V. E. Watters has purchased the residence property of Mrs. Ben Job, on the corner of Third and Madison streets, and intends occupying it shortly as his family residence.

At the grand army encampment held at Independence last week, O. L. Clark, of this city, was elected senior vice-commander of the sons of veterans, for the department of Oregon.

A. R. Chapman, who has been connected with the O. C. & E. for several months, left last week for Ravelstoke, B. C., where he has a position with the Canadian Pacific R. Co.

John Applewhite arrived home this week after a year's absence at Stanford university, having completed the law course at that institution. Mr. Applewhite expects to locate in San Francisco.

A number of Corvallis Woodmen went to Peoria, Sunday last, to take part in the unveiling ceremonies of a monument recently erected by the order to the memory of their deceased brother, M. P. Taylor.

Chas. L. Dailey, commissioner of this horticultural district, has been in town the past two days attending the sessions of state horticultural society, and will spend the balance of this week in this vicinity inspecting orchards.

Misses Erma Lawrence and Ora Spangler were re-elected last week to their positions as teachers in the Oregon City schools. Both young ladies are graduates of the O. A. C. and have met with splendid success with their school work in Oregon City.

A delegation of the Y. P. S. C. of the Presbyterian church will go out to the Oak Ridge Presbyterian church next Sabbath afternoon to organize there a society of christian endeavorers. Dr. Thompson will accompany the delegates and assist in this service.

Visitors galore have been in evidence at the Agricultural College of late. Among the number were the members of the horticultural society and several former students and professors. Prof. Washburn and Prof. Bristow looked in among the boys and girls again, and the latter was given an ovation by the students, and was forced to make a few general remarks. The horticultural gentlemen expressed themselves as highly pleased with the college and its work.

Both fellows kissed the blushing maid, said she, "Don't be so brisk, sirs. And ne'er 'gainst mine will again be laid, those faces full of whiskers." Poor Freddy took the Keeley cure, but Jack, with much more sense, her happy consent did ensure, by patronizing Spencer's.

C. H. Gleim, who was connected with the carriage factory for some time, while the concern was under the management of Trustee Brace, now has a position with the Oregon Pine Lumber Co., being located at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he is the company's resident agent.

There will be no service at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning, on account of the baccalaureate services at the college. Rev. E. P. Hill, D. D., who preaches the baccalaureate sermon will speak at the Presbyterian church in the evening at 7:45. All are invited to hear this able and eloquent speaker. Extra seats will be provided for the occasion.

F. P. Sheasgreen, with a force of men, is engaged this week in repairing the residence property on the lot adjoining the opera house. When completed, the building will present a decidedly improved appearance. Mr. Sheasgreen has secured a 3-year lease of the property and upon the completion of the present improvements will occupy the building as his family residence.

D. B. Kenworthy is preparing to open a lunch counter and eating parlors at Corvallis, the county seat of Benton. This will be quite an addition to the business section of that city—the "heart of the valley."—Statesman. Mr. Kenworthy comes from Salem, a town in Marion county, a few miles south of Woodburn. The other principal business house of Salem failed last winter.

John Aiken and Miss Eunice Alexander took the train for Albany yesterday morning, and before they started Mr. Aiken took the precaution to secure a license to wed from County Clerk Jones.—Lincoln Leader. Miss Alexander is a niece of Judge Hufford, and has many friends in Corvallis who will wish her a happy and prosperous journey through life.

Children's Day exercises at the Baptist tabernacle, last Sunday evening, were listened to by a very appreciative and good congregation, who gave a nice little contribution for the publication society, for which thanks are returned to all. There will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock as usual, next Sabbath, but no preaching till 7:30, after young people's meeting at 6:30. All are sincerely invited.

The school board of Dist. No. 8 has let a contract for the painting of the school building to T. H. Barnhart. Two coats are to be given the building, and the contract calls for a lighter shade than the present color. The material for the work is to be furnished by Allen & Woodward and the total estimated cost of the job is a trifle over three hundred dollars. S. N. Wilkins will have supervision of the work.

Two Corvallis women with presence of mind which they did not lose at the critical moment, saved a residence from destruction by fire yesterday noon. The residence in question was occupied by W. W. Westfall and is located in the southwestern part of town. It caught from a burning flue, and was extinguished by Mrs. Westfall and Mrs. Ed Zeis, not, however, until considerable furniture was destroyed.

J. P. Taylor, G. W. Ross and J. A. Broomfield were each holders of lucky numbers in the Examiner drawing which occurred June 1st. The prize Mr. Taylor drew was a bamboo fishing rod, with fine flies, reel and leader. While the other two gentlemen each secured a $5 pair of shoes. Mrs. Jane Harris was also a prize winner in the same drawing, and last week secured by express an 1890 model, Winchester rifle.

Mrs. F. A. Helm has steadily risen in favor in the grand lodge of the Eastern Star, until she has reached the highest position within the gift of the Oregon jurisdiction, that of grand matron. During the past two years Mrs. Helm has held the position of grand secretary, which she filled with credit, and her recent promotion is a flattering compliment to her for the faithfulness of her past services. Mrs. Minnie E. Lee was elected grand marshal, and Mrs. G. M. Strange, formerly of this city, was chosen grand treasurer.

T. M. Hamilton, commander of Ellsworth post, returned home Saturday night from attendance upon the G. A. R. encampment at Independence. He says the encampment was one of the most successful in the history of the department of Oregon. Over one hundred delegates were present, besides several hundred visitors. Mr. Hamilton says the people of Independence did everything possible for the accommodation and pleasure of the delegates, and they succeeded so admirably that Independence was selected as the place for holding the encampment next year.

John D. Daly left on the steamer Tuesday morning for Portland, where he has accepted a position in the business office of an afternoon daily, soon to be started in the metropolis by the Metropolitan Printing Company. Mr. Daly is a newspaper man of many years' experience and at one time was associated in the management of a paper with Mr. Glenn, one of the partners of the firm which is to publish the new daily. The venture is said to have plenty of backing and its promoters feel certain of success. It is said that already 2,000 subscriptions have been paid in advance, and sufficient advertising has been guaranteed to insure the enterprise against financial collapse. It is understood that the paper will oppose Simonsism, although politically it will be republican. For the present at least it will be a six column quarto devoted almost entirely to local news and local interests.

13 DOLLARS AND UPWARDS ORDER AT OGIL, THE TAILOR'S.

The absorbing topic of conversation on the street corners among the sporting fraternity, is the proposed trotting match announced to take place at the race track south of town, next Saturday afternoon. The race will be between Jess Brown's black stallion and John Kiger's bay mare, and a deal of interest is being taken in the affair. It is said that with proper management the Kiger mare can trot a mile in 2:50. The other horse, however, has never made a record for himself, although his backers claim he can do a mile in something less than three minutes.

Last Thursday the Maccabee fraternity celebrated their fifteenth anniversary with a grand picnic at the court house grounds in this city. Early in the morning visitors from adjacent towns began to arrive, and by 9:30, when the exercises began, fully 500 strangers were on hand to take part in the festivities. Alex Rennie was president of the day, and introduced the speakers who took part in the program, which included an address of welcome by Joseph Wilson and speeches by W. T. Rigdon, of Salem, and Mr. Lamberson, of Lebanon, upon the benefits of the order. During the afternoon, bicycle races and other athletic sports interested the crowd and a hop at opera house in the evening concluded the day's exercises.

Oregon Eclipse, the famous race horse, died at Irvington Park, Sunday afternoon, of inflammation of the lungs. This well-known horse was foaled on the Gird place south of Corvallis, about nine years ago, his dam being Lulu Riggs, owned by James Foster. He was sired by Joe Hooker. At the age of three years he won his first race at McMinnville. Later, he was taken to San Francisco and sold for $6,000, and soon gained a national reputation. His races were mostly from one-half mile to a mile, and for a long time he held the world's record of 1:13 for three-quarters of a mile. Eclipse possessed wonderful powers of endurance and his career was marked by one unbroken line of triumphs, having won during the six years he was on the turf over 100 races, and made for his owner over $100,000.

G. W. Householder has a runaway team which he drove to church last Sunday at Bellfontain, contrary to the advice of his wife. Going over, he was accompanied by Mrs. Householder and his brother-in-law, Alex Pickens. But when the time arrived for returning home, Mrs. Householder, fearing that the team might run away, declined to ride in the vehicle with her husband, and laughing at her fears, Mr. Householder and his brother-in-law started without her. But they had only gone a short distance when the team took fright and ran away, completely demolishing the vehicle and severely injuring the occupants. Doubtless in the future Mr. Householder will have a great deal of respect for the advice and opinions of his better half, especially regarding fractious horses.

Members of the O. A. C. Athletic Association who entered M. A. A. contests at Portland last Saturday, returned home Sunday night covered with glory and gold medals. The boys from here entered in seven events and took four first prizes. The Oregonians say, concerning the entries from the O. A. C. association: "There were several other surprises besides Kerrigan's wonderful high jump (six feet) and pole vault. One was D. C. Ray, of the Oregon Agricultural College, beating A. L. Fuller by a foot in the final of the 100-yard dash, in one of the prettiest races ever run on Multnomah field. It speaks volumes for the handicapping in this race that the finish could have been covered with a blanket. The 220-yard dash also went to the Oregon Agricultural College, Frank Crawford apparently not needing his 16 yards to win. The Oregon Agricultural College likewise took first place in the mile run, which was a gift to B. F. Burnett"—Burnett won this race in a 4:48, and finished fresh, opening up a gap of 50 yards between himself and Braze of the Multnomah's, in the last lap—"and the 56-pound weight, D. H. Bodine's handicap of four feet being too much for Flanagan." Flanagan holds the northwest record. For some unaccountable reason the hammer which Bodine took from Corvallis to use in the 16-pound throw, was disqualified. The hammer is exactly the same as that used by Edgrew, who holds the world's record. Being compelled to use a strange hammer, Bodine fell fifteen feet short of his record.

No mystery about it. When the Shakers offered some time ago to give away a bottle of their Digestive Cordial to any one who might call at their New York office, there was a great rush and a great many people thought they were crazy. Subsequent events prove it to have been a very clever advertising transaction, for although they gave away thousands of bottles, it was in the end profitable; nearly everyone that took a free bottle came back for more and paid for it with pleasure, saying that they had derived better results from its use than from any other medicine they had ever used. There is nothing so uniformly successful in the treatment of stomach troubles as the Shaker Digestive Cordial, and what is better than all, it relieves at once.

TWO NEW FLOURING MILLS.

The flouring mill agitation in the south end of the county has by no means been fruitless. Last fall when Messrs. Laws and Kreibel began talking about building a flouring mill they were undecided for a time as to whether they would establish it at Monroe or at Maudville, a few miles this side. The location of the plant aroused considerable local interest, and the people of the neighborhood discussed the relative merits of the two proposed locations until a deal of rivalry was created. Finally it was decided to erect the mill at Maudville, and work on the new structure began some weeks ago. This action, so it is said, aroused the ire of some of the enterprising Monroelites who were unwilling that Maudville should enjoy any advantages over their own town, so negotiations were at once entered into by Mr. Wilhelm and others for the building of a mill at Monroe. They finally succeeded in purchasing the plant of the Philomath flouring mills, and last Thursday twelve Monroe teams hauled the machinery to its destination where it is to be placed in operation in time to care for this season's wheat crop.

It is understood that residents of Philomath are not pleased with the turn affairs have taken. When the property was purchased from Mr. Folger by Mr. Kleppen the citizens of Philomath contributed considerable labor and money in getting the mill and dam repaired, with the tacit understanding, at least, that the plant should be kept in operation at that place. However, the concern under its new management has met with numerous setbacks by damage from high water, besides financial troubles, and has not proved a source of profit to its promoters. It is understood that the property was heavily encumbered, and also that liens aggregating over $1000 had been filed against it. What arrangements have been made for the settlement of these claims is not generally known, although it is said Mr. Wilhelm's trip to Portland this week was in that connection.

HORTICULTURISTS MEET.

The Oregon State Horticultural Society began its midsummer meeting at the court house Tuesday afternoon, and concluded its labors with an interesting program at the opera house last evening. The attendance from abroad was good and fully equalled expectations, although the attendance of local fruit men was astonishingly small.

Among the well known fruit growers from abroad that were present at the meeting were, Hon. E. L. Smith and wife, Hood River; Emil Schanno, The Dalles; H. M. Williamson, editor Rural Northwest, Frank Lee, editor Pacific Farmer, L. G. Burnett, editor Oregon Agriculturist, and Buell Lamberson, Portland; Norris Humphrey, Eugene; A. Schmeltzer, Scholls; James Bond, Halsey; A. Brownell and C. E. Phelps, Albany; B. E. Wandt and wife, Salem; J. R. Sheppard, Zena; H. E. Dosh, Hillsdale; A. McGill, Salem; A. D. Hale and wife, Hoskins; Chas. L. Dailey, Salem.

Tuesday afternoon was spent in listening to papers on pertinent topics by prominent members of the society, and to general discussions of the subjects treated. At the evening session the attendance was much larger than that of the afternoon, many ladies and business men being present. The forenoon yesterday was devoted to the transaction of business pertaining to the management of the society, and to a test of spraying apparatus.

IT WILL BE MCKINLEY.

The St. Louis Convention declares for Protection and Sound Money.

ST. LOUIS, June 17th.—The nomination of McKinley on the first ballot is now generally conceded.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The republican presidential convention of 1896, was opened by Chairman Carter, of the national committee, 12:20 p. m. The convention opened with prayer, and C. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, was chosen temporary chairman. He made a speech in favor of sound money and the principles of the McKinley bill, which was liberally applauded. The recommendations of the national committee, as to minor officers, were concurred in, and the rules governing the last convention were adopted. The several committees were appointed and at 1:55 the chairman announced the convention adjourned until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

THE PLATFORM.

The sub-committee of the resolution committee has placed in the hands of a typewriter the platform which will probably, with some minor changes, be adopted tomorrow by the convention. It scathingly denounces democratic administration of affairs which has resulted in disaster at home and dishonor abroad. It emphasizes the adhesion of the party to the principle of protection and denounces the present democratic tariff as sectional, partizan and one-sided; disastrous to the treasury and destructive of business enterprises. It favors the building up of our merchant marine. It declares for civil service reform and for liberal pensions. The building of the Nicaragua canal by the U. S. government, and it re-affirms the position of the party on the Monroe doctrine, expresses sympathy for the Cuban belligerents and favors awarding the belligerent rights. The use of public money for sectarian purposes, and the union of church and state are opposed.

THE MONEY PLANK.

"The republican party is unservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. "We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency now in circulation must be maintained at a parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolable the obligations of the United States, and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth." Senator Teller offered a free-coinage resolution as a substitute, which was voted down, his being the only vote in its favor.
