A RIOT AT CLEVELAND

One Striker Killed and Many Others Hurt.

STUDENT HELD FOR MURDER

Militia Was Called Out and Charged the Mob -Attempt to Lynch a Prisoner.

Cleveland, July 6.-The strike at the Brown Hoisting Company's works has reached a point where the authorities, as well as the strikers, are in no mood for trifling. When the non-union men left the works at 5 o'clock this afternoon, there was rioting. Two hundred and fifty police emerged from the gates guarding 500 workmen. An immense crowd had gathered a block away, but the police took a new route and eluded them for the moment. The strikers set up a yell and ran, soon overtaking the marching column, hooting and yelling. A huge moving van was in the rear filled with strikers, and with it a small wagon, laden with empty beer bottles. The police suspected that the bottles were intended as missles, and compelled the driver of the wagon to turn back. At Wilson and Euclid avenues, a York at 11:30 today. General Young railroad train blocked the way, and arrived in this country June 24. These men resisted, and the police used their clubs on them with such effect that their heads were soon swollen masses of cuts. One man's ankle was broken. The strikers in the van jumped out, and the police charged the crowd. Frank Coopenhecker, a machinist returning from work, and not a striker, was caught in the crowd and severely clubbed on the head. Hearn was arrested and looked up. The strikers were dispersed by the onslaught of the police, and the nonunion men were sent home. Meanwhile, a tragedy had taken place at the Brown works. Albert Saunders, a young student at the case school of applied science, whose father lives at 331 Prospect street, has been working for the Brown company during vacation for the practical knowledge it would give him. He did not leave with the nonunion men, under police guard, but mounted his bicycle and sought to reach home alone. As when a number of men ventured too far out and were caught in a heavy swell. Pakkalo's boat was the only one capsized, and he and his companion managed to cling to the upturned craft until seen by the men on board the lightship, when they were quickly rescued. Both host and net were lost. Their escape from death was a narrow one, and was only due to the fact that they reached the vicinity of the lightship about daybreak. The coroner today brought down from Bear creek the body of Samuel Farley, who died in a drunken spree. The man, with several companions, had a gallon jug of whisky, and in the evening laid down in the road. The others left him, and the man rolled down a hill, landing face down. It is supposed he smothered in that position. He was 30 years old, unmarried, and was employed in Frazer's logging

Cleveland, July 8.-Contrary to police fears, there was no violent demonstrations last evening after the funeral of William Rettger, the striker at the Brown Hoisting & Conveying Company who was shot by a nonunion man. There was, however, a great deal of feeling manifest, and the authorities think the prospect for trouble tonight. when the men in the works go home, are fully equal to those of the preceding nights.
