source of much controversy. As finally agreed on, the duty on hides is placed at 20 per cent ad valorem in place of 11/2 cents per pound, as originally reported by the finance committee. The discussion was protracted into a the New and the Old World In a gold debate on trusts and from that back to the snear trust.

Among other paargraphs disposed of during the day were all those relating to gloves, a substitute for the paragraph on live animals, iron ore and stained glass windows.

The paragraph relating to stained or painted glass windows was changed slightly in phraseology, and the duties agreed to as reported.

In the iron ore paragraph the pending proivsion gave a duty of 40 cents per ton on iron ore, including manganiferous iron ore and the dross or residnum from burnt pyrites, with a proviso relating to the account to be taken of moisture in weighing the ore.

Allison offered new amendment which were agreed to, adding to the first clause of the paragraph as reported 'manganese ore, $1 per ton," also at the end of the proviso, "basic slag, ground or unground, $1 per ton." Paragraph 142, card clothing, was agreed to as in the house bill. In the paragraph on crosscut saws the committee made a change, inserting steel handsaws, finished or unfinished, 10 cents per pound, and 20 per

5 to 8 cents per package. A new paragraph was agreed to viz: Hooks and eyes, 5 % cents per pound and 15 per cent ad valorem.

At Quay's request, the change in paragraph 137 was reconsidered, and 1 cent restored as the duty on iron bars, etc., in addition to the rates on plates, etc.

Allison proposed a change in paragraph 4261/2, relating to hides, making the rate 20 per cent ad valorem instead of 11/2 cents, and also striking out the proviso relating to drawbacks. dry creek bed. The storm of last night, which was almost a cloudburst, had swollen the little stream to torrential proportions. The flood carried away a vagon bridge a short distance above the Wabash trestle. The wreck of this bridge was hurled down upon the railroad trestle and carried away a row of wooden supports in the center.

The scene of the wreck, which is only 20 miles northeast of Kansas City, near Missouri City, was visited today by many persons. A wrecking train worked there all day, repairing the trestle and raising the shattered coaches, and tonight trains are moving over the road as usual. The postal authorities report that probably nearly all of the mail carried on the train was lost or destroyed When the wreck occurred, the five postal clerks are supposed to have all of their pouches open, and to have been at work ditstributing the mail. The car was so broken and splintered that most of the mail floated off. . The Wabash train each evening carries all of Kansas City's mail for the East, and it is always heavy and valuable.

Dogs were struck in the streets and instantly killed. Horses were knocked to their knees, to rise again and dash away in mad fright. Many runaways occurred throughout the city. When the fury of the storm passed, those who ven-tured out found dead birds everywhere, and on every hand was the scene of the wreckage of the storm. The storm came from the southwest. Dense, greenish clouds gave warning of disaster, and as the day had been extremely hot and close, many foresaw a cyclone and sought shelter in their cellars. The storm came on with a heavy wind and terrific lightning, and then came rain, together a with a deafening crash of hail that was paralyzing to the senses. So great was the damage to telegraph wires that the city was cut off from the outside world for sevguns. There are not a dozen buildings in town that are not almost windowless, and many roofs were caved in. The roofs of many structures, also, were pierced. Exports have greatest prosperity, the slight reduction shown a moderate decrease under those in values being due to the smaller of the previous week. Bradstreet's reprices paid for the articles of commerce ports them at 2,156,000 bushels, while handled. When it is remembered that ocean passage decreased 1,440,000 bushthis happens before the new tariff bill els. Our visible supply decreased gets upon the statute books and with 1,879,000 bushels, and is now down the industries of the country depressed to 18,794,000 bushels, the smalles by the importation of foreign goods at in many years. Were there any the rate of over a hundred millions a speculation we would see higher prices month, the improvement thus noted at once, but the market is in a rut and is very remarkable and is proving very so narrow that it is at present con-

Pushing the Tariff. Events have moved rapidly in Washngton this week. The senate, realizing the pressure which is being brought upon it by the country for rapid action on the tariff bill, has held sessions early and late and pushed through the bill at a rate of speed absolutely unparalleled in the history of that ordinarily slow-That this should have going body. happended within a few months of the close of one of the most bitterly fought campaigns that the country has ever seen is the more remarkable because still greater speed is not made under these remarkable circumstances, can searcely be accounted for, except upon the theory suggested by a gentleman recently quoted in this correspondence that the state of nervous prostration to which the Cleveland administration brought the country has rendered the people to some degree irresponsible and unwilling to measure things expected by those that have happened in the past. Protection Gainfug in the South. Nothing has more disturbed the Democratic leaders in and out of congress than the fact that the large number of Democratic members from the South have, within the past few days and weeks, cast their votes in favor of a protective tariff and that no less than one-third of the members of congress from south of Mason and Dixon's line have either voted directly for a high rate of protection in the pending tariff bill or refused to cast their votes against it. Thirty-two Southern men in the house voted for the Dingley bill and five others from that section-Populists -refused to vote against it, while in the senate, as is well known, numbers of Southern Democrats and Populists have voted for either higher rates of protection than were originally placed in the bill or than those reported from the finance committee. That this growth of protective sentinent in the South is a genuine one and largely the result of the development of manufacturing industries in that section is apparent, but the necessity for excusing and minimizing it has led Mr. Bryan's organ, the Omaha World-Herald, and other papers to assert that the protective vote from the South is cast ov men not natives of 'that section and not representing its real sentiment. In a recent issue, the Omaha World-Her ald, commenting upon this subject,

'During the last decade a great deal of Northern capital has been invested in Southern manufacturing enterprises and it is natural that the investing capitalists after years of paternalism in the shape of protection should still cling to it. The voices from the South crying for protection are voices that have been imported into that section from protection nurtured New England and are not the voices of Southerners. * * The protectionists in the South are those who have left the sterile hills of New England and wandered operation." This assertion that the Southern votes which have been cast for the protective tariff bill or for especially protective features proposed or adopted, were cast by men not natives of that sectioncarpet-baggers—is absolutely untrue. It is apparent from the examination of the personal history of the Demo-

down south to broaden their field of crats from the South who have voted for the protective features of the tariff bill, that in every case they are natives of that section and life-long Democrtas, and the Populists who voted for the bill are all natives of the South. The same rule in most cases applied to the 30 Republicans from the South. The Republican party has in congress

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER.

Downing, Hopkins & Company's Review of Trade. Considerable activity has been noted in July wheat during the past week, owing to the fear of manipulation by the elevator men. Stocks of wheat in Chicago are now down to 3,000,000 bushels, and this is firmly held by men who believe in higher prices for spot wheat during the next 30 days. There has been little doing in other options although September wheat 'has gained two cents. The news has been somewhat conflicting in many respects, reports of harvesting from the Southwest tending to somewhat dishearten holders, while the news in other respects good demand for cash wheat. Receipts have fallen off sharply in the Northwest, and everything indicates that from now on until the next crop moves, damage to wheat in certain sections, while in France there has been only a gratifying to those who are following the situation closely.
