Which will ye have? It does seem as if some folks prefer to have the last condition of the liver rather than the first. They perpetually dose themselves with purgatives totally without virture as alerative of liver trouble. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the successful candidate for the people's choice. and yet, popular and well known as it is there are unfortunates who keep on trying the drastic remedies of former days. It is to the intelligent portion of the public that the well known and long tried properties of the Bitters appeal. Reason should be guided by experience, in the matter of mediention. "The best guide to our feet is the lamp of experience" said a great patriot of the early revolutionary period, and the ex clamation is pregnant with truth. For over third of a century the Bitters daily has met with the indorsement of people sufferng from liver complaint, malaria, constipaion, rheumatism, debility and troubles acompanied by dyspepsia. Latterly it has leclared itself and been thoroughly approved as a remedy for "la grippe."

Notwithstanding the number of new resi dences which have been built during the past season, the demand for houses is yet considerably in excess of the supply, and every day we hear inquiries for houses for rent. The boys are especially enthusiastic regarding their treatment by the officials of the railroad company, including the conductor of the train, also their host, Mr. Abbey, of the Bay View hotel, and the residents and visitors at Newport. Everybody seemed to vie with each other to make the affair pleasant for the band boys. At the meeting of the conneil held Wednesday evening, Joseph Kelley made an application for the position of engineer in putting in the sewerage and water system. The matter was referred to a committee composed of W. H. Hartless, B. R. Job and T. J. Creighton. Evidently, Mr. Kelley believes in getting in in time. THE SPECIAL ELECTION.

IT IN DECIDED THAT BONDS SHALL BE IS SUED FOR THE WATER WORKS, ELEC-TRIC LIGHTS AND SEWER-BRIDGE BONDS REJECTED.

This city held her special election last Monday and the much discussed question relative to the issuance of bonds for the purchase or construction of water works, for the purchase or construction of an electric light plant, sewer bonds and bonds for the building or assisting in building of a bridge scross the Willamette river at this city were submitted to the voters for their decision. A very light vote was polled, there being a total of 328 in the three wards. [Notwithstanding the small number of votes cast, a great deal of warm feeling was manifested, and it is now said that a number of votes were cast illegally, and that parties opposed to giving the council the power of issuing the bonds talk strongly of contesting the

We send out to our readers this week, in supplement form, a few pointers concerning the Oregon agricultural college. This supplement contains information regarding the aims of the institution, its scope, the expenses, the conditions? of admission, etc., which may be read profitably by all who are looking for some institution of this kind with a view of availing themselves of the best opportunity afforded. The ensuing school year begins the 15th of this month and the prospects were never brighter than at present. Prof. J. M. Bloss, the new president, has apparently infused new life into the institution and has introduced broader and better ideas in every branch. This is one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in the state and there is no good resson why it should not rank as one of the best. It has been located in Corvallis for more than thirty years, but during the greater portion of the time it was limited in its scope through being controlled by the M. E. church, south. A few years ago the state assumed control and this was followed by litigation by which the college has been greatly injured, but this is now fading into obscurity and public confi-

There seems to be one mistaken impression regarding this college prevailing in a number of sections, and that is that nothing is taught here except the science of agriculture. This should be corrected. As the name indicates, special advantages are afforded for this purpose, yet by reference to our supplement, one may see that the literary work is not inferior to that of any other institution of learning. A student may pursue the same course here that he would in any other college, and the graduate of this college comes forth well equipped

ALBANY OBJECTS.

On Monday last, the occasion being the special city election, a large number of small hand bills inscribed, "Albany has a bonded indebtedness of $75,000, 175 empty houses, and people leaving Ethe town daily" were distributed over the city, and naturally the Albany papers with great promptuess enter a vigorous kick at what they term the "Corvallis mossbacks." Under the caption, "Lying about Albany," the Herald protests in the following spirited style:

"The town of Corvallis held a special election Monday, on the question of bonding the city for the purpose of constructing water works, electric lights, sewers and a bridge. During the day some irresponsible parties scattered hand bills over town containing this contemptible lie: "Albany has a bonded indebtedness of $75,000, 175 empty houses, and people leaving the town daily." The authors of this colossal falsehood and their friends were in the minority, as all of the propositions but the bridge bonds were carried, although the mossbacks resorted to every means to prevent it. Corvallis might profitably imitate Albany's example in the matter of public improvements. The truth is there are scarcely any vacant houses in Albany, and the city's business is a steadily increasing quantity. It is gratifying to note by the vote cast at Corvallis that it is only a minority there who are such small-souled mossbacks. These bright intellects should be banished to Soap Creek and given a little . 49 corner all to themselves, where no improve-47 ment could disturb them, as they eke out . 55 their miserable existance in whittling up .. 40 goods boxes, swapping lies and loafing . 37 sweetly through the long summer days. 58 Enterprising Corvallis can do without

The Democrat, speaking on the . 44 same subject, uses the following vigorous . 83 language : "The most contemptible and biggest liars in Oregon live in Corvallis. 89 Yesterday a special election was held on tho question of bonding the city for four differ-61 ent purposes, towit: For water bonds, elec-69 tric light bonds, sewer bonds, and bridge bonds. A big fight was made against the bonds by the mossbacks of the city; and in . 37 order to help their cause they began flooding the city in the morning with flyers, which read as follows: "Albany has a For sewer bonds...... 39 | bonded indebtedness of $75,000, 175 empty Against " ...... 40 houses, and people leaving the town daily." onds. Mr. Obenauer, when taking his directory census recently, found just three vacant houses, so he informs the Democrat. Put your jealous feet, you Corvallis mossand is on the upgrade."

backs, on the fact that Albany is all right. In another issue the Albany Democrat says, "The Corvallis mossbacks stirred up a hornet's nest when they lied about the best city in the valley in order to defeat a righteous cause. The result shows that as a whole Corvallis is all right. The city was not to blame for the contemptible conductof a few antiquarians. Corvallis will grow and prosper regardless of such slow coaches.
