ORGANIZATION EFFECTED.

SALEM, April 26.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order by H. Klippel, chairman of the State Central Committee. On motion, B. F. Burch was elected temporary chairman, and C. B. Bellinger, clerk.

A committee of five on credentials was appointed, consisting of A. Nulner, John Whiteaker, H. Klippel, L. Ison, and M. Shannon.

A motion to adjourn till 1 o'clock was lost; but a motion for a recess of a half hour was carried.

Upon reassembling, a committee consisting of one from each county, on order of business, was appointed.

A committee similarly constituted, was appointed on platform.

The Convention then adjourned to 2:30 P. M.

The Convention assembled pursuant to adjournment.

The committee on order of business, by Tichenor, chairman, reported as follows:

1. Adoption of platform. 2. Selection of delegates to the National Convention. 3. Nomination of District Judges. 4. Nomination of prosecuting attorneys. 5. Nomination of a candidate for Congress. 6. Nomination of candidates for Presidential electors. 7. Selection of the Central committee.

An animated discussion arose upon the adoption of the fifth and sixth orders of business by Weatherford, of Lane, and Tichenor of Curry.

Bellinger moved to vote en masse on the nomination of Congressman and electors, and to pass the rest of the report by acclamation; carried.

Cochran, of Lane, and Ferguson, of Yamhill, spoke on the question.

Hazard, of Coos, moved to adopt the fifth order of business—the nomination of Congressmen—by yeas and nays.

The motion was supported by Whiteaker, of Lane, and opposed by Hayden, who advocated the adoption of the order, and proposed that Mr. Lane, the present Congressman should be nominated by the convention.

The proposed nomination of Lane was received with enthusiasm.

Hayden made a long speech covering much political ground.

Ison, of Baker, moved to postpone nominating a Congressman until five o'clock.

Ferguson opposed any nomination until after the National Convention had been held.

Hayden rose to a personal explanation, and made a characteristically humorous speech, in which he was so severe in his remarks on Ferguson as to be called to order.

Myers, of Clackamas, and Townsend, of Yamhill, in calm speeches tried to pour oil on the troubled waters and Tichenor moved the previous question. Carried.

Whiteaker protested against the gag law. Klippel moved that the vote by which the previous question was ordered be reconsidered, which was carried and the debate was continued by Hazard, of Coos.

Tichenor moved to postpone further consideration of the question until 7 o'clock, and take up the order of business referring to the platform. The motion was lost.

Cries of "Question, question!"

Whiteaker spoke earnestly against a nomination by this convention, and Hayden made a violent speech in reply.

The secretary then called the roll, and the question of this convention making a nomination was decided in favor of its doing so by a vote of 41 to 40 against it.

The fifth, sixth and seventh orders of business were adopted as reported.

PLATFORM.

The platform was then adopted. It declares first that the common schools are the special charge of the Democracy; second, in favor of religious freedom and deprecates sectarian prejudice. Third, it commends the lower House of Congress for its reforms. And fourth, it reiterates the platform adopted last year.

A motion was then made to adjourn which was lost.

The convention then by a vote of 71 to 47 decided to choose six delegates to the National Democratic Convention, appointed, one to each judicial district, and one for the State at large.

The convention then adjourned until 7 P. M.

DELEGATES TO THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Delegates to the national convention were elected as follows:

J. C. Brawley, first district; Thos. Milne, second; Mart. V. Brown, third; R. H. Thompson, fourth; J. H. Farmer, fifth. H. H. Giltry and S. A. Miles were nominated for delegates at large. Giltry was elected 73 to 35.

The delegation of the second district, asked leave, by Whiteaker, to retire for ten minutes.

Third district delegates reported—Bonham for judge, W. M. Ramsey for Attorney.

Fourth—F. R. Strong, attorney.

Fifth—H. R. Hannan, attorney.

Fifth—McArthur, judge; L. B. Ison, attorney.

Second—J. M. Thompson, judge; S. H. Hazard, attorney.

A resolution to indemnify sufferers by the Modoc war was tabled.

LANE RENOMINATED.

The regular order being the nomination of Congressman, Lane was nominated by acclamation, with great enthusiasm.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Presidential electors were nominated as follows: H. Klippel, of Jackson; W. B. Lawall, of Grant; E. A. Cronin, of Portland; G. K. Shiel, of Salem; J. M. Shepherd, of Baker. Klippel, Lawall and Cronin were the choice of the convention.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

Baker, J. M. Shepherd; Benton, Milton Shannon; Clackamas, G. A. Harding; Clatsop, O. F. Bell; Columbia, H. N. Rice; Coos, A. Labree; Curry, J. B. Tichenor; Douglas, A. A. Fink; Grant, G. S. Hazlett; Jackson, E. D. Foudry; Josephine, B. F. Holtzclaw; Lake, Q. A. Brooks; Lane, J. N. Poindexter; Lane, J. K. Weatherford; Marion, Louis Westcott; Multnomah, C. B. Bellinger; Polk, E. McDaniels; Tillamook, R. W. Wilson; Union, A. C. Craig; Umatilla, J. W. Bailey; Wasco, M. B. Abbott; Washington, M. L. Nicholas; Yamhill, W. T. Newby.

A discussion about chairman arose. The question was: Shall the convention or the committee elect him? Nulner moved Bellinger be temporary chairman; lost. The election of permanent chairman went unanimously for Bellinger. He was on motion of Mart. V. Brown, elected by acclamation.

The following resolution was carried:

Resolved, That in the absence of any delegate from the national convention, the delegates present shall cast their vote.

A resolution to move Congress to indemnify the sufferers by the Modoc war was passed.

Salem was agreed upon as the place for the next convention. Some fun followed and the convention adjourned.

Governor Grover was loudly called for and spoke happily, predicting success and complimenting the convention. Mart. V. Brown responded also. Henry Klippel briefly pledged his utmost for success. Others were called but none responded.

A FATAL BLOW.—Monroe, son of A. J. Zumwalt, met his death on Thursday at the hands of Jas. McCabe. The circumstances as near as we can ascertain at this time are that Wm. McCabe, a boy fourteen or fifteen years of age had a difficulty with Monroe Zumwalt, a young man about twenty years of age, who was staying with his uncle, Elijah Zumwalt, in Mohawk precinct. On Thursday morning Jas. McCabe, father of William, was at the residence of Mr. Zumwalt and became engaged in a dispute with young Zumwalt, and picking up a club struck him a blow on the head knocking him senseless. He partially recovered and was taken to the house, where he died at 6 o'clock in the evening. Sheriff Eakin went to Mohawk to arrest Mr. McCabe yesterday, but he had left his home and could not be found. It is thought however that he will come in and give himself up to-day.

H. F. JOHNSON, Esq., is now canvassing this county for "The Centennial History of the United States;" the latest, and by far the most entertaining and instructive work of that learned historian, James D. McCabe. This is a large book of 950 pages, and is embellished with near 450 engravings and portraits of scenes and men connected with the birth and growth of our nation; pictures of stirring scenes in the rise and progress of our Republic, and portraits of those eminent Statesmen and warriors who have made the history which Mr. McCabe so beautifully and graphically portrays. This is not alone a book for this Centennial year, but will form a valuable addition to every library in years to come. Every one who wishes to be well posted in the history of his country should secure a copy of this work.

Henry Gale, after a brief and not overly successful career as editor of the Grant county Express, announces his retirement from that position.
