LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

W. O. Nisley, the piano tuner, is in town.

Nolan & Callahan's new spring style hats have arrived.

Be sure and see Dr. Lowe about your eyes next week. Free tests for glasses.

J. H. O'Neill, traveling passenger agent for the O. R. & N. Co., was in town Tuesday.

Lee Beach is transacting business in Portland. He expects to be absent about two weeks.

A carload of mutton sheep left Corvallis, Tuesday, for Portland market. They were shipped by J. L. Lewis.

The revival meetings at the Baptist tabernacle are increasing in interest and will continue through this week. All are invited.

Remember, Dr. Lowe the optician can't stay longer in Corvallis than the one week. See him at the Occidental, as he does not go to residences.

Joe Ripley is assisting Sheriff Osburn this week in balancing up the tax rolls preparatory to that officer's annual settlement with the county court.

Miss Helen Holgate, who has been teaching a private school this winter in Wallawa county, is expected to arrive home about the first of the coming month.

Don't forget, Dr. Lowe has been coming to Corvallis for over five years; has diplomas from the best schools, and, quality considered, sells glasses as cheap as any one.

Miss Amelia McCune, graduate of the O. A. C., has been elected to the principalship of a school in Polk county. Miss McCune has many friends in Corvallis, all of whom wish her a happy sojourn in our neighboring county.

Thomas H. Tongue, one of Oregon's most eloquent public speakers, will lecture before the students of the O. A. C. at the college assembly hall tomorrow evening. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present.

Prof. Geo. Cote, of the State Agricultural College, will be in Dallas, February 21, and in the evening at 7 o'clock will deliver an address to the fruitgrowers. Prof. Cote is well known to most of our citizens, having taken part in the Farmers' Institute held here last year. All are cordially invited to attend.—Dallas Observer.

Walter Scott, who was called to Salem Saturday by Superintendent Gilbert, to visit his brother, Ed, who was dangerously ill, returned home Tuesday. He found the patient suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia, but he was receiving the best of care and medical attendance and prospects for his recovery were quite favorable.

At a meeting of the administration council of the department of Oregon, Grand Army of the Republic, held in Portland last week the date for holding the next department encampment was fixed for the 11, 12 and 13 of June. The encampment will be held at Independence in a large auditorium built recently especially for the purpose.

Persons residing in school District No. 9, will this year have the luxury of two school meetings instead of one, as heretofore. The regular business meeting will occur the first Monday in March, and on the following Monday will occur the annual election of clerk and director, the latter will be chosen to succeed W. E. Yates, who retires this year.

The law firm of Bryson, Yates & Yates has ceased. The gentlemen have dissolved partnership by mutual consent. Messrs Yates will be associated together, while Judge Bryson will practice alone. The dissolution was an amicable one, their large amount of conflicting claims rendering it necessary. They will continue to occupy their present offices.

Frank P. Clark, of Philomath, returned Monday from a brief visit in California. He was a passenger on the steamer Columbia, which lost her rudder while crossing the Columbia river bar, and he relates quite a thrilling account of the mishap. Mr. Clark was as far south as Santa Rosa and while pleased with the country in many respects, he believes that the Willamette valley possesses more advantages than any portion of California.

"It is being rumored that the alligators which Ira Campbell sent to Eugene from the east have been put in the Willamette river at that city. If the Democrat man fails to take a bath next summer the reason will be known. It will not be safe for Mr. Campbell to come to Albany. He had better look out."—Albany Democrat. Campbell has a long political head. His object was to reduce the republican vote this year. Democrats don't take water for either drinking or bathing purposes.

Leo Gerhardt, who is spending a few weeks with his brother, Henry, on the island above town, was in Corvallis last week, making negotiations for the purchase of balm timber growing on the island and owned by John Smith. The loggers who have recently been getting out timber on the beach farm for the Oregon City Pulp Mills, have removed to the Gerhardt place and are engaged in cutting balm and white fir logs, which are dragged to the river by means of four yokes of oxen.

The Hook & Ladder company is steadily growing. At its meeting Monday night four new members were elected, making a total of sixteen accessions since the first of the year. With a view to popularizing the organization, as well as increasing its membership, the boys have concluded to give a "smoker" soon, to which members of the company and a few guests, who are deemed eligible to membership will be invited. The committee having charge of the affair is composed of H. L. Holgate, O. C. McLagan and B. W. Johnson.

Harry, the youngest son of Hon. G. A. Waggoner, met with a painful accident Tuesday morning. While his mother was cooking doughnuts, the little fellow in some mysterious way overturned the vessel containing the boiling grease, resulting in the child being badly scalded. Although burned in several different portions of his body, his face luckily escaped being touched by the boiling fat. One of his legs, however, was burned so badly that, in removing the stocking, the skin was taken off of a surface as large as an ordinary man's hand.

At the regular quarterly teachers' examination, concluded last Saturday, there were fifteen candidates for county certificates, and two for state diplomas. In addition to Supt. Holm the examining board consisted of Professors Bristow and Deuman. Among the applicants were: Miss Nellie Hogan, Mrs. S. L. Kezel, Bert Huggins, A. A. Williamson, Scott Prindel, Carrie Woods, Adah Gillette, Pearl Jones, Ivy Meals, Winnie Hull, Tena Hull, Ada Jones, Everett S. Prindel, Frank S. Ward, Arthur Perin, Clara Huggins.

At its meeting Monday night, the Hook & Ladder company nominated B. W. Johnson and Joe Smith as its candidates for the positions of chief engineer and assistant chief of the Corvallis fire department, to be balloted for at the annual firemen's election, which occurs sometime in March. Last year Young America was given the privilege of selecting these officers from among its members, and in compliance with a custom in vogue for a long time, the courtesy belongs this year to the H. & L. boys.

Recently three Knights of Pythias lodges in Portland consolidated with a total membership of three hundred, and selected Clarence Avery as chancellor commander. The lodge is one of the largest on the coast and includes in its ranks many of Portland's most prominent and influential citizens. Speaking of Mr. Avery, the "Oregon Senator," a Portland publication devoted to Pythianism, has the following: "He was one of the five candidates for chancellor commander of America No. 1, and has been frequently spoken of by knights of this city and from abroad, as the best chancellor commander on the Pacific slope."

Burglars in Corvallis seemed possessed of a sort of mania for guns, revolvers, etc. Since Hodes' gun store was entered last fall and relieved of several shooting irons and a quantity of ammunition, the Corvallis burglar has been taking a vacation or else has been operating in other fields. Saturday night, however, he returned and the next morning three new revolvers were missing from the store of Dunn & Campbell. An entrance to the building had been effected by breaking one of the large front windows. Mr. Campbell, who sleeps in the rear of the store, heard the noise, but did not get up and did not discover the loss until the next morning.

The bicycle trade this year promises to be quite brisk. Just what "make" will be the favorite this season is perhaps an uncertain quantity, but that the "Columbia" will retain its reputation among wheelmen, is evinced by the fact that the enterprising firm of Simpson, Huston & Co. has received this week, direct from the factory, a number of these splendid machines and already have several prospective buyers on the string. S. H. & Co. are also agents for the Hartford, a wheel made very much after the plan of the Columbia, but considerably cheaper in price. Mr. Huston, who superintends the wheel department, during the past week, has talked bicycle until some of his friends think he has a complete factory in operation in his head. It might not be believed, but really he is becoming as much of a bicycle crank as Frank Conover.

T. M. Hamilton, the newly elected commander of Ellsworth Post, G. A. R., is anxious to increase the post's membership, and to that end requests that all old soldiers, living in the county or adjacent to Corvallis in Linn county, send in their names to the post's adjutant, Wm. Lane. There are a number of old soldiers, who served through the civil war, living in this vicinity, whose names have never been placed upon the G. A. R. roster. If such can not be induced to join the post, it is desirous that their names, together with their company and regiment, be known to members of the organization so that in case of sickness or other affliction, they could be given the proper attention. Mr. Hamilton also has in mind the holding of an old soldier's reunion sometime during the next few months, and on this account he is especially desirous that all the old comrades place themselves in correspondence with the post's adjutant.

Remember Nolan & Callahan's great reduction sale will close Saturday, February 29th.

The Times evidently imagines it has a sole proprietorship in news items. It finds that the two papers actually discuss the same matters, and comes to the rather irrelevant conclusion that the Gazette copies from the Times. The issue of the Times in which this charge appeared, contained little of importance, but that published in the GAZETTE two days previous, yet this paper makes no complaint on that account. If the Times depends upon the GAZETTE for its information, it displays good judgment that it does not likewise exercise. The Times claim to an exclusive right to the field of actual news, must be gently but firmly disputed. It may continue, however, to monopolize the invented article. When Straga's ghost walks through the town, the moon darkened by thunder clouds, the wind howling and shrieking with the voices of the damned, when the startled murderer sweats big drops of blood, when that marvelous woman, who is keeping a secret, screams and collapses in terror, and the other accessories confess their guilty knowledge, the Times may have the exclusive glory of the revelation. Neither will the GAZETTE interfere with the Times' hobby of mysterious hints at promised scandals that never develop.

Great interest is just now being taken in Portland by members of the K. of P. lodges, in the production of the play "Damon and Pythias," to be given at the Marquam Grand, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. The drama is to be put on under the direction of Wm. Rasmus, who has presented the play under the auspices of several of the subordinate lodges of the state during the past few months. Considerable local interest is taken in the matter from the fact that the cast will include several former Corvallisites, now residing in Portland. The difficult part of Pythias is to be taken by Clarence W. Avery, son of P. Avery, of this city, and he is said to display splendid adaptation to the role assigned him. Lawyer S. T. Jeffreys, who distinguished himself as Philistinus, president of the senate, when the play was produced here during the spring of 1894, under the direction of J. B. Walker, is to play the same part in Portland. The part of Lucullus is also to be played by a Corvallis boy—Will S. Stock. The uniform rank, for whose benefit the play is being produced, is under the command of Capt. A. J. Coffee, and the proceeds of the two nights' entertainment will be used for the purpose of taking this division east next August, to compete for the prizes offered by the supreme lodge meeting to be held in Minneapolis.

A few weeks ago, reference was made to a curious magnet which two of the students in the mechanical department of the Agricultural College at Corvallis had sent to the Independent. The bar sent to Prof. W. N. Perrin of the chair of physics in Pacific university, who writes the result of his study in this paragraph: "I have this morning been examining the bar magnet which you kindly sent up to us, and find it an interesting example of what might be called abnormal magnetism. The magnetic curves produced by iron filings show clearly the existence of three poles in the bar, viz: a strongly developed south pole at one end, and a feebly developed south pole at the other end, and a strong north pole between them, somewhat nearer the weaker terminal pole. 'Secondary poles' are not uncommon, and are supposed to be due to inequality of temper in the steel, or to some unusual method employed in magnetizing the bar. But I think it is unusual to find one of them at one end of the magnet, as in this case. It would be interesting to know what method of magnetization was used, also, whether the whole bar was tempered alike." It is proper to say that every part of the bar was tempered alike, or as nearly so as possible, by raising the bar to a uniform temperature and plunging it in a cold bath. This is shown by testing with a file. It is a peculiar method employed in magnetizing. It is not accident, either, for he makes his peculiar magnets every time. But whether he makes at will a north pole at an extremity or a south pole, was not stated.—Hillsboro Independent.

ROBT. JOHNSON, P. M.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the county court will receive sealed bids up to 10 o'clock a. m., March 4th, 1896, to furnish 30 cords of old growth body red fir wood 4 feet long, and 50 cords of grub oak wood 4 feet long. To be delivered at court house in Corvallis between June 1st and Sept. 1st, 1896. The court reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

I. M. HUNTER, County Clerk. Dated this 5th day of February, 1896.

Notice of Final Settlement.

In the matter of the Estate of John Campbell, deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern that E. U. Will has filed with the County Court of Benton County, Oregon, his final account as administrator of said estate, and the Judge of said Court, Hon. W. S. Hufford, has fixed the second day of March, 1896, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., as the time, and the county court room in court house in Corvallis, Oregon, as the place for hearing objections to said final account if any there be, and for the settlement thereof.

This notice is published in the Corvallis Gazette, a newspaper of general circulation, by the order of said Court.

LOCAL NEWSLETS.

F. M. Johnson is doing business in Portland this week.

A number of Corvallisites attended the concert given in Salem last night by Sousa's band.

The condition of Mrs. Geo. Eglin, who has been dangerously ill for several days, is somewhat improved today.

S. H. Dalaba leaves today for his home in Lincoln county, having been in Corvallis several days on business.

Elizabeth Elliott, guardian of Earnest Elliott, filed her final account this week, showing settlement of the estate, the young man having recently become of age.

W. A. Wells disposed of a lot of Albina property this week. The purchasers were San Francisco parties and the consideration was $15,000.

Fair to muddling as to shaving average the common run, but speaking of shaves, why Spencer can cut the spots right off the sun.

A small clasp pin, bearing the initials "M. S.," and attached by means of a small gold wire, to another pin, upon which is inscribed the figures "91," was recently lost on the streets of Corvallis. Finder will please leave at this office and receive reward.

Rev. H. J. Zercher, who has been confined to his room during the past two weeks on account of an attack of the grip, is around once more, and expects to be in his pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday.

Superintendent Irwin and wife have been in town since Tuesday afternoon, the guests of Prof. and Mrs. J. B. Horner. Last evening Mr. Irwin lectured at the college before a large audience upon the trend of the Anglo-Saxon race.

The first issue of the Philomath Journal reached our table Saturday. Although its policy is not outlined, it has republican leanings and is said to be aided by one of the factions of the United Brethren church. Its editor is T. G. Robinson, a recent arrival from the east.

J. Fred Yates has accepted an invitation to deliver an address tomorrow evening before the literary and debating society at Granger, the occasion being in commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Mr. Yates is an earnest and eloquent speaker, and the committee having the entertainment in charge were fortunate in securing him to make the address.

A supplemental inventory was filed this week in the estate matter of W. H. H. Rich, deceased, showing several notes that had come to the notice of the administrator since filing the original inventory. The notes were signed by persons now insolvent and no valuation was placed upon them by the appraisers, who evidently deemed them worthless.

John Scott had a close call Tuesday night. He rooms over the Leo, and Stone Wells, passing late that evening, heard a distressing noise from John's room, and investigating, found him leaning out of the window, suffering terribly and nearly unconscious. Help was called and he was made comfortable as possible. John is around again today, but is still weak.

A timely and important bulletin has just been issued from the Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station. It is a spraying bulletin and should be in the hands of every fruit grower in the state. It contains a paper on Fungicides by Prof. Hedrich and one on Insecticides by Prof. Cordley. It will be ready for distribution next week. A more extended notice of this valuable work and extracts from it will appear in our next issue.

The several bids for furnishing wood for the college for the coming year were opened Monday by the purchasing agent of the institution, Mr. Crawford. Eight bids were received for furnishing the fir wood, the price varying from $1.00 to $2.25 per cord, and although only 300 cords were wanted, bids were put in for 550 cords. Ten bidders wanted to furnish 45 cords of oak at prices varying from $2.25 to $2.75 per cord. The amount wanted was 250 cords. Contracts for furnishing the fir were awarded to H. Rust, Frank Tortora and M. La Grand. The bids of John M. Osburn on 100 cords of oak, B. M. Davidson on 40 cords, at $2.25, were accepted. The other bids were considered too high and will probably not be accepted. Last year the college paid $2.75 for oak, and $2.40 for fir.

Benton county has several joint school districts with Lincoln county. One of these in the neighborhood of Tum Tum, concluded to levy a special assessment upon the property contained within its boundaries, for the purpose of building a new school house. Although a very laudable undertaking, the managers of the movement have procrastinated in the furtherance of their enterprise to such an extent that the contemplated improvements must go over until the next tax roll is made up. Monday Mr. Simmons, a resident of Tum Tum precinct, arrived in town as the emissary of the school, and requested Judge Hufford to cause the necessary extensions to be made on tax roll. Much to the Tum Tum gentleman's surprise, he learned that his request could not be granted, as the roll had already been completed and turned over to the sheriff for collection.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. are going to give one of their ever-popular social sessions next Tuesday evening at G. A. R. hall. An intensely interesting program has been arranged for the occasion and will consist of vocal and instrumental music by Miss Alderson, Miss Uhlman, Miss Stott, Mabel Johnson, Lulu Spangler, and Messrs. Yates, Terrell, Prichard and Emmett. Messrs. Horner any Yates are on for a flute duet and another feature will be a guitar duet by Messrs. Eberhart & Johnson. Prof. Fulton and Clark have also consented to sing, and Mrs. Cale, Miss Lillian Hamilton, Miss Jennie Clark, T. M. Hamilton and others have agreed to recite. During the evening short addresses will be made by Dr. Thompson, Mrs. J. M. Bloss and Prof. Pratt. The price of admission has been fixed at 10 cents. Refreshments will be served, for which there will be no extra charge.

FRIDAY'S CONCERT.

A large and representative audience enjoyed the concert given last Friday evening by Prof. Heritage, basso singer, and Prof. Emil Winkler, pianist.

These gentlemen are connected with the conservatory of music of the Willamette University and their work left a very favorable impression of that institution.

Prof. Heritage possesses a thoroughly trained voice and sings with excellent expression. His selections were of a high order and each number was heartily cheered. Prof. Winkler pleased the audience with his piano selections. He has a good touch and is evidently a thorough musician.

The concert was given under the auspices of the M. E. church and the proceeds are to aid in the erection of a new church edifice. It is expected that work on the new building will commence about the 1st of April. It will cost $3,000 and will be the finest building of the kind in Corvallis.

There is likely to be a spirited contest over the confirmation of Referee Woodcock's report next Tuesday, when Judge Fullerton will sit in special session to hear arguments pro and con of the several attorneys interested. Objections to the report have been filed by Nash and Booth, as attorneys for Wm. M. Hoag, Geo. S. Coe, trustee, T. E. Hogg and W. H. Burns, et al; Johnson & Hufford and Snow & McCamant for insurance companies, who claim priority of payment on their receiver's certificates; and L. Flinn for D. B. Monteith, John A. Crawford, W. L. Vance, First National Bank of Albany, and L. Flinn. Wilson and Hufford ask for confirmation of that portion of the report relating to Benton county's tax claim. J. W. Dunne, attorney for Linn county's tax claim, and John Burnett and E. E. Wilson, representing the claim of school dist. No. 9, also ask that the report be confirmed. Weatherford & Wyatt ask to have the report modified so as to allow Lincoln county $3,331 claimed as taxes for the year 1892.
