BAD ECZEMA ON BABY

Head one Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cuticura.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bad form of eczema, when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily improve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we began using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyebrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his fingernails out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

Not So Bad After All.

E. V. Wood, of McKee's Rocks, Allegheny county, Pa., in speaking to a traveling man of Chamberlain's medicine said: I recommend them above all others. I have used them myself and know them to be reliable. I always guarantee them to my customers and have never had a bottle returned." Mr. Wood had hardly finished speaking, when a little girl came into the store with an empty bottle. It was labeled "Chamberlain's Pain Balm." The traveler was interested, as there was certainly a bottle coming back, but waited to hear what the little girl said. It was as follows: "Mamma wants another bottle of that medicine; she says it is the best medicine for rheumatism she ever used." 50 cent bottles for sale by T. Graham, druggist.

AROUND THE STATE.—"All the close counties in the state," said E. P. McCormick, secretary of the republican state central committee, to an Oregonian reporter, "give us good reports, and very little disaffection among the republicans is known. In fact the republicans are coming into line better this year than they did four years ago. Congressman Hermann will get a bigger majority in his district this year than he did at the last election, and W. R. Ellis will have a walk-over in his district. Ellis will have a larger majority than Hermann, for he has the district to do it with. Multnomah, Columbia and Clatsop counties will give him a majority of 5000 sure. Polk and Lane counties are said to be close this year, as are also Wallowa and Union counties, where a joint senator is to be elected, but there is no question in my mind but what the legislative tickets in all these counties will be elected."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TERRIBLE MINE DISASTER.—Last Tuesday afternoon a terrible gas explosion occurred in the slope of mine No. 2 of the Northern Pacific Coal company at Roslyn, Wash., in which the loss of life will reach to nearly fifty, exceeding in number that of any other disaster that has ever been chronicled in the northwest. The exact nature of the explosion and the causes which led to it are not known and probably never will be. Large relief forces are at work but all hope of finding any of the men alive has been abandoned. Roslyn mine is one of the largest on the coast, supplying the western division of the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, and has a capacity of 2000 tons per day. A sad feature of the disaster is that a large proportion of the victims leave large families, and as they have had only about two days work per week during the past year many of them are in straitened circumstances.

IN THE NICK OF TIME.

The nick of time to stop the course of bladder and kidney complaints is when the organs concerned exhibit a tendency to grow inactive. The healthful impulse toward activity that they receive from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rescues them from impending danger, and averts such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Sluggishness of the kidneys increases a liability to chronic rheumatism, gout and dropsy, and since the blood is filtered by these organs in its passage through them, the operation of the Bitters serves a doubly happy purpose. The medicine acts without exciting, like the fiery stimulants of commerce. Malarial, dyspeptic, constipated and nervous invalids are thoroughly relieved by it. Since the advent of that shocking malady, la grippe, it has been widely demonstrating its usefulness as a curative and preventive of it.

We have just received nearly four tons of paper at this office, including letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, and a fine line of typewriter paper. We believe this is the largest and best line of paper ever brought to Corvallis, and those wishing job printing or stationery will do well to give us a call. First-class work in all lines of job printing at reasonable prices.

The ladies are awakening to the fact that they can get as much enjoyment from bicycling as gentlemen can. FULL TEXT OF THE DECISION.

Judge Deady Orders Both Parties to Enter into a Stipulation.

It begins to look like the long and tedious litigation in the Oregon Pacific railroad case is about at an end, and that the road will soon be put on a solid financial footing again, as in the United States circuit court last Monday Judge Deady rendered a decision in the case of Lindley Smyth et al. vs. T. Edgenton Hogg et al. on the motion to issue an injunction to restrain defendants from receiving or assigning a certificate of the sale of the Oregon Pacific railroad and its property. The case was argued and submitted a week ago.

The following is the full text of Judge Deady's opinion and decision.

OPINION.

JUDGE DEADY:—On February 16, 1892, Lindley Smyth, George De B. Kiem and Joseph Warton, bondholders in the Oregon Pacific railway company filed a bill in this court against T. Egenton Hogg, Zephin Job, and William Mackay to enjoin them from transferring a certificate of sale of the road under a decree of the Benton county circuit court. Zephin Job was the bidder; Wm. Mackay was the sheriff. A restraining order was allowed, and order issued to show cause. Afterwards the order was set aside as to Mackay, the sheriff of the circuit court, and he was allowed to deliver the certificate if he saw proper to Zephin Job; but Job was restrained from disposing of it, or transferring it in any way. A few days since the parties showed cause, and the matter was heard.

The bill showed that the company was largely in debt, and on last October failed to pay its interest; that the Farmer's Loan & Trust Co. who held the mortgage against it as trustee for the bondholders, brought a suit to enforce the lien of the mortgage, and a decree was entered for the sale of the property, to be sold for not less than a million dollars. The bill alleges that there was an understanding between T. Egenton Hogg, the president of the company, and the bondholders represented by the committee of the bondholders, that the property should be bid in for their joint and mutual benefit, and that there should be a new company formed which should float the new bonds and retire the old ones and set the concern on its legs again. The material allegations of this bill are contained in the sixth clause, and are as follows:

Hogg answers the bill and files an affidavit denying utterly and absolutely having, or ever having had any such purpose; and there is nothing in the case from one end to the other to show that he had any such intention. There is an answer of Job to the effect that he bid off this property for himself, that he did not bid it off for the bondholders. In a further showing by Hogg and assented to by Job, it appears that he bid it off at the request of Hogg, Hogg being in New York and telegraphing him to bid it off and furnishing him the $25,000 with which to make the first payment. There was no particular explanation as to whom he bid it off for and whom he did not bid it off for; but really he bid it off for Hogg and bid it off as the agent of Hogg, and whatever purpose Hogg had in the matter ultimately was his purpose. As I said, there is no evidence in the case to show that Hogg ever threatened or had a purpose to leave these bondholders out in any reorganization or settlement of this matter, and that is the material allegation of this bill; without it there is no case. Hogg admits the arrangement made between the committee of the bondholders and himself as alleged in the bill, and is willing to carry it out. The vice in this arrangement was that they made no provision for the payment of the bid under this arrangement. The bondholders say that they understood that Hogg had negotations with foreign capitalists by which he was to obtain the money to pay this million dollars and other expenses incident to the sale, through his own means, by himself. But he denies this, and there is no proof of it; the proof is to the contrary; but they made this arrangement, went into this business, and made no provision for the payment of the bid. They admit that they made an arrangement to issue new bonds, to issue a new mortgage, a new company to be organized; but that could not be done until the bid was paid; that had to be done first, and it was overlooked altogether. It is not reasonable to expect that Hogg was going to pay this million dollars himself out of his own pocket for the benefit of these bondholders, and there is no proof that he agreed to do it; the proof stands to the contrary. Logically speaking, it ought to be dismissed. Hogg is not in fault any more than they are all in fault; they have made no provision for the payment of this bid, and the proceedings come to a stand-still unless Hogg will raise the money, or they will raise the money. All the circumstances considered, I have concluded to make a decree, which I think will do justice to these parties and facilitate a settlement of this matter, which I think is very desireable.

The following is the decree as finally settled by the judge.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, FOR THE DISTRICT OF OREGON.

Lindley Smyth, George D. B. Keim, Joseph Wharton, Plaintiffs, vs. T. Egenton Hogg, Zephin Job, William Mackay, Defendants.

This case was heard upon the bill of complaint and the answers thereto of the defendants, T. Egenton Hogg and Zephin Job, and the affidavits and exhibits filed herein by the respective parties on the motion for a provisional injunction against the defendants as prayed for in the bill; and was argued by Mr. William H. Calkins and Mr. John P. Fay, counsel for the complainants, and Mr. Earl C. Bronaugh and Mr. Paul R. Deady, counsel for the defendants, when the court took the same under advisement. And now at this day the court being fully advised in the premises does order and decree that the complainants may, within ten days from the date hereof, accept and sign the stipulation proposed to them by the defendants, the same being in the words and figures following, to-wit.

"In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Benton.

The Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. vs. The Oregon Pacific Railroad Co., et al.

Zephin Job, having purchased the property exposed for sale, pursuant to the decree of foreclosure in this case, for the sum of one million dollars ($1,000,000) of which he has paid on account to the sheriff of Benton county, $25,000 and the complainant herein having intimated a desire to open and set aside the said sale.

Now, therefore, it is agreed and stipulated by and between the complainant herein and the said Zephin Job that in consideration of the complainant refraining from moving to set aside the said sale, which it hereby stipulates to do, and in further consideration of the dismissal on May 2, 1892, of the suit now pending in the United States circuit court for the district of Oregon between Lindley Symth and others and the said Zephin Job and others, with the consent of the plaintiffs therein (which consent is simultaneously herewith agreed in writing by plaintiffs, to be given at said hearing on said day) and the withdrawal and termination of all litigation brought against the said Zephin Job, for the purpose of preventing the completion of said sale, he, the said Zephin Job, stipulates that thereupon, and if no other litigation is commenced, he will hold all the property purchased by him at the said sale and convey it to a new company to be formed for that purpose, which shall issue the securities provided for by the reorganization agreement, without any further modification than that he shall be at liberty to hypothecate the said property so purchased for such amount as may be necessary to provide the money to be required to complete his purchase ($1,000,000) and to pay all claims existing against the property at the time of its conveyance to the new company including the expenses connected with the sale and reorganization, together with interest thereon from the time the same is paid; the said Job or said new company also to be at liberty to hypothecate the said property as security for each additional sum, as may in the opinion of a majority of the reorganization committee, with the concurrence of the directors of the new company, be advisable for the purpose of paying any amount equitably due, forming a lien on any property of the company, purchasing steamships and other necessary equipment and extending the railroad, this additional sum, however, not to exceed $2,000,000; and that the said property shall be released from the lien of any such hypothecation as soon as a sufficient sum for that purpose can be obtained from the contemplated issue of bonds as provided for by the terms of the said reorganization agreement under the first mortgage for $10,000,000, with the following modifications, to-wit: After the words, "if no other litigation is commenced" insert the following, "by or on behalf of any bondholder or stockholder;" insert after the words "together with interest thereon from the time the same is paid," the following, "said sums for which such hypothecation is made be payable on or before two years from this date;" and in default thereof the said motion will be denied and the bill dismissed; and if the defendants do not also accept and sign said stipulation as modified herein with the time aforesaid, defendants will then be enjoined as prayed for in said bill until otherwise ordered by this court; and either party has leave after the expiration of time aforesaid, to move the court upon the footing of this decree for such relief as he may be entitled,

Signed, DEADY, J.

R. H. LAMSON, Clerk.

Endorsed and filed May 9, 1892.

MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Samuel McIlree, of Peoria, well-known in this city, who went to Portland on the 5th of April as a delegate to the republican state convention from Linn county, has been cleared up by the recovery of his body, which was found floating in the river near the foot of Jefferson street, Portland, Friday afternoon.

McIlree lived at the house of his brother-in-law, J. R. Campbell, during his stay in Portland, and the last time he was seen there was on the morning of the 9th. About twenty minutes after he left the house, an old man who was fishing near the old city water works thought he saw a man struggling in the water some distance below him. The man he thought he noticed was in all probability McIlree.

As McIlree's watch and $57.22 were found on his person, there is no suspicion of foul play. Mr. Campbell is satisfied that he committed suicide, as he has been subject to melancholy spells for some time. As he was a man in good circumstances, however, there is no reason why anything should have troubled him. The deceased was 45 years of age and single. He was a Mason in good standing, and also a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge of this city.

Coroner River held an inquest at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and the remains were shipped to Shedd for burial the same day.

Funeral services were conducted at the house of his bereaved brother and sister by Rev. Achieson, of Oakville church, last Sunday, May 8th, and numerous friends, comrades, companions and relatives were there to show sympathy and affection in their sad affliction.
