite of lice there will be the average crop. One grower flooded the lice all off the vines with water and then buried them. This was done several weeks ago and there are scarcely any lice to be found on his vines. Another had Chinamen to pull all the leaves off the vines early in the season. He did this on thirty acres and they are now ready for picking. He has but a few lice. It is the cleanest yard in the country. Where the lice are, in picking, growers find considerable mould.

SERMONIZING.—The editor of the Prineville News talks to his creditors in this way. He has never dealt with a business people like we have in Corvallis, else he would change the tone of his remarks. Hear his stentorian voice: In the 17th chapter of Proverbs and the 22d verse it reads: "A broken spirit drieth the bones." Already we feel our bones withering and becoming as brittle as Kansas corn-stalks, all because those who owe us will not cash up with commendable alacrity. This is not intended as a personal dun, but to serve as a general reminder that "whoever stappeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry and not be heard."

THE GAME LAW.—In answer to numerous inquiries as to the law protecting game birds, it can be stated that the season for shooting grouse, pheasants, quail, ducks, geese, etc., opens on Sept. 1st and not before. The season for shooting grouse and pheasants closes November 15th. There will be no legal shooting of Chinese pheasants this season, as the law protecting them does not expire till Nov. 15th, and thus protects them until after the close season for grouse and pheasants begin. The open season for ducks, geese and swan shooting lasts until March 1st.

MARRIED.—Mahony—Kittredge—in this city, August 27th, 1891, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wallace, Mr. W. H. Mahony and Miss Emma Kittredge, Rev. H. T. Satchell officiating, both of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Mahony will spend their honeymoon in Portland, after which they may make their future home in an Francisco, where Mr. Mahony has been offered a good position. Their numerous friends and acquaintances all join the GAZETTE in wishing them a world of unalloyed bliss and prosperity.

DIED.—Near Philomath, Oregon, Monday, August 24, 1891, Mary Connor, daughter of Rev. T. P. Connor, after a lingering illness with consumption for over a year. The funeral services occurred at Philomath, on Tuesday the 25th inst.

CONDEMNED.

Ammonia Baking Powder Must Go.

Bills have been introduced in the New York, Illinois and Minnesota Legislatures compelling the manufacturer of such baking powders to brand on the label in bold type, this powder "Contains ammonia." Physicians and chemists condemn the use of ammonia in baking powders as a crime. Its constant use no matter how small the quantity deranges the stomach, neutralizing the gastric juice and destroying the complexion. It is the small quantities taken every meal that do the mischief.

It is gratifying to know there are pure baking powders to be had on the market and at no greater cost to the consumer than some of these so-called "absolutely pure" ammonia powders.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, the standard pure cream of tartar powder for forty years. Free from the taint of either ammonia or alum. None so pure—None so wholesome.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

FARMERS ATTENTION.—To farmers who do regular banking business with us, depositing and drawing checks on us, we will be pleased to furnish them on reasonable terms, money to assist them in paying expenses of harvesting their crops and assisting their other business. Other kinds of business handled on same terms. The First National Bank, of Corvallis.

HOTEL TO LET.—A first-class hotel situated in an excellent locality and doing a business which pays from $3500 to $4000 per year to lease for a term of years. This is a good opportunity for some one. The furniture must be sold with the lease. Reasons for leasing, on account of poor health. Address "L. N." Gazette office, Corvallis, Oregon.

THE OREGON STATE FAIR.

The prospects for a good State Fair were never so flattering as they are this year. The premium list has been revised, and in many important points the prizes have been increased. The entries in the speed department are the largest and best in the history of the fair. The state fair is under the management of the State Board of Agriculture, and over $15,000 in cash is offered in premiums for exhibits of stock, poultry, agricultural products, fruit, etc., works of art and fancy work, and for trials of speed. The board is making every preparation for a great meeting. Many valuable improvements have been made, and the grounds have been cleared up and greatly beautified. Electric and horse-car lines now run from Salem to the grounds. All persons wishing a premium list for the fair of 1891, can obtain it by addressing J. T. Gregg, the secretary, at Portland, Oregon, or Geo. W. Watt, assistant secretary, at Salem. The fair begins on the 14th of September, and will last one week. Send for a premium list and prepare something for exhibition this year.

A Joke on Hermann.

"I once had a singular experience," he said, "while giving a performance at the house of the governor of Montevideo, in which I had the tables turned on me. During my performance I noticed three half-savage Patagonians standing aside from the rest of the company, and I at once determined to have some fun with them. From the nose of the first I took an orange, from the hair of the second I took a number of silver coins, and the third was overpowered with terror when I extracted a live rat from his nose. Uttering a cry of fright, the Patagonians withdrew. While receiving the congratulations of the guests on the success of the entertainment I discovered that my watch and chain, purse, eyeglasses, and handkerchief were missing. In a short time the Patagonians returned, and the one from whose nose the rat had been taken handed me the missing articles. He had picked my pocket at the moment he appeared to be overcome with fright."—New Haven Union.

MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.

The five stones erected to mark "Mason and Dixon's line" between Maryland and Pennsylvania, have just had their annual visitation by commissioners, who report one in good condition, one lost, one broken, one dislodged by mining operations, and the fifth, which bears on one side the arms of Pennsylvania, on the other those of Lord Baltimore, badly damaged by vandal relic-hunters.
