WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, July 3, '93.

It will be a long time before those familiar with the circumstances that led to the calling of the extra session of congress for August 7, instead of a month or more later, as had for months been intended, get through talking about how Cleveland's nerve went to pieces and he got thoroughly "rattled," some of his admirers say for the first time in his life. His friends have tried hard to smooth over the "break" by giving out interviews in which they state that for ten days Mr. Cleveland had been thinking of calling the extra session in August. That is simply rot; only the day before his proclamation was issued he told a personal friend who was trying to persuade him to call an immediate extra session that he had fully made up his mind not to call it until September.

What rattled him? Why, the avalanche of petitions from all sections and from all classes of citizens, asking that congress be called together at once, many of them telling him in polite but plain language that if he failed to do so he would by that failure assume personal responsibility for any further damage that might be done through the continued financial stringency. A majority of these petitions, which were as a rule forwarded by telegraph, mentioned the repeal of the Sherman silver law as the principal end sought, but many merely asked that congress be called together and given an opportunity to do something to restore public confidence. Added to these petitions were the opinions of the members of his cabinet, who had them selves been under the same sort of pressure, that August must be substituted for September, and in the language of one of them, "the old man got rattled and threw up the sponge, issued the proclamation and left for Buzzard's Bay before it was made public."

Republicans as a rule are glad that the extra session has at last been called. They have from the first been of the opinion that the sooner the democratic congress get together the better it would be for the country, as the worst possible legislation would not be any more disastrous than the dread and uncertainty of coming legislation which has pervaded business circles from the first day of the present administration, and with congress in session public opinion will have an opportunity to at least try to influence legislation.

There is a leaven of common sense at work among the democratic congressmen on the tariff question that later on may produce good results. One of them, who because he is not ready at this time to openly oppose the leaders of his party forbids the use of his name, said to me: "I shall gladly vote for the repeal of the Sherman silver law, because I have always been opposed to it, but I do not consider it the principal cause for our financial troubles. The fear of disturbances in the tariff has had much more to do with it, and I believe that if Mr. Cleveland would publicly state his intention to veto any tariff bill which cuts the present rates sufficiently to injure any American industry that within sixty days confidence would be completely restored and the country again prosperous." While it isn't certain that he will do so, there is a contingency in which this congressman will publicly state

HIGH LIVING, if you keep at it, is apt to tell upon the liver. The things to prevent this are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Take one of these little Pellets for a corrective or gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They're the smallest, easiest to take, pleasantest and most natural in the way they act. They do permanent good. Constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or your money is returned.

these views on the floor of the house.

Another political debt incurred during the campaign was settled by the appointment of J. F. Tillman, of Tenn., to be register of the treasury. Mr. Tillman was promised a good place if he would use his influence as secretary of the Tennessee Farmer's Alliance to head off the populists in that state and prevent their absorbing the alliance. The promise was made by Senator Gorman, but the "good place" was not forthcoming until almost a row was kicked up by Tillman and his friends. This is the position which Gen. Roosevelt was allowed to keep during the entire Harrison administration. His health compelled him to resign it a few weeks ago. Mr. Cleveland was either misrepresented or he broke his word in connection with this office, as he was reported to have said weeks ago that no one but an old soldier should have it. Mr. Tillman isn't an old soldier.

It is announced that the administration is determined that members of the Metropolitan police of this city who are drawing pensions shall either give up their pension or their positions as policemen. It has not yet, however, determined that the democratic member of the cabinet, the democratic senators and the democratic representatives who are drawing pensions shall give up their pensions or their offices. The pension pretensions of this administration are in line with its numerous other pretensions.

A Joliet, Ill. paper tells a little story that is very pertinent to the connection of the democratic party with the present condition of business. A committee of idle iron-workers went to a superintendent at the mill's the other day to ascertain when work could be resumed. The superintendent could not tell; things were in an unsettled state. He said that the prospect of early resumption was slim. "Well," says one of the workmen, "we must get to work soon or we will starve." "Oh, no necessity for starving," replied the superintendent; "you can eat those roosters you wore on your hats last fall."

HEADACHE, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of Dr. J. C. Miles' Restorative Nervine in the case of my wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I lost flesh and was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. My Nervine was highly recommended to me. My case had been so obstinate that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared, my headache was removed; my spirits and general health grew better. I am now able to do my usual work. I have taken twenty pounds. ALL THIS OCCURRED AFTER LEARNING AND WELL KNOWN PHYSICIANS advised me to try it. My wife is taking the finest food she has ever had. LOUIS D. VANDERVERE.
