As I have nearly completed the work of collecting and shipping the centennial exhibit of Orogon for the World's Fair, I deem it due to you that a short statement be made of what has already been accomplished and what is still necessary to be done to complete the work and make it a Ease of Operation and Management. success. I have already, with he assistance of contributors from various parts of the State, obtained material sufficient to fill forty-three large boxes containing over 500 separate packages, to be placed in the department for our State exhibit in the centennial buildings in the space already secured for their reception. This material consists of all our choicest varieties of gram in the sheaf and sack, flax and its products in oil, oilmeal and lint, seed and straw; grasses and seed, cultivated, and all our native varieties; all our native wood and timbers; our medical barks and roots; flour from our wheat; meal from our oats; all our fruits, dried and preserved; our wools in fleece and on sufficient to fill forty-three large boxes served; our wools in fleece and on an honest Machine, and if put in your family card; our flora, mosses, ferns, etc.; will do any and all of your work perfectly, will last a lifetime, is a willing and ready servant, and our fauna; the prepared skins of many of native birds, mineral paint, porcelain clay, condensed cider, and in fact specimens of almost all our en natural resources except our minerals. My colleague, Mr. Virtue, will doubtless see that our mineral resources are properly represented. I ELIAS HOWE SEWING MACHINES have also made arrangements for May be mentioned the following: woolen manufactures from the Ore gon City woolen mills, iron and iron ore from the Oswego iron works, fish from our salmon canneries; also a gion of Honor to Elias Howe, Jr., from our salmon canneries; also a map of our State, and the educational, civil and social history of its advancement from the earliest period of its settlement. The historical work has been put in the hands of Dr. G. H. Atkinson, and Hon. L. L. Rowland, our efficient State Superintend ent of Education, who, with their several committees, are sure to make this department a creditable success. There are also arrangements made by which all our fruits and vegetables ventor of Sewing Machines, and gave twenty years of his life to perfecting this Machine. will be received in their season. In accomplishing this work I have been materially assisted by some of our prominent farmers, and have also been given free passage and transportation on the O. & C. R. R., and on the several lines of the O. S. N. Co's boats within the State. These and transportation on the State. These and the braid of the State. These and the braid of the State. These and the braid of boats within the State. These accommodations have enabled me to perform a large amount of work that it would otherwise have been impossible to accomplish. G. W. Weidler, agent for the O. S. S. Co., has also billed all the material shipped as far as San Francisco, freight free. To procure, properly care and prepare for shipment transverse sections of our heavy timbers, I have paid out $326 65, for the most of which I have vouchers of payment. Of this amount I have received by private contribution from H. W. Corett, $50; Henry Failing, $50; S. Ladd, $50; R. R. Thompson, $50 O. & C. R. R., $50; Corbett & Macleay, $20; J. Hawthorne, $20; and J. B. Montgomery, $20-making ın all $310.

The work thus far within the State has not been done without a considerable sacrifice of time and a small outlay for my own private expenses, but funds must now be raised to pay the freight and terminal charges in advance from San Francisco to Philadelphia, or the work must stop where it is. These charges, from the best information I have been able to obtain, will not be less than $500. Shall the material go forward? Funds must also be procured for preparing the space with suitable platforms, counters, railings, shelving, showcases, &c., and it can hardly be expected that one man can attend to and perform all the work unless assistance and means be furnished him.

Doubtless the people of this State, through their legislature, another fall will make further appropriations for these contingent expenses will have to be incurred previous to that time. Will our capitalists and merchants, our railroad men and bankers, our land holders, farmers, manufacturers and speculators, who are all interested in having our State properly advertised to the world, furnish the means to complete the work? The C. P. R. R., is making extensive arrangements to have the material from H. T. Hayes. their land grant prominently placed on exhibition at the coming show.
