Ten were wounded. The majority of the passengers were in bed when the explosion occurred, which was as loud as a cannon's roar. People rushed from their rooms in their night clothes and found the whole forward portion of the steamer's upper works blown away. The electric lights had been put out, and the escaping steam enveloped the front portion of the boat, till it was impossible to see how much of the boat had been damaged. The screams of the men who were locked in their rooms near the pilot-house were heartrending.

Captain John Tulan had been blown from his bed against the door of the stateroom, and so seriously injured that he could not move. The door could not be forced open, as he was jammed up against it. One of the employes of the boat secured an axe and cut the upper part of the room away, and finally removed him, but not until he was virtually roasted alive. When pulled out, the flesh dropped from his bones in large pieces, and although he was suffering excrutiatingly he bore it bravely, and not a group escaped him as he was taken out of the steam.

plosion occurred. Jerry Dailey, the fireman, was in the firehold of the boat when the accident occurred. The escaping steam completely enveloped him, scarcely a portion of his body escaping the scalding vapor. He died at the receiving hospital at 12:15 this afternoon. He had been in the employ of the California

Navigation & Improvement Company for about 14 years. Underneath the lower decks, where the deck hands slept, the groans and screams were heartrending. A Blizzard Raged in the North Atlantic New York, Nov. 29. - When the people of New York awoke this morning, they found the blizzard that raged when they retired was still in progress. In these days, when the hand of the anarchist assassin is lifted against sovereigns and statesmen, says The Sheffield (England) Telegraph, it is gratifying to know that Lord Salisbury has a powerful life guard ever at his side. $10,105 was obtained, which added to There is at Hatfield a cherished breed the accrued interest made a total of of faithful hounds of immense strength and bulldog tenacity. One of these is the premier's close friend and accompanies him in his walks about Hatfield. So faithful a guardian is he that Lord Salisbury, with a touch of his characteristic playful irony, has called him "Pharaoh"-because he will not let the people go. A mean rogue in Kentland, Ind., is warned by a farmer, who has inserted this advertisement in the local paper: "I am watching for the man that milks my cow. If I catch him, I in-185, while for the week previous the tend to shut my eyes and shoot at the cow." The Sultan's Pistol Practice. Anarchist assassins will do well to From a person of importance newly returned from Constantinople I learn that the Sultan, in fear for his personal eafety, has taken to revolver practice. He shoots at a target daily, and has become so proficient that he can fire with equally fatal facility with either his right or his left hand.
