Serious Danger

Threatens every man, woman or child living in a region of country where fever and ague is prevalent, since the germs of malarial disease are inhaled from the air and are swallowed from the water of such a region. Medicinal safeguard is absolutely necessary to nullify this danger. As a means of fortifying and acclimating the system so as to be able to resist the malarial poison, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is incomparably the best and the most popular. Irregularities of the stomach, liver and bowels encourage malaria; but these are speedily rectified by the bitters. The functions of digestion and secretion are assisted by its use, and a vigorous as well as a regular condition of the system promoted by its use. Constitution and physique are thus defended against the inroads of malaria by this matchless preventive, which is also a certain and thorough remedy in the worst cases of intermittent and remittent fever.

AMMONIA AND ALUM IN BAKING POWDERS—HOW TO DETECT THEM.

In view of what the Minnesota senate has done, it is hoped that legislative bodies in other states will soon take up the question of food adulteration. The subjoined list of baking powders containing ammonia and alum, compiled from official reports and published in a recent number of the Scientific American, is given below. "It deals in a direct manner with an evil which must be cut down," said the Chicago Tribune in commenting on the Scientific American report. Following is the list of Ammonia and alum are the most common adulterants used in the manufacture of baking powders. The government report shows that a large percentage of the baking powders on the market contain either one or the other, or both of these pernicious drugs.

What woman would use an alum or ammonia baking powder, if she knew it? Such powders not only undermine the health, but ammonia gives the complexion a sallow or blotched appearance. The presence of alum or ammonia in baking powder, however, can easily be detected.

TO DETECT AMMONIA.—Mix one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder with one teaspoonful of water in a tin cup; boil thoroughly for a few moments, stir to prevent burning, and if ammonia is present you can smell it in the rising steam. Or, place the suspected powder top down on a hot stove for a minute or two, then take off the cover and smell.

TO DETECT ALUM.—Alum powder can be tested by putting a couple of teaspoonfuls of the powder in a glass of cold water. If no effervescence, that is bubbling or simmering, takes place, condemn the powder and return it at once.

Some powders, however, like the "Calumet," "Bon Bon," "Chicago Yeast," etc., contain phosphates in combination with alum, and with these brands the following test is simple and sure:

Take one-half teaspoonful of baking powder in lid of say half pound can; clear thoroughly over a strong alcohol flame, a good gas jet, or red hot coals. After charring (that is burning until the whole mass is black) add a teaspoonful of water and place a bright silver coin in the solution. Stir for one minute, then take out the silver. If the coin prove a cream of tartar powder the coin will be bright; if an alum powder it will have sulphur stains.

Now pour a little vinegar into the lid and smell the fumes. Alum gives off sulphuretted hydrogen which may be detected by its foul odor.

LOCAL NOTES.

Don't miss it! What? The play at the opera house next Thursday evening.

Many of our citizens are at the metropolis this week attending the Exposition.

Everybody is going to see "The Burglar" at the opera house Thursday evening.

John A. Hall is now prepared to turnish brick, sand and stone to contractors of parties building. See his advertisement in another column.

Mrs. Martha Avery and Mrs. P. Avery, accompanied by her daughter Ester, left last Monday for California, where they expect to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLagan and Mrs. Tucker and two children, after an absence of five years in Crook county, have returned to Corvallis and will make this place their future home.

Dr. Chapman, of Oakland, California; Dr. Landon, of Portland, and Dr. Thompson of this city, have been appointed to deliver addresses at the Synod of Oregon at Grants Pass next week.

The rain of the present week will be welcomed by the majority of the farmers of Benton county. It has moistened the soil so that many of our farmers will soon be at work on their fall plowing in dead earnest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Martin, of Salem, have been spending a few days in Corvallis visiting their daughter Maud, who is attending the Agricultural College. Mr. Martin is very much pleased with Corvallis and its surroundings.

The Presbytery of the Willamette meets at Eugene next Monday evening and the Synod of Oregon at Grants Pass on the Thursday following. Dr. Thompson and an elder from the Presbyterian church of this city expect to attend these meetings.

Services at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Young People's meeting at 6:15 p. m. At the close of a short sermon in the morning there will be communion service and reception of members. Topic in the evening, "Proth and Loss." A welcome to all.

Albany advertises a few score of commodious residences cheap for rent or for sale. There is not a vacant house to be had in Corvallis to-day, and every available carpenter finds all the work he can do on the new buildings now in course of construction. New residences are being put up in every portion of our city.

Boyd Kennedy, of Philomath, was bound over in the sum of $100 to appear before the grand jury, in Justice Carlie's court last Saturday. One day last week he had a quarrel with Chas. Allen and for revenge he took a bit off of Mr. Allen's wagon, but fortunately the miscreant's deed was discovered just in time to prevent an accident.

A. G. H. Overn, of Monkata, Minn., offers to furnish $7000 if the people of Silverton will furnish $7000 more, and put up a first-class fruit cannery. Mr. Overn is a man of capital, understands a cannery and means business. Mr. Overn can find a profitable investment for his money here in Corvallis, if the people of Silverton cannot accommodate him.

W. G. Lane was seriously injured last Saturday at the sawmill. While seating himself on a lumber wagon the horses suddenly started, causing him to lose his balance and fall, striking the back of his head on the ground in such a manner as to injure the spinal cord. The hind wheels of the wagon also passed over his body, causing additional injuries. Under the careful treatment of Dr. Altman he will come out all right.

The first story of the carriage factory is up and the timbers for the second and third stories and a portion of those for the fourth story are already for priming. As nearly all the lumber and material is now on the ground the work will progress very rapidly in the future. It is expected, providing the rain does not interfere with work, to complete one story a week. All the machinery has been ordered and will be ready for shipment as soon as the building is enclosed.
