It is dangerous for a pretty young woman to keep house for a handsome young bachelor, even where both parties strictly observe the moral law: "Be virtuous and you'll be happy."
Miss Missouri Utlinger kept house last year for Mr. James Burt, in East Leavenworth. Miss Missouri was a good girl, and James was a correct young man. He was so correct, and proper and promising that the girl fell deeply and desperately in love with him. She told him of her love, simply because she couldn't help it, and she afterwards proved her right to make these warm advances upon his icy coldness. But she could not melt him. He stood out manfully against all the overflowing wealth of her affection, and he had a right to do that, too, and was just in doing it, if he could not give heart for heart. It was a most unfortunate affair, nevertheless. Miss Missouri's grandproper and promising that the girl mother lived near, and the girl might have taken refuge from her consuming. What we claim, in substance, is, that this is have taken refuge from her consuming passion in the house of her aged relational will do any and all of your work perfectly, will do any and all of your work perfectly, will last a lifetime is a willing and ready servant, and ed and could not leave the roof of James Burt. He was unmarried, and hope still clung to his bachelorhood. The other day James was preparing furtherald. to go Atchison, and Missouri heard he was going to get married. He his hair the finishing curl. The girl came up behind him and asked to be permitted to comb his Lair. He turned, and she made a dash at his throat with an open, flaming razor. By a lucky catch he wreached the razor from her grasp. She then asked him for poison that she might take it and become as cold as he was. He had no poison about him, and refused her even this last boon of happiness in a world of woe. She left him, If you are prejudiced in favor of any went to her grandmother's and bor particular Machine, at least examine THE HOWE be rowed a pistol, with which she said James wanted to shoot a hog. She returned, and came with the pistol concealed in her bosom, into the room where James still was-daintily making his wedding toilet. She pass-ed through the room into the kitchen. Every Machine is Fully Warranted and Satisfacpleasantly asking Bart to follow her there, as she had something nice to show him. He said that he would come in a minute, and just then he heard a shot. He went quicker than heard a shot. He went quicker than a minute, and found poor Missouri THE HOWE MACHINE CO., lying on the kitchen floor with a bullet hole in her temple. She was insensible, and soon as cold as he was. After decently attending the funeral of Missouri, he rearranged his toilet, combed his hair and went to Atchinson to get married. He married another woman, probably to comb his hair. It could not be otherwise, and he could not help it that the bleeding figure of Missouri Uttinger stood between him and his bride at the altar. What business had it there at such a time?

An Astounding Weapon.

Mr. Hoykel, of Passale City, New Jersey, has for ten years past, in connection with a New York mechanic, been at work on an invetnion which promises to revolutionize ordinance. There was an exhibition yesterday, in public, of the gun. The little one used yesterday boked like a twelve foot gas pipe, with a half inch bore, carrying a needle shape bullet. On the under side of the control of the carrying and of the carrying and the under side of the gun are metallic pockets, each filled with as much powder as the load at the breech. As the gun is fired these additional charges explode as the projectile passes along the barrel, so that before it gets out it receives the impelling force of each additional discharge. Being spread along the barrel, the danger of explosion is averted and the force increased to a wonderful degree. The first shot fired was through a solid mass of monitor iron four inches thick, which it pierced as though it had been a pine board, and buried itself several inches in an oaken stump against which the iron had been placed. Then a shot was fired at a target composed of twelve plates of three-eighth meh plate iron, securely strapped together. The bullet went through this. One of these cannons of six inch bore has been completed and will be tested before

SEMINAL WEARNESS.

The preservation of health and life is dependent upon the proper condition of the procreative functions and any weakness or cause of weakness of the generalive organs or their uses is a direct attack upon the general health as well as a sure destruction—if not properly cured—of the organs that are the pride of one sex and the blessing of the other. In Youth is laid the foundation of much of the misery of after years by the indugence of the most pastructive of habits making life a curse and spreading weakness and ruin SEMINAL WEARNESS. life a curse and spreading weakness and min among mankind, for it is a well known fact that the indulgence in solitary vice, even in the slight-est degree, plants seeds of weakness in the system that grow to a harvest of disease, sorrow and sty all that the Doctor's skill in the treatment of these affections, enables him to warrant speedy cures, even in obstinate cases, and in every instance give rehef. Discuses which formerly buffled the medical skill of the most learned and experienced Practitioners of the heating art, and were regarded by the majority of Physicians as utterly incurable, now readily yield to modern remedies, when prescribed by the intelligent Practitioner, who makes the human system, and these special allments, his constant study and subject of observation.

In no case is publicity permitted except at the express wish of the patient; and the Doctor confidently trusts that his long experience and successful practice will continue to insure him a liberal share of public patronage. By the practice of many years in Europe and the United States, he is enabled to apply the most successful remedies against diseases of all kinds.

He cures without mircrary, charges moderate fees, treats his patients in a correct and honorable way, and hay references of unquestionable veracity, from mon of known respectability and high standing in society. All parties who may consult him by letter or otherwise, will receive the best and gentiest treatment.
