I'd sell my watch and pawn my bike, if that would take me to Clondyke. The awful hardships I would brave, but I cannot leave Jess Spencer's shaves.

Prof. T. H. Gregg formerly of Philomath College, left this week for Huntington Ind. to accept the chair of mathematics in the U. B. College there.

Mrs. Thomas Kirkpatrick and her son George who have been visiting relatives in Corvallis during the past two weeks, left Wednesday for their home in San Francisco.

F. N. McCandless and A. B. Clymer, of Ellensburg, Wash., Northwest agents for the Standard Accident Insurance Company, were in Corvallis this week looking after business.

Work on the Whitehorn building is progressing rapidly. The brick work in remodeling the Bank building is nearly completed but the carpenters will be busy for some time yet.

S. L. Kline announces that he is prepared to receive consignments of wheat or oats for the San Francisco or Portland market. Will furnish sacks. Liberal advances on consignment.

The steamer Gypsy, on her trip down the river Wednesday, struck a snag, tearing a big hole in her hull, and she sank almost immediately in 20 feet of water. The crew escaped.

R. E. Gibson, F. L. Miller and R. M. Davison started Wednesday morning for Ten Mile, a hunting field a few miles south of Yachats. They will spend two weeks hunting and fishing.

The GAZETTE Job Office is crowded with work. Leave your orders for summer and fall stationary. Notwithstanding the rush of business all orders will be filled satisfactorily and speedily.

Wm. Mackay writes that the Rossland mines are about "played out." The big strikes there were all imaginative. He has been logging all winter but is now on his way to Clondyke, overland.

Thresher companies are busy rigging up their machines and several will commence operations next week. Simpson, Huston & Co. are agents for the celebrated Buffalo Pitts threshing machinery.

Elmer Samuels has charge of the warehouses at Wren, Blodgett, Suver and the Samuels warehouse at Corvallis. His family have moved up from Airie, and Corvallis will be his headquarters.

Will Hartless suffered an injury to his eye last Saturday. He packs a bottle of arnica for just such occasions, but this time, in his excitement, he pulled out the wrong vial. The ink was more decorative than soothing.

Rev. D. M. Metzger of La Fayette will occupy the pulpit in the Evangelical Association Church (in the Northwestern part of town) next Sabbath evening. He comes in the interest of the Seminary at La Fayette. All are cordially invited to be present.

F. W. Howell of Alsea, was in town Saturday, on his road to Salem. He reported the killing of a very large cougar in the valley last week, by Roy Ortell. His dog treed the cougar and Ortell shot it. The animal measured 6 1/2 feet from tip to tip.

A party of lady cyclists, escorted by Bruce Burnett rode over to Albany Wednesday. Of course they did not know that the circus was to be there. Among them were Mrs. Callahan, Mrs. Rensie, and Misses Clara Fisher, Edna Irvine, Ella Schmidt and Blanche Small.

Ben Woldt has four trees of a new plum, the "Wonderful Tennant" that are full of ripened fruit. This plum is handsome in appearance and is said to rival any other in quality. The advantage of having plums that ripen at this time of the year, before the fall rains begin, can be readily seen.

L. G. Kline returned from Portland Monday, where he visited his son, Moser. Moser is with Failing and Robertson, a firm that includes three large iron and machinery stores, formerly under separate management. He was with Lowenberg, and was the only employee retained in the new arrangements.

Rich gold fields have been discovered in South America and Adam Assell has organized a party of young bloods to prospect there. His crowd includes himself, Manuel Knight, Woods Jackson and John Simpson. He says they will start as soon as Manuel finishes a cord of wood he has to saw, if not later.

Clark, Wayman Mason and Harry Roggers. Sub: Albert Thornton, Frank Crawford and Bruce Burnett. The game will be played at Albany in the afternoon.

At the session of the Circuit Court, held last week, Kittie Post was granted a divorce from her former liege lord, who made no defense. In the case of the Water Company vs City of Corvallis, plaintiff's motion to strike out separate answer was overruled and plaintiff given 30 days to reply. J. Fred Yates was appointed referee to take evidence. Other matters on the docket were disposed of.

The regular excursion train on the O. C. & E. R. R. will go beyond next Sunday. Passenger Agent Jack Mayo promises no extra attraction for that time, but none are needed, and parties are already planning for a day on the beach. The Sunday following, however, Jack will exhibit a school of trained whales to the visiting multitudes. They can be driven singly, in pairs, or four abreast. This is not a "sea serpent" story. It is whales. After the exhibition the sagacious animals will be hitched to a large water chariot and driven to Dawson City. Those engaging passage to Clondyke, by this route, will have to first pass an examination in veracity. Next Sunday, the most formidable animal in sight, will be the summer girl.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have invented a great many valuable things. They were the first to make brooms by machinery; the first to put up seeds in little packages; the first to manufacture cut nails.

Now they are out with a method of curing dyspepsia by resting the stomach. Their remedy is known as the Shaker Digestive Corial. It supplies food in an artificially digested form and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods in the stomach. In other words, by the use of the Shaker Digestive Corial, a dyspeptic virtually gets along without the use of his stomach until it is restored to its natural strength and vigor. A single cent bottle will oft-times give marked relief. Get a bottle from your druggist and try it.

Lavol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

Where We Are At

There's no excuse for whining. Prosperity has awoke. The sun is sweetly shining. And the air is free from smoke. The sun of peace and plenty. Has cleared away the mists. Making good republicans. Of all the populists. Men sing a cheerful ditty. Life has a newer charm. There's bustle in the city. And bustle on the farm. The good-time mills all grinding. A great abundant grist. Makes a good republican. Of every populist. The farmer smiles with pleasure. To see each golden field. And figures out the treasure. That harvest time will yield. Then to his wife he whispers (Giving his hand a twist) "My dear you've seen the last of a husband-populist."

Rheumatism, which is caused by an acid in the blood, is cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparil. External treatment of no avail. Until the blood is thoroughly cleansed of all impurities, it is useless to expect the cure of any disease. H. C. Cured others, will cure you.

WHERE SOUNDS THE SEA.

A Refugee from Valley head writes: of Newport and the Beach. Newport, July 27, 1897.

EN. GAZETTE: If your attention and the attention of your many readers are not too much absorbed by the current events of your own city perhaps a few lines from the seaside will receive a passing notice.

The wind is blowing, the dust is drifting and the waves are dashing in indescribable splendor. It well becomes one to keep mouth and eyes and ears closed, which of course is not conducive to long life and perfect pleasure.

The crowd has not yet arrived though quite a number are here and trying to enjoy themselves.

Newport is well prepared to receive and welcome all who come. The day-men and baggage-men are numerous and very polite as well as expensive. The restaurants are on every corner, and fully supplied with all kinds and grades of eatables. The hotels have all things ready and are impatiently waiting for their guests; the stores are filled with all that is both old and new; the saloons have repainted their signs, refilled their barrels and polished up their decanters, and last but not least the opera house has been slicked up for the dance and the band has begun to play. In fact the lights are turned on and the fun has commenced.

This morning as I was going to the Post Office I met a fine young lady, who politely but anxiously inquired if I could tell her where to find the State Teacher's Association. "In a school marm from Coon Valley and don't know nobody here," she said. Then I remembered I had read in the Oregonian a few months ago that the State Teacher's Association would meet at Newport July 26th, and that a most excellent program would be presented. So I told this beautiful but bewildered school marm that perhaps the Association met at the Opera House, and possibly it might assemble on the beach. A little later it was discovered in the former place, but before noon adjourned for the beach to hunt water, agates and to go in bathing.

There is nothing more helpful and instructive to a Teacher's Association than "bathing." And at this writing it is reported that State Supt. Irwin is still out on the sea and will not come in until the steamer Farallon arrives. County Supt. Irvine and Prof. Horner seem to be "bussing the job," and all goes well. It is impossible to give the names of all the distinguished visitors present. I caught a faint glimpse of Prof. Pratt of Corvallis, and County Supt. Dennison of Benton as they were chafing after a rock oyster. Some of the delegates are taking lessons in "bowling" at the bowling alleys, and are making very commendable progress. All the State institutions, except those at Salem are very well represented in the Association and there is no doubt but the convention will be very profitable in many ways. I cannot tell you any more this time—wait for the next. N.Y.C. CREK.

In cases where dandruff, scalp diseases, falling and grayness of the hair appear, do not neglect them, but apply a proper remedy and tonic like Hall's Hair Remedy.

THE YELLOW DUST.

Three Corvallisites Start for Clondyke.

Monday morning three Corvallis men bid their relatives and friends good-bye and started on a trip to the gold fields of Alaska. They were C. Schmidt, of the Occidental hotel, Ruthyn Turney, recently on the Times force, and W. W. Fry. All three men were well fixed financially and represent several parties who remain at home. They probably take over three thousand dollars up with them. The steamer Elder, on which they sail from Portland, leaves Saturday, but supplies will have to be purchased at Protland.

All the papers are full of Clondyke news and gossip. The excitement is on the increase and every steamer going to Alaska is overloaded. Several Corvallisites are counting on going on the Elder, August 16. Nick Baesen left yesterday for Portland, and if he can secure passage, will leave on the Elder to-morrow. If not he will go next month. Lafe Wilson is another prospective Alaskan.

The Canadian government has decided to impose a heavy tax on successful mines. In addition to the $15 registration fee and the $100 annual assessment on each claim, the government will exact a royalty of 10 per cent each on claims where the output is less than $500 monthly, and 20 per cent on those producing more than $500 per month.

There is bound to be money in Alaska, for every boat that goes there takes up over fifty thousand dollars.

Up in the Clouds.

About 300 people went up to "the front" last Sunday on the O. C. & E. excursion, and at least 300 valley men and women enjoyed themselves that day. The weather was delightful and the trip, one full of interest.

The Santiam is a handsome stream and lovers of the beautiful found plenty of material for waxing enthusiastic. The scenery along the road is simply magnificent. Arriving at Berry, the excursionists betook themselves to shady nooks and lunched, for the exhilarating atmosphere gave one an appetite. Then the anglers angled while the rest strolled along the river bank admiring the falls and rapids and digging maidie hair fern, which grows in beauty on the rocks.

Returning the train left Berry at 5:30 p. m., with a very contented lot of people.

A Bad Road.

Fall Creek, July 25, 1897. EN. GAZETTE:—A few days ago, while Fred Bates was moving his family to Fall Creek, in crossing Digger hill his wagon upset and a serious accident was narrowly averted. His wife's head struck a log, and she was stunned. His little girl was bruised, but it is thought and hoped that the injuries are not severe.

Last spring two little boys were riding a horse over that hill when the animal got his feet fastened and fell. The boys slipped off, and the horse went over the grade, falling a distance of 40 or 50 feet below, but both boys and horse escaped serious hurts.

Benton county has been informed that this road is dangerous and that there is an old rotten bridge at the narrows, that some one will go through if it is not fixed. Now if any serious accidents happen on account of this bad road and bridge, Benton county will have some damages to pay.

Yours truly, OSCAR TOM.

Lands the Indians.

Mr. Chas. E. Worden, U. S. locating agent at Klamath Indian reservation, is in town this week, and purchased a cottage on Sixth and Jackson streets, which he will have remodeled for his family's use this winter. His daughter will attend school here.

Mr. Worden is locating the Indians on individual tracts of land, but his work has been interfered with by legal complication. The government gave to the Oregon Road Company, which was succeeded by the California Land Company, 125,000 acres of land that were already included in the reservation. The Secretary of the Interior directed Mr. Worden to allot the disputed land to the Indians notwithstanding the company's claim. The company enjoined the agent from making any report and from proceeding with the allotment, and the matter comes up for hearing in the U. S. District Court next week.

There are three tribes on the reservation, the Klamaths, Modocs and Putes. They are of the better sort of Indians physically, morally and financially. Several are worth over $30,000. Jas. Emery, for a long time professor of mathematics at the Agricultural College is the agent in charge.

Mr. Worden is a native of Ohio and was born in the same county that furnished the country McKinley and some of his cabinet officers. He is a democrat and was in the last democratic national convention that nominated Cleveland, but he speaks in the warmest terms of the present president.

Wren School Report.

The following is a report of the school in district 95, for the term commencing April 79, and ending July 23, 1897. Number pupils enrolled, 7; average daily attendance, 450; total number days attendance, 450; number visitors, 10; those neither absent nor tardy were: Clara Stewart and Laura Stewart. School closed with a literary programme. NELLIE GHORMLEY, Teacher.
