Protector McGuire is after the game slayers of the state as well as the fish mongers. Pive elk slaughterers of Lane county have n prosecuted and pleaded guilty to violating the law. The minumum fine is $50 and the maxium $250. They wantonly slaughtered the animals for their horns and will probably get the highest penalty.

Burdette Wolfe, the murderer of Birdie Morton, at Portland last fall, is reported in hiding near Marshfield, Coos county. A posse was out hunting him "armed to the teeth" at last accounts. Wolfe formerly resided in Marshfield and was known to be an estamable young man. But should he be lo-cated, his best friends would not hesitate in bringing him to justice. Receiver Hadley is credited with stating that the report to the effect that another steamer was about to be put on the line between Yaquina and San Francisco, was premature, and probably arose over inquiries made by the new management while in San Francisco regarding the availability of such a steamer in a supergraph business should steamer in case an increase in business should justify the chartering of a second steam

RIVER NOTES.

With the Hoag, the Bismark and the Messenger all plying on the river to and from this point steamboating is livelier this season than it has been for a number of The Hoag reached Corvallis the second time this week yesterday morning, bringing up a load of potatoes to go by way of Yaqaina to 'Frisco. She carries flour from the mills on her return trips.

The steamer Bismarck which has run between Corvallis and Salem for some time, has been sold to James Bennett. The boat will be refurnished and refitted throughout, and will be placed on the old run between Corvallis at once, connecting with the Elwood at Salem. She will have a time card out in the near future for the benefit of patrons. Captain Copley will have charge of the boat for the present.

The Messenger is still running between this place and points above. Wednesday evening she was tied up under an attachment sued out by the late on gineer who had been laid off. This matter was soon adjusted, however, but in the meantime Engineer Kemp was detained at the bed-side of er delayed pending the arrival of another engineer who had been sent for to Indepen-

It can be safely predicted that they will do the banner business of the season.

Considerable indignation has figured in many minds a day or two past regarding the heartless action of a butcher employe who while at the slaughter house got in a rage at the sheep he was handling and gouged out the eyes and tongues of several of the animals white alive. Witnesses described the act as brutally cruel. The case will probably be referred to the grand jury.

A team of horses hitched to a buckboard ereated something of a stir Wednesday eve-ning on the street near Eglin's stables by rearing and plunging until one of them got down and so badly cast, that both horses had to be unhitched before they could be straightened out upon their feet again. Dropping of the wagon tongue was what started the fuss. Damage nominal,

WOMAN'S WORK AT THE FAIR.

In a letter addressed to the women of Oregon, Mrs. Mary Payton, of Salem, commissioner of the woman's department, says her assistants are advancing the work as rap-idly as possible, and as the time for collecting the exhibit to be made at Chicago is limited all persons interested in making a creditable display in the line of the work of the Oregon women are urged to lend their asssistcles coming within this department are requested to place themselves at once in communication with Mrs. M. T. Train, of Albany, superintendent. The woman's exhibit at Chicago is intended to be an in spiration of woman's genius, showing the evolution and progress of woman's indus-tries from the earliest times to the present. It is desired that Oregon shall have a representative exhibit in this department, com-prising the work of women in the fine arts, household economy, books written by wo men, fine needle work, and fancy work, curios and rare specimens collected by wowen, and their work in all the varied occupations in which they are engaged. The commissioners of this department have already done much in this direction and have now ready for shipment many articles going to make up a creditable exhibit and they hope to be able, even at this late date, to secure a grand representation of women's work in Oregon in filling the spaces allotted in the different department buildings. CITY TAXPAYERS.

If the people of Corvallis who are opposed to the purchase of the old water works desire to prevent spid purchase they can do so if a number of tax payers of the town associate themselves together and join in a suit to prevent the councilmen from consummating the same and paying out the city's money therefor.

The legality of the city purchasing said works has been carefully looked into and found, beyond any question, that the charter of the city does not authorize the council to purchase a water plant of that kind. The charter of the city very wisely describes es what kind of water works the city is authorized to purchase which shows plainly that this old water works is not the kind authorized, and it is quite possible that if souncilmen press forward and make an unauthorized expenditure of the city's money for this water plant, that they may be personally liable to the city for the money thus wrongfully expended. There is no question of the tax payers being able to prevent the old works from being purchased if they have the snap to do so. The writer is willing to join with other tax payers to bring the suit, if others wish to join in doing so. We have no objection to the owners of the water works selling them for twice as much as offered to the city if they can, but I have serious objections as a tax payer of buying and having to help pay for them. As quite a number of people from time to time have asked me earnestly what could be done to prevent sail transaction, I take this method of informing them. M. S. WOODCOCK

A MINISTER'S SAD PLIGHT.

Rev. Howell, of whom mention has been made in the papers as having gotten into sad matrimonial complication-of having wife in Minnesota as well as the one he was living with until recently at Hood River, Wasco county, is now stopping with his kinsman, Milton Howell, near Monroe. He is not in hiding, but has sent statements of his whereabouts to California and Oragon papers: To a GAZETTE reporter Mr. Howell made a full statement of his case. He deeply feels the unhappy circumstances in which himself and family are placed, but maintains his innocence at heart and declares he meant no harm to any one. Avers that he had what he considered sufficient evidence that his former wife had secured a divorce-which in fact she had sued for but withdrew the suit on learning new facts which convinced her she was wrong; that he has letters advising him that the legal separation had been consummated which he will produce should he be brought to trial; and that a though he has acted as he now sees without the least consciousness of bad faith. Those acquainted with Mr. Howell his dying mother, the Messeager was furth- deeply commiserate his painful situation.

FECHTER.—On the morning of March 15th 1893, at the home of A. M. Witham, in this city, Hazel S., infant daughter of Will. D. and Olive M. Fechter, aged 7 months and 6 days.

Thursday, at 2 p. m. the funeral was conducted by Rev. H. Gould, assisted by Rev. W. C. Kantner. The little body was laid to rest in the Odd Fallows' cemetery; the sweet little spirit rests in the bosom of the Savior; the parents are in sorrow, but not without hope.

Tender Shepherd, thou hast stilled Now thy little lamb's brief weeping; Ah, how peaceful, pale, and mild In its narrow bed 'tis sleeping ! And no sigh of anguish sore Heaves that little bosom more, In this world of care and pain, Lord, thou wouldst no longer leave it; To the sunny, heavenly plain Clothed with robes of spotless white,
