Honey Lake Valley Land and Water Co.

EXPLANATION

THE BEAUTIFUL HONEY LAKE VALLEY CONTAINS A large area of fine level land, all ready for the plow, a well rounded and sheltered by mountains, and has a fine mild climate the year around. Honey Lake is a body of fresh water covering the hundred square miles. The N. O. R. R. will have recently been built into the Valley, and the Great Salt Lake Road through Beck with Pass will also cross it. The land is easily cultivated and produces extra large crops of wheat, corn, barley, hops, etc., alfalfa, sugar, apples, peaches, etc. Wood and water are plentiful and cheap. The land can be taken up with no trouble under the Desert Act, in tracts of 40 to 160 acres, by a man or woman, married or single. We are building a large Water System for the irrigation of this land. We want to get customers for the water we will have to sell, so we will give you a piece of it. The land will cost you $100 an acre to the Government, 25 cents down, and $10 in four years. The water (to perpetual right and good supply), will cost $100 an acre to the Company, $10 down and $50 on delivery to the land for its irrigation. All land offered is under the Desert Act as recently amended by Congress, must show a water supply left to be accepted. HONEY LAKE CITY, the town we are establishing, offers good chances for the establishment of new businesses, and is well worth investigating.

THESE LANDS CAN BE TAKEN UP WITHOUT RESIDENCE

Under the Desert Act, affording a chance for the speculator as well as the homeseeker.

EMPLOYMENT AT GOOD WAGES

For Men and Teams on the construction work, if you desire to make a home there

REMEMBER that these Lands are level, all ready for the plow, with rich soil, on railroad now built, and on line of another, building. Fuel is free, lumber cheap, and water plentiful. Good local as well as outside markets. The irrigation of these lands makes them immensely and immediately productive.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, May 8, 1893.

The finances of a nation, like the blood of an individual, cannot be trifled with without danger. Up to this time the administration has followed the conservative line laid down by its predecessor, and as a natural consequence, it has been supported by patriotic citizens, without regard to political affiliations, and danger has been averted. But now, if those who are claiming to represent the administration are telling the truth, it is meditating a change, and a very dangerous one at that. According to these men the president has determined, and in order to compel congress to unconditionally repeal the Sherman silver law, to so manipulate our finances as to create a popular fear of a panic, and then to charge it all to the operation of the Sherman law. This is a short sighted policy, and if it be really carried out it cannot fail to react with deadly consequences with its author. There are plenty of republicans in congress—Senator Sherman among them—who would be willing to vote to repeal the present silver law, but there is not one of them who will support a policy which will risk a financial panic in order to frighten congressmen into voting for its repeal.

It is well known now, and was equally well known when Mr. Cleveland was nominated, and elected upon a platform, which was interpreted to mean a gold basis for the gold men and free silver for the silver men, that his special hobby was the repeal of the silver law. It is also well known that he has refused patronage to those democratic senators who will not promise to vote for its repeal. But these things do not effect the country at large; therefore no one seriously objected. But the case is very different when it is proposed to adopt a course that may effect disastrously every person in the United States, as he will soon find out, if he persists in it.

Secretary Carlisle has made a personal investigation of the charges made by New York publications against the official integrity of assistant Secretary Spaulding, supervising special agent Tingle and General Tichenor, president of the board of general appraisers at the port of New York, and as a result authorized the publication of a statement affirming their innocence of the charges. The charge was that of undervaluing the importation of favored firms. As the officials mentioned are all hold-over republicans, their exoneration by Sec. Carlisle is highly creditable both to him and to them.

Senator Brice has been among the democrats "outside the breast-works" ever since the new administration began business. The other day the president, seemingly in a spirit of conciliation, asked Mr. Brice to name a good man for third auditor of the treasury. Mr. Brice submitted three names, either of which would have been satisfactory to him. Several days later, much to the senator's chagrin, the appointment was given to John C. Reilly, known to all Ohio people as a bitter personal enemy of Mr. Brice, making it appear that he had been asked to recommend a man for the place solely to be snubbed. Mr. Reilly declined the position, but that did not soften the open affront put upon Mr. Brice, who lately remarked significantly: "Even the man of longest credit has to face a day of settlement sometime."

The administration is delighted at its success in getting the re-assembling of the international monetary conference postponed from May 30th, to next November. It was afraid that if the conference came together again this spring it might really agree upon some plan for the increased use of silver as a money metal, which would have upset its plan for forcing congress to act as it wishes.

The appointment mill is again at work, but it is not turning out much grist for the patient waiters. A few foreign appointments, bureau chiefs, postmasters, etc., have fallen into eagerly outstretched hands, but a majority of them have made more enemies than friends for the appointing power, because of the failure to recognize the recommendation of men whose positions in the party are such as to entitle them to influence.

Work upon the administration tariff bill is not proceeding as smoothly as it was expected to do. Obstacles are appearing on every side, and their number is constantly increasing, have become so numerous in fact, that it is understood that the radical change has already been made in the plan upon which it was originally proposed to construct the bill.

A WAIL FROM A JAYHAWKER.

Backward, fly backward, O, train in your flight! Give me Kansas again, just for to-night. Call up the mosquitoes, the bedbugs and fleas; Tell them I'm coming, and call up a breeze. While you are about it do the thing nice. Give me a blizzard, and three feet of ice. Bring me an overcoat, a parasol and fan, And, before I forget it, I want a toboggan. I am so tired of nothing but rain! Give me, O, give me my Kansas again; Tired of having moss grow on my back; Tired of wet feet which no one can lack; Tired of trying to wake up again. Give me, O, give me my Kansas! Amen. Tired of the boils that grow on my pate—Getting acclimated—O, such a fate! I am so weary of clouds and of rain; Weary of trying to keep the house clean; Weary of seeing the mud they bring in; Weary of waiting for dry weather to begin; Weary, so weary of mud, mud, mud!—Take me to Kansas and give me a flood. Give me a rafter from the north-east; Give me a dugout and a watermelon feast; Give me excitement—it's all that I lack. Order the hack, muster, order the hack. Corvallis, Or., May 17, 1893. —ONYX.

"A LADY'S THOUGHTS"

WHILE WITNESSING JAMES J. CORBETT IN "GENTLEMAN JACK."

FIRST ACT. "Good heavens! Is it possible? How did that young fellow whip Sullivan?" "My! ! ! ! !"

SECOND ACT. "Can't not realize that James J. Corbett could cut such capers."

THIRD ACT. "Ah, ha! Did you hear that? Maybe there isn't fire in him when he is started. Now, wait."

FOURTH ACT. "Ah! Here he comes. That's the boy! Oh, my! Look at those arms. Oh! What punches. Whew! He's lightning. No wonder Sullivan was not in it."

FIFTH ACT. "Why, certainly. What else could you expect? Who would be in it with him? He's a wonder."

COMMENTS ON THE WAY HOME. "Well, Annie, what do you think of James J.?"

"Oh, well, he's just grand. Isn't he a perfect hero? Although I had read and heard so much about him, and still I somehow expected to see a big, brawny mau—a sort of, well—I don't know what; but he is so much different. Doesn't it seem swift to think of a man hitting so hard and swift? No wonder Sullivan went down. Why, Will, I don't see how he ever thought of facing such a fighter. Why, he is quite an actor, too."

Jas. J. Corbett, the champion of the world, supported by a capable company of actors, and gentlemen, will appear at the Albany opera house, Saturday evening, May 20th. Don't miss the opportunity of all time to see the man that has defeated all comers and whipped Sullivan.

He gives a very entertaining concert, according to all accounts.
