LAWYERS AND CLIENTS.

Last Friday's Court Proceedings —Date for new O. P. Sale Not Fixed.

An adjourned sitting of the circuit court was held last Friday afternoon. A petition was presented by J. K. Weatherford on behalf of certain labor and materia creditors whose claims aggregate $70,000, and asked that a reference be had to determine the priority of all such claims before any sale of the road, which the court at this time might order, should occur. The petition asked that in the event the petitioners should purchase the said properties that they be allowed the privilege of applying the amount of their claims toward the purchase price, as cash. As the petitioners had caused no service of the petition to be made upon the other parties in interest, consideration of the matter was postpored until the adjourned term in September.

When the matter of fixing a date for a new sale of the road came up for hearing, J. R. Bryson of counsel for plaintiffs, the Farmers' Loan and Trust company, stated that some weeks previous he had written his clients for instructions, and requested a reply of them by the 15th inst., and probably owing to the delay of mails consequent upon the strike, he had received no communication from them on the subject, and was therefore unadvised as to their wishes in the premises, and asked that consideration of the matter be reserved until some future time. No objections to this plan were raised and Judge Fullerton announced that he deemed it unwise to attempt a sale while the railroads of the country were in such a demoralized condition, and postponed consideration of the matter until September 6th.

In the matter of the assignment of S. N. Wilkins, Assignee F. M. Johnson, presented a petition asking for an order to sell the personal property in his hands. Taken under advisement.

P. Avery et al vs. B R. Job et al; defendants' allowed until September 6th in which to file answer.

R. M. Wade & Co., vs. Creighton & Quivey; defendants gave notice that at the next regular term they would apply for leave to file an answer to plaintiff's amended complaint.

Lincoln county vs. J. R. Bryson, assignee of Hamilton, Job & Co.; demurrer to complaint overruled and defendants given until September 10th to answer.

Balfour, Guthrie & Co. vs. Charles Reed et al; plaintiffs recovered judgment for $3,390 and interest at 8 per cent. and $250 attorney's fees and costs; a decree of foreclosure of the mortgage covering 270 acres of land located seven miles north of Corvallis, was entered and the premises ordered sold under execution.

U. G. Hale vs. Toledo Coal company; confirmation of sale under foreclosure proceedings and sheriff of Lincoln county directed to execute a deed to the purchaser, U. G. Hale.

B. R. Job vs. Niagara Mill company; M. M. Davis receiver of the corporation presented petition showing the said company to be wholly insolvent, and indebted to sundry persons in the sum of $45,000 and that only a small portion of the same can be paid. The petition also showed that of the 500 shares of capital stock, 369 have been subscribed and 75 per cent. levied and assessed thereon; that Z. Job, B. R. Job and petitioner have paid the amount of their stock in full, but that 25 per cent. remains upon the shares subscribed by the following persons with amounts as follows: F. M. Johnson, $750; C. E. Nicholson, $375; M. H. Kriebel, $1673.64; J. M. Nolan, $375; J. H. Wilson, $100; J. O. Wilson, $100; J. M. Stewart, $500. An order was made by the court directing said stockholders to pay the remaining 25 per cent. of their stock to the receiver at Corvallis within the next thirty days, and should any of them fail so to do, the receiver was authorized and directed to enforce payment by actions at law.

J. W. Rayburn vs. L. L. Hurd et al; argued and submitted.

Levi Oren vs. M. Jacobs on appeal from justice court; motion for judgment of the verdict with costs in favor of Respondent Oren argued, submitted and taken under advisement.

A bear came out in plain view of W. A. Gellatly's residence last Saturday evening and filed his objections to the way the hay had been shocked. Several shots were fired, but by a flank movement known only to bruin's tactics the sheep killer is still at large.

From Nebraska to Oregon by Team.

In these days of railroads when but four days are required in making the trip from Omaha to Portland, it is not often that intending settlers make the long tedious journey by team. Yet such a mode of transportation was employed by O. R. Harding who arrived here on the 12th inst., from southwestern Nebraska. Four months lacking four days would seem a long trip to most of us, and only the early Oregon pioneers who made the journey across the plains with ox-teams, can fully appreciate the difficulties and privations experienced by Mr. Harding during that long period occupied by him in reaching his destination. Besides Mr. Harding the party consisted of his wife and child, his brother Charles, and his mother, now 72 years of age. Their train consisted of only one wagon and a four-horse team. At several points they were driven back by severe storms and on one or two occasions an abandonment of the venture was seriously considered, but being possessed of the same sturdy determination to reach their destination that characterized the early pioneers in crossing the plains, they pressed on, and reached the farm of S. R. Rogers near Monroe, without any serious accidents befalling them. They crossed the Cascades via the Barlow route and on the 3d and 4th of July were on the summit in snow axle deep. Mr. Harding is a son-in-law of Mr. Rogers and he and his brother will each take up a homestead in the southern part of the county. The pluck and energy displayed in reaching here is an evidence of thrift and industry that will undoubtedly cause them to succeed in their new found home, and make them a valuable addition to the sturdy yeomanry of Benton county.

A Tale, Its Consequence and Moral

Harry White came to town last Friday afternoon with some companions and after disposing of his load of wood purchased, among other things a keg of beer, and thereby hangs a tale. The beer being disposed of, the young men became quarrelsome and as they were leaving town several altercations ensued. By the time they arrived at the residence of Mr. Franklin, about one mile south of town, the party were using obscene language, much to the annoyance of Mr. Franklin's household. At this point the teams were stopped while an attempt was made to settle the dispute. The continued use of abusive and indecent language brought Mr. Franklin to the scene with a polite, but earnest, request that the crowd move on or else stop their quarreling. This riled White who seemed of the opinion that he and his companions might have a little drunken row whenever they saw fit, and so long as the battle ground was confined to the public highway, no one had a right to interfere. These sentiments were given vent to in words more forcible than polite and to make them more emphatic Franklin was knocked down a couple of times and otherwise mistreated. This is the tale.

The consequence of this spree, however, will probably have a lasting and beneficial effect upon the young man. The next day Franklin came to town and caused the arrest of White who asked that his trial be set for Monday following, at which time he plead guilty to the charge of assault and battery. Thereupon Justice Wilson fined him $5 and costs, amounting in all to over $20, which was promptly paid.

The moral to be learned from this episode is that this butterfly life is not what it is cracked up to be.

The Cat Came Back.

The Informer people have a scheme that only a few are on to. They advertised for a cat named "Mamie Informer," in which the proprietors claimed to be jointly interested, and offered as a reward for her safe return a week's subscription, worth 15 cents. The small boys about town immediately set to work to claim the reward. As a result, no less than 50 cats of all ages, colors and sizes have been brought to the office and strange to say each one regardless of sex, was accepted as the lost "Mamie." On delivering his cat, each boy was given a receipt for a week's subscription according to agreement. Van Cleve's scheme finally leaked out although he is $5 ahead of the game, or will be if he can dispose of the collection at the regular market price. Professor Washburn, of the college, pays 25 cents each for those which he uses for dissection in all physiology and anatomy classes. Bert is expecting to dispose of the whole job lot to Professor Washburn at an advance of ten cents per head which will be a paying investment besides increasing the subscription list of the Informer about fifty copies.

Last winter when the Theater Royal combination broke up here Landlord Schmidt, of the Occidental, retained several trunks and other baggage to reimburse himself for a large sized board bill incurred by the company. As per announcement these articles were sold on Tuesday by Auctioneer Van Cleave and bid in by the cinched hotel keeper for $15. Albany's job printer, Smiley, also had a bill against the troupe for printing, and was on hand in the vain hope of getting his money out of the plunder. After bidding $12 50 for the goods he was promptly raised $2 50 by Mr. Schmidt, but couldn't call it. Jack returned in the evening and on his arrival probably made the following entry in his journal: Experience with bum Theatrical Co. Dr., To Loss and Gain acct. $16 79.

Leo Gerhart left Tuesday for Idahna park where he intends spending the summer all by his lonely self. He has a tent 16x24 feet with six foot walls, and small parties of one or two hundred mountain resorters might be able to secure quarters in case the hotel is over crowded, without the least inconvenience to Leo. He is accompanied on his trip by his three-legged strawberry blonde setter "Teddy," a fine army musket, loaded to the muzzle with vintage of 1812 and two joints of a six-bit fishing rod, also a large sized torch. His cooking outfit consists of one can of baking powder and two bunches of wooden tooth picks.

In the window of the GAZETTE office may be seen a vial containing specimens of the fly the egg of which produces the grain aphis. The flies are three weeks old and were raised by C. Tracer who lives on John Rickard's place on the Long Tom. Mr. Tracer took the aphis from the wheat and placed them in a box where the flies, now on exhibition, were developed. They resemble in appearance the common horse fly, except that they are much smaller.

S. T. Jeffreys, Prof. Moses Craig and T. C. Case left Sunday morning for the upper Luckiamute on a deer hunt. Their reputation as deer-slayers have not become such as to cause any serious apprehension regarding the sudden extermination of the deer family in the Coast range, and but for their presence of mind in taking Billy Miller along to supply the camp with venison it is altogether probable that their return would have been noted ere this. The party expect to return this evening.

Superintendent Sticker, of the Corvallis Carriage company, left yesterday for Montreal, Canada, where he will accept a similar position with E. Heney, an extensive carriage manufacturer, at an annual salary of $2500. Charles Pearce and Thomas Samuels, together with their families returned to Corvallis this week after a ten days' outing on the head waters of Rock creek, in Lincoln county. The party have to their credit 1164 trout, but none of them are guilty of a violation of the game law, so they say. That they are not, however, is probably due to no fault of theirs. Charley is such an everlastingly poor shot, you know.

Inadvertently some antiquated plate matter reflecting seriously upon the candidacy of Mr. Harrison for a second term, was run in last week's paper, for which we owe our readers an apology. Owing to the strike, communication with our San Francisco plate company had been shut off, and in consequence a couple of columns of matter was borrowed from the Times office by our foreman. This accident is the result of employing a democratic foreman on a republican paper. Serves us right.

G. M. Coon, who has resided at the Pete Rickard mills for a number of years was adjudged insane and taken to the asylum last Monday for treatment. On account of the absence of Judge Hufford from the city, the examination took place before Justice Holgate. Mr. Coon was a native of Virginia. He has been a resident of Oregon for a long time and is now in his ninetieth year. The physicians C. H. Lee and R. J. Wilson found that his mental derangement was due to heredity and old age.

Miss Sarah Harris, a former Corvallis favorite, is the guest of Mrs. Leo Stock. Miss Harris seems to be on a visiting tour of the valley. She arrived here Wednesday afternoon by private conveyance, after a two weeks' stay in Albany and Harrisburg. She will visit here a week and then leave for Newport for the summer. This is the first occasion Miss Sarah has taken to visit Corvallis since her parents moved to Portland some three years ago, and her many friends will regret that her stay will be of such a brief duration.

When you go fishing and wish to make a record for yourself, observe the following rule: Everytime you get a bite but lose the fish, put down a "0"; and when success crowns your efforts and the trout is safe within the basket, place the figure "1" at the left of the ciphers. In this manner three unsuccessful attempts and one fish will score "1000." This rule has been adopted by one or two Corvallis fishermen, among them Chas. Pearce, who claims to have caught 1164. Readers can draw their own conclusions regarding his ability as an angler.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Pa., in the treatment of diarrhœa in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhœa very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommended it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Graham & Wells.

Dr. Dumont Lotz, in a recent letter to Arthur St. Clair says he will visit "Maple Brook Ranch" about the first of August for a two-weeks deer hunt in the Coast range. It is understood that Mr. Lotz has accepted a position as chemist with a large wholesale drug firm in Portland, and will begin his duties there about the first of September. This will be pleasing news to the many warm friends made by the ex-station chemist during his eighteen months residence in Corvallis among whom his singular resignation on account of "ill health" was so unanimously regretted.

A single buggy attached to a bay horse took a lively spin yesterday morning from Philips' blacksmiths shop down Main street to the saw mill, where it turned round and covered the distance as far back as Jackson street where the vehicle started west and was stopped by Roy Woodcock before any serious damage had resulted. The horse was not properly harnessed and its driver was afraid, are said to be the reasons assigned for the somewhat exciting runaway. We are deterred from mentioning Mr. Hukill's name on account of his lack of experience in the management of horses, and also in the hope that he will take some instructions in the art before making another display of his horsemanship on a main Corvallis thoroughfare.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Graham & Wells.

CHINAMEN OUTCLASSED.

A Steam Laundry the Newest Project in Corvallis.

The newest thing in Corvallis business circles is a movement toward the establishment of a steam laundry. A. J. Achison, a laundryman of ten years' experience, was here this week consulting with our business men regarding the scheme, which, he says, met with general approval. Mr. Achison has built and operated laundries in Danville and Rockford, Illinois, and is now managing the one at Independence. There will be no contributions asked, but every house will be canvassed in order to determine the probable amount of work that could be gotten in the event the plan succeeds. Mr. Achison believes that a plant costing from $1500 to $2000 will be necessary to care for the business in a place of this size. Such a concern as he has in mind will furnish employment to ten or fifteen hands, a majority of whom will be women.

In order to get the laundry started it will be necessary to secure a guarantee for work after the business is once established. Every person in town will be asked to promise a certain amount of patronage, whatever they can afford from one dollar upwards, and when the laundry is once completed and in operation, to pay to the company in cash, the amount subscribed or guaranteed. This is only considered an advance payment for the work the company are pledged to furnish in return. An account will be opened with each person upon the payment of his or her subscription. That is, they will be credited with the amount paid and as the laundry work is furnished in return, its cost will be charged against their account. The prices will be about the same as are now paid to the Chinamen for plain work, while starched clothes will be a trifle higher.

The cost of the plant will be determined by the liberality of the subscriptions. For instance: If $500 is guaranteed a plant costing $1000 will be built; but if $1000 is subscribed $2000 will be invested in the enterprise. The latter amount will be sufficient with which to complete such a plant as will be required here, and would have a capacity of turning out $300 or $400 worth of work per week. Should the enterprise receive the proper encouragement work on the building will begin immediately. This will be 30x40 on the ground, and two stories high. Only the most expensive and latest improved machinery will be purchased, and when the plant is once in operation it will be complete in all its details. Already something like $400 had been guaranteed and when the public understand the matter thoroughly there is little doubt that the other $600 will be promptly subscribed. Mr. Daw, a brother-in-law to Mr. Achison, will be interested in the enterprise, although it will be under the personal supervision of the latter. From the fact that there are so many advantages to be derived from the establishment of such an enterprise it is hardly probable that it will be allowed to go by the board for the want of encouragement on the part of our citizens. When once in operation its pay roll should aggregate not less than $500 per month. This money will pass into the ordinary channels of business and do the community some benefit, while under the present laundry system only a very small portion of the cash paid each month for washing is disbursed within the county.

Mr. T. M. Hamilton of this city is personally acquainted with Mr. Achison and is familiar with his work and says that he is perfectly competent and thoroughly reliable and any pledges he may make will be carried out to the letter. Let us have the steam laundry. Mr. Achison will call on you next Monday and explain the matter thoroughly.

A law suit that, for smallness of the amount involved and cost and duration of the litigation, beats the Oren-Jacobs rent case, is reported from Iowa. It is known as the Jones county calf case and originally involved but five dollars. The suit has been in litigation continuously for over twenty years, during which time dozens of lawyers have fattened on the fees and 114 jurors have heard its merits. The judgment and costs now amount to $30,000 and is yet unsettled, being now before the supreme court of that state.

E. R. Bryson, and Theadore Tyre, of Eugene, left Tuesday for a ten days' outing at Yaquina. Being agreeable fellows their accession to the Newport male contingent will be especially gratifying to the many lovely young ladies now rusticating at that favorite resort.

The seaside excursion train leaves Corvallis next Sunday at 7:30 a. m. for Newport. Fare for round trip $1.50.

In old age infirmities and weakness hasten to close the gap between us and the grave. Happily scientific research and pharmacal skill have allied themselves in furnishing us a reliable means of ameliorating the ailments incident to declining years, and of renewing waning physical energy. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a widely comprehensive remedy in disease, and an inestimable blessing to the elderly, the feeble and the convalescent. W. O. Nisley, the piano tuner, was here during the forepart of the week. Since his last visit to Corvallis Mr. Nisley has secured a patent on a practice piano which he has been working on for several years. It has an ordinary sized keyboard with a perfect piano action and is designed especially for the use of teachers on the pianoforte. The instrument is cheap—about $40, and better than all it is entirely noiseless when in use. Think of what a boon it will be to suffering humanity when its use becomes universal.
