He was not much musically, but as a humorist pleased all.

FARMERS AND MECHANICS.

Practical Education at the Oregon Agricultural College.

The agitation throughout Oregon relative to the establishment of creameries makes at this time an article descriptive of the Oregon Agricultural College dairy department of especial interest. It is connected with the department of agriculture of the institution and its course of study and practical work in butter-making, under the direction of Prof. F. L. Kent, have had the effect of making the agricultural course very popular among students.

The dairy department was established by the board of regents at their annual meeting in June, 1895. During the summer vacation following, a dairy building was erected and fitted up with the necessary apparatus, and about Nov. 1st, 1895, the manufacture of butter was commenced.

The purpose of the board in establishing this department was particularly to give instruction in private or farm dairying, although the apparatus used in the dairy building very completely illustrates the apparatus used in large creameries, but, of course, on a smaller scale. The milk supply is mainly obtained from the station herd of about 20 cows, several of which are registered Jerseys. There is one Holstein in the herd that holds a milk record for the year 1896, of 9,200 pounds of milk, or a butter yield for the year of about 320 pounds.

About 30 pounds of milk per day is received from a farmer living in the vicinity of the college and more milk might be easily obtained, but it is not the purpose of the management to conduct a commercial creamery. The butter output of the dairy, which is of excellent quality, is disposed of to the college boarding halls at the market price of first-class butter.

The process of converting the milk into butter is the same as is used by nearly all modern creameries and progressive private dairymen. The milk and cream are separated by means of the centrifugal separator, a machine consisting essentially of a steel bowl making about 6,000 revolutions per minute and having an inlet for the new milk and outlets for the cream and skimmed milk. Any one who has seen one of these bowls cleared after a run of an hour or more, at once realizes the advantages of the cream separator from a sanitary standpoint, but the chief advantage possessed by the cream separator is the saving of butter fat resulting from its use.

A separator, properly handled, seldom leaves more than one-tenth of one per cent. of fat in the skim milk, or in other words, not more than about one-fortieth of the amount of fat present in the milk before being run through the machine. On the other hand, tests of several samples of skim milk obtained from farmers living in the vicinity of Corvallis have shown a loss of from one-sixth to one-fourth of the fat in the milk when drawn from the cow.

The proper time to separate the milk and cream is as soon as possible after the milking is done, but it is the practice at the college to separate the night's milk and the next morning's milk at the same time. The churning is done on alternate days, hence some of the cream stands 48 hours and some of it only 24 hours. When put into the churn, the cream is quite thick and has a pleasant, acid taste. The churn used is of the trunk type and the churning continues until the granules of butter are about the size of a half grain of wheat. The butter-milk is then drawn off and the butter is washed twice with cold water. It is then placed on the worker, salted at the rate of one ounce of salt to one pound of butter, and worked for about five minutes. The butter is then molded into two-pound blocks and wrapped in parchment paper.

The course of instruction in this department is very thorough. It includes practical work in milk testing and butter making, and class room work in connection with these subjects. Students who desire to fit themselves especially for creamery work, find it to their advantage to take up specialties in addition to the regular course of study.

The college is fortunate in having selected as instructor for this important branch of the college course, a gentleman so well equipped for the work as Professor F. L. Kent. Although the dairy department is connected with the department of agriculture, the official head of which is Prof. H. T. French, the dairy is directly under the supervision of Prof. Kent. Mr. Kent is a graduate of the Agricultural College of Iowa, being a member of the class of '93. He was employed in the dairy section of the world's fair for a couple of months and in March, 1894, accepted the position of assistant dairyman at the Iowa Agricultural College creamery, where he remained until coming to Corvallis in the fall of 1895, to take charge of the dairy department of the Oregon Agricultural College.

Prof. Kent is an enthusiastic dairyman and thinks Oregon might rival any state in the Union in the production of dairy products. He believes that a creamery established at Corvallis would be of great benefit to this section. His observations lead him to believe that creameries are most successfully operated under the co-operative plan, as the number of creameries thus conducted is increasing yearly, the total number of co-operative creameries now exceeding those conducted by both private corporations and private individuals. An ordinary creamery, costing from $3,000 to $4,000, can reduce the expenses of operation to a minimum by handling the milk from about 600 cows. The dairy butter output from this number of cows would be worth from $75 to $100 or say $30,000 for a year. Were such a sum disbursed annually among the farmers living adjacent to Corvallis, hard times would be only an unpleasant memory.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

Monday evening Washington's birthday was appropriately observed by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Simpson, who entertained a number of their married friends at their pleasant home, corner 5th and Washington streets. Games and patriotic charades were played and an enjoyable evening was spent by the numerous guests. A patriotic quartet was sung by Mrs. A. B. Cordley and Mrs. M. S. Woodcock and Messrs. F. Berchold and J. Fred Yates. Mrs. Woodcock and Mr. Yates also rendered very excellently a vocal duet. Refreshments were served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Woodcock, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Burgh, Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Miller, Prof. and Mrs. F. Berchold, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Crawford, Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Altman, Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Cordley, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Yates, Prof. and Mrs. H. T. French, Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Samuels, Mrs. A. E. Lyford, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wilson, and Misses Edith Thompson and Merle Simpson.

KIDDER-PRY WEDDINGS.

At the residence of the bride's mother, on Fifth street, Feb. 25th, by the Rev. E. J. Thompson, D. D., Andrew B. Kidder and Laura B. Fry, both of this city. Mr. Kidder will be remembered as a member of the graduating class of '95 of the Agricultural College, and as one who has since been taking a post-graduate course. He is held in high esteem by all who know him. Miss Fry has been until very recently a student at the college. The wedding was a very pleasant and quiet event and the happy couple took their departure for San Francisco by the way of Yaquina on the afternoon train. Many good wishes follow them wherever they go.

A SPEECH THAT OFFENDED.

The local G. A. R. post gave an entertainment Saturday night and the members have since been busy regretting and apologizing for a vulgar speech made at that time by one of their comrades. On the program for reminiscences of the war was Levi Oren, who is as big as an elephant and has a voice like a calliope. He made a sensation. His talk bristled with vulgarisms, oaths and coarse language that brought blushes to the cheeks of the ladies present and made the men rage. His address had not even the merit of brevity and for an hour the post comrades and their guests, hoping that every sentence would be the last, had indecent expressions hurled at them in a voice of thunder. In other respects, the program was excellent.

A GOPHER EXTERMINATOR.

M. T. Whitney, of Chitwood, Lincoln county, was in town this week. Mr. Whitney has discovered a means for exterminating vermin and is making a tour of the valley with a view to introducing his discovery. His invention is called a vermin cartridge and Mr. Whitney is authority for the statement that it is a success. The cartridge is about two inches in length and 3/4 inch in diameter and is discharged by means of a fuse three inches in length, which is attached to the cartridge. The cartridge is filled with explosives that, when ignited, generate carbonic acid gas. The exterminating process consists in lighting the fuse, placing the cartridge in a gopher burrow, closing up the hole to prevent the escape of the smoke and gas, and in a few minutes all the vermin in the near vicinity are dead as a mackerel.

The Shakers of Mount Lebanon, a community of simple, honest, God-fearing men and women, have prepared the Shaker Digestive Cordial for many years, and it is always the same, simple, honest, curative medicine that has helped to make the Shakers healthy, long-lived people that they are. The Shakers never have indigestion. This is partly owing to their simple mode of life, partly to the wonderful properties of Shaker Digestive Cordial. Indigestion is caused by the stomach glands not supplying enough digestive juice. Shaker Digestive Cordial supplies what's wanting. Shaker Digestive Cordial invigorates the stomach and all its glands, so that after awhile they don't need help. As evidence of the honesty of Shaker Digestive Cordial, the formula is printed on every bottle. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

Ends in Chaos.

(Special Correspondence.)
One of the latest sensations has been Senator Mitchell's suggestion to his supporters that they drop his name and try to secure the election of some other good republican.

The only visible effect of this movement, however, has been to further demonstrate the insincerity of those who claim that the impediment between the legislators-elect and the performance of their duty has been Senator Mitchell. They still refuse to organize and do not intend to organize under any consideration. The decent members realize this now and will soon go home. SALER, Feb. 24.—Yesterday the Benton house voted to adjourn sine die at one o'clock today. The senate also decided to adjourn today, over-ruling Simon's decision that the motion was out of order. Today, the Simon men, taking advantage of the absence of some members, reconsidered the motion to adjourn sine die and adjourned till tomorrow. The joint assembly adjourned without a day and members are fast leaving for home.

It is said that Simon will adjourn the senate from day to day, and Davis will likewise adjourn the mock temporary organization of unequal members for some political point. But the legislative assembly that did not assemble is practically over.

Oregon will have but one representative in the national senate, the business of the state is in a pretty mess and state extravagances continue. John Whitaker, of Benton, has done his part toward creating this condition.

People who suffer from loss of appetite, indigestion, sour stomach and flatulence, find prompt relief in the use of Ayer's Pills. As an after-dinner pill, they are unequalled, causing the digestive and excretory organs to perform their functions as nature requires.

CELLS FOR THE CITY.

Wednesday night, bids for the construction of two steel cells in the city jail were opened in the presence of the committee, J. R. Smith, C. H. Lee and John Stewart. There were four bids, as follows: H. B. Williamson, $275; Jack Thomas, $249; Corvallis Foundry, $245; Fred Oberer, $230.88.

Mr. Oberer was given the contract. He has given bonds, with Al Pygall as surety, to complete the job in a workmanlike manner, within 60 days.
