The republican ticket will have a clean sweep.

Prudential republicans are coming home. Democratic husks don't suit.

OREGON will sit down on Grover and the Wilson bill in June, and she'll sit down hard too.

MARKLEY to McFadden: "The situation is getting worse and worse; I don't believe we can save anything out of the wreck."

THE thousand men who were promised better wages under the Cleveland administration are now marching to Washington for bread.

Sidewalk construction and repairs have begun in earnest, and improvements are being made where they will be appreciated. Let the good work go on.

EVERY day appears like an April fool day to the man who voted for Cleveland with the expectation that his election would bring better times.

THE Minneapolis Journal thinks that Grover's friends must have made a mistake in the seed. No clover has sprouted, but there is a tremendous crop of ragweed.

THE difference between 1892 and 1894, in a political sense, is that this year all the republicans are likely to go to the polls. When this happens the republicans always win.

THE rows the other day came from the constant repetition of the question, "What did the governor of South Carolina say to the governor of North Carolina?" That night, Judge?

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat declares that the unexpected never happens in the case of the democratic party, because it can't do anything worse than is always expected of it.

The Eugene Guard claims the honor of first suggesting the name of H. R. Kincaid for secretary of state. A good suggestion, Ira, and republicans all appreciate your excellent judgment.

In view of the fact that the old Jefferson Davis mansion, at Richmond, is to be turned into a museum for confederate relics, the New York Press suggests that one shelf be reserved for the Wilson bill.

THE harmony that the Times says pervades the democratic ranks must exist in contemplation of mind only. The street rows last Saturday would indicate that instead of harmony it was rum and rebellion.

WITHIN the past two years there has been a decrease of forty-three per cent in the number of hands employed in the state of Rhode Island alone. This is some of the boasted prosperity the democrats have been talking about.

AN eastern democratic paper says, "We have only had three great presidents—George Washington who freed this country from British oppression, Abraham Lincoln who freed the African slaves and Grover Cleveland who freed the laborers from labor.

WHEN Tony Weller had passed his usefulness, and was about to bid farewell to the earthly stage, he said to his dutiful son: "Sammy, I am on the down grade and can't reach the brake." The democratic party seems to be in a like position; but it reached a "break" when it took Cleveland aboard.

It seems that the democrats in Benton county have come to the conclusion that oratory consists of a mixture of equal parts of democracy and alcohol. Inaccuracy in measurement has resulted in getting in too much alcohol and the result is general discomfiture all around.

The tidal wave of returning republicanism has got across Mason and Dixon's line. At the municipal election recently held in Johnson City, Tenn., the republicans elected the mayor and six out of eight aldermen, thus giving them control of the city for the first time in its history.

POLITICS, like misery, makes strange bedfellows, as is strikingly shown by the curious grouping of Governor Pinney, Judge Boise and John P. Robertson. It is noticed, however, that Messrs. Robertson and Boise have ceased resolving that the governor has been drawing too much salary.—Statesman.

THE poor little fellow about town who publishes a circular up the street objects to the report in the Oregonian regarding the democratic county convention. We're sorry it don't suit him but he knows he did not follow our suggestion about the kind of paper he should use in printing his measly little poster on.

THE democrats seem to be trying to get the courts to place a certain commodity on the free list which is not mentioned in either the Wilson or McKinley bills. Should the judiciary comply, as recent proceedings seem to indicate they will, it is feared the democrats might carry the election without the formality of a canvass.

DOUBTLESS the free trade philosophers who attribute the Pennsylvania coke riots to the McKinley law will also ascribe the democratic slaughter in Rhode Island to the appearance of spots on the sun. As an expert in the work of ascertaining original causes the average free trader is second only to the genius who discovered that the salty taste of sea water was due to the presence of codfish therein.

WHAT's the matter with the nomination of C. E. Wolverton for supreme judge; nothing, is all right. Mr. Wolverton is recognized as a man of sterling qualities, an attorney of rare ability and his nomination gives universal satisfaction. By his election, the vacancy on the supreme bench, caused by the election of Judge Lord for governor, will be filled by a man possessed of many of those same excellent qualities which have been recognized in Judge Lord by everyone regardless of party affiliations.

It is usually the custom for party papers to write up and compare the candidates nominated by the different parties. The democratic paper of this place has in the past observed this custom in a very strict party sense and without due regard to the known characteristics of the individuals described. As the GAZETTE expects to live and continue to be respected after this campaign is over, it will not publish such a comparison until it has secured the data necessary to a full and fair statement of the relative merits of the men whom the people are asked to vote for next June.

BENTON county republicans are feeling a trifle sore because our friend W. E. Yates did not get the nomination for prosecuting attorney of this district, but since he did not, they are taking considerable consolation in the fact that it went to a young man who is both deserving and capable. The Roseburg Plaindealer says: "The nomination of Geo. M. Brown for prosecuting attorney of this district is one that will meet with the approval of nearly every citizen, regardless of party. He is a young man of much ability as an attorney, and has had much experience in the office to which he aspires as deputy for Mr. Condon, the present incumbent of that office. The nomination is particularly gratifying to Mr. Brown's many friends in Douglas county."

REPUBLICANS can beat fusion by voting their ticket straight.

INOPERATIVE ADULTERY LAWS.

For several days prior to the recent trial of the adultery case in our circuit court, it was freely stated on the street that the counsel for the defendant were confident of throwing out the case on a "legal technicality." The event justified their confidence, and as a result of an ambiguity or looseness in framing the Oregon statute against adultery, a demurrer to the indictment was sustained by Judge Fullerton, on which an appeal to the supreme court will be taken. It appears that the Oregon statute is framed upon that of Iowa, with the exception of the omission of the article "the" before "husband and wife;" and that according to the interpretation of the law in the courts of said state, the charge of adultery must be preferred by the husband against his own wife or the wife against her husband. As the charge was brought by husband against husband, it was held that the proceedings failed to come within the technical scope of the act and hence, as far as the circuit court is concerned, the case is dismissed.

It is therefore evident that the statute of Oregon relative to the crime of adultery is not sufficiently broad and explicit; and for this reason—that it leaves the question of the punishment of the offense in the hands of the husband or wife of the culprit. As the case now stands, if the husband or wife do not prosecute, the state cannot. So that on the face of it, should the supreme court sustain the decision of the lower court, the wording of the act is such that in cases like this, it defeats the very end for which it was framed. As the law now stands, the punishment of the crime is dependent on the caprice of the husband or wife of the culprit, and the husband or wife of the injured party has no remedy or protection against the violator of the sanctity of the home. It is now high time that an act so manifestly inoperative as this should be so amended that the strong arm of the state can lay hold on the culprit and bring him or her to speedy justice.

As it now stands the state can do nothing. Vice, secure in the weakness or love of a forgiving husband or wife can ruthlessly invade the sanctity of married life and then laugh at those very laws of the state which were framed as a guardian for the purity of our home.

JUDGE BURNETT, by his super-heated rhetorical assault and battery upon protected industries and the republican party in general, reminds us that the circus season is now open. Since the death of Barnum the Judge probably stands without a peer in the show business. At the democratic circus the other night he played the double role of clown and ring-master, and distinguished himself in the impersonation of each character. As the Judge is possessed of wonderful versatility, the local democracy are in a quandary whether to bill him for the coming season as "ring master," "man with the iron jaw," "clown," or "the wild man of Borneo." He can do any of these parts equally well.

HON. THOS. H. TONGUE delivered the best political address that has been heard here for many years. It was so acknowledged even by prominent democrats without indulging in denunciation. He was persuasive and argumentative and held his vast audience for over two hours as no speaker has ever held an audience at this place. It is pitiable to see that the editor of the Times, who is a life long republican, has been compelled to misstate and falsify Mr. Tongue's argument in order to keep out of trouble with the democratic party for whom he is trying to edit a paper.

THE Eugene Register is authority for the following: "A woman at Corvallis left her husband and ran away with another man. Now her husband has brought suit against the other man for $5,000 damages for stealing his wife's affections. The affections of a woman of that kind are not worth five cents and a man would be more benefited than damaged in the loss of such."

HERE'S consistency for you. At their convention last Thursday the democrats objected to the presence of Zephin Job during their deliberations fearing that it might injure the party, yet they nominated two bankrupts, one for representative and the other for county judge.

JOSEPH H. CHASTE of New York, says that there is more indignation in this county today against the democratic party than at any time since the fall of Sumpter."

REPUBLICANS nominated a state ticket that is all right. It will beat fusion, you bet.

AN EXCELLENT CANDIDATE.

The nomination of Judge Lord for governor is approved by residents of other states as is indicated by the following editorial from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer:

"The republicans of Oregon have nominated an excellent candidate for governor in Judge William P. Lord, of Salem. Judge Lord was a gallant soldier during the civil war; he was an able lawyer when in practice, and he has been a fearless and upright judge. He ought to make an excellent run; he has for many years served as supreme court judge on a small salary; has lived within his means and is a poor man today; no populists can say of him that in his private practice he was ever the legal brains of any 'rail-road ring;' no one can say of him that on the bench he was ever suspected of being a 'ring' judge, and he has always been a stern upholder of the law which punishes severely those who think it a less serious offense to murder your fellow man than it is to steal his horse."

Judge Lord is a sound representative of social order and liberty under law, and we hope the people of Oregon will elect him to the executive chair. He will limit himself to his legal powers, and when he does not know what his legal powers are he will submit to the decision of the courts; he will be the law abiding as well as law executing governor of a free state instead of the arbitrary and idiotic abuser of his executive prerogatives.

We hope Judge Lord will be elected. It is high time that the growing states of the West that need the confidence of Eastern capital to secure the rapid development of their great natural resources should stop electing Mrs. Leases in masculine clothing to the legislature and the governor's chair.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, April 9th, 1894.
Senator Hill is the bull in the democratic china shop just now, and as a smasher of political crockery he is a success. The first week of the tariff debate brought the free trade democratic senators three separate and distinct defeats: small in themselves, but still defeats. The free traders are bewildered. They are asking each other "where are we at?" in piteous tones, and no one can give them a definite answer. The second week opened even more inauspiciously for them with Senator Hill's bold declaration of war against the tariff bill as it now stands. While Senator Hill's heaviest artillery is trained upon the income tax clause of the bill, he intimates very strongly that the bill will not be satisfactory to him even with the income tax struck out.

It is an open secret in Washington that Mr. Cleveland is in sympathy with Senator Hill's attack on the income tax, indeed, Senator Brice is authority for the positive statement that Mr. Cleveland is strongly opposed to the income tax. Mr. Brice does not hesitate to say that he also is opposed to the income tax, but he says he has not yet decided how he will vote if he fails to get it struck out, and also to get some other amendments he wishes adopted. Hill, Brice and other dissatisfied democrats would gladly make a combination with the republican senators to strike out the income tax and to amend the bill in a number of schedules, making the duties between those named in the bill and those in the McKinley law, but the republicans are not in a combining mood. They consider that the chances for defeating the bill have steadily increased for some time past, and are not disposed to accept anything less than its defeat, at least not at this stage of the proceedings. It will be time enough to talk about compromises three or four months from now, if in the meantime the bill has not been absolutely beaten or sidetracked.

Ex-Speaker Reed has had lots of things in which he could take satisfaction brought out on the floor of the house lately, but the acknowledgment he forced from Mr. Sayers, chairman of the house appropriation committee, that the total deficiency caused by insufficient appropriations by the 52nd congress will reach the enormous amount of about $14,000,000, notwithstanding the "savings" made by "hanging up" old soldiers' applications for pensions, leaving them to starve while the administration keeps the money appropriated for them by congress to use for other purposes at the end of the fiscal year when it can be covered back into the treasury, and be made available to pay any existing claims against the government, was probably the greatest satisfaction he has had. It proved the appropriations made by the fifty-second congress, controlled by democrats, to have been many millions greater than those made by the much abused "billion dollar" or Reed congress. Democratic economy is anything that plays a big part in elections, but some how it has never yet been put into practical operation.

The republicans of the house are making it plain to the democrats in that body that it is needless for them to attempt to do any political business without a quorum of their own. The republicans are not disposed to make the point of "no quorum" against the regular appropriation bills or other necessary business, but inasmuch as there are 218 democrats in the house they will insist that 179 of them shall vote when partisan legislation is to be taken up or passed.

The democrats in the house have been quarreling among themselves ever since the beginning of the extra session about the repeal of the tax on state bank currency. Springer, of Illinois, chairman of the committee of banking and currency, is opposed to repeal, and he succeeded some weeks ago in killing it so far as that committee was concerned. Swanson, of Virginia, polled the democrats, and claims that 129 of them favor unconditional repeal. The matter is to be submitted to a democratic caucus tomorrow night, but there is no more likelihood of its being definitely settled than that a democratic caucus could agree on a silver bill.

Hood's Cures

Sharp Pains
Short Breath, Heart Trouble, Rheumatism.

Mrs. L. M. Payne, Eagle Creek, Oregon.

"I have lived here in Oregon for the past twenty years, and most of the time have been a very great sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism. I have also had what the doctor called heart disease, with shortness of breath and sharp pains in the left side. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had finished three bottles I was in better health than I had been for years. I do not have any pain now, sleep well, and to-day no woman of my age enjoys better health than I.

At home on the ranch I not only attend to my family household, but last summer I cared for and milked four cows. I do not feel that I can say half enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SUNSTRUCK IN BATTLE!
DR. MILES' NEURVINE CO. ELKHART, IND.—I must say the Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills have done me great good.
FOUR YEARS I HAVE NOT FELT AS WELL AS NOW.
The starting point of my disease was a sunstroke received in battle before Fort Hudson, Louisiana, June 14th, 1863. Up to the time of beginning to take Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine I had had a constant annual distracting pain in my head; also, weak spells, and the past four years I have had to give up everything of an active character, and stay in the house for most of the months at a time. I was CURED could not walk across the street. I KNOW YOUR FRIENDS HAVE GUARANTEED ME and that the cure will be permanent. Several of my friends who have used your pills here are using your remedies, and all speak well of them.
Yours truly,
