George Patterson and George Reed returned from San Francisco last Saturday. They were delayed several days and at three different points on account of the strike. E. L. Getz, one of S. L. Kline's popular clerks is visiting in San Francisco. During his absence his place will be filled by his brother Jules, who recently arrived from that city. If you have weak, sore and inflamed eyes or suffer from headache after using your eyes, call and see Dr. Lowe at the Occidental hotel. His stay is limited to a short period. Dr. Lowe, graduate optician, is again in our city. Those in need of his services should not fail to see him at once, as in many cases glasses cannot be delivered for several days. Lient. C. E. Dentler and Will H. Bloss visited with friends a few miles southwest of Philomath last Sunday. (This item is stereotyped and will appear each week until further notice.) Prevention is better than cure, and you may prevent that tired feeling by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will keep your blood pure and free from acid taint and germs of disease. Services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Preaching by the pastor. An evening service. Dr. Thompson will preach at Oak Ridge Presbyterian church at 2:30 p. m. Miss Frankie, daughter of Thad H. Dupuy, a former townsman of this city and at present residing in Lafayette, is visiting Miss Lilly Kerr and others of her former schoolmates in Corvallis. Lee Brown is driving 500 head of mutton sheep to Portland this week. He will probably arrive there tomorrow and on his return to Corvallis he intends driving a band of cattle to the same market. Mrs. T. Kirkpatrick, of Oakland, Calif., who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Willes, of this city, during the past month, sailed home yesterday on the steamer Columbia from Portland. Miss Olive and Lillian Hamilton are in an unusually happy frame of mind this week, but it is feared that their neighbors will soon cease to speak as of yore. The young ladies have a new piano and will shortly begin taking music lessons. Earnest Bencke, a bright lad of 12 years, while out hunting last week on Mary's Peak discovered a big black bear in a tree and fired a load of bird shot into the body of Mr. Bruin from the effects of which he fell to the earth a dead bear. The young man was in town this week to claim the bounty of $2.50, and displayed the bear's

The value of glasses depends entirely on the skill of the optician. Dr. Lowe not only furnishes the best glasses but is thoroughly skilled. Ask your doctor about him. Paul A. Mosher, on-hand clerk in the general office of Wells, Fargo & Co. at Portland, visited friends in this city last Friday and Saturday. He was on his way to Heceta Head to visit his sister whose husband is lightkeeper at that place. The Marine Band will not maintain its organization during the coming two months but in September will reorganize again. Prof. Dave Rosebrook, their leader, is now at the bay on a vacation and parties wishing to engage the band can address him at Toledo. Blackberries along the river bottoms are unusually plentiful this year and many persons have been actively engaged this week in picking the large, luscious fruit and canning it for winter use. Zeph Job and Geo. Enrick picked for their own use in the past few days 22 gallons. Rev. H. L. Barkley, of the United Brethren church of Oregon, was recently honored by the faculty and trustees of Hartsville college, Hartsville, Ind., with the degree of Doctor of Divinity. Doctor Barkley's friends will be pleased to learn of his securing this honor which he so justly deserves. Mrs. Med Moore of Prineville arrived here last Friday and is visiting the family of her brother, M. W. Wilkins. Accompanied only by her two young children, she had made the long, dangerous trip of 150 miles with a wagon and team. This is a display of the same sort of metal that characterized and made famous the early pioneer women of Oregon. In these days of overrating hard times it is a pleasure to note that some of our merchants are doing a good business. To do this, however, it is often necessary to sacrifice a portion of the profits, and that is what Krause Brothers are doing at this time. William Wright their manager in this city informs us that boots and shoes are being sold at prices so low that anyone can afford to buy. Prof. J. D. Letcher is on an extended trip to the Sandwich Islands. Before returning he will probably enjoy a few delightful days on the beach with ex Queen Lal. If he keeps her well to windward, she is large enough to afford ample protection from the strong sea breezes prevalent at the islands during the summer months which will necessitate some precautions on the part of the professor to avoid being blown into the Pacific. There are several cases of whooping cough about town and for some unaccountable reason many of the children so affected are permitted to play about the streets as if nothing had happened, and are thus spreading the disease daily among their playmates. This matter should be looked into and stopped. Persons affected with any contagious disease ought not to be allowed to leave their homes, and parents whose children have the whooping cough, should look to it that they are kept from associating with children who have not been exposed to the sickness. Mr. C. B. Winn, of Albany, has purchased a brand new Imperial wheel, and is having lots of fun breaking it to the saddle. The other evening it got scared at a threshing engine and bucked him off in the deep dusty road. After stroking its mane and getting it somewhat quieted down, it suddenly obeyed the beckoning call of a chuck hole (as all bunch grass wheels will do) and slammed him therein. Curt now goes around done up in arnica and surgeon's plaster while the wheel stands hobbled in the back office. The state improvements of the public mineral springs at Sodaville are now in course of construction. The state owns an acre of land surrounding and including the mineral springs and the last legislature appropriated $500 to improve this ground. Those who have charge of the work have planned a great deal more than the $300 will do, and the next legislature will be asked to appropriate more money. The work already begun consists of a large summer-house covering the springs. It is to have cement floors on the lower story and is to be a handsome structure when completed. The only really busy place at present in Corvallis seems to be the carriage factory. The reputation the company gained at the outset for manufacturing nothing but first-class rigs, has had the effect each year of strengthening the demand for their excellent work. There is hardly a day that they do not ship several jobs to adjoining towns to say nothing of the trade in Portland and California, which is increasing rapidly. Monday, eight rigs consisting of buggies, phaetons and carts were shipped overland via Albany, to Shaffer & Clark, Salem. Besides this one double seated carriage and a road wagon were shipped to the same firm by boat. The same day four wagons were billed to Portland, one buggy to Blodgett's and three rigs to Brownsville. Fisherman's Luck. Last Sunday morning E. E. Wilson and C. O. Wells left Corvallis at 6 a. m. in a buckboard. The vehicle was headed southward and was loaded with blankets, cooking utensils, "fish bait," rods and tackle. Although they refused to disclose their destination it was generally supposed that they were bound for the headwaters of the Suslaw on a fishing trip. On Wednesday they returned and as they drove down a back street, presented a most woful appearance. Their burned faces denoted days of exposure in the hot sun and their empty fish baskets told with no uncertainty that they had met with "fisherman's luck" or else had been out of town on business other than fishing. Ed seems to have a mania for fishing but was never accused of being a success in this line. Even when he used a trap the speckled beauties refused to be caught. Since their return the boys have had nothing to say. They refuse to be interviewed and words of sympathy and advice are unappreciated. H. Y. Harris, of Blodgett, was in town yesterday and claims the grain aphid is doing considerable damage to fall oats in that section. The wheat has also re-

A New Jail Needed.

From the events of the past month the county court as well as the taxpayers of Benton county realize that a mistake was made when the contract was annulled with the Pauly Jail company for the erection of a county bastille. At the last meeting of the court a bill for the capture of Scott and Hall and another one for $90 for services rendered in guarding the jail nearly took their breath away and the guard was ordered dismissed. During that night the birds got in their work and in the morning a hole was discovered in the wall through which Scott and his companion proposed effecting an exit. An official examination followed that disclosed many facts touching the inefficiency of the building for the purpose designed. The inner wall through out was found to have been plastered with mud instead of with mortar; the joists were rotten and many other defects were noticed, and as a result some inexpensive repairs were ordered that it is thought will make the building temporarily secure. In dismissing the matter the utilization of the basement room immediately under the sheriff's office in the southwest corner of the court house, suggested itself as a proper place for a jail. The space is 24x23 feet, and sufficient to hold three steel cages, each of which will accommodate four prisoners. Such cages are manufactured by the Pauly Jail Co., St. Louis. Together they are 14x24 feet. The width, 14 feet, includes a four-foot passage way in front of the cells. Inside this enclosure is located the sink, watercloset, etc. The steel of which these cages are manufactured is very hard and cannot be cut or worked except with all the latest improved appliances, which it would be impossible for prisoners to get hold of. Several years ago when material and labor were more costly than they now are, the Pauly Jail company agreed to reconstruct the present jail for $3,150. For this price a mansard roof was to be built; a cement floor to be laid, and the building when completed would present an attractive appearance. Besides this cells were to be provided and the jail left in a tenable condition with closets, waterpipe and sewer connections all complete. The court is of the opinion that for $2,500 or less the cages could be purchased and placed in the court house basement ready for occupancy. They have also under consideration the cost of the reconstruction of the old jail. As it will cost but little more and from a sanitary standpoint be far better than the basement plan, it is not improbable that Benton county will have a new jail before many months.

Will Take Front Rank.

Another Corvallis boy that is on the high road to fame and fortune is Rathyn Turney. He arrived last Saturday from Seaside, Clatsop county, where he has been spending a year as the pupil of Herr Amold, the world renowned violinist. Mr. Turney is his only scholar and was indeed fortunate in meeting with an opportunity to pursue the study of music under such a thorough master. As he is possessed of talent of a rare order and pursues his studies unrelentingly there is little doubt that he will soon take front rank among the violinists of America. The Astoria Budget is commenting on a grand concert given July 4th under the auspices of the Schubert club of that city, at which time both Mr. Amold and Mr. Turney appeared, saying: "Part two of the program was opened with a duet solo by Rathyn Turney, entitled, 'Dulziazar.' The soft silver tones of the instrument held the audience spell bound for the time being, and Mr. Turney's execution of Wieniawski's beautiful piece shows a remarkable conception of that master." Rathyn will visit here a few days longer and then return to join Mr. Amold, when they will play a short concert tour through the valley and at the various coast resorts. Herr Amold is a great favorite in Corvallis and his concert, which will be given here about the 25th inst., will be looked forward to with great pleasure, not only on account of his own popularity but because at that time an opportunity will be afforded to pass judgment upon the progress made by his pupil and also upon his merit as a performer on the violin.

Council Proceedings.

At the regular meeting of the city fathers Monday evening all members were present excepting Councilmen Peet and Smith. From their action on the salary question it is evident that a sentiment of retrenchment has invaded the deliberations of the council to a marked degree. Reductions in official salaries were made as follows: Chief of police, from $50 to $45 per month; night watchman, from $2 to $1.75 per night; police judge, from $50 to $35 per month and city treasurer from $20 to $12 per month. This makes a total saving of $45.50 per month or $546 per annum. The finance committee made an unfavorable report on the liquor bond of Hodges & Adolph and bond was rejected. When a saloon license is granted a bond in the sum of $500 is required by the city as a guarantee for the keeping of an orderly house. At a meeting of the council the following evening a new bond was submitted which was promptly approved. J. A. Cauthorn was granted permission to enact and maintain a set of hay scales on Monroe street near the Hotel Corvallis, he having received the written consent of property owners in that vicinity. Claims to the amount of $350 against the general fund were allowed and against the street fund $100. Chief Engineer Whitehorn reported that fire hydrant located at corner of Second and Taylor streets was inoperable. It was ordered replaced by a new one. On Tuesday evening $10 per month was voted to the City Transfer company for street sprinkling service to be inaugurated and maintained until the wet season begins. A committee of five consisting of Waggoner, Gibson, Samuels and Peet with mayor as chairman, were appointed and instructed to ascertain the cost of an attorney to defend the city in the water bond case.

TABLES TURNED AT LAST

The Blue Ribbon of the Seas Won by Britannia—Vigilant Defeated.

It is now forty years since the famous yacht America was built and sent across the Atlantic to teach the haughty Britisher how to build, equip and sail a "fyer." The story is an old one, and dear to every American's heart, how a whole fleet of English yachts, from the 40-tonner up to the three-masted 300-ton schooner, turned out and wrestled for supremacy in a day's sail around the Isle of Wight—a small island some twenty miles long and fifteen miles broad that lies off of the south coast of England. Tradition has it that England's young, and then pretty queen set upon the deck of her steam yacht looking up the home stretch for signs of the winning boat. As the America hove in sight tossing her saucy sails in all the gladsome frolic of victory, the august lady asked her lieutenant what boat that might be, rounding the distant headland. "The America, Your Majesty!" "And what boat is second?" "Your Majesty, there is no second!" In the past forty years at various intervals, the intrepid Britisher has sent his challenge over here to get the cup; but in vain. His boats have been good, each faster than its predecessor—but not fast enough. To do him justice, the noble Briton has labored under a serious disadvantage in the fact that, when he sends a challenge he has to send also the full dimensions of his boat, her length, tonnage, sail-spread, and various other details, which must be of particular value to the Herreshoff or the Burgess who sits himself down at his draughting board to design a boat to beat her. More than this, he usually races his boat over in English waters before coming here; and as the American cup committee always have a representative over in English waters, for the express purpose of watching the performance of the challenging boat, it follows that the man who designs the champion American boat is in possession of full particulars regarding the boat he has to beat—he knows not merely her dimensions and model but also her best and worst points of sailing—an immense advantage in such a competition of designer's skill. Of late years the American boat has always been a little better than her opponent—and she ought to be. Moreover, the challenger is one boat; but the defender is chosen from several boats each of which is designed to beat the foreigner, another obvious advantage. Had this latter advantage been allowed the Britisher, the Britannia would have come over last year in place of the slower Valkyrie, and the American cup would now be reposing in the vaults of the Royal Yacht club at Cowes, England. But as the Englishman had to name his boat before he built her that could not be, and the Valkyrie came and was beaten. It has always been a boast of the English yachtsmen, that the American boats, with their great beam, comparatively shallow draught, and excessive sail-spread, could not "do the trick" in the more stormy and squally British waters. Last year, it was resolved to test this statement; and Mr. Carroll gave the Herreshoffs an order for a large racing yacht which should cross the "herring pond" and stop the mouths of these blusters. The Navahoe was built, and bearded the lion in his den (if so un-nautical a metaphor may be allowed in this connection). She was beaten by the Prince of Wales' now famous yacht Britannia, and failed to bring home the cup. This year the Vigilant, vanquisher of the Valkyrie, was sent across to avenge her sister's defeat. She has raced four times, and came off with honors, for although beaten, it has usually been by small margins. These races have taken place in the Firth of Clyde, a land-locked bay. The winds have been variable, some of the races being sailed in light, and one of them in a very strong wind. It will be interesting to see what she does when it comes to racing in the open, where the sea is lumpy and the whitecaps show themselves.

Costs and Disbursements.

An investigation of the annual financial exhibits for the past five years shows that the expenses for Benton county are decreasing each year. Though this be true the amount of outstanding warrants is increasing as is evidenced by the following figures: WARRANTS DRAWN. 1890.....$17,702.32 1891.....$14,549.42 1892.....22,915.38 1893.....34,141.57 1894.....21,217.49 1894.....45,959.56 Against this amount of indebtedness, however, there are $54,837.58 of delinquent taxes. Of this amount $33,322.73 is due on the rolls between the years 1883 and 1893, and $21,514.85 is delinquent on the roll for last year.

Nearing the Grave.

In old age infirmities and weakness hasten to close the gap between us and the grave. Happily scientific research and pharmaceutical skill have allied themselves in furnishing a reliable means of ameliorating the ailments incident to declining years, and of renewing waning physical energy. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a widely comprehensive remedy in disease, and an inestimable blessing to the elderly, the feeble and the convalescent. Rheumatic ailments, trouble with the kidneys and lumbarge are among the more common ailments of the aged. These are effectually counteracted by the Bitters, which is likewise a prevention and curative of malarial complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. It is highly promotive of appetite, sleep and the acquisition of vigor.

Notice is hereby given to the public that there is no strike on at Spencer & Case's barber shop and the price of a shave is 15 cents, just as it has been in the past.

Of Interest to Bicyclists.

C. H. Pearce and family, Mrs. J. L. Spangler, son and two daughters, Thomas Samuels and family and Miss Erma Lawrence left Wednesday morning for a month's outing in the mountains about forty miles west of Corvallis, on Rock creek. They are well supplied with provisions, fishing tackle, guns and ammunition and expect to have a glorious time. Already several rules have been agreed upon and all visitors to the camp will be governed accordingly. The rates for board have been fixed at, one meal $1; more meals more dollars. Gentlemen will not swear within thirty miles of camp. The coat of arms selected is quite appropriate. It is a trout passant in frying pan rampant. Motto, "Fried in Butter." Between the gentlemen and ladies' bathing apartments will be stretched one string. Should this prove insufficient one more string will be brought into use. Each day more rules will be added to the camp regulations and within a week they will be quite voluminous. Visitors will be expected to follow the provisions of each rule to the letter. Charley says he has already been consulted by several of the beaux of Corvallis relative to the route to their camp and the practicability of getting there by wheel. He assures them that there will be no difficulty in reaching the camp by bicycle. On reaching Nashville bicyclists will leave the main road, turn to the right and pass through the ranch of Mr. Walts Nash from which place the camp will be located not far distant. The intense interest manifested by the boys in learning of the camp's location and best way of reaching it is probably due to the fact that Misses Ora Spangler, Anna Samuels and Erma Lawrence will accompany the party and the fellows can't bear to think of their absence for four long weeks without making some provisions for visiting them. As the GAZETTE office is the headquarters for bicyclists we have spared no pains in looking up the most advantageous route for those who intend making the trip each week. [LATER—The male members of the Albany Eastern Star are also solicitous as to the movements of the young ladies and the location of their camp.]

A Life Saved.

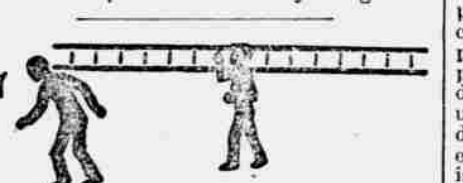

Last Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock an unknown man was seen running down Madison street. At the corner of Second street he changed his course diagonally across the street. The man was covered with dust from head to foot and it was evident from his gait that he had come a great distance and that he was much fatigued. On reaching the sidewalk in front of Nelson Bros' barber shop he fell forward and lay in a seemingly insensible condition, with one arm encircling the barber pole. The Nelson boys lifted the man up and carried him into their shop, but he still remained in a comatose condition and a physician was sent for. The man's hair and beard was long and unkempt, and as he was dusty and dirty and no doctor had arrived, Cupid Warren suggested he be given a bath. But this failed to revive him and it was not until he had been placed in the chair and given a clean shave and fresh haircut that he regained consciousness. The stranger thanked his benefactors and went his way extolling the virtues of bath, shave and haircut at Nelson Bros, and how they had saved his life.

New O. P. Time Card.

The new time card put into effect last Wednesday on the Oregon Pacific is proving a great convenience to the traveling public and its adoption was hailed with delight by the train crews. By the new schedule passenger train No. 1 leaves Yaquina at 7 a. m. arriving at Corvallis at 11:15; returning leaves Corvallis at 1:15 p. m. and arrives at Yaquina at 5:20. Hereafter the regular tri-weekly freight will leave Corvallis west bound at 9:20 a. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; returning, leave Yaquina Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7:30 a. m.

Net Receipts for June $20.

The Oregon Pacific is one of the kind of railroads you don't read about these days. Its trains run regularly and its men are paid regularly from the traffic receipts from which there is each thirty days a balance left on the credit side of the ledger. Last month it was small—only $20, which shows careful management to keep within the narrow margin and thus avoid an excess of expenditures over receipts. Besides paying all operating expenses, and keeping up the system of betterments inaugurated last month, Receiver Clark has replaced 500 old ties with new ones and driven 2000 piles in the piers of the Albany bridge.

MAKES ITSELF FELT

—the great, gripping, old-fashioned pill. Not only when you take it, but unpleasant, from first to last, and it only gives you a little temporary good. The things to take its place are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One of these at a dose will regulate the whole system perfectly. They're tiny, sugar-coated granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. They act in Nature's own way. No reaction afterward. Their help lasts and they do permanent good. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction or money is returned. Nothing can be "just as good."

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the matter of the last will and testament of J. Wm. Will, deceased. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed executor of the last will and testament of J. Wm. Will, deceased, by the County Court of Benton county, Oregon; and all persons having claims against the said deceased are required to present them, duly verified, with the necessary vouchers, within six months from the date of publication of this notice, to said executor, at the office of W. E. Yates, in Corvallis, Benton county, Oregon. Dated at Corvallis, Or., June 13, 1894. JOHN WILL, Executor of the last will and testament of J. Wm. Will, deceased.

Blodgett Items.

D. G. Marks made a hasty visit to the metropolis this week. Isn't it about time the Times was stirring up the "orphan" racket again. An influence as horrible as that should not rest simply because election is over. I understand there is an effort being made to secure the pardon of John Savage, of incest notoriety. Those seem to be characters that Penney "eaters to." Despite the hopes of the farmer the aphid is doing much damage in our valley. There is not a head of fall oats that has not been pierced. It remains to be seen whether there is still enough sap left in the stem to mature the grain. John Skaggs has been on the sick list for several days, and is but little better at present writing. I wonder if "Plowboy" and "Jo" are related in any way. Homo. Scott and Hall are again safely enclosed in the county bastille. Last week Tunniffice Bros. repaired the hole in the wall where they had cut through the iron lining in an attempt to escape. Tunniffice Bros. are located at the south end of Main street, where they are prepared to do all kinds of iron work including repairing of farm machinery of all kinds. L. F.
