F. L. MILLER, Leading Clothier,

[CORVALLIS, OREGON.]

The Odd Fellows decorated their new hall last Friday evening with appropriate exercises. A number of visiting members were present, and after the regular programme the Rebecca served a splendid lunch.

Rev. H. V. Pominger, of Crawford, Nebraska, will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday morning and evening, and will also preach at Plymouth church in the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A cordial welcome to all.

S. L. Kline is in San Francisco. He expects to return Monday, Wednesday evening the board of fire delegates, of which he is president, tenders him a reception. Active and exempt members of the fire department, and the city officers are the invited guests.

The Odd Fellows Cemetery Association will meet on Tuesday, July 20th, at 3 o'clock, p. m. The change of day is made on account of the arrangement made with the Workmen. Wednesday is their day. The meeting will be held at the new hall. O. E. Moore, Pres.

J. H. Gibson has removed his office from the Fisher building, and now occupies quarters in the Zierolf building. Hartless & Davison, who had office room with Mr. Gibson have also changed their location, and are quartered in the Kline block over Miller's clothing store.

The salvation army has been having special meetings last and this week. The army seems to be well encouraged since the present officers took charge. Their intelligent and earnest manner has gained for them the respect of our citizens.

Howard Bush, of Kings Valley was in town Monday. He believes in free coinage of silver but had no special desire to see Mr. Bryan, as free silver with him is a matter of principle and not of men, and he is no "heroworshipper." Mr. Bush is a populist.

Wayman Mason returned from San Francisco last week and wears his neck in a sling. He went in bathing at Sutro baths just before coming home and took a dive. The water was not as deep as he supposed it was and struck bottom with his head and nearly unjointed his neck. He is now somewhat improved and will doubtless be entirely recovered in a few days.

Corvallis "Hearties" played the Long Tom baseball team last Sunday on the latter's grounds, and won, the score standing 26 to 11. Some very good playing was done, Geo. Irvine, Corvallis pitcher, striking out 13 men; Alex Rannie making two home runs and one three-bagger besides an errorless game behind the bat, and Clarence Hout doing a fine running catch and double play.

Brady Burnett goes to Portland to-day and to-morrow will run the distance races in the Washington Oregon athletic meet. He did not know until lately that he was entered for the mile and his training has been for speed rather than for wind. He hardly expects to break any records to-morrow. His training has been rather limited, but the half and mile races will not be a walking match.

Brick-laying on Whitehorn's building began this week. With the force employed here, a large number of men at work on the First National Bank building, the street improvements under way, the brick yards in full blast, the flour mills running night and day, and other factories to their full capacity, and harvest at hand, the man is blind indeed who cries "hard times."

Next Sunday afternoon on the flat there will be played a game of baseball that promises to be full of interest and good playing. The Lebanon nine, a strong combination, and the Corvallis "Hearties" try conclusions at that time. A big crowd is sure to be attracted and the "rooters" will exchange their lungs and vocal cords. The "Hearties" are in better shape than when they played Philomath, having added several first-class players.

In the commissioners court held last week, the reports of the several officers were read and approved. Mrs. Martha Peet was allowed a rebate of $4.08 on account of reduced valuation of her bank stock. The application of Hope Grange, Alsea, for new survey of county road was rejected. M. Schmidt allowed a rebate of $7.55, taxes on street railway. Bowman & Underwood were given the contract to paint the court house clock for six dollars.

Bryan and prosperity ran a race to Oregon. The people wished to see both parties and are inclined to call the contest a draw. The barbers of Corvallis want front seats in the prosperity show, and hence their prices have been slightly advanced. When men were poor, out of work, out of credit and feeling ornery all over, barbers had to shave for almost nothing or be idle. It's different now. Prosperity and cleanliness go hand in hand. Spencer has a boom in patrons, e. People who enjoy his shaves and haircuts couldn't feel blue if they wanted to.

Did you ever stop to think what indigestion really means? It means simply that your stomach is tired. If our legs are tired, we ride. The horse and the steam engine do the work. Why not give your stomach a ride that is, let something else do its work. Foods can be digested outside of the body. All plants contain digestive principles which will do this. The Shaker Digestive Cordial contains digestive principles and is a preparation designed to rest the stomach. The shakers themselves have such unbounded confidence in it that they have placed to cut sample bottles on the market, and it is said that even so small a quantity proves beneficial in a vast majority of cases. All druggists keep it.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Bryan's Brother.

In one car returning to Albany from the Bryan meeting at Lebanon there were only a few people, and among them, Dr. Hill of Albany, the well known populist, and four or five Corvallis friends. Dr. Hill is round faced and wears no whiskers.

A granger came sauntering through the car—not one of the business-like farmers that one usually sees, but the kind represented by comic papers. He carried a grip. When he came up to Dr. Hill he paused, put down his grip, and asked, "excuse me friend, but ain't your name Bryan?" "It is," answered the Doctor cordially. "I knowed yah by yer picture. Yer eyes are blacker, though." "No, same kind of eyes," responded the man from Albany. "That was a gol darn good speech you made to-day." "Yes, pretty good, but nothing like I can do."

The picture question seemed to trouble the granger and he came back to it. "You take a mighty good picture, Mr. Bryan." "Yes," said Hill, "I generally sit for the photograph. My brother is so nervous." "Ain't you William Jennings Bryan?" "No," replied the Doctor, "I am his brother." "Well, I thought I noticed a family resemblance, anyhow." "You are exactly right," agreed Hill emphatically. "His wife even, never pretends to tell us apart."

The old granger gathered up his grip and went silently out of the car, astonished—and shocked.

To improve the appetite, restore healthy action to the bowels, promote digestion, and regulate all the bodily functions, Ayer's pills are the best. As a mild but effective aperient, no pill is in greater demand or highly recommended by the medical profession.

OREGON PRESS COMMENTS.

Newspaper Men Discuss the Incoming and Retiring College Presidents.

Oregon City Enterprise: The board of regents—that is, the six men who constituted the majority—of the State Agricultural College, have done a noble work in rescuing that institution from the blighting effects of political influence, which has proven so disastrous to the state university of Eugene, and placing it on a high educational plane where this college can take the rank that its revenue and position in the state warrants. Prof. Gatch, whom they have selected as president, is one of the ablest and most popular college men in the northwest. In addition to being a teacher of exceptional ability, he is a splendid organizer and director, and will make just the president that this great institution requires. Sunday Welcome: By a bare majority of the board of regents of the Agricultural College, Harry Miller has been voted out of the presidency of that institution, and Professor Gatch elected in his stead. The change should be a very beneficial one for the college. Miller was never a fit man for the place. He gained it merely through his political "pull." Gatch is a real educator, rather than a politician. There has been sufficient too much prostitution of our state educational institutions to the base purposes of politicians.

Cottage Grove Leader: The Corvallis O. A. C. gets a good man for president in the selection of Prof. Gatch. The regents are to be congratulated upon their choice. The other members of the faculty are all thorough, practical educators and fully qualified to make the State Agricultural College one of the leading schools of the coast and one wherein a boy or a girl can be thoroughly equipped for the duties of life. The people of Oregon can rest assured that they will have at least one state school of which they can be proud of and which will give full returns on the money invested in it. Roseburg Plaindealer: Prof. T. M. Gatch, who has been chosen to succeed Hon. H. B. Miller as president of the Agricultural College at Corvallis, is an old Oregonian, an educator of many years experience and will bring to the college every necessary qualification to make a good head of the institution. Albany Herald: Prof. Gatch is a well known educator and is an excellent gentleman. He has been a member of the faculty of the university of Oregon, the Willamette university and the university of Oregon, and for 30 years has enjoyed a high standing as a college teacher.

Astorian: At the meeting of the board of regents, Prof. Thomas M. Gatch, late of the Washington state university, was elected president of the Agricultural College and a director of the experiment station. Prof. Gatch is one of the best known educators on the coast. At one time he was president of the Willamette university at Salem, and later was connected with the state university at Eugene.

Roseburg Review: The friends of education throughout Oregon will rejoice over the outcome of the fight against Harry Miller, president of the State Agricultural College. The board of regents did well to depose the politician and install in his place a veteran educator, by their action replacing the chief executive of the state, who is said to have forgotten the dignity of his high position to such an extent that he lobbied openly for his political lieutenant, although he must have known that his retention would have seriously crippled the usefulness of an institution in which all the people in Oregon have an interest. Sad, indeed, is the plight of a great state when the salaries attached to the professorships in its highest schools must be parcelled out to the wire workers of ambitious scheming politicians who are in no wise qualified to perform the important duties devolving upon them. The members of the board did only their duty, yet the faithful performance of official duty is becoming so rare that an example of it really calls for commendation. The Agricultural College will no doubt feel the effects of the change of management in a way that will satisfy the most sanguine expectations of its friends. Its future has brightened wonderfully within a few days.

Scio Press: It is surely gratifying to the friends of education to see President Miller, saw mill man and politician, who has had no experience worth speaking of as an educator, deposed from the presidency of the Oregon Agricultural College, and Prof. T. M. Gatch, an eminent educator of many years of success, enthroned in his stead. In the selection of Mr. Miller, fitness and qualification had nothing to do in the matter. His appointment was purely political. He was as much out of place as the president of a college as a farmer would be if placed in charge of a steamboat on the Willamette river. With Prof. Gatch the matter is quite different. His success as president of the Willamette university and other schools during the past 25 years, gives promise that the O. A. C. will at once take its place as one of, if not one leading, best colleges of the state and coast. Mr. Miller can now start up his saw mill or go into politics as a profession, in either of which he may have some show of success, which he could not have as the president of a college.

Ashland Tidings: Prof. T. M. Gatch, one of the well known and pioneer educators of the northwest, has been elected to succeed H. B. Miller of the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis. Oregonian: Professor T. M. Gatch is one of the well known and pioneer educators in the northwest. He is personally known to more students probably than any other instructor in Oregon or Washington. He is very popular with all of them. He is the father of Claude Gatch, ex-mayor of Salem. Lincoln Leader: Prof. T. M. Gatch, late of the Washington university at Seattle, was elected president of the Oregon Agricultural College, at the meeting of the board of regents at Corvallis last week. Prof. Gatch is one of the foremost educators of the state, and his election to the presidency of the Agricultural College is a happy solution of the trouble which has enveloped that institution since the present state administration has made the college a medium of political barter. Under the guiding of the experienced hand of Prof. Gatch there is no doubt but that the college will progress as it should.

Rogue River Courier: Prof. Thomas M. Gatch, one of the best known educators of the northwest coast and formerly president of Washington state university, was, at a recent meeting of the board of regents of the Agricultural College, elected to the responsible position of president of that institution. Prof. Gatch is an educator of ability and he made a decided success in building up the Washington university. Sheridan Sun: At the recent meeting of the regents of the Agricultural College at Corvallis, Mr. Miller was superseded by Thomas M. Gatch as president and director of the experiment station. Mr. Gatch is too well known in this state as an educator to need any special mention. He is a man of well known attainments, and will maintain a high standard for the school over which he called to preside.

Northwest Pacific Farmer: They (the board) have succeeded for a time in lifting the college from the political mire into which Governor Lord threw it and tried to keep it, and have elected one of the best known educators in common lines in the northwest. Oregon Mist: In the selection of Prof. Thos. M. Gatch as president of the Agricultural College at Corvallis, the board of regents, we believe, acted wisely. It not only places the institution in the hands of a trained educator, but none the less important, it removes the management of the school from the chicanery of politicians and damaging influence of politics. Every one who has watched the manipulation of the affairs of the Oregon Agricultural College knows that the selection of H. B. Miller one year ago was a political bargain, and if reports are true politics predominated in the management of the college ever since. Let such jugglery with institutions of learning come to an end in this state for all time to come.

Washington Hatchet: The regents of the State Agricultural College have done themselves credit in electing to the presidency so able an educator as Dr. Gatch, and one who has been so long and so prominently identified with school work in this state. He is very acceptable as an Oregon man and especially as one free from the taint of political life.

Edited the Gazette.

One of the brightest and best appearing of the exchanges that come to this office is the Ilwaco (Wash.) Tribune, edited by Sam L. Simpson, who is known as "the poet of Oregon." His "Beautiful Willamette" is a gem, and the most popular of his verses.

Mr. Simpson was editor of the Corvallis GAZETTE many years ago, succeeding W. B. Carter, who had made the paper the official organ of the good templar lodge in Oregon. In his salubrious Mr. Simpson dissolved the relations between the paper and the lodge, saying "temperance is not the present editor's forte." It is understood that he has since adopted that virtue.
