RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF STUKELY ELLSWORTH.

WHEREAS, It has pleased an Allwise Providence to remove from our midst Hon. Stukely Ellsworth; therefore be it

Resolved, That by the death of our worthy brother, Stukely Ellsworth, the Bar has lost one of its ablest and brightest ornaments, and society one of its most exemplary members, and his family a kind and affectionate father.

Resolved, That we hereby tender our sympathies to his family in this hour of their great bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread at large upon the minutes of the Court, and that a copy of the same be forwarded to his family under the seal of this Court.

J. J. WALTON, JR.,
J. M. THOMPSON,
G. B. DORRIS.

CITY AND COUNTY.

The Death of S. Ellsworth.

Upon the opening of the Circuit Court for the present term, Judge Walton presented the resolutions published elsewhere as a tribute of respect to the memory of S. Ellsworth, deceased, and moved that they be spread upon the records of the Court; that the Clerk furnish a copy to each of the city papers for publication, and that a copy be also sent to the family of the deceased properly attested, which motion was seconded by District Attorney Fitch. After eloquent and appropriate remarks by Messrs. Walton, Thompson, Dorris, Fitch, Brown and Chenoweth, Judge Barnett in response said:

Gentlemen of the Bar:

I fully concur in the sentiment expressed in your resolutions. The deceased was a prominent member of the bar of this county and State; he was a lawyer of fine ability, successful in his practice and genial in his profession. He was stricken down by disease in the prime of life and full vigor of manhood, and after suffering but a few days paid the penalty of existence, and death claimed another member of our profession from among the number who have been known and respected in this county, and who have so often delighted and instructed those who had the pleasure of listening to their eloquent voices within this room, and the name of Ellsworth is added to that of Stratton, German, Thayer and others of our brethren who have gone before. The death of our brother has suggested to my mind the following beautiful sentiment, the production of one of the gifted sons of earth who is himself now one of the pale sleepers:

"The fat of nature is inexorable. There is no appeal from the great laws which doom us to dust. We flourish and fade as the leaves of the forest, and the flowers that bloom and wither in a day have no firmer hold upon life than the mightiest monarch that ever shook the earth with his footsteps. Generations of men will appear and disappear as the grass, and the multitude that throngs the earth to-day will disappear as the foot prints on the shore. Men seldom think of the great event of death till the shadow falls across their pathway, hiding from their eyes the faces of loved ones whose living smile was the sunlight of their existence. Death is the antagonist of life, and the cold thought of the tomb is the skeleton of all feasts. We do not want to go through the dark valley; although the passage may lead to paradise we do not want to lay down in the damp grave, even with prices for bedfellows."

In the beautiful drama of life, the hope of immortality so eloquently uttered by the death devoted George finds a deep response in every thoughtful soul. When about to yield his young existence as a sacrifice to fate, his Clementina asks if they should meet again, to which he replies: "I have asked that dreadful question of the hills that look eternal; of the clear streams that flow forever; of the stars among whose fields of azure my raised spirits have walked in glory. All were dumb; but upon the living face I feel there is something in the love that mingles through its beauty that cannot wholly perish."

By this event we should be admonished of the uncertainty of life, and so conduct ourselves in every relation that when the summons comes to us we will be prepared to obey it with an assurance of a glorious immortality.

The motion will be granted, and as a further mark of respect the Court will now adjourn until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

WHY IS IT?—One of the things we have never heard satisfactorily explained is this: That when an erroneous statement is made about any person or his business by any newspaper, the aggrieved person invariably makes his denial or explanation through some other paper. Why not do it through the same channel that has made the error? The GUARD is always open to any one to correct any false impression it may create, and no editor unless he be hide-bound to an inordinate degree will deny such privilege. There are no two papers whose subscription lists are anything like identical and it can benefit no one in any degree to make a denial of something which the people he addresses never before heard of, while the very ones he seeks to address go on in ignorance of his explanation. Here is W. L. Lemon of Junction City on his ear because of a false statement appearing in the GUARD of March 25th, and he rushes off to a Portland paper, which has perhaps 25 names on its books which are on ours, to correct it. The item was as follows:

Mr. John Lemon, of Junction has suspended payment. Mr. Lemon was proprietor of the extensive warehouse and elevator at that place, and there are claims against him for wheat stored with him to the amount of about $16,000, and now now in the warehouse.

To which Mr. Lemon, this is Wm. M. Lemon, recollect, adds:

This is false. Instead of falling short $16,000, it is only $10,000; and instead of payment being suspended, property has been turned over to satisfy all indebtedness. Besides, the warehouse was not owned by John Lemon as represented.

We cheerfully give Mr. Lemon—Wm. M. Lemon—the benefit of his correction, and suggest to all that when any newspaper makes any mistake concerning any matter of public interest it is always ready—or should be always ready—to correct it. There are perhaps some who might refuse, but they are the black sheep of the flock.

HARVESTING MACHINES.—Malheur Wallis has been appointed agent for Lane county for McCormick's Harvesting Machines. See his advertisement.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Lane County Business Council, P. O. H., will meet in Eugene City at 10 o'clock a. m., on the 2d Tuesday in May, proximo.
