CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARONER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MACY, D. D., Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church, New York City.

CASTORIA cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eruption, Erysipelas, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARKER, M. D., "The Winthrop," 135th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

AN ENEMY BAFLED.

There is an enemy with whom thousands are familiar all their lives, because they are born with a tendency to biliousness. With this enemy they are constantly battling with ineffectual weapons. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will benefit it. Mere purgatives will not reform a disordered condition of the liver indicated, not by constipation alone, but by sick headaches, yellowness of the skin and eye balls, nausea, furred tongue and uneasiness, more particularly upon pressure on the right, upon the short ribs. Avoid drastic purgatives which gripe and weaken the intestines, and take this world famous anti-bilious cordial, which likewise removes malarial, stomachic and kidney complaints, rheumatism and nervousness. As a laxative of the bowels, painless but effectual, it improves appetite, sleep and the ability to digest, and possesses the additional advantage of a standard tonic.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

WOOD FOR SALE.

First-class oak and maple wood, dry, for sale at reasonable prices. Enquire of the City Dry Company. Leave order at A. Hodes' grocery store.

EQUALIZATION NOTICE.

Everybody, these days, strives for just and equal taxation. That is just and proper. Among all other schemes D. B. Irvin has just started in on one at the old stand next to Graham's & Wortham's drug store, where he will equalize the tax in boot and shoe bills, by manufacturing the most durable articles at the lowest living prices. He has had 30 years experience at the business, guarantees his work, and if an article he makes you, don't suit, you needn't take it. Call and see him when in need of anything in his line.

PNEUMONIA.

At no time in the history of the country has pneumonia been so prevalent as during the winter months of the last two years. In times past a common cold was not considered at all serious, but of late years the great tendency of colds to result in pneumonia has made people apprehensive. The trouble is that colds are not always properly treated. No preparation containing opium, wild cherry or chloroform should be used, as they have a tendency to dry up a cold, whereas it should be loosened and the lungs relieved. It has been observed that when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the cold never results in pneumonia. The reason is that this remedy stimulates the mucous membrane which lines the throat and lungs, to a healthy action, causes free expectoration, throwing off the poisonous matter, and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by T. Graham, druggist.

CORVALLIS ABROAD.

The Portland Review of Jan. 26th gives an account of a fine concert by the Portland college of music on Wednesday evening, and among others alludes to a Corvallis girl in the following terms: "Miss Canthorn in her solo showed a good mastery of the piano, her technique and touch being very good indeed; she is a most promising student."

You're through with Catarrh, finally and completely,--or you save $500 in cash. That's what is promised you, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing, by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Catarrh can be cured. Not with the poisonous, irritating snuffs and strong, caustic solutions, that simply palliate for a time, or perhaps, drive the disease to the lungs--but with Dr. Sage's Remedy.

The worst cases yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. "Cold in the Head," needs but a few applications. Catarrh of the Head, and all the effects of Catarrh in the Head--such as offensive breath, loss or impairment of the senses of taste, smell and hearing, watering or weak eyes--are at once relieved and cured.

In thousands of cases, where everything else has failed, Dr. Sage's Remedy has produced perfect and permanent cures. That gives its proprietors faith to make the offer of the $500, or a cure. They mean to pay you, if they can't cure you.

THE AMERICAN WOMAN.

Marion Crawford is evidently utilizing his social opportunities during his present American visit for a study of American women, and in the next issue of "The Ladies' Home Journal" he will give the results of his observation and describe "The American Woman" as she appears to him after an absence of ten years; in what respects she has changed, and whether she has improved in her dress, manners and tendencies.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE FOLLY OF FOOLISHNESS.

The Yaquina fence Post would display some common sense and do the Bay county division scheme a merciful favor by lapsing into absolute silence instead of bellowing forth such rhapsodical vapors as last weeks issue contained. The citizens of eastern Benton are not a mass of slave-traders nor the county officials a gang of rapacious freebooters as the fence Post has a tendency to picture them. The probabilities are that had the western county scheme stood alone upon its merits, there would not have been any considerable opposition to it in eastern Benton. Circumstances well understood here would support this view of the case. It was the complication on the south, with which the Bay county scheme shared sympathy on the "you tickle me and I'll tickle you" basis, and which threatened to rob Benton county of her valued territory, which really seemed to rouse this people to take spirited action. It was then a matter of self-preservation. Public consideration of the Bay county division had been in a more perfumatory vein than hostile, until the Blaine county scheme began to flare up to formidable proportions, and then eastern Benton put in her protest. She could not afford to be hewed down on every side, and if it became necessary to antagonize the whole business in order to check the one injustice, why, thus be the flat. That's just about the size of it, and there is no use of going wild about a reasonable proposition.

IT LOOKS THAT WAY.

Under the heading "A Noticeable Fact" the Albany Democrat shoots pretty straight at the mark as follows: It is a fact that has been noticed several times, that whenever there is a good prospect of the Oregon Pacific doing something, the Oregonian particularly throws cold water on the Yaquina harbor. Just now the outlook is good and such an occurrence is noticed.

The Oregonian says a civil engineer has investigated the matter and reports that it would cost $30,000,000, to make a 25-foot channel at Yaquina. There is almost such a channel now, and the report is probably not true in any respect. In all probability it is manufactured for the occasion, in view of the present investigation taking place. The statement is a ridiculous one. It is undoubtedly true that Portland fights this improvement secretly in every manner possible.

The Oregonian has something to say about Capt Van Alstine; but we haven't any more space for the tiresome subject. He is in jail, and claims his G. A. R. badge is insulted because he is kept there. He was put in a dark cell for mean conduct. An effort is being made to get him out, but it will be under the condition that he leave town, when he would probably come to Albany or go to Eugene. Portland is as able to stand such a misfortune as we.--Democrat.

Dr. Robert Wilson and his wife reached his old home of the past and their new home for the future, Wednesday, and enjoyed a hearty greeting. By reference to card in another column it will be seen that the doctor enters the practice of his profession with Dr. Farrar.

The many friends of Mrs. Arnold, at this her childhood home, are pleased to hear of her agreeable situation at Baltimore, Md., where she is pursuing artistic vocal culture. Her sons Jack and Harry, too, are bending to their studies in different institutions of learning.

Portland Dispatch Thursday: Judge Fullerton has completed his business in department No 2 of the circuit court, and left for his home in South Oregon. He takes with him the commendation of the bar for his impartial administration of the law while on the bench here.

Miss Ida M. Stuart, of Albany, was wedded last Saturday evening to Mr. T. A. Edgar. The bride is the sister of C. J. Stuart the genial young railroad agent, well known in this city, and Mr. Edgar is employed as one of the managers of the encyclopedia Britannica enterprise of the Oregonian company.

The noble steed whose duty it is to haul the mail back and forth between the post-office and the depots, yesterday took a little spree of his own, doing some lively bucking, kicking and attempting to run, until the youth who drives him brought him up in his wild career by steering him into a fence. No damage.

The Bay country has been pretty well represented in Corvallis, Salem, and "way ports" during the week. Functionaries of that realm have come out to take a glance at various interests, including county division, federal appointment "solidification," Oregon Pacific railroad prospects, etc., and so forth. By the way, the Bay is blessed with as solid, intelligent and good looking a set of men as any section can trot out.

The Agassiz Scientific Society meets Wednesday, February 8th at 8 p. m., in the botanical laboratory of the Agricultural college. You are cordially invited to be present and take part in the proceedings. Members will bring specimens and present notes on literature and work of interest in their several departments of study. The principal paper of the evening will be by Mr. Chas. Pernot on "Smokeless Fuel."

Robert Zimmerman is in limbo in Polk county again. He worked for a farmer near Independence and borrowed his employer's shotgun, as he said "to take a few hours hunt." He didn't come back and it soon transpired that a watch and a razor were missing besides the shotgun. Search was instituted and the fugitive was traced to Albany, where he was caught and taken back to the scene of his misdemeanor.

The fire bell turned out an alarm again Monday, and as usual the department was en route to the scene of trouble in praise-worthy order. It proved to be only a burning flue in the residence of Mr. Stock, which was readily subdued without the aid of the fire companies. While it is well to be duly prompt and vigilant to keep the upper hand of the fiery demon; and to be called out by a dozen fruitless alarms to avert one calamitous fire, the expediency of ringing that fire bell over every trivial spark that appears in the city, is decidedly questionable. It dampens the ardor of the willing fire lads, and naturally trains their senses to indifference that may prove of mischievous consequence at some critical period.

If those exceedingly erudite and highly logical "editors" who make it a point to malign and falsify the Keeley institute, had the least information on the subject to which they address their poll-parrot babbling they would find no room in their intelligence for the assertions they are making. The fair-minded always investigate a subject they know nothing about before attacking it. Irresponsible columnists are generally that way by instinct and the less common sense they have the better equipped they are in their natural calling. With this class it is as useless to enter polemic discussion as it would be to attempt to beat intelligence into a green pumpkin by hammering it with a bologna sausage. It would be a pure waste of raw material.

PLEASURES OF "THE BEAUTIFUL."

The snow with all its uncomfortable features falls far short of chilling down the fervor of the average young blood or stifling his alacrity in the sport of snow-balling, and many a battle has been pitched the past few days upon streets and highways, about the school grounds, the campus and from nearly every corner. With this regard, too, the old adage, "men are but children of a larger growth" is frequently verified, for it has been a no uncommon sight to observe the profound of the professors, the sedate of ripper years, the thoughtful business man, the unbending aesthete, the muscular mechanic or what not, for the nonce stepping down from the pedestal of dignity to take a little dash in the fleecy turmoil in the most approved athletic style. Even the maidens--lads bless 'em--have not shrunk from the opportunity afforded to get in and give their "Chawleses"--"mean old things," a little of what their mothers used to give them a good deal of, to-wit: good clean faces, through the medium of "the beautiful snow." Among the many struggles to amuse a bystander, was a little set-to between Zephin Job, the banker, and F. M. Johnson, the lawyer, in front of the GAZETTE office yesterday morning, when they walloped each other in a bank of flying snow like two grizzlies in a bear fight and came out of the tussel resembling two walking avalanches in distress--if there ever was any such a glacial specimen. It is needless to add that as usual capital came out on top.

DEATH OF MRS. MCBEE.

Announcement of the death of "Grandma McBee" fell as a pall of sorrow upon many hearts in Corvallis, and vicinity on Friday last, the 27th ult. Elizabeth Milligan McBee was one of the ranks of those staunch and trustworthy pioneers to whom the citizen of to-day turns his eyes with pride and esteem for their faithful labors, their trials and deprivations endured while they laid the foundation for all the country now enjoys of expanding enterprise, of prosperity, of thrift and wealth, and of general intelligent advancement. Born in Maryland, March 8th, 1808, her death January 27th, 1893, placed her age at 84 years, 10 months and 19 days. She had lived in Ohio and Missouri, having been married in the former state to Wm. McBee, who died in this county in 1852. With her husband, she crossed the plains to Oregon in 1852, stopping about a year first in Marion county and later settling about eight miles south of this city in Benton county. Seven sons and three daughters were the heritage of her family altar, of whom three sons and two daughters are still living, of the estimable citizenship in this and adjoining counties. The deceased was a devoted Christian for years and died with a saintly trust as she had lived in the faith that had been to her a precious support in the trials of this world. Her memory is revered by all the large circle of relatives and acquaintances, who so well enjoyed while living.

So far the legislature has done nothing on the assessment question or the mortgage tax law. It begins to look as though the stereotyped program of staving off those matters, that has been the curse of this state for years, will again be made the role of the present body of law makers. There is no excuse for legislative jugglery, evasion or temporizing in this instance. Public opinion has spoken its sentiments boldly through petition and the masses look for square up remedial legislation in these interests that are paramount above all others. Just why there should be delay in the matter is a puzzle to the public; but in all the din of clamor for this county division question, or that "relief project," or some down-right job or other, the tax question has not the power to raise a respectable cheep. Why so?

At Alsea the other day, William Benner and his young son Willie were out shooting at a deer, when the boy's weapon accidentally went off and sent its contents into the elder Benner's right thigh. A powder flask in the man's pocket turned the course of the ball so that what might have proved a fatal shot, inflicted only a flesh wound.

Ladies wanting a sewing machine will do well to call at J. A. Knight's furniture store and examine his new style "Davis Sewing Machine."
