A number of Corvallis young ladies gave a Bohemian pienic one day last week, procuring a boat they rowed down the river about two and a half miles below town, and discovering a secluded nook, which they believed to be beyond the reach of bold male men, proceeded to enjoy themselves in true Bohemian fashion. A newspaper reporter on pleasure bent, also rowed down the river and in an evil moment his attention was attracted by the light from a campfire.

fellow landed and quietly made his way toward the light. Suddenly emerging from the willow thicket his gaze was riveted upon a somewhat startling living picture. A few feet in front of him blazed a camp-fire, while seated and reclining about it were a number of Corvallis' most dignified young ladies, daintily puffing balm-root smoke through their ruby lips. Several pairs of hose hanging about on the bushes told their own story. The "scribbler" was unable to repress an ejaculation of sorrowful surprise. Consequently was discovered and being outbered seven to one, when threatened with immediate drowning, was forced to swear by the most bloodcurdling oaths to never tell. After having given him s portion of their sumptions lunch, the young ladies restored their prisoner to liberty, they themselves returning to town by moonlight.

Recently a California family, by the name of Post, hearing glowing accounts of the Alsea valley, packed up their be-longings and started with a team and covered wagon for the supposed earthly paradise. On arriving at their destination they doubtless expected to find money growing on trees, but alas were doomed to disappointment. The farm-ers of Alsea, like those of every generation and clime since Adam and Eve by special request left the garden of Eden, "earn their bread by the sweat of their The Californians remained only a short time when they started from whence they came, and upon reaching Monroe, Mr. Post sought work in orde

The New Hook Spoon Free to All

I read in the Christian Standard that Miss A. M. Fritz Station A., St. Louis, Mo., would give an elegant plated hook spoon to anyone sending her ten 2-cent stamps. I sent for one and found it so useful that I showed it to my friends, and made $13.00 in two hours, taking orders for the spoon. The hook spoon is a household necessity. It cannot slip into the dish or cooking vessel, being held in the place by a hook on the back. The spoon is something that housekeepers have needed ever since spoons wers first invented. Anyone can get a sample spoon by sending ten 2-cent stamps to Miss Fritz. This is a splendid way to make money around home. Very truly, JEAN TITE S.
